OUR MANAGING EDITOR RECEIVES OVATION

MANAGING EDITOR EAGLE RECEIVES OVATION AT LABOR TEMPLE.

On last Thursday at 10 o'clock agreeable to an invitation extended to her was present at the Labor Temple on Maple Ave., before an audience which taxed the huge auditorium of the Temple. The Managing Editor was introduced to this vast assembly to speak upon the subject of "Labor as Affecting the Colored People."

It was a tense moment as the speaker wended her way and brought out the high spots in an address which was most cordially, most enthusiastically and joyfully received and salvas of applause was forthcoming at every pause which the speaker made.

The part which labor had withheld from what should have been its most faithful and loyal ally was the keystone around which the Eagle's manager builded her message, and to say that the facts which she presented was a revelation to these workers is putting the question but mildly. Time and time again was the managing editor applauded and at the conclusion of her 30 minute discourse she received an ovation, when by a rising vote the vast assemblage voted a vote of thanks and extended an invitation for her to speak to them again.

After the address of the managing editor of the California Eagle by a unanimous vote the various Unions present pledged their support to the affiliation of all workers in one common cause and a square deal for all of the sons of toil.

It was indeed a memorable occasion and a place where real good could be accomplished by a closer up and a better understanding between the races.

FRANCIS D. ADAMS.

FRANCIS D. ADAMS, one of the most aggressive members of the Los Angeles Bar, and who was the only aspirant for the position of Justice of the Peace for Los Angeles City (Police Judge) who received the endorsement of the Bar Association, received a very flattering vote at the primaries, leading all aspirants from two to 7,000 votes. This large vote shows that the endorsement of the Bar Association was well placed.

Since the primaries many prominent men and women have joined themselves together as a campaign committee to further the interests of Mr. Adams, and hope by their activity to place him at the top of the column for Justice of the Peace when the votes are counted in November.

There has also been formed a woman's organization, who are doing their part towards his election.

Mr. Adams realizes keenly, the many problems that will come before him if elected in November such as Zoning Ordinances, traffic regulations, the great necessity of a Woman's Court, and the prevention and elimination of the gigantic crime wave that is sweeping over, not only Southern California, but the entire United States.

Mr. Adams also declares that his first official act when elected will be to organize a society of men and women of this community for the single and sole purpose of combating the Narcotic Evil and will place before this society such testimony of actual occurances as will awaken and determine an effective action looking to the eradication of this great evil.

Mr. Adams' campaign committee headquarters is at 503 California Building; ladies headquarters 509 California Building. Friends are welcome at any time.

BIG FINANCIAL PROJECT.

COLORED BANKERS NOW AFTER HAITIAN TRADE
REALIZE HUGE OPPORTUNITIES OFFERED BY AMERICAN LOAN OF $40,000,000 TO BLACK REPUBLIC— HAVE VALUABLE HAITIAN CNNECTIONS

NEW YORK, Sept—As an immediate result of the project of colored bankers, promoters and other business men financing a diamond expedition to British Guiana, a transportation and trading company has developed. Representative Haitians, upon finding the backers fully responsible and qualified for big business at once offered alluring inducements and valuable concessions and a conference between the parties concerned warranted the organization of the OVERSEA NAVAGATION CORPORATION to effect regular service between American and Haitian ports, and the OVERSEA TRADING COMPANY to supply the immense Haitian needs which will grow out of the large American loan of $40,000,000 for the development of the island repubic.

The new companies will have their offices at 80 Wall Street, New York City. All business will be transacted through colored banks and each has been asked to assist in the underwriting of the project. A small block of stock, however, will be available to the general public.

This is practically the first time that colored banks have had an opportunity to depart from the usual real estate and mortgage business, and enjoy the huge profits common among white banking institutions engaged in the promotion of international commerce and the colored bankers have not been slow to take advantage of the situation.

That the new companies are being operated by trained business men after the most approved modern business methods is indicated by the brilliant moves made so far and by the roster of its officials which include the names of such widely known and capable men as Charles E. Mitchell, president, and also president of the Mutual Savings and Loan Co., of Charleston, W. Va., Anthony Crawford Vice-President and Managing Director a ship operator and importer and exporter of long experience; Major William H. York, Secretary, former ex-commissioner of the Liberian Frontier Forces; Col. James M. Canty, treasurer, and also Vice-president of the Mutual Savings and Loan Company of Charleston, L. Melandez King, attorney, also examiner in Chancery, District of Columbia, and Napoleon J. Francis, Director Port au Prince, Haiti.

HOME BOY BRINGS HOME THE HONORS

Payne Middleton, former Secretary Boy's Department, Ninth Street Branch "Y" has returned home and brought with him one of the largest positions ever entrusted to a young fellow. Mr. Middleton was sent by the young people of the A. M. E. Church in the Los Angeles District, to represent California in a great Connectional Young People's Congress which convened in Chicago last month with sixteen hundred delegates representing the Leagues of the World. So well did he represent California that Dr. S. S. Morris, General Secretary A. C. E. League, gave into his keeping the Field Secretaryship of the League in the Far West, including Washington, Oregon and California.

The California Annual Conference of the A. M. E. Chuch which convened in San Francisco last week, was so well pleased with the work young Middleton has accomplished, that he was appointed State Supt. of League Work in California. While we regret very much losing him from our local "Y," fo he has accomplished wonders with the boys of this community, we see before him a greater field of labor, and we compliment him upon accepting it. Our best wishes are with him.

SCHOOL SEGREGATION "?"

Shall Mixed Schools be Maintained in California?
By: Geo. Duncan.

Would it be to the best advantage of all concerned to maintain separate schools. Those who favor separation of the races in the schools maintain that it will be a great advantage to our young graduates of whom so many are idle owing to the fact that as a rule they are not given an opportunity to teach in the public schools along with their most fortunate white brothers.

A bill was introduced in the legislature of California a few years ago, for the purpose of separate schools in the state, after a lengthy discussion the bill was tabled.

At the present time we learn that several of our misguided friends are agitating this question again. California, standing at the top of the educational system of the country, should not at this life take a backward step in its educational affairs. The colored students of the various high schools of the state in some cases have excelled the whites in athletics and scholarly activities, which goes to prove, without a doubt that the mixed school system is of more advantage to our colored students than the separate schools of learning would be.

My contentions are just first to qualify to teach, then seek the examination. If the candidate passes the original examination then, make application to the school board for a position in the public schools. If, denied, carry it to the state school board, then if the objection is not removed, take it to the higher court of the state of which I have no fear. The courts of this state are presided over by men of high class, men of good character, men whose opinion would not change by a few prejudice white people.

Lucy Mae Williams-Patterson

WILLIAMS-PATTERSON NUPTIALS.

Last Tuesday evening as the hands of the Old Time Piece pointed to the hour of eight and the crowded Independent Church Christ became suddenly quieted at the sounding of the notes of the piano a sweet voice was head giving forth a message of love in the selection "At Dawining Miss Leonadas Simmons accompanied by Miss Julia Christian very beautifully interpreted this composition of Cadman. Under the bower of woodruff, palms and white chrysanthemums, the Rev. N. P. Greggs, officially stood.

The tones of the piano were changed to the solemnity of Mendelssohn's Wedding March and the aisles of the church became a scene of display of lovely gowned maidens accompanied by stately young men in full dress. the bridesmaids, the Misses Mayme Carter, Theresa Dawson, Edna Durr, Roberta Dudley and Juanita Ellsworth.

The Groomsmen were Mr. Frank Patterson, Tommy Jones, Leslie Wilson, Jacob Carter and Mr. Malcolm Patton.

—Adv.—

IT SEEMS TO ME.

War clouds are gathering. We can hear the sabres rattling. The lurid spectre of death stalks in the open. The war to end war has not ended war. The war "to make the world safe for democracy" has left autocracy.

Turkey and Greece have been fighting for some time. France has been supporting Greece. To fight against the ally of a nation means to fight against that nation itself. For instance, during the World War, a nation which was opposed to Austria was also opposed to Germany. A nation that opposed France was also opposing England. Since this is true, it means that with the present war going on between Turkey and Greece—France supporting Turkey and England supporting Greece—France and Great Britain are fighting each other. Think of it. Two allies in the late war for democracy—a war in which the two lost 3,000,000 men killed, not to mention the many more millions wounded—now fighting each other. What, you ask, is the reason? There are two or three answers. First, England is a carrying nation. She is interested in trade routes. Any force which threatens her path of travel is threatening her life. She can no more surrender her water route than a railroad company can give up its tracks. A boat without a place to sail is valueless. A train without a track to run on is useless. It doesn't affect the situation to say that water without a boat and a track without a train are futile. We simply argue, then, that of two essentials, none can be dispensed with.

It is interesting to note that the greatest wars in which England has been engaged have been wars over trade routes. Great Britain's war with Spain, in which the Spanish Armada went down, was over competition for the seas—Spain at that time holding a competing and commanding position. Holland at one time was a great maratime nation. The green eye of "Perfidious Albion" stared at her and ere long England was at war with the Dutch. The war of 1812 between the United States and Great Britain was also a fight over trade routes. The Great War just ended, as every student of history knows, was produced chiefly by England's opposition to the "Berlin to Bagdad" railroad. This railroad which Germany proposed to construct would have given a shorter and quicker route to the East. It would have given a rail route which would have played havoc with England's long, slow water routes. England beheld her setting sun, so war with Germany was the order of the day.

Many readers will recall that when England came to the Peace Conference she was unwilling to discuss "the freedom of the seas." The only "freedom of the seas" which England would concede is her freedom to control the seas.

Another war caused at the present time will probably escape most people: the necessity of getting rid of left-over war junk. The World War closed a little sooner than the manufacturers of munitions expected. There was left on hands shrapnel, shots shells, armor plates, poison gas, tanks, torpedo boats, guns and other war material. Most of this material had been sold to different governments at high prices. Nevertheless when the war closed, these manufacturers bought back such material at fabously low prices. They now want to sell it, and to sell it at a huge profit. They can only sell, however, when someone is consuming—using the materials they have to sell. These materials will be used only when a war is going on. No doubt the chief buyers-up of such material were Frenchmen and Englishmen, and it is just possible that England and France have an agreement among themselves to "egg" on the Turkish and Greek forces to fight. There is some rather recent history in support of our contention. We recall the sensation created by Karl Liebnecht in the Riechstag a few years ago when he exposed how the German and French munitions makers had financed certain newspapers constantly to raise a howl about war between Germany and France. The object was to make each nation arm and prepare heavily. This preparedness would result in the munitions manufacturers selling goods to Germany and to France. A better insight into this sort of international juggling with the lives and liberties of the people may be seen in Frederick C. Howe's book, "Why War?" He there discourses on the Harvey Trust. This is a great international munitions trust located in England. The stock, however, is held by Americans, Frenchmen, Italians, Germans and Englishmen. On all of the munitions used from this "Trust," during the war, the Kaiser was able to clip coupons. The poor, well-meaning men fought and died in the trenches while the international bankers eut watermelons and shook hands above the table.

All thinking people should keep their eyes upon these war clouds. Wars benefit only a few; they injure many. Persons may soar high in patriotism for the moment, but the black aftermath will come—swift and sure and certain. Wars take the flower of the youth; they leave our young men veritable stumps—legless, armless, handless, physically wrecked. The Race must then be propogated and reproduced by the worst remnants rather than the best. War also strikes every race, every creed, every color. Let each one of us use his influence to destroy all war sentifent, especially when most wars are against the interest of the people.

Some years ago I read a splendid little book entitled "The Mexican People—Their Struggle for Freedom," by De Lara and Pinchon.

I shall never forget one statement made therein. It was this; "History records no case in which the people have declared a war, or in which the ruling classes fought one." Too true. When those who declare wars begin to fight them, while those who fight wars begin to declare them, we'll be getting very near the end of war-making and war-waging.

EAGLET RETURNS.

The Old Eagle opens her wings and welcomes to the shelter thereof one of her own.

Miss Ideli Albritton who is well remembered by the patrons of the Eagle and who has for the past three years, been engaged with work in the scientific realm returned to do her bit in giving zest to a more prosperous an beneficial flight of the Old Bird.

She Has Not Been Idle

Indeed the record which Miss Albritton has made in the scientific realm of the city is one in which the race may take pride. Entering into the employ of the largest and most reliable Clinical Laboratory of which the city can boast, as a mere test tube and glassware cleaner, maker of the variety of culture media upon which bacteria grow, mixer of stains and compositor of reagents, she, through most earnest application and hard work climbed to the top most rounds of positions to be held in a laboratory. A finished general technician and at the time of leaving the special Wasserman Blood Technician. So pleased were the doctors with whom she labored that they have lauded her work on every hand giving her the title of "T. B. Specialist" because of her great ability to discover this treacherous baccilli, no matter in what material it was enclosed.

But even of all this she tired and under the protest of her employers left that work only last week. Dr. Brem, the head of the firm of which Miss Albritton was an employee is nationally recognized as one of the first men in the Medical world.

President of the County Medical Association of this County and author of many medical works as well, it was indeed a privilege for one of ours to have a chance to study under him.

Miss Albrittan has reentered the ranks of the Eagleites and appreciates the reception accorded her by our patrons.

WHITE PLAGUE A MENACE TO NEW YORK COLORED POPULATION

That three times as many colored persons as white die of tuberculosis and that the white plague is a steadily increasing menace to New York's 170,000 colored citizens were startling declarations made by Dr. James A. Miller, president of the New York Tuberculosis Association at Harlem's opening health week meeting held in the West 135th Street branch of the Public Library. To systematize the work of stamping out the disease the Harlem Health Information Bureau was organized last month.

THE WAR IN THE NEAR EAST

By Cyril V. Biggs

New York, Oct.— What importance does the situation in the Near East hold for the Negro peoples of America?

This: that every blow struck at WHITE SUPREMACY, no matter by whom struck, is a blow struck in the interest of the ultimate liberation of the colored races.

The World War, in which the white races fought each other, represents a series of blows struck against white supremacy BY THE WHITES THEMSELVES. The bringing in by the Allies of colored troops from Africa, Asia and America to help them fight their white enemies made possible another blow at white supremacy and a terrific shattering of white prestige and bluff, two of the main foundation stones of white supremacy.

The brilliant Turkish victories over the British-backed Greek Army in Asia Minor represent another series of smashing blows at what is now the more or less battered supremacy of the white imperialists.

The present situation in the Near East in which the British are attempting to prevent the Turks from gathering the full fruits of their victories over the terribly beaten Greek Army has in it all the materials for a great world conflagration in which the colored races of the world will unite to give the deathblow to the decrepit and fast dying but still brutal British Empire. As the British Empire is at present and has been for a long time, the corner stone of white supremacy and white domination of colored lands and peoples, its destruction would mean the virtual elimination from world politics of the vicious and murderous principle of white eminent domain, under which so many millions of colored people have been robbed of their lands and riches and deprived of their liberties, and through which white capitalism—the real dominating force—has penetrated the ends of the earth, bringing pitiless exploitation, terrible woe, and in many cases, virtual extermination to the aborigines.

The colored races of the world are today welded together (1) by virtue of the fact that they have suffered together the indignities and cruelties heaped upon the darker races by the white capitalist civilization, euphemiously known as "Western Civilization;" and, being common victims, have naturally come to look upon each other as natural allies in the necessary way of liberation; (2) by religious ties which, in the case of the Africans, the Turks, the Afghans, and the Mohammedans of India and China, bring all these people together under the flag of Islem to fight the white Christian Powers of Europe who have partitioned and ruined Africa and would do likewise to all Asia.

Under one or the other of these two clauses are allied, systematically or actually, ALL thinking colored people of the world.

With the colored races are allied today the revolutionary people of Soviet Russia, because it is the best strategy available to them for the moment.

France and Italy, remembering that Great Britian always gets the lion's share of the plunder, and jealous of the booty of oil and lands which Britain grabbed at the conclusion of the World War while the ink on her promises and declarations of democracy and self-determination was wet—France and Italy, remembering all this, are not anxious to play Britain's game any longer and are accordingly adopting a neutral attitude. Moreover, in the underhanded way of European diplomacy, both of these powers secretly backed Kemel Pasha against the Greeks, whom Britain was secretly backing. Britain's horse having lost, France and Italy are not disposed to help recoup her losses.

Furthermore, Europe is sick to death. Not one of the European Powers, nor all of them combined, is in a position to face the warriors of Africa and Asia in a war of the Black, Brown and Yellow races, armed and supported by revolutionary Russia, against white capitalist civilization.

The American Negro may find his problem solved for him by what happens in the Near Eastern theatre. White supremacy and impudence smashed in Europe could not continue to maintain itself in the United States. Its backbone is the British Empire. That smashed and white supremacy will fade universally.

OLD SATAN AND SAN FRANCISCO

Since the 19th of September, this city, once a portion of the Happy Hunting Ground of His Satanic Majesty, the Honorable Mr. Belzebu, has been invaded by the hosts of the Lord, and it looks as tho he will be driven into the Bay, in fact he has already been driven there, but there will be no rest for him there as the army forces have turned the battle over to the Navy, who will this week direct a campaign against him from the Third Baptist Church, where the gospel workers of the Northern California Baptist Church Association will meet for a six day bombardment of the Satanic hosts. Looks as tho he is in for some continued heavy barrages of spiritual mustard gas and Gospel shrapnel.

The campaign against the occupants of the "Bottomless Pit" was opened on the 11th of September at the Powell Street A. M. E. Church, where Major General Right Rev. W. A. Fountain assembled nearly 100 ministers, and 150 other co-religionist in a conference of that connection. Bishop Fountain, inspired his hosts to a greater endeavor and asked that they continue to make it as uncomfortable for the devil in the State of California and Nevada as possible. He gave an interesting address on the work of the Church in Central and South America where they are establishing schools and churches. He also pointed out the very urgent necessity of securing more men and women for the work of the church. Out of this conference came the transfer of Rev. L. S. Goolsby, who had served here for the past two years, and the appointment of Rev. J. A. Brown, formerly of Oakland to the local church.

September 22 saw the retirement from the trenches of Bishop Fountain's forces. They were immediately replaced by those of Field Marshal, the Right Rev. L. Westinghouse Kyle, who was accompanied by a host of religious workers under the banners of the A. M. E. Zion Church. This aggregation of ministers were entrenched for a week at the Geary Street edifice of this denomination. Information given at these headquarters show that the church has made steady progress and many desertions. Bishop Kyle told of the great gains being made by the church throughout California and the six other conferences over which he presides. He also transferred in three new ministers from outside conferences. Resolutions asking Senators Johnson and Shortridge to support the Dyer Bill was passed. Bishop Kyle re-appointed the Rev. W. J. J. Byers to the local church for this year. The appointment was well received by those present.

Old Beleguese and his sadly battered forces having been unable to withstand the heavy land operation of the foregoing Major-General and Field Marshal, who had employed the famous scissor and pincer tactics, withdrew sullenly to Goat Island. Tuesday morning of this week he was attacked by Northern California Baptists. The campaign is being conducted from the Flagship 3rd Baptist Church, which is under the command of Rear-Admiral Rev J. A. Dennis. Spiritual hydroplanes and sixteen inch gospel sermons ejected from the Big Berthas of the Baptist Church are expected to dislodge and utterly destroy the devil and all his hosts in and for the city and county of San Francisco by Sunday evening when the Association will close its sessions. It certainly has been a tough three weeks for the devil in this neck of the woods.

BIRCH ST. CHRISTIAN CHURCH—
F. C. Cothran, Minister

The services of this church were highly gratifying last Lord's Day. Many visitors in attendance. The pastor preached a soul stirring sermon at 11:00 o'clock a. m., upon the subject, "God's great Legacy to man through Christ." Text John 14: 6. The sermon was full of practical value and was eloquently delivered. Two persons came forward at the close of the sermon, during the sing ing of the invitation hymn, and took membership with the church. The church feels congratulated upon the reception of these two good Christian people, husband and wife, as they are of reputable standing.

Sunday night 8:00 o'clock, Elder Jacob brought us a wonderful message upon a lesson of the Psa. 121:1, Text, "I will lift up mine eyes unto the hills," from whence cometh my help." Brother Jacob seemed at his best and filled the audience with the spirit of his messtge.

Bible school and Endeavor Society seem to be taking on new life.

We anticipate a great day at Birch street next Lord's day. The pastor will preach at 11:00 a. m. upon the subject, "God's Affinity." Mme. Irene Dawson of Memphis, Tenn., instructress in Millinery and Art work, will sing. Elder I. J. Williams, will preach at 8:00 p. m.

You are cordially invited to attend this church and receive its hearty welcome.

TRINITY BAPTIS CHURCH—
West 36 Street and Normandie Ave.
Rev. J. A. H. Eldridge, Pastor

Sunday was a spiritual day in Trinity. It was Covenant day. The desire was so strong in every one's breast to testify that the Pastor was forced to close the meeting on account of the lateness of the hour. The Pastor preached at 7:30 p. m. and administered the Lord's Supper. Next Sunday Oct. 8, the Pastor will preach at 11:00 a. m. Evening services begins promptly at 7:30 p. m. You will be delighted to hear Trinity's Choir.

PASTOR GAVE FAIR WARNING

As per program, as were greeted a host of Zion old wheel horses as they entered into the services Heavenward bound. But after that wonderful sermon by Pastor Holt, we found that we had been placed in the baance an foun wanting, for so few were ready to make a report of his services spiritually either financially.

At the evening services Sister Strong a pioneer in the Foreign Field of South America spoke to a capacity audience. The speaker also reminded her hearers the lack of co-operation as a religious organization due to the fact that one man cannot correct that which one hundred men are afraid to tackle. But thanking God that every individual shall be judged according to his works here on earth. Visit us at St. Paul.

MT. ZION BAPTIST CHURCH—
3rd. Street and Traction Ave.
Archie J. Williams, A. B. M. S. Pastor

All seemed to have enjoyed both the morning and evening services last Sunday. Both services were well attended. At the morning service Rev. F. R. Kennedy of Birmingham, Ala., preached a very impressive sermon, all went away from the morning service rejoicing. At the evening service the pastor preached, subject: "The Lord's Supper."

Next Sunday the pastor will preach at both services—Morning subject: "The Gate Way into the Kingdom," the evening subject: "Repentance."

Mrs. J. P. Harden, Field Secy. Woman's State Convention of Louisiana will address the Y. W. M. Society of the Mt. Zion Baptist Church, Sunday afternoon, Oct. 8 at 2:30.

Good music; All welcome.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH—
8th and Wall Street—
Rev. M. F. Mitchell, Pastor

All of the services at the Christian Church last Sunday reahced a high water mark. All participants seem to have been in the very best trim for the work in hand. The pastor's sermon was given out to be a masterly one. Subject "The Scenes of Jesus in the Homes of men." The purpose of his effort was to impress upon his audience the prominence or the vital place the home played in the doings of Jesus while on earth. It was pointed out by the pastor that the most impressive and heart touched events in form of preaching, teaching and administering to all phases of human needs transpired in the home of men. The choir under the efficient leadership of Madame Viola Harris Brandon rendered their part of the devotions with fervor and intensity of feeling, that magic influence of Paradise inspired us. Miss Mary Banks, one of our excellent teachers in the public school, contributed to our services a most thrilling vocal solo. Sunday evening after a very interesting Y. P. S. C. E. under the leadership of Mr. John Carter, the choir by arrangement monopolized almost the entire service in the rendition of a very helpful and inspiring and sacred concert. Madame Brandon was showered with compliments for having taken hold of an undeveloped talent in such a short time and render an excellent exhibition of musical talent. Following the concert, Pastor Mitchell at 11:00 a. m. will deliver a discourse upon the subject "Retribution." In the evening Dr. S. D. Cotterel, M. D., B. S. will bring us an interesting message upon the subject "Our Social Problem." All are welcome at both services.

HAMILTON M. E. CHURCH—
E. 18th Street and Naomi Ave.
S. M. Beane, Pastor.

The pastor preached to a large audience on last Sunday morning from the subject, "Running the Race," and administered the Communion of the Lord's Supper. At night the subject of his discourse was, "The Sprinkling of the Blood."

The fall opening of the Sunday school was quite auspicious. The spacious school room being filled to its capacity. A contest is on between the school and the school at Scott's shapel, Pasadena, covering points of attendance, regularity, punctuality, new scholars, and offering. The contest is to last until the first of the year.

Epworth League plans a real Fall opening in the very near future.

The Conference year will close on Sunday, October 8th. The pastor will preach at each service, and at the evening hour will preach his farewell sermon for this conference year. You are cordially invited to attend each of these services. Conference will convene in Fresno on the 11th.

Hamilton is the "Stranger's Home." Come and see.

LINCOLN MEMORIAL CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH—
34th Street and Central Ave.
Rev. E. E. Lightner, A. B., B. D. Pastor

Following an absence of six weeks during which he traveled in seventeen states of the Middle West and South, our pastor returned to the city last Thursday much refreshed and entered vigorously upon the program of church work for the Fall and Winter. He filled the pulpit at both hours the past Sunday, speaking at the morning hour on: "Soul Hunger." At the evening service he gave "Some Impressions of the Convention" in Chicago, which he attended Aug. 23-27. The Lord's Supper was administered following both services. The week beginning Oct. 8th will mark the Seventh Anniversary of the pastorate of Rev. Lightner in Los Angeles. Special service will be held each evening beginning with Monday. See program elsewhere in this issue. The Pastor will occupy the pulpit at both services Sunday. All cordially invited.

High School and College News

By the Two Boy Editors.
K. Wallace—G. Duncan

If the carnival that reigned on Central avenue the past week was sponsored by the Urban League, it does not speak well for that society.

The old days of '49 could not be composed with this place last Saturday and Sunday night. Everyone was trying to play the old game of luck, getting something for nothing. Gambling and dancing was the main attractions which were greatly supported. Many hard working man spent his day's earning trying to take home a large ham or a vamp doll. If some of these Christian societies that are always trying to put the lid on prize fights, take some of their valuable time looking over these places, the public would appreciate their work more.

As a close observer I am proud to say that not many high school or college students participated in the gambling scenes.

Thomas Myles and Wilayn Stovall returned hom Saturday from a trip North. During they stay in San Francisco they were the guest of Mr. S. H. Crocker, president Crocker National Bank.

Both of these lads will leave in a few weeks for Switzerland to represent the Boys' International League at the Hague Conference.

Woodson Wickliffe came home last Thursday in a very dazed condition. When asked what was the trouble his reply was that he was injured in a scrimmage while playing halfback on the first squad. After regaining his consciousness he corrected his error that he had made while unconscious. He said he was watching a scrimage and was hit by one of the players.

Miss Thelma Flory, pretty Jefferson student entertained her friends hwita delightful line party. Last Sunday the youngsters gathered at the beautiful Flory home 938 East 33 street, and from their wended their way in high powered motors to "Blue Graumans" (located near Twentieth and Central). Theatre over, the young "swains" conducted the Misses to ye oud sweet shoppe." There over cocktail glasses—beg pardon, I mean ice cream sody glasses, those who were armoursly inclined discussed the sweet old story. One Beau Brummel insisted that every thing should teach a lesson. He held forth that Valentino's methods had his admiration and that the picture had given him some ideas.

"To the beach!," cried he, "to the beach!"

Only those who have stood sitting on the sand holding their angel child's hand, can appreciate the meaning of the above suggestion.

The following were the honored guests of Miss Flory. Misses Daisy King, Charlotte Brown, Ruth Sears, Mabel Brown, Jenett Brown, Mildred Hawkins, Ruth and Beatrice Herbert and Charlie Webb. Mr. Earmice Fouchee, Tommy Anderson, Willie Floy, George Something Marcy Flory, Clarence Green, and Willie Lancaster, Abe Car.

"If Alexander could see me now" said one of the editors as he prepared to participate in the consumption of a most appetizing dinner, having aced in on said inner.

Merely to let my co-editor know what he missed, I shall rehearse the menu. Bolus Du Roti; Ponne de terre, Fatuin, Confiture de glace, gateau. That ancient and familiar odor gave the dinner atmosphere. The invited gueses were Petite Ruth Wright, Edna Johnson extraordinary and Chic Naomi. As above mentioned the editor aced in.

Mr. Green, secretary of the Ninth street branch, wishes to inform the public that the fall activities of the Y. M. C. A will begin October the ninth. For the benefit of the athletically inclined patrons a nifty hand ball court has been erected in the rear of the building. This is a splendid addition to the instution, and we are sure the youngsters will enjoy it.

A unique program has been arranged for the Men's Bible class Sunday at 3:00 p. m. Captain Harry Dean, an intellectual giant, and a man of extended travel will lecture. Mr. Dean has chosen a subject which is of interest to the majority of race people, especially those interested in the back to Africa movement.

Twenty seven years in Africa should prove a very interesting lecture from all stand points.

Jimmy Salis Beeny holding down the wing position on Jefferson one hundred and thirty pound team, stars in the Jefferson, Glendale scraps. Jefferson's light weights clashed with Glendale's first team. The game was hotly contested. Glendale after a quarter of hard fighting succeeded in pushing the agat over. They failed to make the additional point, making the score six to nothing. Glendale's favor. The Jefferson youngsters battled like deamons to conquer their big adversary, but were unsuccessful. It was the last quarter and five minutes to go, when little Jimmy snagged a pass and ran fifty yards thru the Glendale Huskies for "Jeff" only touhc-down.

Next year some varsity end is going to be aced out of his position.

SIDE-LIGHTS ON THE A. M. E. ZION CONFERENCE

G. F. Knox was here there and every where and G. O. Allen was a tower of help. That's nothing, they have been doing it for years and it comes easy.

Rev. W. J. J. Byers, says he never worries about where the Bishop is going to send him. One of his eyes had a look of the Mojave Desert and the other was clouded with the fogs of San Francisco. He got the latter, but Bishop Kyle had him on the anxious seat for a moment. It would have taken a steel-scope to find his heartbeats for a moment.

The greatest squirming was that of Rev. T. Allen Harvey. When the Bishop said "Sacramento to be filled later," a lump came into the throat of Rev. Harvey, that for a while gave him the appearance of a dromedary camel. Relief came a few minutes later.

NOTE THE FOLLOWING—WE GIVE 'EM ALL A HEARING.

Sacramento, Cal., 9-22-22.

Editor Eagle, Los Angeles, Cal.

Dear Sir:

Having received countless inquiries from your section of the State relative to my Campaign Methods and Principles, I ask you if you will inform your subscribers by publishing this letter in your paper.

In reply to all inquiries from Los Angeles and vicinity relative to the C. D. Patterson Independent Candidate for Governor and the methods of conducting my Campaign. In the first place I am opposed to a Campaign fund and refuse to accept a dollar from anyone to be used for such purposes, therefore not being financially supported by any Lodges, Societies, Churches or other Organizations, I have no money to answer hundreds of thousands of inquiries and the only way of getting my Campaign Methods and Platform Principles before you is by the courtesies of your local papers—subscribe for them—they will keep you duly informed and will appreciate your patronage. Encourage your neighbor to subscribe for them—that they may be duly posted.

Organizations of the Patterson for Governor supporters and other parties' supporters are forming debating societies thoughout the State. They place club subscriptions for their local papers. I recommend this as a good method of educating yourself and collectively studying political differences and principles of the Candidates. You will find your local papers usually give the news as they receive it regardless of their own political views.

My platform is as follows:

1. Against Oriental Immigration or other undesirable Aliens acquiring property in California.
2. For simplifying the laws so they may be readily understood by anyone of an average degree of intelligence.
3. For Legislation to acquire the National resources and utilize what we have.
4. For R. R. Commisisoners elected instead of appointed.
5. For the marketing of farm products direct to consumer.
6. For a State, Labor, Farmers, Manufacturers and Merchants Board to settle all disputes between Employers and Employees, where collective bargaining enters into the transaction, to create a fair and impartial basis of operation.
7. Against quantity price distribution to protect the small buyer.
8. For the extension of School to complete Vocational Training.
9. For free State University to residents of the State and self supporting to the Students.
10. For the taxation of bachelors to help support the schools.
11. For tax on all National products, for assisting Veterans and furthering their interests.
12. Would recommend a law to care for the Appreciation and Depreciation of mankind, to provide for the aged.

If the name C. D. Patterson does not appear on the November ballot—WRITE IT IN. Subscribe for your local paper and send all criticisms and approvals to them.

Yours truly,

C. D. PATTERSON.

FRENCH GIVE LIE TO REPORTS OF TURK ATROCITIES

Constantine's Army Burned and Pillaged Everywhere They Went—Murdered Thousands of Turkish Women and Children.

New York, Oct.—The French Foreign Office in an official statement received here today confirmed the news from Constantinople that General Pelle, the French High Commissioner in that city, and Admiral Dumesnil, the commander of the French forces in Near East waters, had satisfied themselves that there was nothing to justify the holding of the Turks responsible for the burning of Smyrna.

Admiral Dumesnil also investigated the charges that the Turks poured kerosene on the houses and streets, and found them false. Both General Pelle and the Admiral found that there had been much excitement in the Greek and Armenian quarters of Smyrna and that a number of Turk officers and men had been wounded by bombs and hand grenades thrown from the houses. This substantiates the charge that the Greek army distributed munitions and arms among the population before embarking.

The two French commanders found that fires were started in widely separated spots in foreign quarters of the city. They learned that French sailors, who were fighting the flames, were fired upon. Turkish authorities tried to put out the fires, but the wind fanned the flames.

"The French Government, if it found nothing showing Turkish responsibility for the fire," said the statement, "on the other hand has in its possession most damaging testimony of misdeeds of which the Greek Army is guilty and perpetrated during the retreat."

The statement declared that Eski-Shehr was not molested during the Turk retreat, but it was burned when the Greeks were routed. Brusa, which was destined for fire, was saved only by the French Consul and two Italian officers, who induced General Somilas, the Greek commander, to countermand an order for the burning of the town. It stated. The Foreign Office said that most of the neighboring villages were burned and pillaged by Greek soldiers.

COLORED WORLD STIRRED BY TURKISH VICTORIES

UNREST INCREASING IN INDIA—AFGANS READY TO AID IN FIGHT FOR INDIAN LIBERATION.

London, Oct.—On both sides of the Afghanistan frontier the Moslems are showing much interest in the Turkish situation, which necessitates watchfulness and caution, says a dispatch from Simla; 'British' India. Major Humphries, a member of teh Afghanistan Government, will arrive in Simla tomorrow to confer with the 'British' Indian Government.

The despatch adds that the internal situation in India is extremely disquieting, and that there are signs that the unrest in the Punjab is spreading as a result of the brilliant Turkish victories.

SAYS GREEKS BURNED AND PILLAGED TURKEY

VISCOUNT ST. DAVIDS ASSERTS THEY DESERVED ALL THEY GOT AND MORE AT THE HANDS OF NATIONALISTS—GIVE LIE TO HIS COUNTRY'S ANTI-TURK PROPAGANDA.

London, Oct.—Strong criticism of the behavior of Greek troops in the Near East was made by Viscount St. Davids, who presided today at the semi-annual meeting of the Board of Directors of the Ottoman Railway, which operates from Smyrna to Aidan, in Asia Minor. The Viscount said:

"The Greeks in their retreat burned every village they saw. They robbed individual Turks, and when these resisted, they killed them. They did all this near the front and without military necessity. They did it out of sheer maliciousness. Our reports are that it was done systematically by regular troops under orders. It was done by the malice of men who knew they could not hold the country and meant to make it worthless for anyone else."

"The Greeks deserved all they got and more he said. "King Constantine's servants are very bad fighters, but they are first class at robbery, arson and murder."

The speaker said that the Greeks were now quiet, but that the Armenians had resorted to bomb throwing and in many ways prompted the chances of massacre.

WHO IS "BOSS" OF YOUR DOLLARS?

A good many men let the other fellow spend the money they earn—the other fellow just has to suggest something to sell them and—the money is GONE.

Some men are strong enough to control their own money. Every time they get money, they put some of it in a Savings Account—first—BEFORE the fellow who wants to sell you something gets a chance.

It takes a MAN, and a SAVINGS ACCOUNT, in a GOOD BANK, and a STRONG WILL to build up a fund of money in bank which you can use for things that are really worth while.

Why not make a good strong resolution, open an account, and SAVE?

WHAT IS THE STATUS OF THE ANTI-LYNCHING BILL? JAMES WELDON JOHNSON REPORTS IN FULL ON SENATE FIGHT

That the colored people of the United States, and particularly colored voters, may know exactly what action was taken on the Dyer Anti-Lynching Bill by the United States Senate before it adjourned on September 22nd, and that they may also realize the present status of the bill, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People made public today a statement by James Weldon Johnson, who acted for the Advancement of Colored People made out the long fight for the bill. This statement is given in full in view of the impression a number of people have gained that the Bills dead for all time. That is far from being true, as Mr. Johnson's statement shows. It reads:

On August 28 I went to Washington in order to do whatever was possible to speed the action on the Dyer Anti-Lynching Bill. I was assured by Senator McCormick and also by Senators Curtis, Watson of Indiana and Lodge that the Senate Steering Committee would meet within a day or two and that the Anti-Lynching Bill would be placed on the program of measures to be taken up for consideration before Congress adjourned.

On August 30 the Steering Committee met and placed the Dyer Anti-Lynching Bill on the program.

On September 14 I went again to Washington to urge the consideration of the Bill and remained there until after Congress adjourned. Republican leaders in the Senate repeatedly expressed their intention and determination to bring the Bill up for consideration before the adjournment of Congress. None of them felt that the Bill could be finally disposed of within that time, they all expected that the Democrats would not only demand the fullest time possible for discussion of the measure but that they would use filibustering tactics to impede its progress.

It was finally decided that the effort to bring up the Bill for consideration would be made on Thursday, September 21. Accordingly it was arranged that Senator Shortridge would at the proper moment be recognized for that purpose. When two o'clock arsived, the President pro tempore of the Senate, Senator Cummins, in accordance with the rule, announced that the unfinished business became the order. At that moment, Senator Underwood, Democrat leader, was discussing the Commission on Mixed Claims of American Citizens Against Germany. Senator Curtis arose and asked for unanimous consent that the unfinished business be temporarily laid aside. Naturally, there was no objection, as the request made by Senator Curtis enabled the Democratic leader to continue his speech. Senator Curtis' request also had a strategic value because it cleared the way for the taking up of the Anti-Lynching Bill.

As soon as Senator Underwood concluded, Senator Shortridge arose and secured the recognition of the Chair. Immediately, the Democrats were alive to the situation. I do not think they anticipated the move, but as soon as Senator Shortridge arose they at once knew that it meant an effort to take up the Anti-Lynching Bill.

Before Senator Shortridge proceeded he yielded, following the rule of courtesy in the Senate, to Senator McNary to allow him to ask the Chair to lay before tre Senate House amendments to a certain joint resolution; and again he yielded to Senator Warren to allow him to report from the Committee on Appropriations a joint resolution. Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi immediately raised the point of order that the resolution reported by Senator Warren was debatable. This point of order gave rise to a long and complicated parlimentary wrangle, which finally ended in President pro tempore Cummins ruling that Senator Harrison and not Senator Shortridge was entitled to the floor. Senator Harrison took the floor and proceeded to hold it for nearly two hours; and the Democratic filibuster was on.

In the midst of the parlimentary wrangle in which Senator Shortridge lost the floor, Senator Harrison suggested the absence of a quorum. The President pro tempore instructed the Secretary to call the roll, and the following answered to their names:

The senators who answered the roll call at the convening of the Senate at twelve o'clock but did not answer the roll call during the parimentary fight to sustain Senator Shodtridge's right to thefloor were: Colt, Frelinghuysen, Gerry, Glass, Hale, Kellogg, King, New, Newberry, Ransdell, Williams.

It was then near the usual hour of adjournment, and before taking his seat Senator Harrison again suggested the absence of a quorum. But Senator Shortridge was promptly on his feet and again secured the recognition of the Chair. Senator Shortridge oddressed the Chair and said: "I move that the Senate proceed to the consideration of House Bill 13, being Calendar No. 822—". Before he could proceed to give the title of the bill Senator Harrison again pressed his suggestion that a quorum was not present. The roll was called and showed a quorum. Senator Heflin of Alabama then made a motion that the Senate adjourn. This motion was rejected. Finally Senator Shortridge was allowed to proceed.

Senator Shortridge, in presenting the Bill to the Senate, made a very strong and at the same time an exceedingly skilful speech. He was interrupted a number of times by questions and objections, particularly from Senator Shields (Democrat) of Tennessee, who, as a member of the Judiciary Committee, had gretly opposed the reporting out of the Bill. The manner in which Senafor Shortridge met this opposition was so convincing and yet so tactful that it could be felt that the Democratic senators present realized it would be exceedingly embarrassing for them to vote against taking the bill up for consideration.

The conclusion of Senator Shortridge's remarks is as follows with interruptions by Senator Shields:

I also realize that we have been in session for some time, a great many days, weeks, and months; but, so far as I am concerned, I am willing to stay right here until this bill, if taken up, is disposed of, however anxious I am to breathe again the air of California, from which State I have been absent until I fear that even my dogs there have forgotten me, though the faithful dog is the last thing on this earth to forget his friend.

I am anxious, indeed, to get home; but it seems to me that if we should agree to take up this bill, and Senators would enter into a gentlemans agreement to discuss it for two days, each side, if there be sides, could advance their arguments, not to curtail argument, but could give their views, and that we could come to a vote on the measure certainly within a week. I respect the wishes of the House of Representatives; and what is perhaps the wish of others.

(Mr. Shields:) The Senator knows the bill was discussed five weeks in the House, does he not?

(Mr. Shortridge:) I think it was discussed for a long time; quite unnecessarily, however.

(Mr. Shields:) With the Senator's intelligence and comprehension of the condition of affairs in the Senate, when he moved to take this bill up he did not expect it to be taken up and disposed of at this session, did he?

(Mr. Shortridge:) Things change rapidly. I answer the Senator, if it is necessary, that I was very fearful that it would not be disposed of if taken up; that is true. I had hoped to have it taken up fully ten days ago, but there were other bills and conference reports, the bonus bill, and the tariff bill, which delayed my asking that the bill be taken up. But this is the first time I have felt I had the right to the floor I came here from California, and I do not want to abuse that right. I am willing to be guided by the wisdom of others. I have made the motion that this bill be taken up, and that we proceed immediately with its consideration, and I have said all I can say, perhaps, in favor of taking it up.

After Senator Shortridge concluded his remarks, the question of voting upon the consideration of the Bill was discussed. While the vote was pending the question of no quorum was raised again. The roll was called and the following senators answered to their names: Brandegee, Bursum, Calder, Cameroon, Capper, Cummins, Curtis France, Jones, (Wash) McCormick, McKeller, McNary, Moses, Owens, Pepper, Rawson, Reed, (Pa) Robinson, Sheppard, Shortridge, Simmons, Sutherland, Swanson, Townsend Underwood Warren, Watson, (Ind.)

There being no quorum present, the vote was not taken and the Bill automatically went over for consideration to the next session of Congress.

From the roll call just above it may be seen that those Republican Senators who stayed through to the end of the fight for immediate consideration of the Bill were: Bursum, N. Mex; Calder, N. Y; Cameron, Ariz; Capper, Kas; Curtis, Kas; France, Mr; Jones, Wash; McCormick Ill; McNary, Ore; Moses, N. H; Pepper, Pa; Rawson, Ia; Reed, Pa; Shortridge, Cal; Sutherland, W. Va; Townsend, Mich; Warren, Wyo; Watson, Ind;

The Republican leaders in the Senate state that the only unfinished business on the program of the Steering Committee are the Liberian Loan Bill and the Anti-Lynching Bill. They have given definite promises that these two measures will be taken up and finally disposed of at the opening of the next session and before any other legislation is considered.

This is the first fundamental issue of national import to the colored people the United States that has been put squarely before the Republican party since the Civil Rights Bill We have the pledge to enact this legislation in the Republican platform

We have it recommended by the President and we have the promise of its enactment by the leaders of the majority in Congress We must hold the Party and hold the President and hold the Republican majority in the Senate, strictly to these promises, and if the enacement of anti-lynching legislation is not fulfilled before the passing of this Congress on March 3, 1923, we should consider all of these promises as broken

Could I but tell
When ends life's spell,
And I'll behold Thy throne;
Could I but know
When I shall go
To view that vast unknown
I would so live
That when my soul,
Its upward flight would take,
'Twould gladly lay life's armor down
And going home to wear a crown,
In God's Dominion wake.

Could I but say
This very day,
That life has lost its charm;
Could I but hold
The hand now cold,
Made so by rude alarm
I would so love
That God above,
Some blessing would bestow,
And ere the shades of evening closed
That life that opened like the rose,
With charms afresh would flow.

Could I but do
For one or two
All that lies in my pow'r,
Could I but stoop
Like flowers droop,
To serve them every hour,
I'd so behave
That at their grave
No single tear'd be shed.
For sacred fusing of the soul
Is useless when the corpse is cold,
Why cry till eyes are red?

Could I but add
One thought though sad,
To some great scheme of life;
Could I subtract
Some little act,
And lessen human strife,
I'd add that thought
By conscience wrought
Subtract that act unkind,
Then every human heart I'd purge,
And give old conscience one good scourge,
(To prove) life earnest, real, divine.

ON THE DIAMOND

Last Sunday Gardens Athletics at the Alexander Park on 32nd and Long Beach. The Athletics won handily not however until the last man was out in the 9th was there any big noise as to who would be who.

Tomorrow the Athletics go up against the classy El Segundo team and all lovers of the National pastime know that they will get a run for their money with these two teams opposing each other. Game called promptly at 2.30 o'clock.

Last Sunday score was Giants 8; All-Stars 6.

AMONG THE FOUR ROUNDERS

With the Avenue Palace now a dead issue everybody wends their way out to Madison Square Garden on 32nd and Long Beach Ave. for here the management seeks at all times to provide the very best card possible regardless of expense. In line with this policy is headliner Lee Anderseh the fast mid light heavyweight who has a record of a knock out over Kid Norfolk as well as a draw and who is rated as one of the very best in his weight in the country. As a matter of fact Andersen is matched to fight Kid Norfolk at Madison Square Garden in New York the latter part of this month.

Therefore the match between this well known and near champion and Victor Alexander premier heavyweight of the Pacific Coast was of more than usual interest and brought out a big house.

Main Event

At the sound of the gong Andersen commenced operations and carried the fighting to Vic and early did he show Victor up in the clinches. But Vic stood him off.

2nd Round: Vic uses head to push opponent off. Andersen rushes Vic who prances away. Andersen lands on body and jaw repeatedly with ease. Andersen's round.

3rd Round: Andersen lands on the jaw. Vic goes down for the count of 5; Vic crawls to his corner for water on his elbow and knees—It is said that this disqualified him but Andersen made no claim; he rose, went into a clinch. Andersen lands again on Vic's sore jaw, he takes the count to 8 when the bell saved him.—Andersen's round.

4th Round: Vic cut Andersen several chops on the jaw but they did not even phase him. Vic goes down for the count of 9. Vic puts hard left to jaw. Andersen rushes him, clips his chin. Vic goes down for count of 8 comes up tries to rally but fails to make the grade. Andersen's round and Andersen's fight.

The Semi Wind-Up.

One-Round: Norman vs. Blackie Rice, 145 lbs. Norman starts a furious pace but Blackie slows him up with stiff body punches; Blackie proves a perfect blocker.—Even round.

4th Round: Both fighters have been slowed down. Blackie holds his own while Norman never stopped trying. The judges gave the decision to Blackie but a draw would certainly have been just and fair.

Special Events

Young Sam Langford vs. Kid Price (white) 125 pounds—Young Langford now seems about to get back into his old time form for he put on everything in this go, he was up against a real good boy and the manner and despatch in which he put him away in the second round shows Sam up as a coming boxer who can yet shine in the realms of pugilism.

Classy Bout

Baby Gans vs. Tommy Adams (white). Adams tries to slug to the body but Gans is his master and cut him into ribbons with a vicious uppercut. Gans showed class all the way and early in the 2nd round Adams' seconds threw the old towel in the ring in token of defeat.

Kid Blondie vs. Young Gilbert (white). Gilbert goes down twice from the impetus of his own attempted blows; they swap body punches.—Round even.

4th Round: Blondie working Gilbert is slowed up. Gilbert down as Blondie lands hard on the rises and at bell is soaked on nose. Blondie's round and fight.

Rough House Cooper vs. Kid Massie both colored. Massie was way heavier than Rough House but what he lacks in weight he more than made up in science, and fought the Massie to a draw.

RING GOSSIP

Kid Blondie who has made several starts and as many wins since his arrival here from Sacramento has demonstrated that he can stack up with any of them of his weight. In order to get on here in every sght he has had to give away plenty of weight but at that he puts over a win. He is a classy boy and has created a most favorable impression the fans are all with him.

By WM. MELLS WATSON

Old man William Marshall Dunn president of the Federation at its meeting last Monday night was punished at a top of red hot incinerator during the major portion of the fray evening, but with the aid of considerable asbestos finally and very diplomatically succeeded in "cramming" the dear brother who struck the torch and the sweet sisters who heaven the oil into the conflagration.

Much Brimstone in Evidence

The final results of the "white heat" session was that the three dollars per member assessment string for the "club house or bust" drive was unearthed and kicked into the Dead Sea and as a substitute the Fed requests a flat rate of "One Hundred Beans" to be spread on the table by each of the local clubs at its next meeting November 6th and he didn't say "maybe."

The Club House Site

Honorable Clarence Brooks club house site proposition failed to precipitate a single death, in fact not one of the pretty hammer swingers even fainted, although they juggled the thing around so that brother Brooks' birth books won't sell any of the Fed's do ray me in the near future.

Location Squad Appointed

"Dead head" mail committee have pained prexy Dunn so severely in the past that he appointed a trio of beauties who will "really hustle" to assist in locating a suitable patch of earth on which the Fed is to build its future home, the size of which must be at least 200x120 feet and located near a yellow car line.

Mrs. Gilberta Turner "Kay" If You Please

Anybody can get married these days but it requires a pair of phenoms to do the thing Aug. 12, 1922 and keep 700,000 citizens ignorant of it until last Monday, Oct. 2, 1922. And then they told it themselves. yep that is what charming Gilberta Turner—Mrs. James Kay we mean did and every member of her club the Alpha Parthenial is "flabagasted." likewise the friends of the tall good-natured Jimmy "Wop Wop" Kay, we are foundered.

West Side Ladies' "Hop"

Saturday night, October 14 the West Side Ladies' will skirmish around the beautiful rooms of the home of Juliette Harris, 1514 W. 36th St. the Pacific Coast champion of ladies singles, doubles and mixed doubles with all the pleasure-seekers that can be crammed into the place in a determined effort to grab off their (hundred bucks for the Fed first. He has in his selection of horses those of the Patch family, Red Wilks; Norwood, which family is relatives of Nancy Hancks' the champion of all trotters; also the Lu Dillon family. The colts that Lu has in California are most beautiful specimen that have every entered this section. The colts that are being raised here in Sunny Side stables will be shipped to Madison Square Gardens in New York City, New York. POLITICAL POT PIE

The battle lines are now formed and the political armies are being mobilized for the grand charge on November 7th.

Out in the 73rd district there are two Independent Candidates who essay to wrest the honors from the shoulders of Elmer Bromley.

——————

Just why anybody would fall out and get mussed up over anybody's political game is more than we can understand. For our part if our brother would oppose us politically he would still be our brother and at all times within his rights. Therefore as a people civilizaton should make more of an impression in things political and cut out the animosites and hatred which are not the products of an enlightened age.

The mountebank, disreputable and unprincipled politician, curb stoner discredited leader and egotists in order to bolster up a cause, endeavors to tear somebody else down in order to get up themselves, that is where they fail for they inevitably go down themselves in the long run. This ilk of mankind will manufacture some sort of lie on someone which they desire to injure in the esteem and respect of the people and then hide back in the dark like the cowards which they are waiting for the effect—the echo. This sort of politicians and the kind the Eagle is waging war on and we will put them out of business in California. They would destroy us because we do things. We will destroy them because they are a menace.

Quite a deal of discussion pro and con has taken place since the announcement of James Alexander as an Independent Candidate for the Assembly from the 74th Assembly District.

The law provides for the manner of the selection of candidates for office and if after a nomination is made and a voter is not satisfied he still has as the law has provided a way and manner for getting on the ticket as an Independent Candidate.

We can see no reason for criticism. Should any American citizen submit him or herself for the scrutiny and consideration of their fellow-citizens and we certainly condemn as severely as possible anybody who would dare say that any other body should not avail themselves of the benefits and provisions of the law if they see fit to do so.

——————

Adams for Police Judge is right on the job and if we don't miss our guess he is the man who will get that job.

——————

It was indeed a surprise to the Pot Pie man when the announcement of James M. Alexander was read in the New Age on last Saturday as we had been told by Mr. Alexander a week before that he would not run. However, as we see it he has a perfect right to run and submit his candidacy to the consideration of his fellow citizens. Mr. Alexander in the past has been a conspicious figure in the history of this community. It is admitted and recognized that he has secured substantial political recognition for the race and that he was always on the job asking for recognition for the race. He stands as a clean cut character about whom the tongue of scndal has not successfully wagged and most certainly the Soaring Eagle will give to him an opportunity to be heard and to state his case, just the same as any other citizen who may seek these columns as a medium to reach the people. Standing as we do as a regular supporting in this election the regular Republican ticket, means that our editorial support and policy will be for the regular Republican ticket. But perish the thought that the day or time will ever come when we will deny any person the opportunity to state his or her case in these columns—We trust that we are understood.

A METHODIST PREACHER'S LIE.

By: C. A. Spear

"The daily papers have recently carried" a news item that is worthy of the mutual consideration of the colored and white population of our city. It appears that a young Georgian, visiting in this city, was on a street car and in a most courteous manner requested a colored woman, who attempted to engage him in a very distasteful conversation, to desist. She continued to annoy him and he rather positively rebuked her, whereupon some four Negro men forcibly took him from the street car, far out in the residence portion of the city, and proceeded to slash him with knives until he was carted to the hospital in a most serious condition. This race question undoubtedly has two sides to it and the trouble usually starts with the criminal element in one of the two races, and one is as bad as the other. It would be folly to blame good, law-abiding Negroes with this monstrous behavior. However, it is well for the Negroes themselves to attend to such offenders as the newspapers have pointed out in this matter. A little spark has started some terrific conflagrations, and the colored people of Los Angeles will be wise if they will deal promptly and positively with such 'gents' as mistreated this young visitor to our city."

The Rev. Mr. Schuler, who would hide what he cails his religion under the cover of race pride clearly shows however his real feeling—when, without making any investigation in the section where his illusionary crime was committed makes a statement which we believe he himself knows is false, to the effect that a Colored woman attempted to force her attention upon an innocent Georgian on a certain date in the city of Los Angeles.

Now, Rev. Schuler, first of all your innocent little white man came from Georgia, the state that ranks second only to Texas in the matter of lynching, burning and tearing out the bowels of women, who are about to be mothers.—Let us ask you this question, Do you think one coming from this environment is apt to easily be a victim of insult from a lone colored woman? Secondly, we would call your attention to some facts;—admitting we have some "bad Negroes, women and men," due to the fact that for two hundred and fifty years your fair parents held mine as chattel slaves in the debasing school slavery, during which time your grandfather became the father of illigitimate children by my grandmother, hence the first seeds of immorality were sown. But, Rev. Mr, Schuler, we are glad to state here and now, that within a period of sixty years we have been able to reduce that immoral standard forty per cent.

And then again we would call your attention to a little Missionary work that you with your great church and publication might accomplish here in Los Angeles, and thus help the heathen at your door. Down here in East Los Angeles, where your innocent little Georgian was so badly mistreated, white dope and bootleg venders contribute to the delinquency of a class that is truly a menace to "the would do right class."

You not only taught Negroes vice, but you are still teaching them—some of your clubs, hotels and other dens while they draw the color line train a certain class known in the Negro colony as the Creole or octoroon, in methods of vice that are carefully passed on and hence the Negro who has followed a false trail of religion offered by you is still drinking from your cup of vice that has turned the tide of your boasted civiization and will mean death to him if he persists in following where you lead Religiously, Socially and Poitically.

In concusion you very cleverly appealed to what you see It to call the better class of Negro, to be careful lest he should have to pay a price.

Well, Rev. Schuler in every one of America's wars except the last one the Negro fought to keep the Old Flag from touching the ground—but in the World War he fought for Democracy; and Democracy he shall have and your threats of death mean nothing to him, for at last if to be a man means death—then let him die! For to be a man and die is better than living a lie or a coward.

WESTERN DISPATCH PASSES OUT.

When the latest effusion to journalism started on its career in this city we wrote in effect as follows:

If your motives are sincere and you are on the square we wish you all the success which goes with publication of a race journal.

Before this salutory to our new contemporary we stated that this city was a veritable graveyard for race journals and that we ourselves had written obituaries for quite a score or more and probably would write for others yet unborn.

Let's see, did we write wisely or well? Just how sincere the new paper was, was demonstrated when it inaugurated a campaign to put this journal out of business instead of centering on a campaign to build itself up. It could not possibly live and grow and at the same time devote its time to destroying us. Then another incident hove in sight the "pilfering of our Mailing List." Now, somebody stole that list which was used by this self same paper and this fact which within our soul convinced us of a lack of sincerity broke all chords of fraternal understanding as we have always enjoyed with all regular and creditable newspapers throughout the length and breadth of the land, however the Master has spared us to write "Finis" over the remains of this sheet, the camouflage of a combination fools nobody who is wise to the issue, any newspaper man could see that for some months the bird had been badly winged and must surely fall and that it was simply hunting an easy spot on which to fall. Now in the New Age it found that spot. Why the Age likes to absorb newspapers it absorbed the San Diego Journal, subscription list and all and still the New Age goes on with absorbtion. But for all that according to their declaration of principles in New Series Vol. 1 No. 1 both have been declared dead, be that as it may we have not been cheated in writing this obituary just the same. If there were after death, a regeneration of the two forces, the Dispatch had some clever guy and he makes it look like the New Age was hanging on the ropes in a more desperate condition than the other fellow and at the rejuvenation from the staff of the New Union the Age has been smothered out and the other boys are on the staff four to one.

SIKI VICTORY STIRS PARIS RACE FIGHTS

AMERICAN WHITES RESENTING FRENCH RACE EQUALTIY AND ADULATION OF NEW FISTIC STAR ARE BEATEN UP BY PARIS NEGROES AS THEY MAKE INSULTING REMARKS

Paris, Oct. —Batting Siki's unexpected victory over Georges Carpentier has resulted in frequent fights between American whites and members of the Parisian Negro colony, especially in the Montmatre section, where the latter have been celebrating the crowning of the new champion.

In most instances the Negroes have been accompanied by pretty French girls. Objecting American whites have precipitated quarrels and in many cases free-for-all battles have taken place with unpleasant results for the white Americans.

The Paris Negro colony—and it is big and varied—is carrying its chest out and its head high while the French women's color blindness, so far as they are concerned, is increasing, even to the embarrassment of many Negroes themselves who find themselves hunted by French women of all types and stations of life.

The new idol is cheered wherever he goes. The French have shown him no discrimination. He makes speeches, receives the flowers and garlands thrown to him and smiles all the time. Almost every other Negro seen on the streets is mistaken for Siki and is surrounded by an admiring crowd until the poor fellow—he is usually a jazz band player—is forced to take to flight in a taxi in self defense.

Yesterday, Siki visited all the sporting newspaper offices, took a little champagne and blocked traffic by appearing in balconies, wreathed in garlands and waving to the crowds below. But on the whole he takes little liquor, sticking to vichy and victuals.

The new champion is being inundated with commercial offers. One wants to use his name to advertise a new pill; anither wants to star him in a film version of Rene Maran's "Bataoula", the novel of Africa by a Negro that won the Prix Goncourt," a well-known dancer offers him 1,000 francs a night to dance with her at a fashionable cafe.

To all these offers his manager, Heller, returns a decided negative. And Francois Descamps, Carpentier's manager, screams continually for a return fight, which he will certainly not get for at least a year. Descamps, crying like a child, almost came to blows with Heller at a private showing of the fight film, run off slowly. Others in the theatre indulged in a new riot in a difference of opinion as to whether Siki fouled Georges or not.

But Siki just smiled, and out of the goodness of his heart offered to bring flowers to his beaten rival, a suggestion that almost drove Descamps blind with rage.

Carpentier's apartment is still like a hospital. Both eyes remain closed. His nose is thrice its normal size. He has a huge gash across his lips, which are considerably swollen, and his cheeks are a welter of wounds.

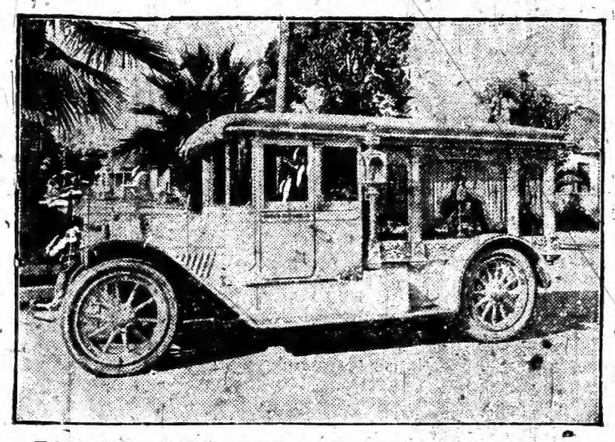
He has not been able to send a message to his wife, who is at Biarritz, and his friends think he would be humiliated if they summoned her.

With both hands broken and one ankle sprained, Carpentier probably has taken the worst punishment meted out to a champion in recent years for such a comparatively slight consideration—$18,000.

THE HERRIN HORROR

We regret very much that there seems to be among those who participated in the Herrin massacre—one Negro, and he a deputy sheriff.

It seems hardly imaginable that a black upon whose race all kinds of indescribable injustices are heaped should engage in the willful and malicious destruction of human beings.



Even tho he were in authority it would have been better had he thrown down the gauntlet, and made his escape, even to sacrifice his job, rather than stain his hands with the blood of the innocent laborer who had set about to earn a day's earnings.

Offenses are like accidents—it is impossible but that they come, but woe unto him to whom they come. Every man that commits a crime is guilty of that offense and must be likewise punished, if not by law by a remorseful conscience which haunts him day and night.

THE BAPTIST CONVENION

The convention did not come nor will it this year and for why there are many proposed reasons. We do not doubt the authenticity of any of them but we do know that it brought happiness to some and disappointment to others. It would seem rather risky for a chartered train occupied only by Negroes to start on a strenuous journey westward when the strike conditions were as they were. At the same time trains were being blown up, spikes pulled, human life sacrificed and property destroyed and too the strikers jobs on some of the roads were being filled by Negroes of all ages and to get a chance to wreck his vengence would be playing to the strikers hands. We are of the opinion that whatever is to be will be and God's providence seems inexplicable but all is well that ends well. It is hardly probable that the convention will be as largely attended as it would have been had it been held in California yet we wish it success along all lines.

L. A. Stocholders Visit and Inspect the Comobabi Mines

LOS ANGELES STOCKHOLDERS VISIT AND INSPECT THE COMOBABI MINES.

Leaving Los Anegles by [illegible] biles, Monday night, Septe[illegible]th, a party of Los Anegles st[illegible]ders visited and inspected th[illegible] holdings of The Comobabi [illegible]idated Mines Company, and [illegible] the group of Claims that Mr. M[illegible] President and founde[illegible] Company is getting in shape.

Those in the party were: Mr. W T Allen [illegible] Central Ave., V. President [illegible]ny; Mr. E. B. Patterson [illegible] Arcot Ave., Asst Secy.; Mr. [illegible] Baldwin of 115[illegible] E. 27th [illegible] Ave., Treas.; Mrs. S. E. Jones [illegible] W. 37th St. and Mrs. Mattie [illegible]ord-McKnight of 71[illegible] Lynoak Road, Watts, California.

The party left Los Angeles Monday night at 11 p. m. guided by Mr. E. B. Patterson who had made the trip by auto several times. The first car was driven by Mr. W. T. Allen, and contained Mr. Allen and Mr. Patterson; the second car was driven by Mrs. Mattie McKnight and contained Mrs. Baldwin, Mrs. Jones and Mrs. McKnight.

The party arrived at the foot of the Comobabi Mountains Thursday the 13th at midnight, where they campedi until daylight when they were met by President Miller and guided to the Camp. Mr. Miller was overjoyed to see them, and especially the ladies, and says that since these ladies had nerve enough to blaze the trail that he expects to see more of them down there in the future.

The party stayed on the ground for a week and was guided over the various sections of the company's holdings by President Miller. Mr. Miller displayed his wonderful knowledge of plant life, gained by years of hard study and proved beyond a doubt that those that had invested in Comobabi stock had taken no chance, but had made a safe investment.

The stockholders are having a meeting Friday evening, October 20th, 1922 at 1415 Central Ave. at 8 o'clock; this meeting will be open to the public, so come out and hear about this wonderful trip and the opportunity it affords.

BISHOP FOUNTAIN RECEIVES OVATION.

BISHOP FOUNTAINE IS GREETED BY AN AUDIENCE OF MORE THAN 1500 AT THE FIRST A. M. E. CHURCH

Eighth and Towne Avenue First A. M. E. Church was crowded to the door and more than a hundred people had to be turned away last Sunday morning when Bishop Wm. Alfred Fountain, D. D. occupied the pulpit, delivering a great and timely sermon on "Christian Efficiency Grows Out of Christian Suffering." Much stress was placed upon the fact that the Methodist Church believes in Sanctification, but not in crankification. He declared that the Spirit's presence makes all these things sacred and holy and we should grow in grace and in His likeness. "Bishop made call for new members; and six women united with the church.

Mrs. Emma Smith rendered a soul stirring solo following a beautiful anthem by the choir, under direction of Mrs. Fred M. Roberts, just before the sermon. Pastor Ward and his church are happy to say the least.

Bishop Fountain addressed the young people at Sunday School on "The Boy Jesus."

In response to a call by Bishop Fountain a big mass meeting was held in Eighth and Towne Avenue A. M. E. Church Sunday afternoon. The congregation included pastors and members of all A. M. E. Churches of this city and vicinity and other Christian visitors. The meeting was held in the interest of the West Side A. M. E. Church. The chorus was made up of combined choir members. The principal addresses were made by Bishop Fountain and Major-Chaplain Prioleau. The Rev. A. Milton Ward precided. An offering of $161.00 was given for the mission. The singing was good.

LOS ANGELES AUDIENCES ARE VERY DISCRIMINATING

They know what they want, and they know when they get it. That's why "Chuckles," Mr. Pierson's Musical Comedy gem made such an instant hit when first played. Fourteen hundred saw it in August. Three thousand will see it played for the benefit of St. Phillip's Episcopal Church at the Philharmonic Monday Nite Oct. 30th.

Harry and Alexander in "Chuckles" Philharmonic Oct. 30th.

LOS ANGELES BOY WILL VISIT EUROPE.

THOMAS MYLES JR.
By George H. Duncan.

Thomas Myles Jr., President Boys International League and Wilwyn Stovall his assistant left Monday to make an extensive trip abroad to represent the Boys International League at the Hague Conference to be held at Switzerland. This is the highest honor to be bestowed upon any race lads in this state or perhaps the nation.

Thomas Myles was elected President of the League at the last conference held at Chicago. The International League consists of over two thousand boys from all parts of the world. Every two years they hold a conference to discuss World problems. Each nation sends their representative. The next conference will be held in Honolulu. The object of this great movement is to promote closer unity among all boys, so as they will better conditions that will arise in the future.

They will stop in the leading countries in the Orient and Europe to establish Boys Leagues. The most important cities will be Liverpool, London, Havre, Paris, Brussels, Geneva and Berlin. During their stay in Switzerland they will address the conference on the labor question. While at England and France they will have the opportunity to meet King George and President Millerand other dignitaries.

Both lads come from a high-class and respectable families. Wilayn Stovall son of William Stovall and nephew of one of our leading physicians, Dr. Leonard Stovall. Thomas Myles is the son of Mrs. A. Sanders Miller Ave.

This is by no means their first accomplishment. Stovall graduated from Hollywood High School at the age of fifteen, the youngest race lad to graduate from a city High School. He has made a great record as an orator and debater. He was the winner of the Declamation Contest in 1920, President of the Hi-Y Club the following year. For two consecutive years the highest point man in the Y. M. C. A. track and field meet, also a football and track star in Prep school. He is now a sophomore at the University of California, and taking a great part in the activities at that institution.

Thomas Myles has many honors while attending prep school. He is the holder of the city record for the 220 yard dash, Captain of Hi-Y track team in 21. A first lieutenant in the Reserve Officers training Corps. A winner on last year declamation contest. President of the Les Trailliens Club. A club consisting of high class college and High School students.

Thomas Myles will tour the United States, and South America during the summer months. He has the privilege to appoint assistants. Mr. Ralph Bunch and the writer of this column will accompany him on these trips.

MME. FLORENCE-COLE TALBERT

Miss Cole enjoyed the distinction of being soloist of the Girls Glee Club of the Los Angeles High School. She graduated with honors at the age of 18 and was her class representative at Commencement, rendering two beautiful solos. The exercises were held in the same auditorium in which she will appear next Tuesday evening. Such was the start of a career that has been so successful. Even as a child it was prophesied that she would be one of the greatest singers that the world would know. So we hear her fulfillment of the [illegible]

A MACEDONIAN CALL.

BISHOP WM. FOUNTAIN AND PRESIDING ELDER JAMES WASHINGTON SEND CALL FOR HELP. METHODISM RESPONDS

Our great commander sent a call,
For help in old L. A.
A mission of His planting there,
Had need of help to stay.
His Major called at once his men,
Great men, both staunch and true.
They sent the order down the ranks,
As Lieutenants always do.
The rank and file to arms did come
And each one answered "Here."
Ready to fight the foe til death,
With gold and prayer and cheer.
The battle fought, the victory won,
The Mission here to stay,
They send their thanks to everyone
Who helped to save the day.
Hurrah for rank and file we say,
And for Captain Washington.
Hurrah for his Lieutenants bold
We'll name them everyone.
Ward, Prince, Guy, House and Cooper,
Two Shaws were there in line,
Price, Raiford, Red and Johnson
And Gantt was not behind.
And as for God's great Major,
Our Fountaine, bless the man.
He's here to fight for God and right
And with his forces stand.
And thanks and praise eternal
To Him who ever all
Holds high the sword of Truth and Right
And will never let us fall.

D., assisted by Rev. James Washington, P. E. and the pastors of the city including Wesley Chapel and A. M. E. Zion Church was in every respect very successful.

The bishop's talk was full of wholesome advice and was an inspiration to the splendid congregation.

The pastors and officers of the various churches responded liberally; as did also the stewardess and deaconesses of the old historic 5th. and Towne. In the rush, the pastor of the Mission was unable to get all names of persons who contributed and hence we will not mention them. The total amount contributed was $161.00 for which we extend to you our thanks.

The weekly prayer service will be on Thursday instead of Wednesday night, so as to [illegible] to attend [illegible] which [illegible] have been [illegible]

Moslem—CHRISTIAN

The eyes of the West are turned toward the Near East. Ever since the Greek debacle, England, France, and Italy have been moving their pawns on the international political chess board. The move of those nations are made for supremacy in some sense; political or commercial. But to throw a screen about the real issue, the horrors of a religious war or the surging tide of color supremacy, is held up to the gaze of Western civilization. England, France, Italy, each one hesitates to take the initiative against Turkey for within their Empire, Kingdom, Republic, are millions of restless people of color whom, they fear, will rush to the standard of the Crescent and wage a war, beside which the recent world conflict will pale into insignificance.

The burning of Smyrna has been laid to the Turks, but recent investigation has proven that it was the warriors of Constantine who burned and looted that city. Turkish soldiers were lending their assistance to wounded Greek soldiers and Armenians when they were fired upon by Greek civilians. And yet the Moslem worshippers of Allah, are accused of atrocious deeds of violence. It is claimed that the Moslems prayed for the Angel of Discord to spread dissension, and antagonism among the Christian Powers. A noted Christian leader observes that the Moslem prayer has been answered. And the result? A divided Christendom. Turkey has surprised the world in her defiance of British power. The white man has made color his Fetish. He has made color his basis for domination. He has plundered, murdered, and enslaved because of color. There must come a day of reckoning unless he exemplyfies the teachings of the Nazarene upon which he bases his Christian civilization. The acknowledgement that the Moslem prayer to the Angel of Discord, was answered, shows a lack of faith in the efficacy of Christian prayer.

Perhaps after all, "God is God and Allah is his prophet."

Politics

The voters of our group were somewhat surprised to learn that "Jim" Alexander had decided to cast his "Castor" in the ring and stand for the Legislature. Not being thoroughly conversant with the situation it is hard to say, whether or not, it be good politics. We heard it said that Alexander would run independent: that was during our recent visit to the Southern City, and then the rumor was emphatically denied. Well, we trust that the "best man wins," and that the fight may be a clean one. Well, there is one complex that, as a race of people, we must get rid of: and that is the feeling of inferiority. We have it, deny it as we will. We are gradually throwing it off, but it is asking a great deal to eliminate in a couple of decades what has been bred into us for a couple of centuries. We see it exhibited in various ways when those who would assume political leadership are making overtures for recognition.

Edward B. Mabson, attorney, announces his candidacy for Associate Justice of the Supreme Court, short term ending January 1923. Attorney Mabson is a clean upstanding lawyer. A member of the San Francisco Bar.

The various amendments, referendums, and other things are receiving the studious consideration of the voters. The power bill, and Sample bill come in for the major part of the interest shown. Its really funny to see some of our "Brothers" "gumshoeing" in and out of the various quarters. Friend Richardson says he is going to win in spite of the "machine." Saying "machine" to Friend is like throwing dust in a Bull's face. They tell me that even the Daughty Senator is not feeling any too easy and is watching the political weather vane with a critical eye.

WELDING SENTIMENT

When we look with seriousness upon the moving picture of racial events that are ever passing before us, we are inclined to stop and consider, whether or no, we are grasping the opportunity of welding the sentiment, favorable sentiment, created in our behalf. Sentiment rules the destinies of people, and propoganda is her hand maiden. It is the creation of sentiment that causes war or makes for peace; causes monarchies to tremble, and thrones to crumble. There is a great possibility that we have allowed various opportunities for welding scattered sentiment to pass by us not grasping them at the psychological moment. Had we welded the sentiment created in favor of the [illegible] Lynching measure, its [illegible] have been [illegible]

But there was no central directing point for the issuing of favorable propoganda: the welding of the sentiment created. If the N. A. A. C. P., the Equal Rights League, African Brotherhood, Sons of Freedom, and what not would lay aside their "Pig headedness," get together and confer, then act on some feasible plan to create and weld favorable sentiment, the entire South, with the Administration thrown in, could not avail against its passage. The women under the leadership of Mrs. Talbert, Hallie Brown, Mrs. James Curtis and Pearl Lowry Winters, have started to raise one million dollars to create favorable sentiment. And they will succeed. They know how. Let us hope that a sentiment will be created, will grow up and be nurtured into mature strength and vigor; our racial status secure against the wiles of prejudice; our influence for national progress be encouraged, and appreciated; and the race be perpetuated as a proud example of manhood and womanhood, entitled to, and given, the respect of mankind. These things cannot be accomplished without centralization. We must eliminate the personal equation for the common good. It remains with us whether we are to attain racial standing in the nation by unity of endeavor, or become insignificantt and withered fragments, blown hither and thither by the will and caprice of our enemies.

WEST SIDE CITIZENS CROWD COUNCIL CHAMBERS.

The question of the location of another soap suds factory at 36th & Western Ave. was the cause which brought more than 200 residents of the West Side to the Chamber of the City Council on yesterday.

A petition had been filed last week by more than 300 property holders all members of the West Side Improvement Association requesting the city council to recind its action which made all the West Side residence district a Industrial done, the petioners were told to be at the Council Chamber Friday morning at 10 o'clock a. m. for a hearing, when they arrived the president of the Association was told by the minute clerk Mr. Carroll "That there would be no hearing" and further that the petition which had been filed had also been voted down a week ago by the City Planning Commission, or to be more exact on the very day that it was filed. The City clerk claimed that he did not have the petition nor could he find it, after a search in every department of the city Hall the petition was found pigeon holed in the rooms of the City Planning Commission, the clerk refused to turn it over, until ordered to do so by councilman R. S. Sparks who got the petition and personally presented it to the Council. As soon as he had presented the petition, Councilman R. Allen (the Vardaman of the Council) moved that the whole matter be thrown out. Councilman Sparks vigorously opposed this and suggested that the permit given the Blue Bird laundry was illegal, where-upon the Council referred the whole matter to the city attorney for his report as to the legality of the permit. The City Attorney called up the Blue Bird Laundry requesting them to cease further building operations pending the outcome of his findings. They refused absolutely to heed his request to suspend building. Councilman Allen (Vardaman of the council) stated that he was backing them. This self same Robert Allen who has took special interest in all matters which would hamper and keep down real progress for a certain group of our citizens, he is strong in his stand and excitedly stated that the Blue Bird laundry was going through if it takes the whole official strength of the city to do so and that the only relief would be the overturning of the whole zoning law. He told the president of the Association, attorney H. E. Macbeth that if he was so fortunate as to succeed in doing this that he would be sorry that he did it.

The whole program is to turn the beautiful residence district on the West Side into a Industrial district, destroying the value of the beautiful colored homes and permitting the white people of Wilshire, Hollywood and the South West side to have their clothes washed in the colored residence districts and save their own residence districts from being marred by these unsightly, unsanitary and dangerous laundries.

The West Side Improvement Association will hold a big mass meeting of property holders on Monday night at which time plans for future action will be made, and no doubt legal redress will be sought to meet the exigencies of the occassion.

BATTLING SIKI

By Chandler Owen

We pay little attention to boxing. We read after the ring about like we ordinarily follow Wall Street stocks. But when something unusual happens in Wall Street—a panic or a bomb plot—we are eager for the details of the phenomenon because they represent a wider interest than the few bankers involved or the apprehended anarchistic suspects. So since something big has turned up in boxing we are closely observing the attendant reactions.

Battling Siki, black Frenchman from Africa, whipped Georges Carpentier, idol of the Boulefards, into unconsciousness in six rounds of a scheduled twenty round bout. Fifty thousand people saw this fight in Paris on Sept. 24. Siki is now heavyweight champion of Europe and light heavy weight champion of the World. He is the man of the hour.

This encounter is fraught with significance. Let us first consider it on the other side of the Atlantic.

Press accounts state that Carpentier, upon entering the ring, fairly turned into a movie actor before the battery of ringside cameras. He wanted the outside world to see that he at no time considered his opponent even worthy of being taken seriously. With him it was only a pink tea affair. Poor Siki did not boast, but determined to do his best.

At the end of the third round "Georgeous Georges" foresaw his impending doom. He grew desperate. He openly tried to foul, trip, or anything to save himself—and the spectators hissed. Siki took all this and kept pounding away.

In the sixth round Georges was knocked out, helpless—his nose and both wrists broken and one eye closed. He was clearly a well beaten man.

But when Georges fell, one foot went up between Siki's legs. His manager, Deschamps, in a mad effort to save his protoge, yelled "Foul!" and the referee sustained the view. This disqualified Siki and gave the victory to the helpless Georges.

The 50,000 fans would not stand for this open cheat. How could a man win who was clearly knocked out? And if this was to count against Siki as a foul, then Georges should have been out long before Siki declared the winner. The multitude hissed and abused the judges for an hour until they reversed the decision and declared Siki the victor.

This is what we call sportsmanship. France still has an idol, although he be black.

On this side of the Atlantic there is a different picture. Harry Wills, universally praised as a clean sportsman, has been for over a year called the "logical" contender for the crown now worn by Jack Dempsey. Harry has whipped everybody up to Jack and still there is evasion. Jack has not met a single contender since he defeated this selfsame Georges at Jersey City, N. J., on July 2, 1921. He has fought less than any other world champion in the history of boxing. He has gained the name of being the "Big Bluff."

The spirit of genuine sportsmanship is far amiss in America. And we dare say, had the Siki-Carpentier bout been in the United States, the winner would have been "Gorgeous Georges." That is Americanism in action. In sportsmanship at least, we prefer "Frenchism."

The New York Times, among other things, had this to say on the fair-play spirit of France:

"Battling Siki from Senegal has stopped Mr. Georges Carpentier, and French statesmen ought to pause and think it over. France, in Africa, has taken up the legacy of Rome; also some of Rome's colonial policies. Because there are notenough white Frenchmen to hold the Rhine frontier, France undertakes to make Frenchmen out of Sahara tribesmen and equatorial negroes. They may be able to do it, in several thousand years; meanwhile there is a gap which can't be bridged by the ribbon of the Legion of Honor. And there are more black Frenchmen than white Frenchmen. Some day they may develop a wallop that will upset things of more importance than Georges Carpentier.

"Rome tried to make Romans out of frontier savages, and with fair success; though her material was a good deal better than what France has found south of the Sahara. But the process of Romanization was too slow; real Romans died off faster than new Romans could be made. Eventually the frontier savages were left to do most of the fighting; and they soon discovered that there was more loot to be got by fighting against Rome than for Rome. It ought to be obvious, but is sometimes forgotten, that the supremacy of white civilization depends on things like the machine gun, the airplane and the superdreadnought. If other races can learn how to manipulate these implements of superiority, they can afford to defer their studies in the politer phases of European culture."

We only wish to remark that we believe France fundamentally right in her course. We are not deluded with the idea that white people will always rule this world anyway. And when their end comes, France will certainly receive more clemency than any other nation—certainly more than the United States if a black American's desires carry any weight.

REPORT SMITH TRIAL.

REPORT ON TRIAL OF FAY ALMA SMITH, SLAYER OF ARTHUR BELL —By Will Hefflin, Special Reporter.

The case of Fay Alma Smith, charged with the murder of Arthur Bell in this city at 9545½ Central Avenue during the night of February 14, 1922, by shooting him five times, came up regularly for hearing on September 19, in Department 19 of the Superior Court of thi County, before the Hon. Russ Avery, Judge. The prosecution was represented by Deputy District Attorneys J. J. Hill and J. P. Costello, while the defense attorneys were E. B. Cerutti and W. H. Willis.

The ten days' trial was opened after the selection of the jury, by Mr. Hill who made his opening statement to the jury that he intended to prove that the deceased came to his death as a result of five gunshot wounds inificted by the defendant, with malice—after a day spent in tracing his movements and those of Jimmie Seigler, a friend of the deceased.

The first witness on the stad was Mrs. Janie Williams, mother of Arthur Bell, who testified that he was about 31 years old and that he came to his death as a result of gunshot wounds at the Receiving Hospital in the early morning of February 15, 1922, and that his body was later removed to Smith and Williams, Undertakers.

The next witness was Jimmie Seigler, the alleged lover of Arthur Bell and the third angle of the triangle. She testified that on the night of the killing she had a visitor in the person of Charles Wagner who had been sent to entice her out to a place behind a sign-board where Miss Smith was waiting. That, Miss Smith had visited her on February 5 and threatened her and in response to a question by the District Attorney, she testified as follows:

'S'he came into the room and she began to talk. I asked her to have a seat and she sat down and began to talk and she said Arthur sent her out there to tell me not to be sending him any more messages. I said, "I haven't sent any messages." She said, "Well, I just want to let you know if you have you better stop, because I am Arthur's lawful married wife." And she said, "If I ever catch you and Arthur together I am going to kill both of you; I am going to put an end to you." And then she went on and told me about different girls she had beat up about him."

Mr. Ewart Phillips of 1502 E. 9th St., testified that he was hired by Mrs. Truitt, aunt of the defendant, to drive them about in the aunt's machine on the day of the killing and that he drove them to the Sant. Fe Station where Miss Smith sent him in to enquire what time the train left for Arizona and to the Southern Pacific depot where they learned that the next train would not be until the following day. That they then drove south on Central Avenue where they picked up Lillian Armstrong and then on to Pico and Central where they picked up Charles Wagner and then drove to the corner of 17th and Hooper where Miss Smith and Wagner got out.

Then came Lillian Armstrong of 813 Linden St., the most damaigng witness for the prosecution, for she testified that she had seen a revolver in the handbag of Miss Smith when she was over to Mrs. Truett's house in the afternoon of the killing —that they had picked her up in the machine that night and that Miss Smith had sent her up to Arthur's room to see if he was in—that she accompanied them to 17th and Hooper—where she was led to believe that there was a gun in the car by the words of Mrs. Truett, the defendant's aunt. The attorneys for the defense attempted to confuse the witness by exhibiting a lady's vanity case to this witness but she stated that the article to which she referred was a shopping bag.

Dr. Wagner, autopsy surgeon, was next called and described the course of the five bullet wounds in the body of the deceased which he described as one entering the front of the neck and emerging in front near the right shoulder; one directly through the chest and emerging through the back; one through the hip and emerging through the buttock; one through the left side which ranged upward at an angle of 45 degrees and was found in the right breast and one in the abdomen which ranged downward at an angle of 45 degrees. He stated that the first three here mentioned were not fatal but that either of the last two were probably fatal and could be the cause or death.

Great stress was laid upon the manner of entrance, the directions prosecution, contending that the defendant fired upon the deceased while he was either falling or had fallen to the floor, used the blood-stained garments to show the course of the bullets.

Charles Wagner, 1721 Newton St., better known throughout the trial as "Fat" was called and he testified that he got into the machine at Pico and Central and was sent by Miss Smith to the house of Jimmie Seigler to get her to come out, while she, Miss Smith waited behind a sign-board. He was instructed to tell her that Arthur Bell was waiting on the corner to see her and that the reason she did not come up to the house was because he was afraid that he was being trailed.

To his credit, it is stated that Wagner did not impart the message as he was directed and the prosecution [illegible] that this proved [illegible] testified at the preliminary examination and by stipulation, his testimony was read into the record. Skates testified that he had known Miss Smith for a little over a year and that on this particular night he was in his room reading and when he passed by the room occupied by Bell and Miss Smith that he heard "Her asking him if he was going out at that time of the night and he said yes, so I just kept on walking back to my room and sat down and read the paper."

Detective Sergeant McDuff was next called to the stand and he explained the diagram of the room and its contents that he had drawn on a blackboard and also a diagram of the building, showing room 2 in which the tragedy occured. Then an argument was had over the introduction of the map on the ground that it did not represent the condition of things in the room at the time of the shooting, but at the time that officer McDuff visited the room the following day. This objection was overruled when it was connected up by the testimony of Officer Davis from the "Flying Squadron" who made the arrest. It was in his testimony that the prosecution scored a telling point when the District Attorney asked this question, "Did you see any articles overturned or any chairs or tables overturned," and the witness answered, "The room was in a a very orderly condition". The attorney for the defense was on his feet immediately with "That is not quite an answer to your question. The answer is hardly responsive to that question," whereupon the witness later said, "They were not overturned." This witness also identified the gun used and the bullets that were found in his clothing.

Officer Gruey, partner of Officer Davis, and nurse R. D. Brown then took the stand, in order, and corroborated the testimony already given.

Elmer Blackstone, a strong witness for the defense, then took the stand and testified as to the lapse of time between the third and the two succeeding shots and his conversation with the defendant. He said, "I wanted to talk to her to get the gun. She says, "No" she says, "he is dressing to go to see that b..... Let him go now." He was followed on the stand by Roy Tompkins, Will Brown and Wilson Handy, all of whom testified that they heard the shots and explained the lapses of time.

At this point the prosecution closed its case and Attorney Cerutti made his opening statemnt of defense in which he stated that he expected to show that the deceased and defendant had been living together for about six years, in spite of their differences; that she left him in the fall of 1921, and returned at the solicitation of the deceased and his friends; that he had beat her since her return; that on the day of the shooting she did not have a bag but a small vanity case; that everything was orderly until the deceased started dressing to go out on the night of the killing and that she fired in self defense as the deceased was about to strike her with a chair.

Mrs. Mamie Truitt, of 819 Linden St., aunt of the denfendant was the first witness called by the defense. She testified that she had known the interested parties for a long time and that Mrs. Lilian Armstrong was not there on the afternoon in question as she had stated; that Fay Smith only had a vanity case and not a shopping bag in which there was a revolver. She testified about the trips to the stations and later to 17th and Hooper.

The defense then used Charles Wagner as a witness for the defense to prove that there was no gun in the car; and did the same with Ewart Phillips.

Then the defendant, FAY ALMA SMITH, took the stand to testify in her own behalf. She testified that she was 27 years of age, born in Arizona, had been married and divorced; had been with Arthur Bell for nearly six years, living with him in the Imperial Valley, Sacramento, Oxnard and Los Angeles. She then produced two letters written to her while in Imperial Valley during the time last Fall when they were separated. One was from Georeg Nunley, asking her to return. His letter was couched in the "highest" English, at one place stating—"so I am kindly and sincerely asking you to please for my sake, your saks, Arthur's sake and for the general sake of humanity and mankind come at once and take charge of the essential and binding management of myself and Arthur's house," while his opening sentence read, "No doubt you will be amazed at the strange incident receiving this missive, but however, self preservation is the first law of nature and necessity is the father, mother and cause of all effort, consequently in advising you of myself, your loving husband and all interesting friends good health and well being Sumnerly I will proceed along said lines as I deem advisable becoming and necessary." She then testified to an alleged occurrance when Bell struck her when she intercepted a note addressed to him; about her going to the residence of Jimmie Seliger as had already been related; about fights they had had in different places and times; and eventually got down to the date of the killing. That on this day she went down town to do some shopping and returned by her aunt's where she had a light lunch and got home about 9:30 or 10 o'clock. That she pulled on her street clothes and About 12 o'clock Bell came in—"Why he came in and washed his face first [illegible]

I said, "Where on earth could you be going this time of night?" And he said it was none of my d.....d business, I was getting too d—n fly anyway, and threw a bottle from the dresser and hit me, and I fell out of bed and threw my hand up and screamed." Then later, continuing, she testified, "Then when I screamed, why, he came over and choked me and hit me on the jaw and told me to shut up my screaming. He told me to shut up my screaming, and then I was trying to avoid the blows the best I could on the bed from him, and during the time I was trying to avoid the blows in some way I got away from him and jumped over the bed, over the foot of the bed, and when I jumped over the bed he then reached for a chair to strike me, and I was frightened, because he had beaten me before with chairs" Here the prosecution objected and the last part was stricken out and the witness continued: "I jumped over the foot of the bed and he reached for a chair to strike me. It was then that I thought of the gun and started shooting—I just picked it out and started shooting. I was so excited I didn't know what I was doing. I didn't know if I hit him, or what, I just kept on shooting. The witness was then turned over to the prosecution for cross examination which Mr. Hill opened up by asking about marriage. "You never had a license, a marriage license, issued, did you. You never went before any justice, police judge, superior court judge, or any other magistrate empowered to perform marriage ceremonies, did you—Never went before any minister of the gospel or priest of any denominoation empowered to perform a marriage ceremony?" To all of which the defendant answered in the negative. He then asked questions to show that the defendant was fully cognizant of the nature of business conducted by Bell and participated in his business and profits. His questions were interrupted by objections of the defense attorneys. He then dwelt on the trip to the house of Jimmie Seigler and scene of the murder. At this time he introduced a statement taken down by Officer McDuff in shorthand in the matron's quarters of the city jail the day after the shooting in which the defendant had gone over the scene and acts just prior and during the shooting in which she had not stated anything about being struck with a chair, or bottle. He read from his statement "I will ask you if Officer McDuff didn't ask you this question, and if you didn't make the following answer, in that same conversation, page 91, question: "Then he really only struck you once, did he not, last night? A—That was the only chance he got to hit me. He hit at me once and I dodged the blow, and then grabbed the gun out of the dresser. Wasn't that question asked you, and didn't you answer as I have read?" The defendant fenced her reply, "I don't remember."

Other witnesses in the persons of Mrs. Elizabeth Hall, Mrs. Aimel Thompson, Mrs. Rita Copeland, Mr. Hill Truitt, Mr. J. W. Rodgers and patrolman A. A. Watson were introduced to show the belligerent nature of the deceased.

Then came the surprise of the trial for the defense, when Detective Sergeant McDuff was recalled to the stand in rebuttal and produced a piece of flooring taken from the murder room and leaden bullet found beneath. This piece of flooring showed that the bullet that penetrated it could not have been fired from where the defendant had testified that she was standing, to-wit, near the dresser. In this manner the prosecution was able to account for four of the bullets. This reporter learned that one of the bullets, the missing one, was the one that was found by a lady in the passageway the morning following the shooting, but this information came too late to be of use in the trial. At the close of the day's session the attorneys for the defense asked time to make an examination of the premises and left for the scene. While they ware going up the stairs, up came Detective Seregant Kimbrough always on the job. The following day the associate attorney, Mr. Willis took the stand but allusion to the removed board was carefully avoided.

The case went to the jury after a ten day's trial, marked by the stubbornness with which both sides fought for every advantage and guarded [illegible] which was [illegible]

WARD CHAPEL A. M. E. CHURCH IN FAREWELL TO REV. AND MRS. J. EDW. McCORKLE, AND WELCOME TO REV AND MRS. B. R. GUY.

On Wednesday evening, Oct. 4th., upward of two hundred people gathered in the main auditorium of Ward Chapel A. M. E. CHURCH, 1252 East 25th Street, for the purpose of showing respect to the retiring pastor and wife for distinguished services rendered in the past two years, and to extend a cordial welcome to the new pastor and wife who are to enter their new field of action with many rare privileges and opportunities. In proportion to membership, this was one of the largest and most distinguished audiences that has gathered in Los Angeles, on a similar occasion.

The program of the evening was very entertaining: the Terry Children rendered a piano selection and sang a trio; solos were rendered by Mrs. Hattie Norwood and Mrs. J. E. McCorkle; the audience sang "I'll go where you want me to go." The speakers were Revs. J. C. Anderson of Phillip's Chapel, C. M. E. Church; J. W. Johnston, retired, A. M. E. Church; S. M. Beane, Hamilton M. E Church, B. R. Guy, Ward Chapel, (new pastor); J. Edw. Mc Corkle, Riverside, Allen Chapel, (new pastor) and Mrs. J. E. Mc Corkle. The tables were decorated with Astors, Cornations and Merrigolds, the reception cake was given by Burke's Bakery and delicatessen, Cresent's combination Cream of Vanilla and Strawberry was served. CHRISTIAN CHURCH—
Main and Wall Street.
Rev. M. Frederick Mitchell, Pastor.

All the services at the Christian Church last Sunday were a joy and great delight to both members and friends who were blessed with the opportunity to be present. Pastor Mitchell had an unusual surprising treat wrapped up in a well prepared sermon upon the subject "Retribution." The subject was well defined and delivered with emphases. The choir added smoothness and sweetness to the devotions, enthusiastically led by our choirester, Madam Viola Harris Brandon. Perhaps the presence of a new piano, which was a gift to the church, had much to do in the inspiration of the singers. In the evening a most uplifting and helpful Y. P. S. C. E. under the leadership of Mr. John Carter graced the perfection of the day. Miss Laura Davis, one of our leading educators from Pine Bluff, Arkansas incited much pep in the young people's meeting with a forceful speech. Following this meeting Dr. S. D. Cotteral, M. D., B. S. occupied the preaching service with a soul-stirring message. Subject: "Sowing and Reaping." Miss Mary Banks by request was present and electrified the audience with the rendition of a solo, which was rendered with soul and heart. TABERNACLE BAPTIST CHURCH.
12th and Hemlock streets.

For the past month we have had some of the many visiting ministers from the East to grace our pulpit.

Sunday at 11 a. m. the pastor, Rev. L. B. Brown, will be on the firing line with a red hot message from the sounding of the seven trumpets: "The First Angel sounded and there followed hail and fire mingled with blood, and they were cast upon the earth: and the third part of trees was burnt up, and all green grass was burnt up."

8 p. m. subject: "As the Eagle stirreth her nest, soon will God stir the nations of the earth."

Office of the Clerk and Pastor of the Mt. Olivet Baptist Church, Portland, Oregon.
429 Tillamook St. Portland, Oregon.
October 7th., 1922.

To the Editor California Eagle.

Dear Sir:

Some time between the 27th of August, 1922 and the 20th of Sept., 1922, there appeared an article concerning our Pastor and some members who had set out to run the affairs of this church. We wish to have you copy and publish the findings of the Baptist Ministers of the City of Portland of which our Pastor has been Vice President for Twelve months. We believe that it will only be fair to our church and Pastor that the many readers of your paper who read the first should be igven an opportunity to read the second.

Thanking you in advance we are yours the Deacon Board of the Mt. Olivet Baptist Church of Portland,O.

Edward Watson,
Church Clerk.

PASTOR IS EXONERATED ACCOUNTS OF REV. MR. ANDERSON OF MT. OLIVET CHURCH CORRECT.

A committee of Baptist ministers, headed by Dr. T. J. Villers of the First church, has reported to the Mount Olivet congregation, negro, and the Portland Baptist conference, that the accounts of Rev. J. W. Anderson, pastor of Mount Olivet, are regular and correct in every detail.

During the recent disturbances in the Mount Olivet church, Mr. Anderson was accused of misappropriating church funds. He demanded an investigation, and the Portland conference appointed a special committee to examine his accounts, with the result that all funds not only were found accounted for, but the conference officially expressed utmost confidence in Mr. Anderson and commended him for his zeal in the interest of his church.

To Whom It May Concern:

In these days when high-soundfng words are prone to be confused with honest motives, voters should thoughtfully pause before casting their ballots for candidates to public office. A ballot is more than an expression of opinion of the voter—it is a responsibility on which the principles of this Nation are founded.

Thus, at this time, we the undersigned earnestly recommend to our people Judge Victor R. McLucas, a man whose friendship for us is unquestioned, a man whose honesty, integrity and public record make him a logical candidate for election as a Judge of the Superior Court of the County of Los Angeles.

CALIFORNIA CITIZENS CIVIC LEAGUE.

The California Citizens Civic League again addresses itself to the voters of Los Angeles and respectfully invites their co-operation.

We want to call your attention to the work of the League in the recent campaign.

It resulted in the nomination of twenty-three candidates out of a total number of twenty-six.

Now we are aprroaching the November election—the final campaign.

Our League will participate in this campaign very actively for the election of those candidates whose names appear hereon and which are presented to the voters for their careful consideration, also the PROPOSITIONS being submitted at this time.

Our selections are made in keeping with the principles expressed in the objects and purposes of the League.

Our candidates are on the square and with this program you are bound to win.

We endorse them because they are:

—1—
Men whom the lust of office does not kill,

—2—
Men whom the spoils of office cannot buy,

—3—
Men who possess opinions and a will,

—4—
Men who have honor and who will not lie,

—5—
Men who can stand before the demagogue without trembling,

—6—
Men with strong minds for public duty,

—7—
Men who place conscience above expediency,

—8—
Men who esteem service more than they do popularity,

—10—
Men among men absolutely unselfish, purely impersonal, inflexibly faithful.

The League endorses Proposition No. 8A and asks your aid for its adoption.

WHO IS "BOSS" OF YOUR DOLLARS?

A good many men let the other fellow spend the money they earn—the other fellow just has to suggest something to sell them and—the money is GONE.

Some men are strong enough to control their own money. Every time they get money, they put some of it in a Savings Account—first—BEFORE the fellow who wants to sell you something gets a chance.

It takes a MAN, and a SAVINGS ACCOUNT, in a GOOD BANK, and a STRONG WILL to build up a fund of money in bank which you can use for things that are really worth while.

Why not make a good strong resolution, open an account, and SAVE?

GRAND MASTER W. P. COOK ISSUES MASONIC MESSAGE WOULD SET ALL CLANDESTINE BODIES MASONICALLY RIGHT

It becomes my duty as Grand Master of Masons of the Most Worshipful Alpha Grand Lodge of A. F. & A. M. for the Jurisdiction of California, to set aright the many opinions now held by members of the Craft and other reputable citizens as to the origin, effects and operation of Freemasonry among colored men in the State of California in particular and throughout the world generally, especially when and where these opinions are contrary to established truths and bear no relation, either direct or indirect, to the twenty-five landmarks of, to the Craft Freemasonry, of Ancient

We would not cast a single aspersion upon that nobility of purpose or that intensity of brotherly feeling which impels men to aspire to be real Masons. Rather do we sympathize with these men in their efforts to be of service to their fellow-men. We esteem far higher their burning desire to render that service, the strenuous efforts put forth to carry that desire into effect which actuates men possessed with noble purposes and beliefs, than the efforts of those who wilfully continue in the wrong direction.

In the matter of presenting to the members of the Craft and the public at large the true facts concerning the base and operation of Masonic Rites, we go cheerfully forth in the discharge of our duty. All we ask is that you withhold your judgment until the facts shall have been fully stated, for we are here to correct, govern, harmonize and adjust any and all differences existing between fellow members of the Craft.

Persuant to this task, we shall beg no question, shirk no responsibility, dodge no issue, and where our conclusions run counter to the prejudices of the so-called and self-styled Masons, we will leave it to the Supreme Architect of the Universe to amend.

There can be but one legal organization of Masons in the world, of Ancient-Craft Masonry. Granted. Then every other body of Masons must proceed from, originate in that duly authorized and lawfully constituted body. Any other organization that goes beyond the power and sovereignty of this first and great body of Legalized Masons, the Ancient Free and Accepted Masons, or seeks to adopt a Masonic procedure without the advice or consent, the patent, power and authority granted by this body, is not, was not, cannot be now or ever a reputable and accepted body of Ancient Free and Accepted Masons, or hold a Warrant of Constitution.

The granting of Masonic rights and immunities to the people of North America did not include power and authority to exclude a man because of race, color, creed, or class, except such as may be considered unworthy and dis-qualified. However, such exclusion did exist, and the men of the Colored race sought to secure for themselves the rights and privileges to practice Freemasonry. They applied to one of the Grand Lodges of England, that existed at that time, and secured a Warrant of Constitution, (just one) and after organizing a lodge, known as African Lodge No. 459, at Boston, Mass, which was to wark in Boston, only, they in turn organized a Grand Lodge out of one subordinate lodge, and from thence spread the so-called Free and Accepted Masons (Colored) who so often in their literature laud Prince-Hall and African Masonry. For many years that organization sought Masonic recognition from the white Masonic Grand Lodge of this country and England, Asia and Africa but to no avail. Being convinced that no Masonic recoguition was no where to be found by them, they met on the 18th day of June, 1827 and issued the following protocol in which they said: "We publicaly declare ourselves free and independent of any lodge, from this day, and we will not be tributary or governed by any lodge, but that of our own." (See history of Masonry, by Thronburgh, page 169.) So no comment is necessary to show their Masonic standing, and if there is one phrase in writing, other than their own, that will show their not having ever at any time been healed and Masonically legalized, the public has been kept in ignorance of the fact.

In the year 1847, John T. Hilton, of Massachussetts, called a convention of Prince-Hall Masons, in Boston, Massachussetts, at which time and place they gave birth and rise to the organization known as "FREE ACCEPTED ANCIENT YORK MASONS" of North America. This organization exists in many parts of the United States today among Colored men. So far as a Master Mason is concerned the word "York" is a misnomer and this band of people is placed in the same, if not worse predicament, than their predecessors. We note that the records show some of the relics preserved by a certain Masonic Craft in Michigan, also that a Charter from the National Grand Lodge, F. A. A. Y. M., is honored and revered.

There was another organization here that called itself "Ancient Free and Accepted Masons," having made its debut before the spotlight of public opinion in the years of 1901-1902, but being unable to produce the proper implements for self-protection or Masonic vouchers from some regular Masonic craft, known throughout the world, was forced to collapse under the fire of public sentiment.

We admit, and grant, that these societies referred to have the right to exist, operate and develop, but when they go out of the way to misrepresent and malign us, the Most Worshipful Alpha Grand Lodge, ANCIENT, FREE, AND ACCEPTED MASONS of the State of California, it is quite natural that we would let the public know the facts. Yea! If we hold our peace the rocks in the mountains would cry out.

Knowing as we do, that these statements will fall into the hands of friends and foes, and that some will attempt to ridicule, while others will dissuade the course we have taken, still we declare that all is in the interest of the public good.

Unanswered yet.

The fact is that Prince-Hall, Boston Smith, Thomas Sanderson and their associates were made Master Masons in a white lodge of Masons, and that this white lodge was connected with General Gage's Military Regiment, and that this Military Regiment was at Boston, Mass., March 6th, 1775, and that this Military Reigment or Masonic Lodge was claimed to be connected with General Gage's Military Regiment holds its charter of power and authority from the Grand Lodge of England of which the Grand Lodge of England positively states in plain language that it cannot be misunderstood, that it had no Grand Lodge or travelling Lodge connected with General Gage's Regiment. The fact is that history shows that General Gaeg's Regiment had been returned to England a year and a half before this time. In face of the foregoing, how can any rational being accept and defend a lodge of Masonry that claims a history that never existed and avers that it holds Patent, Power and Authority all of which have never been acquired in whole or in part?

Masonic History Approaches the West

The records show that the first lodges in Texas were organized by Captain W. D. Matthews, Grand Master of the King Solomon Compiact Grand Lodge, of Kansas, on April 10th, 1873, by organizing Mount Bonnel Lodge No. 1, at Austin, No. 2, San Antoine, No. 3, Houston, No. 4, at Galveston, on the 19th of August, 1875. These four lodges met at Brenham and organized a Compact Grand Lodge, with N. W. Cuney as Grand Master, and J. J. Hamilton as Grand Secretary. Some years after, about 1885, (the record is not clear) C. C. Dean, Grand Master, Rev. A. Grant, W. D. G. M., called a special session of the Grand Lodge, elected delegates to go to Houston, Texas as special commissioners to meet the Worshipful Grand Lodge of white Masons for the purpose of being healed and chartered. Now according to the record found in Sayles Masonic Jurisprudence, on the history of the Negro Masonry in Texas, emphatically states that these Negro delegates did appear and did present to the white Grand Lodge a petition to be healed and chartered. Sayles does not give the names of the petitioners. The petition sets forth that there were six hundred and fifty members at that time to be healed.

The record shows that the white Grand Lodge appointed a committee to investigate the petition and the record further shows that the committee made the following report:

Committee Reports on Negro Masonry in Texas

"We, your committee, find that the 650 so-called Negro Masons are not Masons and have no business with us, nor about us, neither of us. If Ephriam is poined to his idol let him alone."

Now the record further shows that this Grand Lodge has sent delegates to the General Masonic Congress on several occasions and these delegates were rejected.

On July 20th, 1915, the United Grand Lodge of A. F. and A. Masons, of England, issued a Masonic Credential of Affiliation and recognition to ILL. C. L. Mitchell, 33 degree, M. W. Grand Master of Masons, of the State of Texas and its Masonic Jurisdiction, which carries with it power and authority to heal and Masonically legalize Masons, Lodges and Grand Lodges.

In the organization of the Most Worshipful Alpha Grand Lodge A. F. and A. M., of the State of California, and its Masonic Jurisdiction, the above authority was duly exercised. A certified copy of Masonic Credentials is on file in this office. This is the only lawful and regular Masonic authority among Colored Masons in the State of California.

The Most Worshipful Alpha Grand Lodge, Jurisdiction of California, was organized June 28th, 1922, out of three lodges of Master Masons, halding warrants of Constitutions from the M. W. King Solomon Grand Lodge A. F. & A. M. of Texas, of the Masonic Jurisdiction and was incorporated under the laws of the State of California, July 21, 1922.

Y. M. C. A. PLANS EXTENSIVE PROGRAM FOR YEAR

By Wendell P. Gladden, Jr.

Fall and winter activities of the Y. M. C. A. have begun with a very extensive program for the year.

Already the Hi-Y club, an organization of high school boys, has begun its work. There have been three meetings and at each of these the boys met in large numbers. Elections were held on last Friday evening when the following were elected officers for the year: Leroy Johnson, President; Charles Digss, Vice-President; Charles Matthews, Secretary; C. Carter, Treasurer; Clarence Patton, Librarian; Lango Dye, Critic; Wm Narcisse, Reporter; and Wallace Markham, Chaplain. The installation of these officers has already taken place. On October 20 the Hi-Y will be the guests at a banquet at the Y. M. C. A. Secretary Green declared that the members look most promising and will be heard from in the future.

The "Out in the World" Club met on last Wednesday evening to discuss plans for the future. This is an organization of high school graduates and young men out in the business and professional world. Much interest as well as competition may be expected from this group.

The younger boys from 9 to 12 and from 13 to 15 also have clubs respectively. The former the "Midgets" and the latter the "Live-Y-ers." Under direction of Mr. Herman, some of these boys have an entertainment on Monday, October 9 for the benefit of the Y. M. C. A. piano fund, "Sunshine Sammy Morrison leading them. The affair was very successful.

From time to time interesting and constructive lectures and talks will be given by men prominent in their work. Worth while books, newspapers, pamphlets, slides, and many other things of an educational nature will always be on hand and up-to-date.

A class in Salesmanship, conducted by a specialist, also employed at Central Branch will be another feature of our educational work. Those who contemplate going into business of any kind will be benefitted by this class, as many phases will be touched.

Religious activities will help give the men and boys that full development which is so necessary for real manhood.

With the completion of a handball court and new equipment in the gymnasium, our physical program will be more interesting. Basketball and volleyball leagues will be organized, a handball tournament will be another feature this year. Instruction in wrestling will be given by Officer Kimbrough, and bids fair to hold the attention of many.

More than this the Y. M. C. A. will organize a tennis team and stage a tournament in the spring for all branches throughout the city. A big track meet as a climax to all others will also be held especially for the boys.

Our weekly program follows: Monday, Men's Bible Class and Gym; Tuesday, boys 9-12 and Gym; Wednesday, "Out in the World" club and Gym; Thursday, boys 13-15 and Gym; Friday, "Y"-Notchers; Saturday, Round Table World Problems. Older Men; Sunday, Quiet Hour, 9 a. m. for Dormitory Men; Men's Meetings, 3 p. m.

"Supplementary to the primary agencies of society (Gine, Church, School) we propose to develop symmetrical, efficient, Christian men and boys for the purpose of the promotion of Christ's Kingdom." Such is the objective of the Association. With a corps of enthusiastic coworkers, the executive and boys work secretaries hope to accomplish much with and for the men and boys of the community.

ANY ONE KNOW HIM?

Tuesday afternoon a young boy, dirty, unkept and forlorn, dropped into the Eagle office and asked for a job. "Have you ever worked in a print shop?" he was asked. "No maam" was the reply. "No, we haven't an opening for you at the present time." The chap then asked if he could borrow thirty or forty cents saying that he had had no supper or breakfast. "Where is your home boy?" he was asked. "I come from the Imperial Valley." Why are you here?" "I became because there are no good schools in the valley." "Was there no provision made for your coming?" "My father sent me to live with my sister, Mrs. Odessa Peavey, who was supposed to live somewhere on fifteenth near Hooper but I can't find her."

It appeared that young Bartley as he gave his name—William Bartley came Monday night over the S. P. looked for his sister and brother in-law Arthur Peavey without avail and then went to a hotel somewhere on Central avenue.

Being questioned for the name of the hotel in which he was staying it developed that he didn't know. But on being given a piece of money he promised to return and give the same.

Collarless, uncombed, his eyes lacking in the clearness that belongs to youth he shuffled along nor appeared again. Is his story true? If not what is a lad in his teens doing loose and uncared for in a place such as this and along the avenue.

MACK HOUSE; TED FRENCHIE FIGHT TO A DRAW

Madison Square Garden was crowded on Wednesday night to witness the Mack House and Ted Frenchie bout which had been billed as the meeting where the big "doings" would come off. After a very good line of bouts, five of them in number, the main event was announced. Both battlers entered the ring confident. Mack House with two defeats of his opponent, one a clean K. O., the other one a foul, naturally was old man confidence himself and went into the ring in that condition of mind. Frenchie, that tough old bird was just as confident, and came into the ring with a grim determination to whip Mack House and we verily believe that if there had been another round to go, that Frenchie would have been returned a victor. As it was the judges and referee called the bout a draw and look at it from all angles a draw verdict cannot be questioned. It was well worth going to see and sometime in the future the question of "who's who" between.

A rattling good card is announced for the arena on next Wednesday night; one of the bouts will be between Jenny Lang and Kid Blondie. The fans all turn out to see Blondie in action, altho good men will vie with each other for physical supremacy and promoter Brown will give us a card worth going miles to see.

The Lee-Anderson bout has been called off on account of the impossibility of securing him a worthy opponent.

WILLS' VICTORY OVER CLEM JOHNSON

In taking twelve rounds to defeat Clem Johnson last Friday evening at Madison Square Garden, Harry Wills laid himself open to severe criticism by the daily press, and this criticism is, in a way, well deserved.

Of course, we are aware of the fact that some writers would find fault with anything that Wills might do. If he knocked Johnson out in one minute they would accuse him of having a set up; now they accuse him of not being in a class with Dempsey, because Johnson stayed twelve rounds with him.

Of course, they don't remember that Jack Brennan went that exact number of rounds at the very same place with the champion, and that Brennan had the better of the fight most of the way, a thing of which Johnson will never be able to boast. But their Dempsey is champion, and champion can do no wrong.

Nevertheless this criticism of Harry Wills is well deserved inasmuch as he will take such chances with these colored men who seem to be working with those white folks desirous of seeing Wills eliminated from a bout for the world's heavyweight title.

What has Wills to gain in a bout with such a man as Johnson? A few dollars that will inevitably be the cause of his losing a fortune and glory; that only one other colored man has ever attained in the world of sport. Is he so in need of money that he cannot wait to see what next summer will bring forth?

A disqualification such as the referee seemed anxious to declare on Friday evening, or a broken hand such as he was in danger of receiving from hammering Johnson's cranium, would undoubtedly eliminate him as a further contender for Dempsey's crown. Yet, with all this at stake he continues to allow Paddy Mullins to drag him into the ring with every Tom, Dick and Harry.

If Wills must fight in order to prove his right to meet Dempsey, why doesn't Mullins match him with Johnson's white stablemate, Bill Brennan, or some other white heavyweight that Dempsey has whipped? Their relative abilities could be determined much better in this way. Although at the first cry of foul Wills is apt to be a "fall guy" unless a man of strong character occupies the third place in the ring. I realize there is no need of such a match, as Wills has shown more than Carpentier or any one else that has been mentioned as an opponent for Dempsey, but I just suggest this for argument sake.

Anyhow if Wills persists in taking such chances as the one of last Friday night he will have no one to blame but himself and Paddy Mullins if June finds another man preparing to meet Dempsey next July 4.—NEW YORK NEWS.

REGARDING BATTLING SIKI'S PROWESS

Battling Siki, the Senegalese soldier who won the light-heavyweight championship of the world by his defeat of Georges Carpentier, will be in this country. According to reports, he will fight Kid Wagner at Madison Square Garden Nov. 30.

Until the writer has seen this son of Africa in action there will be no opinion passed on his capabilities as a fighter, though I do not believe he has stepped as good a man in winning from the French idol as Dempsey did on July 2, 1921.

Siki gets by the trial horse Rickard has furnished for the occasion in the person of "Norfolk," no one is able to deny his ability, but Siki—well, we will all see later.

JACK JOHNSON AND WILLS IN A NEAR FIGHT. FRIENDS SEPARATE BIG FELLOWS; PRESS PASS WILLS ON THE CLEM JOHNSON FIGHT.

New York, Oct. 6.—Harry Wills, logical contender for Jack Dempsey's heavyweight crown, added another victim to his credit at Madison Square Garden Friday night in the person of Clem Johnson, who after taking a beating for 11 rounds, was saved from a knockout by the referee stopping matters as he was lying helpless on the ropes under heavy fire in the twelfth round. Johnson was completely outclassed, and he showed only two things to his credit—that he was game and could take a beating. Clem managed to stay as long as he did only by clinching and hugging.

Apparently Wills could have finished Johnson any time after the first round, but he seemed content to let his opponent hug and clinch whenever he wished. Just why is a question, and it certainly did not reflect much credit on Wills, because of the fact that somewhere in Kentucky last winter he disposed of Johnson in much quicker time.

The match was not a popular one, notwithstanding the fact that the boxing commission put its stamp of approval on it. Much severe criticism from the daily press, led by George B. Underwood of the Telegram, directed at the Garden management, forced a public showing of Johnson at Grupp's gymnasium to newspaper men and members of the commission Wednesday afternoon prior to the fight. At this particular gathering a fight was narrowly averted in which Jack Johnson was one of the principal figures.

After Leo P. Flynn, Johnson's manager, had received official notice to have his protege perform the shrewd manager selected men from his own stable, namely, Bill Brennan and Kid Norfolk, and a couple of other paces. Grupp's was crowded to the doors.

In the midst of all the excitment Jack Johnson walked in with George Godfrey, a Western heavy, for whom the former champion has been trying to secure some matches, and by diplomatic methods reached the ring and made a speech to the effect that the only way to try Clem out was to let him box four rounds with Godfrey.

The crowd agreed with Jack. The match was put on and Godfrey made a sucker out of the big fellow. Immediately after this, so it was alleged, Johnson walked over to Wills, who also was training at Grupp's and said: "Harry, Godfrey is the logical man to meet you." Wills told Jack Johnson in plain words that he wanted to have nothing to do with him. The two men were about to come to blows when friends separated them. Friends of both men argued the situation pro and con and for a time it looked as if there would be a free-for-all fight.

Later in the afternoon of the same day Godfrey learned that Jack had sold his contract to a white man without his knowledge. When last seen by a reporter of this paper George was looking for Jack. According to Godfrey, had he known this before Jack left the gymnasium the public might have had the opportunity of witnessing a fine exhibition free of charge between Jack and himself without the boxing commission's approval.—Chicago Defender.

DANNY EDWARDS AND VILLA MATCHED TO FIGHT OCT. 23.

New York, Oct. 6.—Danny Edwards, the Pacific Coast bantam, who boxed Irish Johnny Curtin last week, has been signed by his manager, George P. Moore, to box Pancho Villa, world's flyweight champion, at the Boston arena, Boston, Mass., on Oct. 23.

Edwards has gone to White Sulphur Springs where Charlie White is training for his coming fight with Benny Leonard. He will make 118 pounds for Pancho. If Edwards wins decisively he may be matched to box Joe Lynch for the world's bantamweight title.—Defender.

PLAYS AND PLAYERS
By Punch

The West is beginning to realize the value of colored productions. San Francisco is preparing to provide a colored show. Los Angeles has made her debut with "Chuckles" the first musical comedy with an all star colored cast of Western material. Pierson Producing Company present this production and there are other companies now rehearsing Billy Tucker's Buzzing Around Company Plantation Revue.

If these organizations live up to the reputation of Eastern colored productions, the West will soon rival the East.

The Pierson Producing Company will journey to Florence, California to present a Vaudeville for the Open Forum Friday Oct. 13th.

Jonnie Anderson, composer of the music for "Chuckles" will leave for Chicago after Oct. 30th.

Lila Boyd will again be seen as "Chuck" in "Chuckles"

J. Blue promising young actor who appeared as Jose in "Chuckles," will be soon known as the "Charles Gilpin" of the coast.

Catherine Reese (Mrs. Wm. E. Pierson) will feature "Lonesome" by Jonnie Anderson, assisted by a quartet in "Chuckles" Oct. 30th.

Atwell Rose first violinist, for "Chuckles" is playing with Ory's Sunshine Orchestra at the Plantation Revue.

La Neil Pierson will soon be known as one of the greatest character actors in the West. She will play the role of "Betty" in "Chuckles." Miss Pierson created this part during the first production of "Chuckles." She states that the interpretation of the 1923 Flapper, will be stronger on Oct 30th. Her by-word "Did you get me."

Philharmonic should be crowded twice this month, first Oct. 17th, when Florence Cole Talbert sings; second, Oct. 30th, for "Chuckles."

These two dates need you support. Give it to them.

MENS CLUB AT LAST

A group of the most prominent business and professional men of the city have finally awakened to the call and have organized what is to be soon known as the most exclusive yet popular and influencial men's clubs west of Chicago.

Its object is to have an appropriate and well equipped club house to greet and intertain all prominent and distinguished visitors to our city, in other words to fill in the "missing link" which the colored population of this city's size should support in its effort toward Negro uplift.

A membership drive was opened this week and their coming out affair will be announced later.

KID BLONDIE THE FLASH

Kid Blondie who has shown rare form and a clean cut record is popular with all the fight fans. He will be seen in action against Young Lang at Madison Square Garden on Wednesday evening.

INDUSTRY AND BUSINESS.

The principal ambition which we have is the salvation of the race along industrial and business lines. Of course we realize that cleanliness in politics is of great moment and our chief concern in politics is to keep the crooks in their places. But getting back to industry, thrift and business, this phase is the solution of all the problems which confront us and for that reason we must eschew the small, trivial things which we engage in from time to time and center our forces on the industrial and business sides of effort. What are we doing in the realm of industry? This is a question which should attract our undivided attention and if upon investigation we fall short in making a showing along this line of effort we should not hesitate to get busy and get in on industry even to a greater degree than we make the effort to get in on politics. Then along the line of business we should ever strive to keep in the front ranks in our efforts to succeed. The race needs to make the greater effort because we are the farthest behind, in fact we were the last ones to start. Let's line up and keep tuned up on all the various lines of business.

WAY OFF ON CIRCULATION

Te newest newspaper combination starts out with plenty of nerve, when with audacity it claims to have the greatest circulation than any other race journal in the United States excepting the Defender. When as a matter of fact all Negro newspapers refrain from circulation figures except to advertisers, for the reason that none of them have anything like they should have and to keep from showing up the race the papers generally soft pedal circulation. However, no paper has yet been established which can qualify on bona fide subscription without at least 3 to 5 years existence. For who knows that a paper will carry its subscription list the second year of its existence. Outside of all this there are at least a score of papers west of Chicago which have a greater circulation than all of the Negro papers west of the Mississippi the Eagle ranks way out in front and would not dare to make such misstatements of facts, to do so makes the one who is guilty of this perversion of the truth look silly.

SENATOR SHORTRIDGE.

Years ago when standing in the office of Senator Samuel Shortridge in the Chronicle Building in San Francisco, he pounded his desk with his clinched fist as he read of the horrors of lynching and the mistreatment generally of the Negro and said, "If I can ever reach the halls of Congress I will stand on the floors thereof and with all my power advocate justice for this people."

We were impressed at the time; but Mr. Shortridge being in Congress was so far fetched that we soon gave up in despair; but in due time opportunity knocked at his door, he bade it enter and he strode up to the halls of Congress and in such a short space of two years he is recognized as a leader and as one of the foremost lawyers, orators and statesmen in the United States Senate, and how well he kept his word and with resounding voice whose sincerity cannot be mistaken he champions the cause of the black man. Standing there like Sumner, Conkling, Ingalls and other great statesmen he speaks for a race and he is heard, he is unafraid as to the effect his position will have upon his future political life, he is standing for justice, for fair play and a square deal.

Samuel Shortridge has truly made good as a Senator and the people of all classes appreciate his service to the utmost.

UNITE FORCES.

We have lately attended many meetings of all classes and elements of the white people and we note, no matter how divergent their views may be, there is one thing that they are all together on, and that is organization in its fullness, also that hatred of and unhorsing one another is not in their category of thought or action. Black leaders why not emulate this trait in our white brother? If you should you would get somewhere, and too it would be much pleasanter than the continued battle and strife which is the barrier in the path of real progress.

OUR CONFEREES ARE THE PEOPLE.

The Eagle may not be in on some of the high brow conferences, but we are always in on the conferences with the plain, common, everyday people and these are the ones whom we feel honored to serve.

The regular Republican ticket, headed by Friend Richardson and Hiram W. Johnson has the unqualified support of this paper. We shall not whine around for a hand out for our service, we will contribute just the same as any other average Republican for the success of the party at the polls in November.

No imposing parades or endorsement of prominent citizens to testify to our worth will be engaged to swoop down on political managers to tell them who we are. On the contrary if they ever get a line on us it will be through our merit and demonstration of being worth while.

Another killing on Hooper near 22nd St. makes us pause and look around again for the cause which makes us sometimes believe some of the many untoward things which we hear relative to a screw being loose in some of the machinery, our investigators are busy however and will in due time give to us a true report.

There seems to be a multiplicity of hooch venders and bootleggers at every turn. We predict that at no far distant date the people will call for a deliverance from this condition.

Strong or weak the Soaring Eagle deals not in words of self-conceit, but gives at all times a practical demonstration of real service to the race.

A STRONG APPEAL FOR JUSTICE

At 10:30 o'clock last Wednesday morning before a huge audience of striking railway men, assembled in the auditorium at the Labor Temple, Mr. Lewis Mitchell made an urgent appeal for fair play and justice for the oppressed and exploited black workers.

He expressed his heartfelt sympathy for the striking shop men in their fight for a better existence.

The great responsibility for strikes and lockouts is due largely to this corrupted economical and political system.

In this great struggle for justice, the workers should own and control a good newspaper in every city of any size to help fight the battles of the working class.

He spoke of the futility of the white workmen ever succeeding in accomplishing anything worth while, without the consolidation of all workers into one climatic organization.

In this country we need no supremacy, but the supremacy of labor, for labor I have all respect, but for capital I have no respect.

Speaking of discrimination he said, conditions in this very city are appaling, that there are restaurants here that would refuse a black lady a bite to eat, even though she might be pregnant, and the man who refused her service might be a robber, a murderer or a dressed up dude.

I hold no prejudice in my heart against no man on account of the color of his skin. I regard all men as good as I am. I am looking forward to a better day, when men will be regarded as men and not as mere things.

Mr. Mitchell held his audience spell bound for about 40 minutes, and at the close of his address they applauded for at least 7 minutes.

On commenting, many of the union leaders stated that this was an education that they all were in need of and invited him to address them again.

This is one of the many occasions that Mr. Mitchell proved himself a friend and a fighter for the colored man and the race should be proud of him.

REV. LIGHTNER HONORED IN FLORIDA

Recipient of many social favors

during his extensive trips south we make note of the mention accorded him in a Floridan journal:

Last Monday evening, Attorney and Mrs. S. D. McGill entertained a number of their friends at their residence, informally, to meet the Rev. and Mrs. E. E. Lightner and little daughter, of Los Angeles, Cal., who were making a brief visit to the city and were guests of the McGills at their residence, No. 25 West Union street.

In the receiving line with Rev. and Mrs. Lightner stood Mrs. J. C. Wright of Edward Waters College, and callers began to arrive early in the evening, and continued until after 10 o'clock.

Mrs. McGill most admirably filled her place as hostess, and every pleasure of the evening was tendered to all. Prominent among the callers were Gen. and Mrs. W. W. Andrews, President and Mrs. J. C. Wright, Mme. Zara Cully Brown and sister, Attorney and Mrs. N. K. McGill, and many others.

Refreshments of the season were served and the hours passed were enjoyed by all.

This was Rev. Lightner's first visit to Florida, and he was delighted to find it so much like California. He first met Mr. and Mrs. McGill last summer when they were touring the far west and it was at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Lightner they were most hospitably entertained while in Los Angeles. Mrs. Lightner is a Floridian, born in Quincy, and is a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hardon, one of the leading capitalists and promoters of that West Florida City at one time. She is also a cousin of Mr. McGill.

Rev. Lightner is pastor of a large Congregational Church in the city of Los Angeles. Last Sunday, accompanied by Mr. McGill, he worshipped at Laura Street Presbyterian Church. Last Tuesday, he and his wife and daughter left for Quincy, the birth place of Mrs. Lightner, where she visited relatives and old friends before taking leave of this side of the continent for the far western home.

FRANKLIN BROTHERS OPEN GROCERY

Pleased to note the progress of Negro business in this section, we now set hand to pen the entrance of the Franklin Brothers into the brotherhood. A little more than a month ago they opened their doors to the public at 2212 Naomi, offering a complete line of groceries, meats vegetables. Already through the courteous treatment of their patrons they have won their respect and good word.

Now in this immediate vicinity there are no colored groceries but there are two grocery stores operated by whites a block or so away.

We are hoping that the people of the neighborhood will rally to this store for we realize that to build up a colored business is simply helping yourself.

The Franklin Brothers guarantee you satisfaction and prices as low as you can get at any other store. Their goods are strictly fresh. They are endeavoring to build up their business to a delivery service.

Even if you have to go a block out of your way—what is that?

The Jew or the Japanese does not scorn to walk or ride many blocks to build up their business. Let us get wise and Trade With the Franklin Brothers. 2212 Naomi Phone S 5831-J.

OUR PROBLEM IN THE SOUTH

By: George H. Duncan

In a special interview for the Eagle Wednesday, George Himman, D. D., Pacific District Secretary American Missionary Association, declared that never had there been a time in the history of our country, more important than at the present time for educated men and women throughout the South.

Mr. Hinman informed me of the conditions there and the great work that the white missionary societies are doing for the benefit of educating of the Negro race in the Southern belt. Many northern Negroes do not know of the noble work the American Missionary Association is doing for our Southern brothers.

The American Missionary Society was organized seventy-five years ago for the deporting of Negro slaves to Africa so that they might become a free people.

Ever since then the society has been diong great work for the improvement of our conditions.

They have founded many schools in various sections of the South, and have established many congregations and churches. He also informed me of the great work Fisk, Hampden and Tuskegee are doing toward educating teh race.

in various parts of the south are somewhat different. In West Virginia and Tennessee, the Negroes are making a great stride in progress, they have established large financial institutions and opportunity awaits every one; while on the other hand, conditions in some sections of Georgia, Alabama, Florida and Mississippi are in the same stage as they were when slavery reigned.

"What can remedy these conditions?" I then asked him.

"The reply," was that they needed every educated Negro aid, in teaching them the word of God and education. It is not necessary for the missionary to go to Africa to seek the ignorant, but send them to our own country first. Both white and black races in these parts are fifty years behind times.

Taking into consideration the chances our Race has had with others, they have progressed more than any other race in a short time during the history of the world.

THE CALIFORNIA CITIZENS CIVIC LEAGUE TAKES DEFINITE STAND FOR THE CHIROPRACTIC INITIATIVE. VOTE "YES" ON THE PROPOSED CHIROPRACTIC ACT—NO. 16.

After careful consideration The California Citizens Civic League favors the adoption of the Chiropractic Initiative. On November the seventh this proposition will be submitted to the voters. We urge you vote "yes," not in defense of the measure alone, but that this expression may be taken as the conscientious affirmation of your belief in the spirits of justice and fair play.

This organization holds that chirpractors should be allowed to serve and subserve the better interests of humanity. In this they become the natural competitors of those whose viewpoints are at variance, whose schools and sytems for the alleviation of human suffering differ according to the application, operation and treatment of diseases.

Humanity gives to each his right. We are guided by reason and common sense in our insistence that there is more than one system of therepeutics known to and preferred by intelligent people. They have the right to choose whichever system they prefer.

The Medical profession would have us believe that they are a divinely authorized class, whose sacred function is the protection of the people, either with or without their consent.

It is difficult for us to understand on what grounds such an irrational belief can rest. Why should M. D's aspire to be the courts of last appeal? Is it their special province to dictate the terms of public health, public legislation?

MISS MINNIE ALBRITTON'S WORK IN THE EAST.

So many people inquire from day to day about this young lady's work, that to appease the general curiosity and interest, the following extract from one of her letters home and also a clipping from a newspaper in Boston are submitted. She writes, "I am simply leading a bee's life in business, I mean busyness, I am busy up to my neck and so don't have much time to write but am always so thankful to have a letter from home."

Just what she is doing besides her studying and teaching is best told in the clipping which follows and also in the fifteen questions that constitute the examination to the Union Baptist Church Choir of which she is directress.

From the Boston Guardian, Sept. 1922:

A WORK WORTH MENTION

Let us for a few minutes look in upon the work of one of our young women; a work worth mentioning; a work that has long been needed in our Colored church, but who had the courage to undertake such a big thing, for it is indeed a big job, and calls for sacrifice and a great deal of it. But we find one that is willing to sacrifice and put all of her better self into it. And the person is no other than Miss Minnie M. Albritton. You will find her now rolling up her sleeves and going right at it.

The work that we speak of is the getting ready of a trained and paid choir. This is happening at the Union Baptist church, Cambridge.

Look in upon this work in about two months, and see what it amounts to. We admit that it is quite an undertaking for a young woman, but let us watch and pray for her success, not criticise and chatter.

Miss Albritton has proven her ability in the eight months that she has been directress of this now splendid choir. How well we remember the matchless Good Friday Night Cantata, "Gethsemane to Golgotha." Of course she has had the most efficient help of one of the best organists in the state, Mrs. M. Hamilton, and the splendid help of Mrs. R. Evans, pianist.

But they are getting ready for something big with these sweet, well-trained singers. Let us all watch.

The choir will not appear for a month or more yet. I learn that each singer is or will be capable of taking a solo at any time. Some of the best voices in Greater Boston will assist in this work.

You are invited to drop in some Wednesday evening and see just what they are doing. Knowing the keynote means a great deal.

I learn that this is examination week, each person upon entering has to go through an examination.

All parts of the work will be open for inspection near the first of November. Quarters are being used until this work is really ready, then let us all be there to hear them on their first appearance.

Let us not forget the splendid Junior Choir of about 25 voices. Such sweet, obedient singers. Of course their work is good.

ARTHUR F. SANFORD

Mr. Sanford the assistant director for the Pierson Producing Company, at present is a very busy man helping Mr. Pierson handle the publicity of "Chuckes" Oct. 30th at the Philharmonic Auditorium.

Mr. Sanford and Mr. Pierson have been associated together for years. Boys together they used to stage shows for the neighborhood children. Admission two pins. During the last war Mr. Pierson and Mr. Sanford were separated, one going into the infantry and one in the navy. When Mr. Pierson returned to Los Angeles to start in the producer field Mr. Sanford was the first one to give hands with him. Now their boyhood dream is working out in the Premier Production of "Chuckles."

ALVENA CALDWELL

Miss Alvena Caldwell whom Mr. Pierson predicts as the coming star of musical comedy will be seen in "Chuckles" Oct 30th. Owing to the sudden illness of one of the chorus members during the last production Miss Caldwell within twenty four hours learned the steps and songs and appeared with the company without a rehearsal. So impressed with her work Mr. Pierson engaged her and she is now a member of the Pierson Producing Company. She will soon rival the soubrettes of the Eastern coast.

MUSIC CRITICISM

Fifth Series

Criticism is not fault-finding, but simply appraisement. It involves appreciation as well as censure, and is in fact, justified only as it makes appreciation keener and more discriminating. So far as criticism deals with with the shadows, it aims simply to afford a contrast with the high lights, and so to give its object the solidity and reality of life. If a human being without a fault is a bore, then a work of art without a fault is flat and tasteless. Its faults give it its "hallmark" of actuality and the discrimination of them sharpens our perception of it and enables us truly to possess and comprehend it. Criticism therefore is not, as it is so often misconceived to be, fault-finding.

It is the disentanglement of the good from the bad, the strong from the weak, the vital from the conventional. In short, as the derivation from the Greek word indicates, it is separation.

As to the subject matter of criticism, or the kind of works that we should criticise, it seems to me that in the present stage of our musical development, we should lay more stress than we do on our classical masterpieces and less upon our contemporary productions. Such study for one thing would give a few general standards and fundamental distinctions that we now lack. To mention two o rthree would make us keenly aware of the difference betwen dramatic and pure music. It would illuminate for us that dark and much debated problem of form, by showing us that while the concrete forms (in the plural) such as Suite, Sonata and Symphony, are but special application of a principle. Therefore transitory form (in the singular) is as essential to music as reason is to language or as shape is to material objects.

It would also clarify our understanding of Musical History by teaching us to study each of the masters works from two separate points of view. First from that of his technical inheritance and achievements as a musician, and secondly from that of his historic environment.

A well founded musical criticism should make us appreciate all of these distinctions and many more. Therefore let us sow good seed as often and as plentifully as we can, resting assured that in the allotted time and in the rightful place, the fruit will be found. Let us not defend it, and with patience and love, withstand any criticisms. Thus by gaining in strength of character, we become teachers in the true sense of the word

SPECIAL TO CALIF. EAGLE: .....

The California Conference of the Colored Methodist Episcopal Church embracing New Mexico, Arizona and all the Pacific Slope, closed a very interesting and successful session here on Sunday night. Bishop Henry Phillips of Cleveland, Ohio, was the presiding officer. The Conference was opened on the eleventh of Oct. by a sermon from Rev. L. S. White; after which the Lord's Supper was administered by Bishop Phillips, assisted by Revs. W. B. Butler and Z. Z. Johnson, the two Presiding Elders of the Conference.

The opening address of the Bishop was full of information and interest. He discussed the late session of the General Conference, which was held in May of this year at St. Louis; the growth of the California Conference and the other subjects of vital interest to the Conference.

M. Thompson was elected Conference Secretary and William Seldon Statistical Secretary.

The reports of the preachers were among the best ever read before the Conference.

The future of the Conference on the Sabbath was the sermon of the Bishop, at the 11:00 o'clock service and the reading of the appointments by him on Sunday night.

Rev. W. B. Butler was returned to the Los Angeles District as Presiding Elder; J. C. Anderson was transferred to the First Episcopal District:

J. W. Parham was returned to Santa Monica; F. W. Haynes to Berkeley; Rev. Seldon to San Dieog; L. S. White to Watts; I. B. Ruffin to West Los Angeles and Pasadena; T. C. Cook, Weed Mission and Solomon Turner to Needles.

LINCOLN UNIVERSITY SELECTS LION FOR MASCOT

Lincoln University, Pa. Oct. 12: Last spring, as school days were waning, the question of mascots among Negro colleges and universities was considered among the students here. At that time the students were opposed to selecting "tawny mane" as the living symbol of the athletic prowess and achievments of Lincoln. Certain students, however, were determined that our schools, and Lincoln in particular, should have some animal which could be placed in songs and yells, which would look snappy upon pennants and banners, and, in addition, add class and zest to the warriors upon the field of battle.

At a mass meeting this fall the matter of mascots came up again. The bull, typifying ruggedness, masculinity, and beastly terror, was suggested. The "king of the herd" had a large following, especially of Sophomores, but he lacked sufficient votes to become the choice of the college rooters. Following the rejection of the bull, a long list of animals were presented, including the bear, the gnu, the boa, the panther, the eagle, the bat, the shark, the buffalo, and the lion again. An ingenious Senior and head cheerleader, W. Harold Webb, sketched a hugh, ferocious lion and showed that by magnifying the first, second fifth and seventh letters of the word Lincoln, thus—LInCOlN—the word lion would be clearly seen in the word Lincoln. When this was done and the natural qualitie of the "king of all beasts" were lauded the students over-whelmingly selected the lion as the mascot of Lincoln University. Already there is a general call for the pennant with the smashing lion upon it.

In the Autum Football Classic at Washington on Thanksgiving Day the Orange and Blue of Lincoln will be doubly recognized by the appearance of this mascot in big time fashion. The squad is zealously preparing for this and other frays. The first game of the season was played against Bordentown Industrial School on October 7th. This game showed many weaknesses, among them a weak line, a slow back field, and a lack of team work. The score being only 9-0 in Lincoln's favor meant a victory for Bordentown, considering her opponents. Since then Coach Law, a former captain of the Lincoln Lions and an All-American half-back, has been grilling and whipping his men into concerted action. The coach has some splendid material and still some time to build a team. Four strong teams are yet to be met. The schedule for the year is:

Oct. 7 with Bordentown Industrial School, at Bordentown, N. J.
Oct. 14 with Harrisburg, A. A., at Lincoln University, Pa.
Oct. 21 with Morgan College, at Lincoln University, Pa.
Oct. 28 with West Virginia Collegiate Inst., at Charlestown, W. Va.
Nov. 4 with Hampton Institute, at Hampton, Virginia.
Nov. 11 with St. Paul Normal and Industrial School, at Lawrenceville, Va.
Nov. 18. with Wilberforce University at Philadelphia, Pa.
Nov. 30 with Howard University, at Washington, D. C.

The third game will be played with Morgan Colege on Lincoln campus, Saturday, October 21st.

RELEASE NO. 7, October 27th

THE ESTABLISHMENT OF AN INTERNATIONAL SANITARIUM FOR NEGROES

The International Community Welfare League is preparing for the establishment of one of the finest sanitariums in North America at Santa Clara, Lower California, Mexico. The site, which is one of the finest and most ideal to be found in North America, has already been bought.

Plans for the erection of the sanitarium are being prepared by a committee of Physicians and architects under the directions of Doctors Ruth J. Temple and Leonard Stovall of Los Angeles, California. The sanitarium will be erected by the unit system. Each local League of The International Community Welfare League will choose which unit of the program it will furnish. These program units will extend from foundation to roof, and will include beds, sheets, medical supplies, etc. Every woman's organization, church society, and kind hearted member of the Race throughout the United States will be asked to donate some article as a memorial in this great Race effort. Every bit of work or article furnished, will bear the name of the party furnishing same. The sanitarium will be operated on a non-profit basis. The members of the League will receive for a minimum sum such treatment as is necessary for their recovery. The general public will be treated at a reasonable compensation.

The famous Santa Clara Warm Sulphur Springs are noted for their medicinal qualities along the Pacific Coast from Canada to South America. They are particularly beneficial for persons suffering from bronchial, kidney or lung affection. There are also two mineral springs, the water of which have been found to be high in mineral properties and are recommended highly for blood and internal disorders.

From the statistical research conducted by The International Community Welfare Leauge, it was found that of the fifteen millions of Negroes in the United States; three per cent of them die annually from diseases that require sanitarium treatment. At present there is no place for them to go for treatment.

The International Community Welfare League, offers for the benefit of those who now are on their way to an early grave, the wonderful opportunity of prolonging their lives through the development of this great Santa Clara Sanitarium the site of which is located just 186 miles from Los Angeles, and forty miles beyond the Mexican border.

Further information may be had from any local League or by addressing The International Community Welfare League, American Headquarters, 221 Lissner Building, Los Angeles, California.

CROOKED LAWYER GETS NINETY DAYS IN JAIL BEFORE JUDGE CHAMBERS COURT FOR DEFRAUDING SOARING EAGLE

While we had an abiding faith in our correct knowledge as to who the thief was that engineered the trick and stole a part of our mailing lsit, we could not get quite enough of real evidence to bring the master mind into court, the very best that we could have done was to convict an under strapper of the crime. But from that incident we promised ourselves that no more liberties with this publication would be tolerated for one moment, and if so that they would certainly have to see the judge. For some weeks complaints continued to come to our attention of one who signed his name as J. C. Banks, who was obtaining subscriptions and advertising for this paper. We immediately notified the police, Detective Sergeants R. F. Green, H. Garrott and Kimbrough were assigned to the task of locating the culprit and in due time they found their man who proved to be none other than W. I. Yancey, a lawyer, who came to this city about one year ago and opened up a law office near 15th and Central; cases came few and far apart and having had some newspaper experience back in the East, without the formality of any arrangements he sets out to get business for the "Soaring Eagle" and the result of his efforts landed him before Judge Chambers on last Tuesday. He pleaded guilty and was sentenced to 90 days in the city jail; here he can meditate if it is not the better way to go straight, and come out of jail and take up his profession and see if he really and truly will not make a greater success at the law than he would have made as an unhired solicitor of a newspaper.

The Eagle desires to thank the officers, mentioned above, for locating and arresting this self-confessed thief and rendering a real service to this community by discouraging such pernicious [illegible]

AMONG THE FOUR ROUNDERS AT MADISON SQUARE GARDENS

Madison Square Arena played to a good house on last Wednesday evening and a real good card brought satisfaction to the fans.

As a Curtain Raiser

Young Kiser vs. Kid Blackwell, went four rounds of real milling Kiser the white boy was awarded a unquestionable decision.

Second Bout

Battling Reagan (white) vs. Battling Steve. This was a rattling good go four round to a draw.

Third Go

Baby Gans vs. Jack Thomas (white). This was a classy bout. Gans had his hands full to gain the decision at the end of the fourth by making a wonderful spirit in the final round.

Fourth Session

Kid Blondie vs. Young Larry (white). Kid Blondie who by his previous starts had made himself popular with the fans was a favorite to win in this bout, Young Larry started out like a whirlwind, but it seemed that Blondie had his measure and met his ruches and knocked him down right on the go. The Kid was up on his feet in a second and madly rushed Blondie to the ropes and in the mix up Blondie went down, striking the back of his head on the edge of the floor and was counted out. The bout lasted less than two minutes. Blondie's supporters will not be satisfied only with a return match.

Semi Wind-Up

Dummy Weller the trial horse was too fast for Lightning Davis and try as he would Davis could not put his man away and was luck to get a draw in the four sessions of milling.

Main Event

Kid Booker vs. Bobby Allen (white). This was a rattling good go and was truly the Main Event. However, the Veteran Kid Booker was too much for Bobby and was awarded the decision.

Next Wednesday's card promises to be a hummer and the Madison Square will be a lively place to go on this occasion.

TENNIS CHATTER—
WEST SIDE LADIES CLUB RATIFY $100.00 FED ASSESSMENT; DEWEY EDSON QUALIFIES AS REAL DADDY.

By: WM. MELLS WATSON

Three hundred berries will be shoveled into the Western Federation of Tennis Clubs' cash vault at its next meeting in the vestry room of St. Philip's Monday night, November 6th, at least this much is assured now that the Westside Ladies' Club fell in line with the Alpha and Westside clubs and promises to decorate the money drawer, and be it known ye "doubting Thomases" that the Fed itself can scribble a check for a hundred beans of personal property, and if those lovable little Alpha Parthenial darlings break thru with the old "century request" as they undoubtedly will at their Thursday night meeting, why, er—the old "Club house or Bust" thing won't need to "bust."

Club's Growing Rapidly

"Prexactly" ten new members have been drafted into the local tennis chain gang since the Labor Day tourney and 5 of these admit that they came in because of the club house threat, which shows that a club house is as essential to our future success as suspenders to dad's Sunday knickers.

Dewey Qualifies Too

Not to be out-done by certain pretty tennis mamas on the Wesside of Main Street last week Mrs. Dewey Edson presented another West Side Tennis Club member with a brand new heavy hipped male being with six cylinder lungs as everybody in the neighborhood of 1682 W. 36th Place will testify. While two stepping along under a half ton of Uncle Sam's mail every day Dewey never fails to point an accusing finger at the "hoobs who can't"—Atta baby, Dewey!

Richardson for Governor, Hiram W. Johnson for United States Senator is how the Soaring Eagle stands on the political situation in California.

Friend Richardson speaking this week to the Managing editor of the California Eagle said that he was unalterably opposed to the Ku Klux Klan and further that if he were elected Governor of this State that if this dastardly organization should attempt to put forth any demonstration that as Governor of the State he would put it down if it took the entire military force of the State to do so.

This should satisfy anybody who has the slightest idea that a man of Mr. Richardson's calibre was capable of being in sympathy with this outlaw band of cowards.

ESCHEWING HATRED, MALICE AND PREJUDICE.

The weights which holds down a Nation State, Communities or a race is hatred, malice and prejudice and the quicker we get down to brass tacks and eschew these cardinal vices the sooner we will rise to the heights of real units in the mighty march of progress.

This being so it is therefore an indispensible duty that we owe, to eschew, hatred, malice and prejudice and be on our way to greater and more noble accomplishments.

THE POLICE AND FIREMEN'S PENSION.

There is no measure which is to be voted upon at the coming election of more vital importance than Amendment No. 8A, known as the Policemen's and Firemen's Pension Bill, not because it benefits any particular class of citizens but because it is just and right. This measure should become a law to give a protection to these public servants who are a living sacrifice; in fact their positions are of such a hazardous nature that no Life Insurance Company will underwrite a policy for them and this feature alone should suffice for every voter to give to this measure his unqualified support. We cannot by any stretch of the imagination conjure up any reason why there could be any serious opposition to this measure and we urge upon every voter to give their undivided support to this Amendment.

RENDERING A SERVICE.

In the hurly burly of a passing age and the glamour of a passing light falls upon those who are rendering a real service to mankind, not for greed, not for spotlight honors, but with a heart which goes out for the man and woman who cannot help themselves, obscure but yet measuring up to the heights, the light in days to come will focus its rays upon one known as Mother Pryor who is an evangelist in spirit and in fact. Her work and efforts in establishing a home in the balmy clime of Monrovia for the down and out are worthy of the highest commendation, by hard work night and days in season and out of season this guardian angel of mankind has about paid for a piece of land on which to build a home at Monrovia for the benefit of those who are in such dire need of a place to lay their heads. She has had an uphill task but a kind Providence has made it possible for her to see the light of day and her eyes sparkle as she cann see at no far distant day a splendid home unfolding itself and a haven of rest for the afflicted to go for a restoration of health who otherwise would have no place to go. The writer has appreciated the services of Mother Pryor and that her very soul is dedicated to real service of humanity and we feel impelled to write these words of commendation and support.

THIS BOND ISSUE WORTHY OF SUPPORT.

That the City is faced with the absolute necessity of making extensions and improvements to its municipal water system that will cost more than $5,000,000, it has been decisively pointed out by Chief Engineer William Mulholland, of the Water Bureau, urging the people to vote for the issuance of $5,000,000 in water bonds at the November 7th election. The proposed water bond issue will appear on the election ballots as proposition 19-A.

The issuance of $5,000,000 in water bonds will not increase the peoples' taxes one cent, it has been explained by Mr. Mulholland. Official action has already been taken by the Board of Public Service Commissioners, providing for the payment of all interest and sinking fund requirements on these bonds, out of water revenues.

On the other hand, should the people fail to authorize the proposed $5,000,000 water bond issue, Mr. Mulholland has asserted, the City will be forcforced to raise the present water rates in order to derive a sufficient revenue to finance, immediately, the building of necessary improvements to the water system that will cost several million dollars.

Officials of the Public Service Commisison have pointed out that it would be unfair, to the water consumers, to increase the present water rates in order to meet, out of the water revenues, during the brief period of construction, the total cost of permanent extensions to the water system. By the issuance of bonds, the cost of these permanent extensions will be spread over a long period of time, it was pointed out, so that the annual interest and sinking fund requirements on these bonds may easily be taken out of water revenues without increased cost to the consumer.

THE CENTRAL AVENUE GARDENS.

As a usual thing it pays our people to be skeptical of financial propositions fostered by the white man for the "Nogro's Good."

Going South on Central Ave. to Shorb Ave., and two blocks East thereof a most spacious, promising tract has recently been opened to our people. This fact alone is remarkable that in a desirable neighborhood and on land which the Japanese have had and have even yet under cultivation, rich loamy soil producing anything in the line of vegetation, that this land has been offered to our people, in which they might purchase a homesite. No signs of "Restrictions as to Race" are posted there. This perhaps is due to the fact that the white men who purchased this property are indeed white Mr. C. F. Ruggles and J. A. Grell the owners are men who care not for a man's color in a business proposition; money talks with them. Then too, they are giving our people the chance of their life in offering them this property at such low figures and on such easy terms. See the Banks Brothers of the Eastside Realty Co. for this property.

CAMPAIGNS

By Chandler Owen

They're off! Political campaigns all over the country are well under way. Candidates and paid wind-jammers are making flamboyant appeals to apathetic voters. Office-seekers are alarmingly expostulating that if they are not victorious at the polls, the country will go to the dogs. Present imcumbents are gravely warning that if they are turned out the jig is up. The Democrats swear by the shagginess and docility of their age-old donkey that if the Republicans are not given a "complete rebuke" the people have lost their senses. The Republicans prod their reactionary Elephant in the side and suavely announce that the Republic hasn't fallen-yet!

The voter is bewildered. He kicked the Democrats in 1920. He wants to kick the Republicans in 1922. But he doesn't wan to turn the Democrats back in! , for Heaven's sake, spare him t

Then what must he do?

No wonder Frank A. Mu , eminent New York publisher, the American Bankers Association in New York last week that the Republican and Democratic parties mean about one and the same thing. Too true. Each dances to the tune of campaign funds. The "funds" come from our noble Wall Street Barons. The "Barons" represent the "interests." The "interests" happen to want more money—it is agreed. Then, is what is the difference between Democratic and Republican interests? None. Read the records of the Senators on the tariff. Democrats scratched Republican's backs, and Republicans scratched Democrat's backs. They were loving pals. "You help me and I'll help you." So they voted—to extract more money from the people—Democrats nad Republicans.

Where is the Negro? "He ain't." He plays politics by "air"—not by notes. He is not initiated into the mysteries of high finance. He has no corporations to profit from high tariffs. He doesn't deal in imports and exports. Drop him in downtown New York, and he can't see Wall Street for the houses! Set him "behind the scenes" at a round table to help capitalistic bosses formulate their "ten demands" for the incoming legislature or Congress, and he would mechanically perambulate to the sideboard and serve the company with drinks! "Na, auh, I don't want nothin' but a anti-lynch bill and a loan for that colored government in Africa, and don't come so hard on them French "niggers" down there in Haiti and gimme a few jobs at Washington and I'm all right."

Pitiful! He wishes these things like a child wishes for candy. Give them to him and he runs off to play!

But the "Barons" are not interested in anti-lynch bill. It serves their purpose to keep the race apart by burnings at the stake. If Haiti and Liberia get help, it will be the kind of help a hawk gives a chicken—a lift!

Therefore, Congress did not pass the Dyer bill. Liberia and Haiti are still strangled.

But if you don't vote the Republican ticket the Democrats will treat you like dogs. If you do vote the Republican ticket you will be treated like a puppy! This has been proved unmistakably.

You look real comical. You have never thought that you are not rich. You have never thought that since you are not rich you are a "poor fish."

You have never troubled your brain to learn that there is a "party of the poor." It never occured to you that the "poor, working whites," who are kicked out from the Barons as unceremoniously as you, are almost on their knees asking you to unite with them—50-50. You have been conceited in your "rich" illusions that you didn't see them—didn't hear them. But since the Democrats and Republicans mean the same thing, and you have no where to go, we wonder if you will hear them now?

But ours is a "trusting" race. We are faithful. We are reliable. We are hopeful. "If we don't at first succedd, we'll try, try again." "The Republican party is our party." "I am a Harding man. I started out with him and I'm coming back with him." If it were somebody else—some race—we could yell: "Stupid [illegible]"

RACE MAN THE INVENTOR OF REAL SAFETY-FIRST CHECK STARTLES FINANCIAL WORLD

The fertile brain of Morris Harris, well-known Los Angeles citizen, is responsible for the greatest invention of its kind of the age and one which gives absolute protection to not only the banker but the business man and to the bearer as well, in what is known as the Harris Safety First check. Under the check system which the Harris Safety First Check provides, it is absolutely impossible to forge, to overdraw or in any way to deface.

The Genius of Mr. Harris, manifest in the absolute protection which this system gives, is a result of many years study on his part and it is now in such shape that patents in the U. S. and all foreign countries have been applied for.

The Harris Safety First Check office is located at 1419 W. Jefferson street and at this place the click of the typewriter with a hustling office force testifies to the fact that business is the watch word and that the establishment of this new business place is but another step for real progress. The inventor of this checking system, Mr. Morris Harris, plain, commonplace and unassuming, plans great things for the future of his race and zealously guards the inmost secrets of its conception that the members of his race shall enjoy the benefits which will accrue from this great invention.

book having the same code and serial number as the seal issued to him, checks carrying the same code and serial designation. The blank checks would be worthless without the seal and the seals equally worthless without the corresponding serial number should be issued to the depositor, or if it is desired the old account code and serial number could be closed, and another issued to the depositor.

In order to secure the best results this plan should have the co-operation of the clearing house associations, and as soon as the public was educated to the advantages of the "Safety" Check, there would be no risk in accepting a check from a total stranger, because if the code and serial number as shown on the face of the check were the same as that shown on the Safety Seal, it would be evident that the check was protected by funds being actually deposited in the bank. Another point is, when these checks were received at the clearing house they would be in the same class as a certified check.

This system allows for a great elasticity in selection of the codes to be used in identifying the different accounts, as different code words or letters could be used to designate different classes of accounts. For instance, all accounts of private parties that rarely rose above a nominal figure and rarely were used for large checks, could be given a code word or letter. Any large checks drawn with this code letter, even though [illegible] face of the check were not in accord would identify their checks as soon as seen, and different codes could be assigned for different denominations also adding another safeguard to a check being raised.

The use of the checks would not necessitate any great variation in the size or character of the checks now in vogue, as the Safety First Seal would be affixed to the present style of check, and could be inserted in the present pass books.

The use of these seals would be a guard against forgery, as unless a party could secure a Safety Seal equal to the amount called for on the face of the check it would be worthless, and the seal would have to correspond in code and serial designation with the check. Each bank could issue a confidential list of their code definitions, and these would be referred to, in case of doubt as the validity of a check presented for payment at a bank distant from the point of issue. If the code and serial were not in harmony with the face of the check, verification could be secured, but if it were, then the bank would be safe in honoring the check presented, without the added expense of verifying the account.

Another safeguard, this system carries, is the identification card, signed by the President and Cashier of the bank of the depositors. This card will identify them in different states. Also this card clears the check it carries the same code and serial designation that this check and seal carries.

1. Identification card, is the key.
2. Safety-First Seal.
3. Safety-First Check.
4. Code.
5. Serial.
6. No. of account of deposit.
7. Depositors home address in full inserted on the identification card.
8. A picture of the depositor to be applied to the deposit account and also place in the identification.

the force in the office is kept busy at this early stage in answering correspondence and sending out information as well as caring for the people who seek an interest in the obtaining of territory rights in this and in other countries.

Mr. Harris is visited daily by citizens in all walks of life, who evince a keen interest in this great invention and it is the concensus of opinion that he has brought forward a real solution for the abuse and ill use of checks which has wrought havoc from time to time for the want of a solution to the problem of absolute safety. Mr. Harris it seems has solved the problem, hence he is a much sought after man.

Some of the salient points which are manifest in the Harris' Safety-First Check:

Realizing that million of dollars are being lost on account of worthless checks, some of which are drawn for more than the maker has on deposit, and others being raised to a greater amount than originally made for, the "Safety" check is offered as a solution to the problem confronting business establishments and bankers, as to the value of checks offered in payment for goods, or to be cashed.

This system consists of Safety First Seal, to be affixed to every check and places the check in the same class as a certified check. Also with this system in use it is impossible for a check to be raised for an amount greater than that for which originally drawn, and the party accepting the check is assured that sufficient funds are on deposit to redeem the check.

Safety-First Seal could be in combinations of one cent, five cents, twenty-five cents, [illegible] checks. When a check is drawn, Safety Seals equivalent to the amount named should be affixed to the check.

The total of unused seals remaining after checks were issued would be the amount of the bank balance of the owner. This would guard against accounts overdrawn, as if no seals bearing the same code and dent that funds were not available to meet the check when presented.

Check books should be balanced at periodic intervals. When additional would be grounds for investigation. Different [illegible] could be assigned for [illegible] laria and kindred forms of disease that had proven fatal to humanity for ages; by discovering the source of the malady. They destroyed the disease by killing off the carriers of the germ. There is a source for the malignant disease of racial hatreds; it emanates from the putrid pool of ignorance; ignorance of mutual understanding of the aims and aspirations of one and the other. "Mr. Racial Doctor" we know the pool wherein Race hatred, with its attendant disease of murder, is propagated. Now find the germ, and the disease will speedily be stamped out. Get out your test tubes, microscopes, and then, when you have completed the task, give your findings to the world, that an age-long disease of the human brain may be cured for ever.

FAIR PLAY

When the Herrin massacre brought home to millions of Americans the horror of mob rule, there were some who sought to condone the outrage by placing the blame on the foreign element. But the recent arrests of the male factors brought about by the Grand Jury indictments, have shown that the majority were "Americans" who haled from the States of Tennessee and Kentucky. These states have been prominent in the defiance of the law and constituted authority. For years they have blotched the soil with blood, and fertilized it with the ashes of murdered Negroes, and the Government of the United States has never seen the necessity of curbing the blood lust. But here comes a day when the "wind" sown by silent acquiesencence, is reaped in the whirlwind of an atrocity that has startled the civilized world, and caused a look of scorn to adorn the brow of non "Christians." What makes the Herrin massacre, and the numberless, barbarous manifestations of savagery against the Negro; cause the world to look aghast, is, the assumption, by the United States, of that Pharisaicle; "holier than thou," attitude. We rush Battle Ships to the Orient, at the first whimper of a (converted) Oriental. That is for the edification of the civilized Powers. We hold up our hands in horror when the news comes that "Christian" trechery has been checkmated by the Infidel. But, when a measure to create and enforce a law to put an end to the barbarous and murderous treatment of a citizenry under the folds of its own flag, is pending, they put it aside for political expediency. Fair Play demands that we should shoulder the responsibilities of our own misdeeds, and not endeavor to place them on others. We bow our heads, as a race, in shame, that a Negro caught up in the whirl of mob psychology should be among that band of murderers.

POLITICS

We will lay aside World Politics for the happenings nearer home, because we are being told every day what good fellows we are and how our party fealty can be trusted; and why we must adhere to the party of Lincoln, Grant, and Roosevelt, and Oh! so much more rot. We called the attention of one of our political leaders to the fact that the Republican party of today was as far away from the principles, as represented by those great men, as the poles of earth. We have had nearly sixteen years of Johnson and Stevens and where have we profited politically. We are the last ones to catch the psychology of the California voter: Independence. A few years ago Hiram W. Johnson carried California by some hundred or more thousand. Wilson the Democratic nominee for president carried the State by less than three thousand. Look for yourself! There is a difference in men, a difference of principle, but partizanship don't make any difference in men's attitude to one another. A Southern Republican has just as much antipathy, and will do as much to retard the progress and ambition of the Negro, as will a Southern Democrat. Partizanship in California has nothing to do with men's attitude on group questions. We have tried them and know. If we be not mistaken, the illustrious chief magistrate of the Nation, Warren G. Harding, in a speech delivered to the Negroes of the South, advised the breaking away from party "ideals" and voting with intelligence. The local Republican party has ceased to be the ship, and "all else the sea." It is better that we support candidates who have shown a disposition to demean than those who carry a particular brand of partizanship. Hiram Johnson, did not acknowledge Stevens would not acknowledge the importance of the Negro vote. Whatever can't do any, worse if we try [illegible]

By W. J. Wheeler

A RIFT IN THE CLOUD

Down in "Gawjah Gah," there has been formed a commission on Inter-Racial Co-operation. It is under the leadership of T. J. Wolfter. The Commission is waging relentless war against mob activities, and is endeavoring to create sentiment favorable to the protection, by law, of all citizens without regard to race, color, or creed. The Commission, which is composed of some of Georgia's best citizens, white and black, has drafted and is working hard for the enactment of an effective anti-lynching law for the State. They have succeeded in bringing before the courts numerous cases concerning the violation of the law in connection with the prescription of the liberty, and brutal treatment of Negroes. The Williams, murder farm, affair and the Asbury McClusky case, where a mob sought to drive McClusky from the community, attacking and wounding him. The Commission identified some of the participants, and has filed a suit against them for $50,000. NATIONAL ASSOCIATION PRESENTS MADAM FLORENCE COLE-TALBERT IN RECITAL.

Florence Cole-Talbert in Recital, at the Philharmonic Auditorium, Tuesday night, Oct. 17, 1922 was glorious in her fine art. Her Bellini numbers were those which great artists have sung in the last forty years from La Sonnambula. The diversity of Mrs. Talbert's programme was such that by contrast she appeared to be three different singers and it would be hard to say in which numbers she was best. In the second group of songs the first two were by Schubert, of all the Germans the richest in melody. The third in this group, was Rinsky-Korsakoff, Song of India. All three were heart songs and the exceeding tenderness and sweetness of their rendition made them generally the most enjoyable, perhaps. Bemberg's "Nymphs and Fauns," "Oh My Love," by Burleigh and "Love is in my Heart" by Huntington-Woodman were very beautiful songs and beautifully rendered. That is true of Mrs. Talbert's white program. Her rendition of Folk Songs was unique and given without accompaniment, except in the case Carl Diton's version of "Swing Low Sweet Chariot." This version, especially the organ arrangement by some of the best musicians is rated as very fine work. Consumate fine art is simply the expression of consumate beauty and if Mr. Diton tinkered a hundred years applying fine musical effects he could approach the consumate beauty of Swing Low Sweet Chariot given to us by those who did not even know lines and spaces—not even with the aid of Florence Cole Talbert. Her last number on the program was "Je Suis Titania" from Thomas Mignon. This offered Mrs. Talbert the best opportunity for display of superior vocalization, and truly she was superb.

Miss Naida McCullough, a recent graduate of the Conservatory of Southern California was accompanist and pianist. She was very fine in both parts. She gave as piano numbers Scherzo in E Minor (apparently a misprint) and Moskowski's Caprice Espagnole. The character of these for great display. Miss McCullough gave both in fine style and showed herself to be a pianist of high rank. I do not get out often enough and widely enough to know what is going on, and to the writer at least, the program had one feature of a most welcome surprise.

On the window placards announcing Mrs. Talbert I read, Assisted by "Local Talent." To be threatened by a treat of local talent in most places and some places in particular one's first impulse is "to go down in prayer" and supplicate for the grace of endurance. Had I known of the existence of the Bridge Tower Trio and at the same time that Johnnie Gray was in the lead I would not have come expecting to hear the local talent with nothing but the best in hand but even with that I would not have expected such ambitious selections and so good a preformance as the gave. The Bethoven and Greig numbers were especially acceptable. Some thirty years ago I heard for the first time Anitra's Dance given by the Boston Symphony Club with Winternitz as Concert Master.

Our Bridge Tower Trio did not equal that great musical organization's interpretation of Greig but all the same when I heard the Bridge Tower Trio I wanted to get up with my cap in hand and make my best bow. I did do it mentally not only for its promise but also for what the Trio actually did in its first appearance.

The N. A. C. P. is to be congratulated for giving us such a high classed musical entertainment.

IN THE REALM OF POLITICS

Thos. O. Toland

JUDGE THOMAS F. TOLAND

Judge Thomas O. Toland, judge of the Superior Court of Los Angeles county, is making a unique campaign for reelection. Relying entirely on his record as a lawyer and a judge, he is asking the voters of this county to support him for the position because of his ability and integrity.

For the past forty years he has been prominently before the people of this county. Though still in the prime of life he has the experience of a long term on the bench and of a great many years as a practicing attorney. His campaign is being supported by a committee of prominent citizens consisting of the following well known voters of this county:

Former Judge Grant Jackson, chairman, Calvert Wilson, secretary and treasurer, Nathan Newby, Walter Bordwell, James A. Anderson, Henry W. O'Melveny, Guerney Newlin, Joe Crail, Mrs. Georgia P. Bullock, Jefferson P. Chandler, W. M. Bowen, Walter K. Tuller, Isidore P. Dockweier, Max Lowenthal, Miss Elizabeth P. Kenney, Judge Wheaton A. Gray, Le Compte Davis, George E. Farrand, John W. Kemp, W. J. Carr, Frank Sproul, Byron A. Hanna, E. W. Camp, W. I. Gilbert, E. J. Fleming, Walter Hass, W. M. Bowen, A. V. Andrews, R. L. Horton, H. J. Stevens, John G. Mott, Joseph P. Loeb, Bradner W. Lee, J. Wiseman Mac Donald, Gesner Williams, Walter Leeds, Lloyd W. Moultrie, Dana R. Weller, Mrs. Prescilla L. Randolph, Jud Rush, William L. Jarrott, Ward Chapman, Jesse Waterman, Arthur Wright, Ingle Carpenter, John L. Fleming, E. E. Milliken, Richard J. Dillon, Walter H. McEntire, Waldo M. York, R. W. Del Vae, Frank H. Muhlman, A. J. Snodgrass, A. P. Narlian, Mrs. Linda T. Gray, W. Morrison, Ralph Pontius, W. D. McConnell, Barton Darlington, Sidney J. Parsons, A. B. Cohn, Ernest M. Torchia, H. H. Cotton, W. T. Craig, Fred Kellogg, Harry Meinell, Ronald Loenholm, Thomas Hughes, E. H. Blanche, Alex Jeffrey, Hugh J. McGuire, Frank R. Strong, Mrs. Laura M. Scott, H. S. Hitchcock, J. A. Kingsley, Anton Orfila, Hugh A. McNary, E. P. Werner, John T. Jones, John L. McGonigle, Harrison R. Ward, Cornelius W. Pendleton, W. Fleet Palmer, Henry W. O. Melveny, A. P. Johnson, Jacob Freidlander, Lou Guernsey, James Edincott, Mrs. Ruth Higgins, Phillip Dodson, Frank Perret, R. W. Schwartz, Robert O. Bell, Joseph Martin, Abe King, Victor Koenig, Sen. H. W. Savage, Gen. Owens, Mrs. W. W. Orffutt.

Judge Forbes, who has for fifteen years presided in one of the Departments of our Justice Court, is a graduate of Oberlin College, a mixed school.

The advantage of association with other races at that youthful period was a great benefit to him. He not only established life-long friendships with worthy members of the colored race, but acquired a breadth of view on race questions and a rare knowledge and understanding of their characteristics.

Because he knows them, he is their friend; and in that fact lies the secret advantage of mixed schools, where not only books are taught but the young ecquire a knowledge of human values.

The Judge is not a politician, but enjoys a greater share of the love and esteem of our citizens than any other official in the City of Los Angeles. His re-election is a foregone conclusion.

SOCIALIST CANDIDATE FOR GOVERNOR MAKES HIT AT THE FORUM

Mr. Horr, socialist candidate for Governor, pleased the Forum on last Sunday when in a red hot and scintillating speech, he put forth some burning truths along the line of political practices which are in vogue at the time and speaking from the standpoint of a socialist, he both forcefully and eloquently pictured the condition of the common herd to the utmost delight of the large and enthusiastic audience.

There were other speakers, too, who assayed to enlighten the people upon the intricacies of the various amendments which will be upon the ballot for Nov. 7th.

Mr. Hamilton, Mr. Prescott and Councilman Criswell, all spoke for or against several of the amendments.

The Forum has been running true to form and being full of interest for several meetings past and continues to draw the people. The resignation of W. L. Gordon, was the same race.

read on last Sunday and there was a feeling of regret for the body to realize that they would lose the service of the energetic, affable and worth while citizen, who has so unselfishly filled the important position of chairman of the Program Committee.

The report of the Committee which was appointed to investigate the entrance of two ex-soldiers to the Home at Sawtelle, was made and the corresponding secretary was instructed to write to Manilla the information gained.

Tomorrow will be another interesting day with the regular routine of business and a special speaker of note, Mrs. Branch on Americanism.

JAMES HOSICK FOR POLICE JUDGE

Among those who are aspiring for the office of Police Judge of the city of Los Angeles there are none who are more deserving of the support of the plain common everyday man or woman than James Hosick, who has demonstrated his worth to the people of this city in all of the thirty years in which he has been a resident thereof. He is in fact one of them. His rich, ripe and varied experience aptly fits him to fill this very important position. Mr. Hosick's record is one of which any citizen might feel proud and is one of real service and devotion to whatever cause that he has been assigned. He served in the city police department for sixteen years and under the direction of Captain Flammer installed the Bertillion finger print means of identification, also for the county being recognized as an expert in that line. He was decorated by the Board of County Supervisors in 1913 for bravery in capturing the dynamiter Carl Warr who also voted him a testimonial and presented to him a diamond medal for his devotion to duty. He served as Chief Deputy Prosecuting Attorney for two years, resigning in 1915, since which time he has engaged in private practice.

Mr. Hosick believes in the enforcement of all laws and has the endorsement of the United Church Brotherhood as well as many other worthy organizations. The Eagle commends his candidacy to the support of its readers and stands squarly back of him, as a man who is in every way deserving and worthy of your support.

IRA THOMPSON FOR JUDGE

Because of the crowded condition of the Superior Court calendar, a number of prominent Los Angeles attorneys have requested presiding Judge Frank R. Willis to appoint Ira F. Thompson, candidate for the Superior bench in the November elections, to sit as judge pro tem to hear cases in which they represent the litigants.

Mr. Thompson has spent most of the past week on the bench of Department 11, in place of Judge Louis N. Myers, who is absent, and of Department 23.

The fact that many contesting attorneys have mutually agreed upon Mr. Thompson's selection indicates the high regard his bar associates have for his ability and reputation for absolutely impartial dealing in either criminal or civil cases.

JUST WILL MAKE THE RACE

In making my campaign for the Assembly in the 74th District I am sure that no fair and impartial mind should exact of me an apology for my actions at this time. I, with all true Americans, have been taught to revere the free institutions of our beloved country. We are proud to look upon America as a country where each citizen king is guaranteed the fullest expression of untrammelled political sentiments. Any attempt on the part of a particular group or class to abridge the rights or privileges of another for any supposed or fancied cause whatsoever, is in direct violation of the fundamental law of our land, and but sanctions those unjust and cruel conditions of political decadence of which many of us have been the helpless victim.

Now let us understand fully once and for all that this is a government of the people, by the people, and for the people: and that the people manifest their loyalty and devotion to their country and the ideals and principles for which it stands in proportion as they sanely and peacefully participate in the affairs of their country and seek to exemplify those principles of government. Any deviation from a safe and sane, a fair and square active political policy is indicative of class interests and is contrary to the spirit of true Democracy. A certain element of our particular group may as well realize now as at any other time that we are fully cognizant of our rights under the laws of this state. After a residence of more than forty years in California, obeying her laws, enjoying the blessings of her free institutions, it seems the height of political presumption to be questioned by those whose length of residence here scarcely entitles them to a vote, and who have absconded from states where they have never been permitted to enjoy those privileges that incomparable California affords. The untrue un-American statement used in the Primary recently held that by voting for any save the incumbent, would split the vote so that a white man would get in is still being used, when in truth THERE IS NO WHITE MAN IN THE RACE at this time; all three candidates being members of

Why should I ask the support of my race at this time has been asked by some. I think my efforts in behalf of my race fully justifies my plea for racial support. Some eighteen years ago, I, personally, in company with the late J. J. Neimore, went to Sacramento and assisted in lobbying through our present Civil Rights Bill of which we have recently heard so much. Not only that but at this very session of the Legislature I secured the appointment of four Colored clerks, namely: F. H. Crumply, T. A. Greene, Chas. Wilson and J. W. Barfield. I made the fight for the increase in pay for the janitors at the Hall of Records and was successful in having their salaries raised from $55 to $75 per month. The cases in which I have assisted members of our group in securing employment by the city, country and state are too numerous to mention at this writing. Some of my enemies are charging that I lost all interest in my race after securing my appointment in the Revenue Department, nothing could be farther from the truth as scarcely a day passed while I was in the department but what some members of our group did not call upon me for some favor and in no instance was it refused. I am for my race as a part of the great American people as a part of and shall always favor such measures as shall benefit the masses. I am emphatically in favor of the Police and Firemen's Pension Amendment and hope all my friends and supporters will use their best endeavors to put it over.

Hoping to receive the support of all fair minded and patriotic citizens.

Yours for our Common Country,
JAMES M. ALEXANDER.

THE FIRST A. M. E. CHURCH—
8th and Towne Ave.
Rev. A. M. Ward, Minister
South 3780 Res. 1466 Griffith

Rev. Ward will occupy his pulpit in historic Eighth and Towne Avenue Church Sunday at 11 o'clock. Music will be furnished by both choirs, under direction of Organist Elmer C. Bartlett, who has just returned hom from a three months vacation.

The Senior Choir, J. T. Norris, president, will furnish the program Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Prof. Bartlett will be the principal speaker. Miss Margarite James will also tell us of her visit to Wilberforce and other points in the East.

Rev. Ward occupied his pulpit Sunday morning for the first time in this new Conference year. He was greeted by a large audience including more than a score of prominent visitors. He delivered his sermon from Joshua 3:4; using as his text, "For Ye Have not Passed this Way Heretofore. Pastor Ward emphasized the fact that the opening of another Conference year's activities calls to service—to new opportunities and to far greater responsibilities. Concluding he declared that it is the gracious privilege of Christ's followers to appropriate His life—His love and His Spirit to advance Christ's kingdom and promote His glory." Many and loud were the Amens! Nine persons responded to the call and united with the membership of the church. The choir, under direction of Mrs. Fred M. Roberts sang as if by inspiration; and the audience took up the refrain. Rev. H. B. Gantt delivered a good sermon to a very representative audience Sunday night. The choir furnished good music with Mrs. Roberts at the helm.

There was quate a little excitement when Prof. Elmer C. Bartlett entered the church and took his seat in the audience. Prof. Bartlett had just returned from a three months vacation in the South and in the far East.

The A. C. E. League is growing by leaps and bounds these days with every Committee at work keeping every member busy. The program committee will present Mr. Daniels in a number this Sunday, a Solo by Mrs. Howard, and young Master Alexander Norris will give one of those addresses which are causing so much comment. The League Intermediate Choir will furnish excellent music.

Sunday School, 9:30 A. M.; Preaching, 11 a. m., Subject: Peace and good will; Allen C. E. League, 6:30 p. m.; Preaching 8 p. m., Subject: A Righteous Invitation.

You are welcome to worship with us.

FIRST A. M. E. ZION CHURCH
Cor. Pico and Paloma
Rev. W. E. Shaw, Pastor

Sunday, October 22nd will be quarterly meeting day for this church. Rev. E. M. Clark, Presiding Elder for this district will preach in the morning. He will not be able to be present Sunday evening so Rev. Shaw will preach on "The Unpardonable Sin" or "Sinning Against the Holy Ghost." We all want to hear this most interesting subject discussed so come early to get a seat.

Last Sunday morning the pastor preached on "Brotherhood." Acts 10:6. He lodgeth with one Simon a tanner, whose house is by the seaside. The brotherhood displayed by this Jew and Gentile should exist between all men and all nations.

The evening text was The Backslider and what Becomes of Him—Genesis 13:12. Never before have we realized the awful results of sin and backsliding as in the case of Lot and the judgments that must surely follow sin.

The attendance was excellent. Five new members enrolled for the day.

Prof. Bynum has a very broad smile every Sunday. His choir is rendering extraordinary good music. The old time songs sound mighty good.

Prayer and Praise service each Wednesday evening. Sunday School 9:30 a. m.; Bible Class 6 p. m.; U. C. E. Society 7 p. m.

Miss E. McCarthy will render a solo in her sweet soprano voice and Mr. Buchanan will give a reading at the Young People meeting.—7 until 8 each Sunday a good program.

Everyone is most cordially invited to attend and worship with us in all our services.

TABERNACLE BAPTIST CHURCH
12th and Hemlock Streets.

Tabernacle had a great gospel celebration Sunday. Our mouths were filled with laughter and our tongues with singing. The Lord did great things for us, whereof we are glad. The first trumpet was sounded, there followed hail and fire mingled with blood which signified a storm of errors now sweeping the world. The third part of trees, of green grass was burnt indicated both the clergy and the laity in error and false in the doctrines of Bible.

Sunday 11:00 a. m. The subject will be the great wonder of heaven. A woman clothed with the sun, and the moon under her feet and upon her head a crown of twelve stars.

8:00 p. m. subject, what is that in your hand? Or taking what you have and making what you want." In this subject we find that we have just what we need if we but know how to use it.

Let the married couples of a few months defer all engagements and hear this sermon. It will be a blessing to you.

ST. PAUL INSTITUTIONAL BAPTIST CHURCH—
1385 E. 21st St.
Rev. R. N. Holt, D. D., Pastor

The services last Sunday were interesting and inspiring. Pastor Holt filled the pulpit at both services, feeling himself again after spending a few days of indisposition. He preached as never before, Subj.: "Religion that Counts." Every listener seemed to take heed to this timely warning and Gospel message; not soon shall we forget the religion that counts when we visit the 47 creeds and cults operating in this great city all are saying this is the way—Can we but say who is who. To this occation Madam Dossey was in evidence as soloist. Five assessions were added. Hear Him!

11:30 A. M.—Hell where it is and who is there.

7:45 P. M.—Heaven where it is and who is there. Both sermons by Pastor Holt.

ST. JOHN MISSIONARY BAPTIST CHURCH—
1546 Palomares Ave.
Rev. D. C. Knox, Pastor.

The spirit was very high all day last Sunday in our services. The pastor came tous with two burning messages from the great National Baptist Convention that met in the city of Nashville, Tenn, Sept. 7th. The pastor used for his subject the changeless Christ, Heb. 13-11., and continued Sunday night from the same subject. We are extending a broad invitation to the public to attend all of our services.

Sunday being the day before the last Annual Quarterly Conference, the Pastor delivered his annual message to Conference, it was a very inspiring message. The soloist for the morning was Mrs. Blanch Woods; there were two accessions. The evening services were turned over to the committee of memoirs directed by Mrs. G. A. Beavers, Jr.

BIRCH ST. CHRISTIAN CHURCH—
F. C. Cothran, Minister

Inspiration and enthusiasm marked the day at this church last Lord's day. Attendance fine at all services. Many new faces.

The pastor occupied the pulpit morning and evening. His sermon at 11:00 a. m. upon the subject "The Tree of Life" was inspiring and helpful. He took for his text Rev. 22: 14, from which he showed that Christ is that "Tree of Life," and declared, as man, by disobedience, in the garden of Eden, lost his right to that Tree of Life, so man must, by obedience, regain the right to this "Tree of Life," in Christ Jesus. Two young persons responded to the invitation. Mr. Turner, a young minister of Texas, and Miss Frisby, a young lady of Lexington, Ky.

Our hearts are deeply aggrieved in consequence of the death of our beloved brother A. C. Richardson, who died at his residence, 1044 E. Washington St., Monday morning, 6:30 o'clock. Funeral, Saturday, Oct. 21st, 1:00 p. m. from the Independent Church, 18th and Paloma Sts. Our church, and the city of Los Angeles, sustain a great loss in this good man.

We anticipate interesting services next Lord's day. Preaching 11:00 A. M. and 8 P. M. Bible School, 9:45 A. M. and C. E. Society 7:00 P. M. Come early. Nou are most cordially welcome.

LINCOLN MEMORIAL CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH—
34th Street and Central Ave.
Rev. H. H. Lightner, Pastor.

Sunday was a day filled with good things at this church. The pastor occupied the pulpit at the morning hour and brought a practical message using as his text: "Herein is my Father glorified that ye bear much fruit." John 15:8.

At 3:00 o'clock in the afternoon Dr. N. P. Gregg of the Independent Church gave the last in the series of messages to the Seven Churches. He gave "The Message to the Church of Laodicea." A sermon long to be remembered for its clear enunciation of Christian principles, privileges and duties. Many of his parishioners worshipped with us. Come again.

At the evening hour the pastor gave the 2nd in a series on: "Across the Continent and Back," telling at this time his recent experiences in Georgia. This Sunday Oct. 22, the Pastor will occupy the pulpit at the morning hour. In the evening the delegates to the Annual meeting of the Association which convened this week with the Mount Hollywood Church, will give their reports. You are cordially invited to attend all these services.

CHURCH OF CHRIST TEMPLE—
Cor. 37th and Naomi Sts.
Elder C. P. Jones, Pastor

The people of God at this place rejoiced with exceeding great joy to have their beloved pastor, Elder C. P. Jones, in his accustomed place, Sunday, after an absence of ten weeks on an evangelistic tour thru the south and east. The Lord was graciously present with this His man-servant, and used him as an instrument to help and bless thousands of hearts and homes.

Elder Jones was re-elected President of the National Holiness Convention which convened in Montgomery, Ala., in August, and was unanimously elected pastor of the Temple in Jackson, Miss., one of the largest churches in the south, but this great man of God is led of the Holy Spirit to continue his charge over the small flock in Los Angeles, we praise God for such a man, and for such a leader.

Elder Jones, though tired from his busy and extensive trip, delivered to his people Sunday two such glorious messages as filled and thrilled them with spiritual zeal.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH—
8th and Wall Streets,
Rev. M. Frederick Mitchell, Pastor

Rev. Mrs. Howard C. Branbc occupied the pulpit at the Christian Church last Sunday morning. Mrs. Branch's sermon was a masterly one. All who heard it were amazingly empressed, with its logic, with its subject-matter and with its clear ess. Preceeding the discourse Madam Viola Harris Brandon, with the choir electrified the hearers and speaker with a well prepared singing program. Mrs. Branch in high terms of praise spoke of the excellency of Madam Brandon's musical gift; and how wonderfully inspired she was to listen to the gospel in singing. Mrs. May Williams in a charming manner sang a solo which was indeed a source of inspiration. The Y. P. S. C. E. under the leadership of Mr. Carter had a lively discussion. Following this meeting, Rev. G. C. Coleman caught on wings of inspirations of the day brought us another appreciative sermon. Subject, "The Great Commission." We enjoyed the presence of a number of visitors. The Pastor will occupy the pulpit next Sunday at both services. Subjects: Sunday Morning, "A Few of the Little Things that are Big Things. In the evening "Modern Day False Prophets." A day of spiritual feasting is promised, you are cordially invited to meet with us.

OUR CHOIR

No church in America has a more loyal or capable chorus than St. Paul. This body of young people freely give their talent in the service of Christ. They are regular and faithful in their attendance at rehearsals and Sunday services. They deserve and have the heartiest appreciation of Pastor and people. Twice a year they render a special program that members and friends may express their hearty approbation of the work done by this fine chorus and at all times a more enthusiastic bunch you never met. They are now hard at work preparatory to their Christmas cantata that promises the best yet. Director, C. V. Pitts is loved and supported by every member of this organization. Thursday evening they gave their Semi-annual Social Progarm and were royally intertained at the residence of Mrs. M. G. Patton, Chairman of the Social Committee. Watch these columns for our next affair.

Rally of the Macedonia Baptist Church was a grand success. There was a full house and both young and old took a part in the program.

The Junior Choir sang its best. The collections were $22.60 on Sunday evening Oct. 22. The prizes will be given to youngest, oldest and the one between the two. The president, Brother Lee Copney received many congratulations on his fiftieth birthday.

AN APOLOGY

Mrs. Cole wishes to opologize for the omission of several names to be printed as patronesses on the Florence Talbert Recital program, they were handed in too late for insertion, very sorry indeed.

Respectfully,

BOYLES HEIGHTS NEWS

By Myener Shivers

Mrs. F. L. Jones and daughter, Mrs. Bell and little Hattie Bell have returned from Atlanta, Ga. They are now in Santa Barbara, Cal.

Mrs. Robinson, aunt of Mrs. Clay at 3155 Malaboa street, who has visited here for several months returned home this week. Mrs. Robinson was the recipient of many social honors by friends while in the city. Her home is in Shrevesport, La.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Lee of 3127 Upper boulevard entertained their pastor, Rev. Hutchinson and wife, Rev. C. Seaton and wife of Riverside to dinner Sunday. A most delightful afternoon was spent.

COLLEGE AND HIGH SCHOOL

The city football league opens up Friday. Nearly every High School has several race lads representing them. At Lincoln High, Raymond Hurd is an end on the first squad. Fouche a guard is doing great work for the Bull Dogs. George and Ralph Johnson are Hollywood's only hopes, while Belford Harris of Jefferson plays end.

There are also many race lads on the lightweight teams. William (Speed) Narcisse and Bounden are the best bet on the Railsplitter team. The former is halfback and the latter an end. When ground must be covered Narcisse carries the pill, which always means yards. Bruce Jackson and Salisbury are on the Democrat eleven. Jackson is a fullback, he is also a baseball and basket ball star.

The Hi-Y annual election was held last Friday. After introducing the candidates by the Boys work secretary, the election followed with these results. Leroy Johnson, President, Charles Diggs, Vice President, Charles Matthews, Secretary, William Narcisse, Reporter.; Clarence Patton, Librarian; Lango Dye, Critic; Wallace Markhan, Chaplain.

Altho every one of these officers are qualified for leadership, the election of President and Vice-President was a surprise to many.

There were many new members present who were not acquainted with the new members and this is the reason many of the old were not elected.

But with the skillful guidance of the new secretary, we hope this will be a successful year.

OFFICER SHEFFIELD RETURNS FROM VACATION.

M. B. Sheffield has returned to his police duties after having spent his summer vacation in Northern Calif. visiting friends at San Francisco, Oakland, Sacramento and Fresno. While in Oakland he was highly entertained by Inspector of police Arthur Sanderson and Bill Anderson of the Oakland Police Department. A palatable dinner was served at the home of Mr. Sanderson 23rd. and San Pablo St. in his honor, after a delightful repast they retired to their downy bed and was awakened by the sound of Inspector Sanderson's Auto Claxton and proceeded with their merriment that afternoon and evening, sightseeing and visiting friends of the great Bay Metropolis. Some of the notables that entertained Mr. Sanderson an Sheffield were, Miss Abbie Davis a social belle of that city and song bird of Mr. Mosbey's staff of entertainers and other members of his pleasure dispensers. Mr. and Mrs. Pankey two social leaders of Oakand gave Mr. Sheffield a hearty welcome into the city and to their homes and his only regret was that his trip was so arranged that time would not permit his accepting the same. Mr. Sheffield expects to return next year to fill all invitations that were omitted this year and signs loud the praises of the people of Oakland for their hospitality.

WHO IS "BOSS" OF YOUR DOLLARS?

A good many men let the other fellow spend the money they earn—the other fellow just has to suggest something to sell them and—the money is GONE.

Some men are strong enough to control their own money. Every time they get money, they put some of it in a Savings Account—first—BEFORE the fellow who wants to sell you something gets a chance.

It takes a MAN, and a SAVINGS ACCOUNT, in a GOOD BANK, and a STRONG WILL to build up a fund of money in bank which you can use for things that are really worth while.

Why not make a good strong resolution, open an account, and SAVE?

CURRENT COMMENT
By: CHANDLER OWEN

The Ku Klux have seemingly passed their stage of publicity exploitation and settled down systematically to carry on their grisly businesss. Out at Coffeyville, Kansas, the Mayor was recently taken out and whipped by this notorious band of cowards. Down in Georgia last week press dispatches say they defeated the nominee for Senator who opposed their outlawry. A preacher at McAlester, Okla., recently exhorted from the Word of God while a pistol was in public view beside his Bible. The Klan had warned him to get out.

These incidents are symptomatic of what will probably continue to appear unless some stronger power intervenes to nip their nefarious operations at the base.

The Jeys are getting very much disturbed over the Klan, too. At New York they have launched a magazine, in conjunction with Irishmen, purely defensive and offensive. It is The Defender, 42 East 23rd Street (price 10c). It also incidentally champions the cause of the Negro.

This is good. Once we get white groups hot in the fight, times will be lively. Anarchism will be eminent. Then the Government will and must act.

Meanwhile Negroes can only "be ready when they come."

Tome Watson is out of the way. The Senate is lucky. Negroes should be happy. Georgia should be "tickled to death." Everybody should congratulate everybody else for the sake of the country at large. Watson's sensationalism was mistaken by some for patriotism. His rabidness toward personal and incidental capitalistic interests was mistaken by many for liberality toward Labor. His mania for maintaining his point on a pet theory led to prolonged research which was misconstrued for genuine by scholarly instincts. Intolerance enveloped him. Jews and Catholics fared hard at his hands. He was unable to rise above the sectionalism of the South. The old prejudices were in the marrow of his bones. In offering an excuse for threatening to slap an army officer in the Senate, he said the officer had "aroused his Southern blood."

Of course he cared nothing for Negroes. But we don't doubt he actually loved his cooks and plowhands.

Such was Tom Watson. We are "glad he's gone and sorry he stayed so long."

0——00——0

The lady Senator appointed by Governor Hardwick to complete the almost expired term of Watson is Mrs. W. H. Felton. The whole white press had joined in a chorus of praise to the first woman senator in America. But we note Negro editors were not deceived. It is almost axiomatic that anything coming from the South representing politics rings to the slave psychology of those backward states.

Twenty years ago this same Mrs. Felton said in a public address in Atlanta that she approved lynching. She has never publicly admitted a change of heart. Now come Northern papers, (as well as Southern), which have steadfastly fought this evil, placing their O. K. on this antebellum relic of a defunct generation. (Mrs. Felton is 87). We are not disposed to sacrifice a principle even in doffing our hat to the gentler sex.

A. Philip Randolph, one of the editors of the Messenger magazine, is now stumping the State of New York for the American Labor Party. Randolph is named for Secretary of State. He is he only Negro running for a state office and his nomination is the highest political honor accorded any Negro since Reconstruction.

This has caused a virtual stampede in Republican and Democratic ranks. Themselves asking for the Negro vote and giving nothing in return, they gasp in amazement at the audacity of the Socialists. Their Negro lackeys are solemnly warning that Socialist party is dangerous and seeks to overthrow the Government. They speak in total disregard of truth.

But Randolph goes on. He has had a rapid rise since he started out in 1916. In 1919 he was named for Assemblyman, in 1920 he ran for State Controller, in 1922 he is slated for Secretary of State.

Sensible Negroes might do well to think this over. This is a clear case of rating a man by his ability and not by his color.

EUROPE WILL VINDICATE HER

MADAME FLORENCE COLE-TALBERT AT THE PHILHARMONIC AUDITORIUM.

Her Star Rose to Greatest Brilliancy at Her Recital of Last Tuesday. She was ably supported by her fellow artists. But Europe will finally Discover Her True Value and America will be Forced to Acknowledge the Lyrical Superiority of Her Own Neglected Ethiopian Diva.

By: LOUIS MICHEL

The first presentation into a wider field of Madame Florence Cole-Talbert by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored people at the Philharmonic Auditorium, on October the 17th, splendidly assisted by the Bridgetower Trio as composed by Messrs. James Warren, violinist, Marke Carnahan, cellist and John Gray, pianist, and the able Miss Nadia McCullough, as pianist-accompanist, was well attended with the cream and the flower of the Ethiopian people and a fair sprinkling of Caucasian music lovers was also noticeable, though the dominant, but not superior race of this city has yet to learn, how to fittingly honor a great and leading singer, as Florence Cole-Talbert unquestionably is.

The careful listener to her rich and vibrant, exquisitely cultivated and carefully mastered voice must pay her greatest homage, for Florence Cole-Talbert is a singer by nature with inborn ability as her leading asset, but with a magnificent training and most diligent studies to back her triumphantly in bringing out to richest and grandest bloom what her birth traits had fated her to become.

Ah, it was a gorgeous delight to witness this remarkable songbird of an oppressed race as she ascended the steepest heights of vocal grandeur, climbing up to the high E with the easiest grace and speedily emitting the difficult G notes, as if all this intricate artistry was mere child's play for this wondrous woman of famous mould! And such sweet heart-penetrating singing, with a technique so sublime, a form and figure so faultless, and with a sunshiny smile upon a most fascinating as well as fascinated countenance—truly Florence Cole-Talbert looked like a veritable, worldly Madonna of soaring and winning lyrics, if this quaint characterization is permissible!—There was fire and feeling, there was sweetness and poise, there was drama and joy, there was tears and laughter in her singing, it was a feast of song, such as only Madame Florence Cole-Talbert herself is able to supply!

The program consisted of two parts, was well balanced and rendered with much smoothness and self-

COMMENTS

By W. J. Wheaton

It is alleged that the government of Santo Domingo has protested, or rather, the Hatian-SanDomingo Independence Society, protests against the $16.000.000. which is now in process of floatation by the National City Company.

It is this interest which brought about the American occupation of those governments by military force, and resulted in the loss of thousands of lives.

Haiti, and Santo Domingo realize that the loan, which is sponsored by the United States, will only prolong the agony and give a further pretext for the flying of the U. S. flag over the Customs House. The Independence Society, while not unmindful of the material improvements made under the American occupation; wish to maintain their national soverieng'ty, borrow where they can obtain the best terms, without any dictation. The nationals of these republics have been chafing under the restraint placed upon them by foreign occupation. The arrogance of the marines coupled with their disregard of the finer feelings of the refined classes, has left a sore that will be hard to heal.

It would not be fair to say that the American occupation was without benefit; the building of roads, improvement of sanitary conditions, and the establishment of adequate police, all have been of an appreciable beenfit.

According to the McCormick report; having accomplished these things, and played the role of the benefactor, would it not be well to allow the people who have been governing themselves, and who won that right by their valor, to determine for themselves how they will finance their government?

"Ever since the administration of Abraham Lincoln, under which the authority of the Republics were first recognized, there has been schemes [illegible] to gain a concession to their [illegible] of the [illegible] as [illegible] commands the Caribbean Sea, and is of intrinsic value as a stra...to SC naval base.

Bribery, cajolery or none of the wiles of diplomacy have ever been able to gain the consent of the Haitian government to dispose of it or allow it to pass from under their control. But, along comes the big war, and, well, we must get control of that point of land before some other Power gets control and causes international complications. There is a matter of a few million dollars loaned down there by American interests, and they cannot collect. "Guess that we had better collect for them" said Uncle Sam, and forthwith he occupied the Island, raised his flag over the Custom House, and took possession. If there had been no Mole St.Nicholas, there would have been no American occupation. $16,000,000 means a few more years of American dictation, and if deemed advisable, the trend of events will lead to annexation. We see the fate of Cuba, and the Phillipines in store for the island of Haiti.

Politics

The American Legion is in the political game. They see the necessity of using theballot to obtain the legislation they are striving for. That is as it should be, and it is the only way.

They are not placing their confidence in the promises of any political party, and when a representative fails to live up to the promise given he is shelved, and another tried. After a while candidates for office, begin to see that they mean business, and strive to enact the measures demanded.

It is too bad that a certain group of voters who have so much at stake cannot see the futility of blind servility to partizanship, throw off the yoke that holds them and vote for the men who will strive to give them, that which is their due as citizens, equal representation.

There are men who represent the different political parties, who have the courage to demand fairplay for the masses, and who have sought to do that which in their judgment they thought to be right; yet, because they do not bear a particular political brand are not trusted with our suffrage.

We will support, and are supporting Hiram Johnson because we beleive that he is sincere in his advocacy of an amendment to the Constitution prohibiting child labor.

Such a measure will be of incalculable value to us, in particular, as a people.

Thousands of young Negro children are being exploited in the factories of the South who should be at school.

It is asked why the parents of these children allow it. That can be answered by saying that the parents of those children, themselves being brought up under the same conditions cannot perceive the iniquity of the system.

It will take years of missionary work to accomplish the task. We cannot support some other candidates, who although bearing the same political label as Senator Johnson, have failed so far to measure up to the standard which would lead us to beleive that they are "Simon Pure" in those ideals which go for the lifting up of humanity.

Although it is impossible to defeat them, we have tried our utmost to create sentiment against those recalcitrant congressmen of the State who antagonized the Dyer Bill, although they bear the label of the Republican party.

In our state and municipal affairs, measures and men who in our belief will honestly carry out those which we endorse, should receive our support.

Let us make partisanship our servant, and not allow partisanship to make servants of us.

Of course this will fall upon deaf ears as far as the professional, political pie hunter is concerned.

THE DYER BILL

We learn from authentic sources that the Dyer Anti-Lynching bill will be one of the first measures to be considered at the reconvening of the United States Senate in November.

The Dyer Bill was manouvered into a political measure by the tactics of the opposition. They accused the Republicans of insincerity in their advocacy of the measure, and, with a few exceptions, the champions of the bill, in the parlance of the street, "got cold feet." The National Republican party pledged itself to enact a law that would curb the murderous tendencies of the mob. The passage of that measure through the lower house of congress is past history. It was fought bitterly, and not a few of the congressmen who were elected on that particular plank of the party's platform failed to live up to their pre-election promises, and voted against the bill. Some of them returned to their constituents with stories of the unconstitutionality of the bill, and how they would support any measure that could pass the scrutiny of the U. S. Supreme Court, others boldly said they [illegible] of justice have decreed that men who place aught above the things that shall remove the barbaric stain, which for years has sullied our national honor, are not fit representatives to enact the laws for the people. There will be numbers of the gentlemen of that ilk returned to private life after the Seventh of November.

We can understand why members from the sections of the Union would oppose the measure. Those same members opposed the child labor act and were instrumental in having it declared a non-constitutional law. Those members represent a constituency whihc fattens off cheap labor and profits from the sweat of children.

It is to be hoped that the twentieth amendment of the Constitution will be one to prevent the exploitation of child labor, and that it will be enforced with the same vigor that characterizes the Volstead, or eighteenth, amendment.

JOHN A. GRAY—SINCLAIR WHITE MURDOCK JOINT RECITAL WINS ADMIRATION OF OVERFLOW CROWD AT INDEPENDENT CHURCH; SONGS BY MISS NELLY JOHNSON AND THOMAS JOHNSON FILL HEARTS.

(By William Mells Watson)

Probably the greatest and most soleful of student recitals witnessed by a Los Angeles audience took place Tuesday night in the beautiful Independent Church when Madam Sinclair White Murdock's superbly trained violin students in a joint recital with Prof. John A. Gray's equally technecally instructed piano pupils thrilled one of the largest and most exclusive throngs of music lovers ever housed in a local auditorium.

Society's Best.

Hundreds of bewitchingly gowned ladies with handsomely gromed husbands and escorts filled every pew of the georgeously decorated edifice and overflowed into the choir seats, when promptly at 8:15 a most harmonious group of six violinists opened the program with Von Suppe's Overture—Poet and Peasant, M. Marion Forsythe, Miss Gertrude Freeman, Mrs. Georgia Daniels, Miss Aurena Barnum, Miss Mamie Jack-

Independent Candidate on Issues of Campaign for Assembly

JAMES M. ALEXANDER

Issues are the high spots in my campaign for the Assembly from the 74th Assembly District. Wholly impersonal but so strong and unanswerable that desperate efforts are being made to befog the issue. So desperate have they been that they have caused the ministry to call for collections; What for? to curb vice, so they say. The undersigned has been in the open for forty years stood up for clean government when the "holier than thou" have been in the very hollow of vice and immorality.

In voices filled with pathos and tremor on each Sunday does one vociferous (always heretofore a Negro Democrat) rage at the Forum because some one would dare exercise their God given privileges to aspire for public office. This is small stuff and really unworthy of mention except to show this sort of gentry up.

The issues in this campaign are far greater and I stand squarely for the greatest good to the greatest number of people and I have referred to my record of achievements during my residence in this district and feel that the same justifies the belief that I am fully competent and prepared to give to the people a greater service than either of the other two aspirants to this position.

Records Are What Count

The present incumbent has served the District for two years and what measure of real public moment has he put over and what representation has he procured for anybody in the State Government. Much has been said of his stand on the King Bill and the score on this bill was passed [illegible] consideration put upon them. This is no fiction; compare your phone rates with what they were before the passage of the King Bill and what they are now. This also applies to the P. E. rates and other public utilities.

If upon due consideration of the voters of this District I am elected, I promise my best efforts with an experience gained by a score or more of years in public service to secure for our District all that is coming to it by way of real constructive legislation and above all representation for all groups of the citizens which compose the same in just proportions to the standing of each class or group.

Stand Up Like Men

I stand for a square deal and manly exposition of the issues, devoid of personalities and purely on merit and will meet all comers. I feel that it is high time that in the 74th Assembly District a campaing should be conducted upon high ground, devoid of the cringing "holier than thou" attitude, smacking of public office being made a private snap and that only one person in so great a district is eligible to fill this office whether that person would bring results or not.

Standing squarely upon our rights, we are submitting our cause to the people of this District, promising a faithful service and the accomplishment of real lasting results. We appreciate very much the wonderful support which is being rendered and ask at the hands of all the people of this Great District a favorable consideration of our claims.

Yours for a progressive record,
J. M. Alexander.

WOOLWINE ENDORSED BY COLORED VOTERS.

"If I am elected Governor it shall be one of my first duties to petition the Legislature for a bill by which all such organizations will be dismembered and crushed."

Editor Calif. Eagle,
824 Central Avenue,
Los Angeles, Calif.
Sir:

The California Citizens League, on behalf of its members and friends, asks for the courteous extension of your newspaper columns to convey to our group, this important message.

In keeping with our motto, "A Better Citizenry and a Broader Patriotism," we feel that we would indeed fall short of those high ideals if we did not call to attention, the members of our group, those grand, noble and deserving traits of character, deeds of heroism and valor, the personal and impersonal sacrifices, the struggle with and against contending forces that threatened the utter destruction of him who would stand out as an exponent.

Such men are guided by a strict sense of justice and in their ability to perform their duty to their country, their deep and impersonal love for humanity, enables them to share to day the love of a whole nation; for they are the real embodiment, the epitome of those men whom our nation has crowned with wreathes of unsullied Immortality, and assigned their proper niche in the Temple of Fame. Because of his struggles, his unswerving devotion to the interests of human emancipation, and because of the sacred deeds and memory of our own Abraham Lincoln, who died in defense of what he believed was just and right—a martyr for the iniquity of our nation—we shall labor to keep alive in our hearts those spirits that they may not pass from our recognition, our appreciation.

Such sterling qualities, such trust, such worth as we find in the person, THOMAS LEE WOOLWINE, are indispensable qualifications for the office to which he aspires, and being a lawyer, he is in a sense, a statesman by virtue of his profession, and it is upon his profession that the people of California must chiefly rely for the preservation of constitutional principles in this state. It therefore becomes our pleasant duty and sublime pleasure to present HON. THOMAS LEE WOOLWINE, the worthy and qualified people's candidate for Governor of the State of California.

Voters generally have short memories of meritorious service on the part of public men or institutions; but knowing how faithfully and unremittingly our candidate has labored in the interests of the people, it seems just that those efforts should be recognized and requited. In our opinion, no man in public office today deserves recognition and preferment as does THOMAS LEE WOOLWINE, if public service and a high sense of duty are worthy of reward. If this is true, then what is your duty as a good citizen?

VOTE TO HELP ELECT THOMAS LEE WOOLWINE

For in the person of Mr. WOOLWINE, candidate for Governor of the State of California, is concentrated the strength and power of those people who love justice and fairplay, especially those people who [illegible] THE DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE and who bow in respectful obedience to THE CONSTITUTION of our country and the laws of our land.

This is the wake in which the thinking man must tread and by which there shall be an assembling of the political strength and strategy of ouu group to the end that the candidate of our choice shall go over the top on NOVEMBER 7th. This is your fight as contrasted with that of your opponent, who is arrayed and endorsed on the side of and by those with whom you cannot, as good citizens, afford to affiliate.

Speaking of the K. K. K., that organization that strikes terror to the hearts of genuine American men and women of both races, Mr. WOOLWINE says: "IT IS AN ORGANIZATION WHICH SETS RACE AGAINST RACE AND RELIGION AGAINST RELIGION, ATTEMPTING TO STRIKE AT ALL WE ARE GUARANTEED IN THE CONSTITUTION OF THE UNITED STATES."

"IF I AM ELECTED GOVERNOR IT SHALL BE ONE OF MY FIRST DUTIES TO PETITION THE LEGISLATURE FOR A BILL BY WHICH ALL SUCH ORGANIZATIONS WILL BE DISMEMBERED AND CRUSHED.

CAN YOU AFFORD TO HAVE IT GO OUT THAT THE KU KLUX KLAN HAS ELECTED A GOVERNOR FOR YOUR GREAT STATE? THERE COULD BE NO MORE MALIGN INFLUENCE, NO MORE EVIL ADVERTISING FOR CALIFORNIA THAN SUCH AN ANNOUNCEMENT

Do your duty on November 7th and vote for Thomas Lee Woolwine.

CALIFORNIA CITIZENS CIVIC LEAGUE
—Adv.—

DONE AT MASONIC HEADQUARTERS

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 24, 1922.

Respectfully addressed to the Citizens of the State of California, County of Los Angeles and Los Angeles.

FELLOW CITIZENS, GREETING:

Whereas, the Most Worshipful Alpha Grand Lodge is an organization of Colored Masons in the State of California, and having Credentials and Recognition from Masons all over the world, and,

Whereas, this great confraternity of men are in sympathy with and interested in all just and humane principles of government as they are rightly administered and rightly understood, and realizing that the success of government, the main protection of the lives and property of those who live under its administration, depends upon the definite character of the men placed at its head, and,

Whereas, we have found the man whom we believe worthy of the honor and esteem which the people of California are about to bestow, because there is no real contradiction between the higher teadencies of one party as compared with those of another in so far that political parties must co-exist for the ostensible purpose of mutual defense, and,

Whereas, it seems ever to have been the aim of Democracy to accomplish the destiny of the human race by every means of devotion known to civilization; and while it is a recognized fact in Republican jurisprudence that that party has furnished the maxim of freedom, happiness and opportunity to all, and,

Whereas, the Democracy of which we are speaking and thinking is not one of privileges, nor founded on force, but is one of service, founded on merit, and he who stands pre-eminently as the [illegible] opponent of those democratic ideals is no other than the man of the people—the man of our choice—THOMAS LEE WOOLWINE—whom the people shall elect Governor of the State of California.

BE IT RESOLVED, that the Most Worshipful Alpha Grand Lodge of the State of California do hereby and hereon endorse and cause to be published to the fraternal world and all men so assembled its unanimous unqualified and unhesitating support to insure election to the office of Governor of the State of California THOMAS LEE WOOLWINE.

IN THE REALM OF POLITICS

JUSTICE HOWARD B. HINSHAW

With the assistance of many friends, who declare that his good record of two terms as a Justice of the Peace entitles him to re-election to this office for Los Angeles Township, which includes all of the corporate city, Justice Howard B. Hinshaw is making an active campaign which observers declare is certain to be successful. Many neighborhood meetings in behalf of his re-election are being held.

Justice Hinshaw has opened campaign headquarters in Room 421 Hollingsworth Building, Sixth and Hill Streets. Attorney Edmond B. Hinshaw, his father, who is a former Congressman from Nebraska, is in charge. The telephone number is Main 3524.

Presiding in turn with other justices over the traffic court, Justice Hinshaw has given careful study to the many intricate problems which this court presents.

"It has been my observation on the bench, in hearing testimony in traffic cases, that the speed trap is unfair when placed on open and unobstructed roads. Such traps at crossings and mountain curves are the only practicable method, but straight stretches should not be used for fattening a batting average," said Justice Hinshaw. He further contends that "The system of granting operator's licenses is too lax. A motorist should be required to pass an examination on the main features of the law. They constantly plead ignorance even as to knowledge of the speed permitted in the open, on crossings, on mountain curves and to parking. Certainly lack of knowledge of the law tends to increase accidents. The walking public and the motorists are entitled to a fair deal and there are many weak points in our Motor Vehicle Act which should be remedied to make for safety of both classes. I have a number of amendments in mind which I will call to the attention of the next legislature."

Amendment Number 19 is against every interest of the working people. Vote NO on Amendment Number 19 November 7.

SENATOR CALDER OF N. Y. PLEDGES VOTE FOR DYER BILL

Senator Calder, of New York, authorizes announcement by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People that he will work for and vote for the Dyer Anti Lynching Bill in the Senate, and predicts early passage of the measure.

"I shall continue to work for it and I am sure we shall pass it very soon."

said Senator Calder in a letter recently received by the Assistant Secretary of the N. A. A. C. P.

WURZBACH OF TEXAS VOTED FOR DYER BILL

By an unfortunate error the name of Harry Wurzbach, Representative from the 14th District in Texas, was omitted from the list of those who voted for the Dyer Anti-Lynching Bill in the House of Representatives.

Mr. Wurzbach was present in the House on January 26, 1922, and voted for the Dyer Anti-Lynching Bill, according to announcement today, by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, 70 Fifth Avenue, New York.

FRANCIS D. ADAMS, candidate for Justice of the Peace for Los Angeles City (Police Judge), is meeting with phenomenal success in the campaign for his election on November 7th. For the last two weeks Mr. Adams has been the guest of Improvement Associations in all parts of the City, and is nightly addressing large audiences.

Although Mr. Adams is a candidate for the position of Justice of the Peace, he has not comercialized his opportunities at these meetings, but has used for his subject the upbuilding of the community Improve-Clubs; his aim and object being a closer unity and understanding amongst the people.

Mr. Adams has always been an ardent supporter of the Firemen and Policemen Pension Fund, and District Representation and many of his talks have been along these lines.

We believe that a candidate who will devote his time to the working out of these problems instead of taking up the space allowed him in speaking for his own personal campaign, shows that he has the interest of the City at heart, and we feel assured that when elected he will be the right man in the right place.

Mr. Adams has a strong campaign committee of men and women who are ardently supporting him, and meetings are held nightly by them in different parts of the city for the furtherance of his election.

We have no hesitancy in saying that we support Mr. Adams, and hope that all our many subscribers will do likewise, for we believe that "A new broom sweeps clean."

"THE LORD HATES A PROUD LOOK." PROV. 6:17.

By Henry C. Lewis.

I have often thought about a proud look. And I have also desired to learn, how many kinds of looks, men and women practice which come under the head of a proud look.

From ordinary observation I have reached the following conclusion; that there are several kinds of proud looks which we often practice.

We will first consider the unnatural proud look. Observing that God made human beings and covered their frames with flesh and skin. They were naturally made bodies and faces, and when these faces were looked upon just natural, uncamouflaged faces were seen. But men and women through a proud-spirit began to raise themselves out of this God given naturalness which was common to all. They desired to be different so they commenced the use of powder, paint and rouge, in other words to comouflage their naturalness; and thus, was begun the practice of at least one of the many kinds of proud-looks, common among human beings nowadays.

By these coats of powder, paint and rouge the individual makes a proud-look, and some are proud because they are proud, of their proud looks.

I have seen men who endeavored to make themselves handsome. They shaved their eyebrows, trained down their side-burns, cropped their mustache up to a small bunch of hair under the nose. To use the common term of today they presented the aspect of "he-vamps."

Those were unusual acts for men to have done. They were also unnatural acts; they therefore come under the head of proud look.

Probably the most pronounced proud look practiced among the children of men is facial sarcasm. We have all observed it in others. We have also felt the touch of its awful sting and we have done some stinging too.

Oh! how you could have cut him to the ground, if it were possible, with those red-streaked eyes, when he said, "you are wrong about it."

She gave her such a mean proud look. If the strength of its intended violence were concentrated it would be sufficient to blow her off to Hades.

Firemen and Policemen risk their lives for you. Vote YES for them.

The states in which Republican Conventions have endorsed the Dyer Bill are: Colorado, Indiana, Ohio, West Virginia, New Jersey, New York, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, California, Delaware, Missouri and Kansas. I nthree of these states,—New Jersey, New York and Massachussetts— Democratic Conventions have also endorsed the Dyer Bill.

"We commend the Kansas delegation in the national congress for undivided and untiring efforts in support of the Dyer Anti-Lynching Bill and recommend a continuation of their efforts for its enactment into law."

JAMES WELDON JOHNSON WILL TOUR SEVEN CITIES FIGHTING FOR THE DYER BILL.

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, 70 Fifth Avenue, New York, today announced a final speaking tour by its Secretary, James Weldon Johnson, early in November, before the special session of Congress at which action will be had on the Dyer Anti-Lynching Bill.

Mr. Johnson will address mass meetings in seven cities, explaining the present status of the Bill and urging unremitting pressure on all Senators until victory is won. The cities in which Mr. Johnson has arranged to speak and the dates of meetings are:

Cleveland, Ohio, Sunday, Oct. 29;
Chicago, Ill., Monday, Oct. 30;
Indianapolis, Ind., Wednesday, Nov 1;
Lousiville, Ky., Friday, Nov. 3;
Pittsburg, Pa., Sunday, Nov. 5;
Philadelphia, Pa., Monday, Nov. 6;
Washington, D. C., Sunday, Nov. 19.

Mr. Johnson plans tobe in Washington as the special session of Congress opens, to continue his efforts in behalf of the Dyer Bill.

In connection with plans for the speaking tour, Mr. Johnson made the following statement:

"The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People expects that the Dyer Bill will be enacted by the Senate in the special session of Congress called by President Harding. The Republicans are pledged to pass this measure. An object lesson is being given to the Republican Party by our Branches throughout the country which are working to defeat Republican Representatives who voted against the Dyer Bill in the House and working to elect Democrats who voted for the Dyer Bill in the House. These These and other facts I shall bring personally to friends of the Dyer Bill in the six cities, before the coming elections. Then the final stage of the fight to enact the Dyer Bill will have been attained."

Mr. Coleman, familiarly known as Blend, was probably known to more people in the North west than any other colored person. For eleven years he was in the employ of the Fisher Flouring Mill Company and has been featured in all of their advertising. His features have been placarded on every bill board throughout the country and are familiar to every reader of newspapers. Mr. Coleman appeared at every fair held in the Northwest during the last seven years and was famous for his typical talks on the superiority of the Fisher Mill Co. products. He was a native of Harrodsburg, Ky., and came to Seattle from Leavenworth, Kansas in 1906. During his residence in Seattle, Mr. Coleman made many friends, his nobility of character endearing him to all. He is survived by a widow, Mrs. Alya Coleman. Funeral services were held at the Mt. Zion Church, Rev. W. D. Carter, officiating. Services were in charge of Harmony Lodge No. 2 F. and A. M., acting for Langton Lodge No. 54 of Leavenworth, Kansas, of which Lodge Mr. Coleman was a members.

Rev. A. P. Shaw, Pastor.

Pastor Shaw, recently designed to Wesley church for the seventh year occupied the pulpit both morning and evening last Sunday and was greeted by large audiences. The new year is beginning with a vim and the outlook is for the best year in the history of the church.

Sunday is Officers' Day. The pastor will preach a special program sermon in the morning, and in the evening he will preach a live wire sermon on the Political Situation. Among the topics discussed will be: Shall the East Side be made dumping ground for vice? Shall gamblers bootleggers and prostitutes control the political situation on the East Side?

At the Banquet in honor of Bishop Stuntz Wesley through her representatives pledged $100 on the "I will Maintain Fund" of the Centenary. Let each member come prepared this Sunday to assist in raising this amount as a special offering.

Watch Wesley grow. Come and see.

THE FIRST A. M. E. CHURCH—
8th and Towne Avenue
Rev. A. Milton Ward, Minister
South 3780 Res. 1466 Griffith

Pastor Ward will occupy his pulpit in the 8th and Towne Church at 11 o'clock Sunday morning and at 7:30 p. m. Special music by the Choir under direction of Organist Elmer C. Bartlett will be a feature of both services.

The services were at high tide last Sunday with good singing and a stirring sermon by the pastor on "The Automobile Religion" at 11 a. m. and at 7:30 p. m. Prof. Bartlett, our organist and choir master, gave a thrilling recital of his three months' trip through the far South and East.

Seven men and women united with the church in response to appeal made by Rev. Ward. The Choir, under direction of Prof. Bartlett, sang as if by inspiration. Prior to the close of the morning service Mme. Florence Cole Talbert thrilled the great audience with a solo from the Psalms; which was well rendered and pronounced a masterpiece. Many prominent out of town visitors were in attendance. A splendid audience greeted Prof. Bartlett in the evening and his address was pronounced par excellent. Among the many things, he told how he put over the big 500 voice Concert at Atlanta, Ga. for the benefit of Morris Brown University. He also told how thoroughly he enjoyed his entire trip, and he thanked the pastor and church for his vacation. Concluding he thanked Mrs. Fred M. Roberts for playing the role of organist and choir director during his three months' absence. Mrs. Roberts assisted Prof. Bartlett with the music Sunday evening.

FIRST A. M. S. ZION CHURCH—
Rev. W. E. Shaw, Pastor
Corner Pico and Paloma Streets.

The first quarterly meeting for the new conference year was marked with much success spiritually and financially. Presiding Elder E. M. Clark preached to a fine audience on last Sunday morning. One addition to God's marching army was made.

The pastor, Rev. W. E. Shaw, filled the rostrum Sunday evening using as his subject—"The Sin Against The Holy Ghost" or the "Unpardonable Sin." Showing how eager people are to get a clear understanding of the divine truth, a large and appreciative audience was present to hear this great sermon. The text was found in Matt, 12:31.

After Christ had healed all manner of disease and cast out devils the Pharisees claimed it was through Beelzebub, the prince of devils. Their moral conscience was dead.

Whenever we put out the moral eye when wrong no longer seemeth wrong but seemeth right, we have sealed our doom already, for there is no pardon for the homicide of the moral conscience. God cannot pardon and save us if we do not wish it.

On next Sunday morning Rev. Shaw will speak and in the afternoon at 3:00 o'clock he will speak to the Y. W. H. and F. M. S. Everybody interested in missionary work should not fail to hear Rev. Shaw. He spent 5 years in Africa as a Missionary Worker and Organizer. Missionary Workers are especially invited. Rev. Anderson of the C. M. E. Church will deliver the evening message. It will be one of his powerful messages as he leaves soon for Oklahoma, his new field of labor. Watts Class 6:00 p. m. Varick C. E. Society, 7:00 p. m. Sundays. Sunday School 9:30 a. m. Praise and Prayer Service each Wednesday. Everybody invited at all times to worship with us.

—A. M. E. MISSION—

REV. A. S. STOUT, PASTOR.

SECOND BAPTIST CHURCH—
740 Maple Avenue
Rev. T. L. Griffith, Pastor

All services Sunday were enjoyed by all present. The Sunday School was as usual up to the standard. All officers and teachers filling their places.

Morning services began at the usual hour. Our pulpit being graced with the presence of Rev. E. W. Moore of Pittsburg, Pa., who delivered to us a wonderful sermon on sacrifice. Text: Romans 12:1—I beseech you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God that ye present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service.

He explained the sacrifices of all ages were in order up until Christ came when he offered up himself as a sacrifice for sinful men.

The cattle on a thousand hills are sacrificed that we might live.

The lives of the soldiers on the French soil at Flanders field were offered a living sacrifice.

So many wonderful examples were brought to us showing us that we should make daily sacrifices unto our Heavenly Father.

Jesus said take up my cross and follow me.

Sunday evening was a Good Citizenship meeting. Speakers for the evening were Rev. Miller, Mr. Scott, Assemblyman Roberts and Mr. J. H. Bate. Each speaker's discourse was very interesting and I am sure all present were benefitted.

Reugiar services every Sunday. A cordial welcome extended to all.

TABERNACLE BAPTIST CHURCH—
12th and Hemlock. Phone Pico 3321

Sister Joshua, from Philadelphia, Pa., working under the auspices of the Foreign Mission Board of the National Baptist Convention, will be the chief speaker at the Woman's Day Program, Sunday night.

At 11 a. m. the sounding of the Second Trumpet, the mysteries of the burning mountain, which was cast into the sea, the third part of the sea turning to blood, the third part of the creatures of the sea, which had life, dying, and the third part of the ships being destroyed.

Under the murky threads of the years ahead of us, it is the business of the pulpit, the press, and the platform to join hands and go forward in a solid phalanx to eradicate evil and to excite to the approaching end.

GREAT SERVICES AT ST. PAUL

Good news and glad tiding were heard in that great message by Pastor Holt; this gospel being so plain that even the most studip caught a vision of modern Christianity. In his most striking deliverance in accordance to our subject. Heaven was declared unto our clearing house while Hell is but the waste basket.

At the close of the evening services Pastor Holt introduced Hon. Mr. Bromley, Assemblyman for the 73rd District who in turn addressed a large audience great interest shown many who pledged their support. Hon. F. M. Roberts is also supported for the 74th District.

The Senior and Junior Missionary Societies will render the program at the morning service including a sermonette.

WHO IS "BOSS" OF YOUR DOLLARS?

A good many men let the other fellow spend the money they earn—the other fellow just has to suggest something to sell them and—the money is GONE.

Some men are strong enough to control their own money. Every time they get money, they put some of it in a Savings Account—first—BEFORE the fellow who wants to sell you something gets a chance.

It takes a MAN, and a SAVINGS ACCOUNT, in a GOOD BANK, and a STRONG WILL to build up a fund of money in bank which you can use for things that are really worth while.

Why not make a good strong resolution, open an account, and SAVE?

Fern Caldwell leading lady of "CHUCKLES" the Pierson's Producing Company's Production, which will be played at PHILHARMONIC AUD., MONDAY EVE., OCT. 30TH—Declares that the life of an Actress is not without its Dark Moments.

She catalogues the darkest moments of her career as follws:

When she had to double in the last production as a Chorus girl and Leading Lady—

When she spoiled her evening dress in trying to make the change—

When she missed her car and was late for rehearsal—

When she learnt that her leading man would rather do a Ted Shaw dance than waltz—

When she had to vamp the Villian (T. A. Perkins) who had been eating onions and had oil on his hair—

When she had to meet the Director to consult about her new play and discovered she had to do the Secretary work—

Nashville, Tenn. (Special): Henry A. Boyd heads the National Baptist Publishing Board of this city as Secretary, Treasurer and Manager. His election took place at the annual Board Meeting, Tuesday, Oct. 10th. Rev. Mr. Boyd has served in almost every capacity at the Publishing Plant, having begun work eighteen years ago as janitor. In addition to the election of Mr. Boyd as Secretary to fill the place made vacant by the death of his noted father, who was the founder of the Plant, which is invoiced at over a half million dollars, and which gives Sunday School literature to more than twenty thousand Baptist Sunday schools, having a circulation of approximately ten million copies annually, the Board elected Rev. J. P. Robinson of Little Rock, Arkansas, as chairman. Dr Robinson is the oldest pastor in point of service in Arkansas, having pastored one church over thirty years. He is also the president of the State Convention. Rev. G. B. Taylor of Nashville was elected vice-chairman, Rev. D. J. Hill of Texas was re-elected Editorial Secretary, while Rev. John H. Frank of Louisville, Ky. was re-elected Editor of the National Baptist Union Review. Two new Board members were added viz: Rev. H. A. Alfred, pastor of the Mt. Nebo Baptist Church and Rev. H. M. Burns, pastor of the Tabernacle Baptist Church. These two with the seven who held over from the year before, constitute the nine members of the Board of Manager. The General Board, representing one member from each State Convention, was chosen at the National Convention held in Nashville during the month of September.

BIRCH ST. CHRISTIAN CHURCH
14th and Birch Sts.
F. C. Cothran, Minister

We had glorious services at this Church last Lord's day. Bible School and Christian Endeavor Society excelled themselves.

Our minister preached two eloquent and inspiring sermons. Subject at 11 a. m. "True Religion." Text, John 4:23-24—But the hour cometh, and now is when the true worshippers shall worship the Father in spirit and in truth; for the Father seeketh such to worship him. God is a spirit and they that worship him must worship him in spirit and in truth. He declared that true religion has the strictest adherance to the truth, and is manifested in a happy countenance and a beautiful life. The Choir sang with new inspiration. The presence of the many visiting friends was gratifying.

Preaching 11 a. m. and 8 p. m.; Bible School 9:45 a. m. and C. E. Society 7 p. m. You are sincerely invited to all these services.

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 21, 1922.

Mrs. A. C. Richardson,
1044 E. Washington St.,
Los Angeles, Calif.

Dear Sister Richardson,

We the members of the Social Hour Club, of Birch St. Christian Church, do hereby tender to you our heartfelt sympathy and sincere condolence in this your sad hour of trouble and bereavement.

The passing of your dear and devoted husband from your home, and from our midst, is that which we feel, oh so keenly; but we are comforted in the fact that he was prepared, and met his death calmly and triumphantly.

He went not like the quary slave at night scourged to his dungeon, but sustained and soothed by an unfaltering trust approached the grave like one who wraps the drapery of his couch about him and lies down to pleasant dreams.

"There's nothing terrible in death
'Tis but to cast our robes away,
And sleep all night without a breath
To break repose till dawn of day."

We therefore, in the language of Paul, commend you to God and to the word of His grace, which is able to build you up, and to give you an inheritance among all them who are sanctified.

SANTA BARBARA NEWS

Once again your humble servant is on the job after a vacation of six weeks visiting a number of the southern cities, relatives and friends at home in San Diego in company with others. We visited a number of points of interest and on the whole had a well spent vacation.

While in San Diego we had the the pleasure of visiting the San Diego Eagle office, a branch of our "California Eagle," C. A. Spearhas, president and Mr. Ira Smith, manager. It shows the remarkable progress San Diego is making also the growth of the Eagle which we hope will spread her wings that she may bear the news of Santa Barbara from coast to coast.

San Diego also has another paper "The San Diego New idea," edited by Mr. John T. Pirkle. Both papers are well patronized and have a large circulation.

Sunday was well observed at Mt. Olive Baptist Church, our pastor, Rev. H. B. Thomas taking for his text "Competency in well doing," Gal. 6:9 for the morning service which was well attended. The Junior Choir furnished well rendered songs in praise to God, while "Preparation of a Soldier" furnished the evening text. Song service by the Senior Choir. Both sermons were full of spiritual life and inspiring; the congregation was benefitted and felt the presence of the Lord in their midst. Our Sunday School is growing also the prayer meeting has a steady growth as well as the B. Y. P. U. Come and you will enjoy the service and you will always find a cordial welcome awaiting you.

Bishop Fountain of the African Methodist Episcopal Church visited our city last Tuesday in the interest of St. Paul A. M. E. Church and preached a soul-stirring sermon Sunday night after which seven members came forward and united with the church. The Bishop was highly entertained by the pastor, Rev. C. A. Harris, Mr. and Mrs. B. G. Goodwin and other members

On last Sunday Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Chapman entertained at dinner Bishop Fountain, Rev. and Mrs. C. A. Harris, Mr. and Mrs. L. Spencer and Mrs. M. C. Jones. After dinner the Bishop was carried for a drive by Mr. and Mrs. Chapman in their Maxwell Sedan taking in the oil wells at Summerland upon the Rivera and other points of interest. He was favorably impressed with our city.

Mrs. J. J. Reeves is confined in the Sanitarium undergoing an operation. We wish for her success and a speedy recovery.

Quite a number of Santa Barbara social set left the city last Monday night to attend a ball given in Oxnard. Those who motored down included Mr. J. R. Norwood, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lorinson, Mrs. Moore and Mrs. Barbara. All report a lovely time.

Madam Pearl Lowery Winters was a visitor in our city last week and was highly entertained while here. Mme. Winters is one of our talented women who needs no introduction. She is widely known for her ability in Recital work. She was the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Chapman on East Haley St., while here.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

A few young ladies whose highest ideals are to become flappers and vamps, did not grasp the opportunities the generous tax paying public ocered them while attending Intermediate School. Altho they received a little more than a grammar school education, they failed to learn these things, self respect and to have feeling for those who are unfortunate enough to be ill. Those who wish bad luck on other people, it generally falls upon themselves or other members of their family. Now young ladies let this little advice sink into your brains if you possibly possess them, and be careful what you say next time.

MOVING ON.

The installation of the latest model Linotype machine—Model 14—in this establishment for the purpose of better serving our ever growing family of readers is but in keeping with the spirit of real progress and a duty we owe to the people who have given to this journal an unselfish support. We recognize in the same as wholly impersonal but at the same time a stamp of approval on our efforts for a practical demonstration to DO SOMETHING worth while. For the past decade we have discarded our policy of standing still and put on the habliments of warfare for real progress and forming a lasting partnership with the people and establishing for them a Forum. With this line up we have steadily moved up all along the line, at these portals the humblest of the humble have always had an opportunity to state his case and the "Soaring Eagle"—despite the efforts of a pernicious group otherwise has weathered all storms and stands out in bold relief as a shining example of a real honest effort for service to a people which need men and women who can put over a program of real progress. True sometimes we must fight to save ourselves but never to harm or to pull down some other than ourselves. The only fights we make are against crooks and crookedness and we shall eternally and forever be found fighting along this line. Otherwise the old bird stretches forth its wings, it has brought down on Central Ave. the hum of the Linotype machines, the motors which run the machinery of a newspaper. It is training along business lines men and women, it is disseminating knowledge all along the various lines of effort with an unbeatable corps of writers and scholars who are contributors to its columns, it is gaining a world-wide reputation and has created within itself a real honest ambition and inspiration to keep on flying and gain such heights as it is possible to gain by a real honest and clean effort. In other words we are MOVING ON.

VOTE YES ON AMENDMENT NO. 16.

We cannot too strongly commend to the consideration of Eagle readers Amentment No. 16 which appears on the ballot Nov. 7th as an initiative measure. This amendment is one which should appeal to all who stand for fair play and a square deal and is known as the Chiropractic measure and will give to the people absolute freedom in choice of the kind of treatment they may choose for the ailments of their bodies should they be so unfortunate as to possess the same. The enactment of this Amendment into law does not revolutionize anything by the way of treatment of disease, it only gives the people an opportunity to choose for themselves the Chiropractic practioner if it is their will. It will create without a cent of cost to the taxpayers a Board of Chiropractic practitioners who will pass upon the qualification of all the Chiropractic graduates to work at their profession and this practise will be limited to ply its profession, absolutely without the use of any sort of medicine whatever, this being so, we cannot by any stretch of the imagination see why there should be any serious objection to the enactment into law of Amendment No. 16.

We therefore have no hesitancy in supporting this measure and ask for the fullest consideration and support of this measure.

WHY A NEGRO NEWSPAPER.

If I had to answer the question: "Why a Negro Newspaper?" I think that my answer would be in the form of this question: "Why a Negro?" In other words, as long as the Negro forms a distinct group in the body politic in any community there is every reason why there should be an official organ through which that body, of pure Americans, may present itself to view to the rest of the world's various groups about it. Every other group of humanity, and the whole country is made up of groups, has such an organ and feels proud of it to the extent that it finds a treasured place by the fireside of every home, many times, at a great sacrifice. The value of such a newspaper to real personal worth in any community is not found in its size but its principles and its standard, it portrays the people for whom it is published. The world judges men by the standards he sets for himself, let them be high or low, and the community press can best bespeak that position more so than through any other source.—The Enterprise.

One thing that we learned about the business of publishing a newspaper is the fact that if we start at the bottom and climb we shall not have, if drop we must, so far to fall.

STILL ON BOARD THE SHIP.

We elect at this time to be regular in our devotion to the regular Republican organization and give our support to that ticket and we take it that all who read will realize just what we mean by the above statement.

We appreciate the stand of Mr. Woolwine on the Ku Klux question, but where Mr. Richardson comes out just as strong there is no reason why we should desert the party of which we are a member to vote for one who is an avowed Democrat.

We must not swerve from our devotion and unless better reasons than any that we have heard are given we shall remain steadfast and true for the election of the Republican ticket as nominated at the Republican primaries on August 29th.

This column reflects our stand upon political issues, however, we conduct a real newspaper and if knowing as you must our stand, all person who may so desire, still have an opportunity to be heard by purchasing such space as they may see fit in which to state their case.

Officers White, McClannahan and Holiday are rendering yoeman service and hewing to the line. They are making good in their effort to make the Eastside a fit place to live.

THE INTERNATIONAL WELFARE LEAGUE.

It is reassuring to note the fact of such an organization as above and its activities for production in a big way. Tremendous indeed is the good already accomplished in the linking of two nations in a real and tangible effort to promote production by the Negro race joining in the propaganda by Latin America, the greater success which comes to this organization the greater will be the effort of those who have no intentions of seeking other climes. We are firm in the belief that the future salvation of the race is in the successful launching of such movements as advocated by the International Community Welfare League, which will put the race in a position to become real factors among all other peoples of the world, we are more convinced of this fact when we, after a careful perusal of the part which the race plays in production, note how far we are behind all the rest in producing from the soil of the earth.

The U. S. census says that in the Pacific States, California, Oregon and Washington, there are only 259 owners of farms out of which there are 183 in California, 11 in Oregon and 65 in Washington. In the same States there are 110 tenants, 94 in California, 2 in Oregon and 14 in Washington. In the same territory 42,739 acres are owned by Negroes; 33,799 of them are in California, 2,125 in Oregon and 6,815 in Washington all to a value of $4,283,406 in value. This gives an insight to the part which the race is playing in the game of production. It is not sufficient and we must organize and get together to the utmost that this condition must not be.

THE PROGRESS OF THE NEGRO IN FIFTY-FOUR YEARS

By George H. Duncan

An address that contained much interest was delivered at the First Congregational Church, 9th and Hope street, last Wednesday evening by Rev. George F. Kenngott Ph. D., Superintendent Southern California Congregational Conference.

It is of great value to every person in the United States to know of the progress made by the Negro race during the brief period of freedom. The astonishing facts prove the racial progress. Rev. Kenngott said:

There is no better time than now to consider the progress made by the Negro race in fifty four years.

These are actual facts and cannot be doubted by anyone.

On September 22, 1862, President Lincoln issued his Emancipation Proclamation wherein he announced that on and after January 1, 1863, all persons held as slaves were to become free. After four years of dreadful fighting the Negro now was free, and received all the right and responsibilities of citizenship.

The Negroes were thrown out into the world, uneducated and inexperienced to meet life's problems. The progress since that time is things that makes history, bearing in mind that the progress and accomplishments of this race, have taken place in the last half of a century.

To give every one an idea of their progress, Mr. Kenngott submits the following figures:

Homes owned in 1866, 1200; 1920, 600,000. Farmes operated 1866, 20,000; 1922, 1,000,000. Students in Public Schools 1866, 100,000; 1920, 1,800,000. Churches owned 1866, 700; 1920, 43,000. Church membership 1866, 600,000; 1920, 4,800,000. Wealth accumulated 1866, 20,000,000; 1921 $1,000,000. Value of church property 1866, $1,500,000; 1920, $5,900,000.

I have obtained also a list of facts to add to Rev. Kenngott's great list of achievements made by the Negro since slavery.

In North Carolina colored people owned 1,674,823 acres of land and $37,351,973 worth of real estate.

In 1900 colored people were interested in 51 banks and insurance companies.

We have noted preachers, inventors, teachers, sculptors, actors, artists, singers and musicians.

The Negroes in the wars of the United States have always shown themselves loyal and ready to fight.

Crispus Attucks, a colored man, was the first to fall in the Boston Massacre.

Peter Salem fired the shot that killed Major Pitcain.

Samuel Lawrence led a company of colored soldiers at Bunker Hill.

Over 3,000 Negroes served in the Revoluntionary War.

In the present World War thousands of Negroes again went over the top for freedom.

Over 33 colored men have received Carnegie Medals, three graduated from West Point and we have the lowest percentage of crime of any foreign race that comes to this country.

What the Negro needs is education and an equal opportunity. With education and if opportunity is given him what will he do in the next fifty years.

Friend Wm. Richardson

Republican Candidate For Governor

Mr. Richardson Speakr

MR. RICHARDSON SPEAKS

When asked regarding his position on the Klu Klux Klan, Mr. Richardson said:

"I was raised a Quaker. My father was a member of the Society of Friends and that is why I have the name Friend. The Quakers are free from race prejudice and religious hatred. I was raised to look with a kindly and liberal spirit upon others regardless of religious convictions. I believe in supporting the Constitution and the laws. I do not believe that any man or set of men have the right to take enforcement of the law into their own hands. Law should be enforced by the regularly constituted courts and officers. If elected Governor I will do everything in my power to suppress lawlessness of every kind and character. I point to my record in office as proof that I have treated men nad women on their merits and have not taken into consideration their religious views or their race.

"Now that ought to dispose of that matter, including freedom of speech, freedom of religious views, freedom of the press, and any other organization or individuall, secret or otherwise. Lets get back to the real and only issue in this campaign—economy and efficiency in State Government."

Woolwine Is Target of Blistering Statement.

Candidate Denounced as Political Opportunist and Masquerader in Progressive Garb.

Containing a remarkable denunciation of Thomas Lee Woolwine, Democratic nominee for Governor, the following report signed by the president and members of the executive committee of the Young Men's Republican League of Los Angeles county, an organization of 6000 Republicans and the largest and most active political body in Southern California, was made public yesterday.

To the Members of the Young Men's Republican League of Los Angeles County:

"An attempt is being made in this State to break down the strength and purpose and ideals of the Republican party in California. The attempt does not come from within the Republican party, but emanates from a Democratic politician seeking to masquerade as a Progressive Republican. This political opportunist, whose motives are purely selfish, is the Democratic nominee for this Governor—Thomas Lee Woolwine.

"Every true Republican resents [illegible] impudent and demoralizing effort. Mr. Woolwine has no claims whatsoever to a Republican vote. His attempt [illegible] party, whose [illegible] he, through him as a mere [illegible] gratitude to his [illegible] and as a trial [illegible] GOVERNOR.

[illegible] must not be a Democrat [illegible] Republican [illegible] sensational [illegible] is all deliberate and [illegible] his misleading [illegible] his statements to the [illegible] Woolwine [illegible] beer, should labor, [illegible] to his views [illegible] self incapable of understanding the real issues in this gubernatorial campaign and his fear of meeting them.

"Nothing that he has said or done in the past, nothing that he has said or done in this campaign, could entitle Mr. Woolwine to present himself to the electorate of California in any other guise than a mere seeker for votes who is not too nice to stoop to questionable policies to attain his ends.

"LIGHT WINES AND BEER"

"Mr. Woolwine, well knowing that the issue has no part in a campaign for Governor of California, has declared in favor of light wines and beer. Mr. Woolwine, as a lawyer, particularly as a sworn law enforcement officer, even if an indifferent one, cannot escape an understanding of the clear mandates of the Eighteenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States, which he is sworn with to carry out.

"The Eighteenth Amendment prohibits the manufacture and sale of intoxicating beverages. The Volstead Act, which passed by the national Congress, establishes the maximum alcoholic content of beverages. The Supreme Court of the United States has given opportunity that has presented itself to the Congress of the United States to modify the Volstead Act, but has declared that the Eighteenth Amendment and the Volstead Act do not enable Congress or the several States to defeat or thwart prohibition, but only to enforce it by appropriate means.

"A Governor of California, by his official acts or otherwise, can have no part in providing or refusing to provide light wines and beer. Mr. Woolwine's espousal of this issue, therefore, is not in behalf of those who may honestly desire a return of light wines and beer, but is conclusive in demonstrating his political piracy.

"NIGHTSHIRT DEFIANCE"

"His present campaign of theatrical attacks upon the Ku Klux Klan, a nightshirt organization whose activities are not taken seriously, show him in an even more ignoble light than his wasted efforts in other directions. This fearless defiance of the sheeted order does not compare favorably with his incompetent, indifferent and apathetic supervision of the prosecution of the alleged members of the Klan on trial in a recent case in his jurisdiction.

"Mr. Woolwine, even if unfitted for the office, cannot be censured for seeking election as Governor of California as a Democrat. It is only when he devotes his energies to promulgating false and vicious and puerile doctrines to attain that high office that he becomes a menace to good government and a dangerous demagogue.

OFFICIAL RECORD

"Mr. Woolwine has never successfully refuted and has never permitted an investigation of official charges of the utmost seriousness concerning his administration of the office of District Attorney of Los Angeles County.

"These charges involve specific instances of gross inefficiency, detailed accounts of flagrant extravagance and of a deplorable waste of public funds.

"If one-half of the charges as officially made are true, or if the conditions as officially set forth in the records of the county grand jury on file in the office of the County Civil Service Commission and the office of the County Auditor even approximate the situation obtaining in his office, Mr. Woolwine not only would endanger the prosperity and progress and welfare of California if elected Governor, but is now holding a lesser office which he is not administering in the interests of the people.

"And, while Mr. Woolwine, with dramatic fervor and self-laudation, pursues his selfish political ambition in this State, unfortunates charged with crime lie in jail, awaiting his pleasure, and praying for his early return to his official duties in the hope that their trials may be held and their guilt or innocence established.

"Under the regime of Thomas Lee Woolwine as District Attorney men have lain in jail until their cases have been forgotten by the District Attorney and they have been 'lost' in prison because of his indifference; men have been arrested and thrown into prison and held there for months and then turned loose, guilty or innocent, because of his inefficiency and callous attitude toward their rights.

POOR IGNORED

"These have been the poor and the ignorant, not the wealthy, who can employ expensive counsel, nor those whose crimes attracted the public attention and could, therefore, by exploitation, satisfy his craving for the limelight.

"The candidacy of Mr. Woolwine, aside from political consideration, deserves the condemnation of every member of the Young Men's Republican League of Los Angeles county, of every loyal Republican of California, and no less of every good citizen who has at heart the welfare of this great State.

"Friend W. Richardson is the nominee of the Republican party. He typifies all of those attributes and high principles for which the Republican party stands. He will be our next Governor. Let us give him the greatest majority in the history of this Republican State of California.

PARIS PAPER COUNTER. BRITISH PROPOSALS

Paris, Nov.—(Crusader Service.) Countering the British proposals for the freedom of the Straits and the Dardanelles today suggests that the freedom of the Suez Canal and the Straits of Gibraltar, both dominated by England, might not be a bad thing and advocates that France should demand for these highly strategic points the same sort of "international control" that the British are demanding for the Straits and the Dardanelles. It is not likely that the British will be receptive to the idea, but it is amusing to see the tables turned on her so neatly and her own arguments used against her with such terrible effect.

Mrs. H. A. Perkins and Mrs. Coffee entertained at her beautiful home a few of her friends in honor of her son Theodore Peyton's recent arrival from the East. Bunching and card playing was the main attractions. Refreshments were served at the close of the affair. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Duncan, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Coffee.

Chuckles Goes Big At Philharmonic.

Those who have given the Negro any time for study in the United States say, that first of all he is highly artistic.

Perhaps for the first time in Los Angeles where quite so many members of a company of entertainers appeared at one time was this quality of the Western Negro so clearly demonstrated.

"Chuckles" is a clean cut comedy, but in some instances is true to life; not however in a sense that means ridicule, but if taken seriously would cause the group to turn the search light of investigation on some of our business transactions.

However, turning from this more serious side of our much loved "Chuckles," and discussing its merits as compared with some billboarded as high class comedy productions—we say without fear of contradiction that it is one of the best we have been privileged to see in Los Angeles.

Thirty-five gaily costumed characters composing the Pierson's Producing Company was an eye-opener to black as well as white Los Angeles last Monday night for it was not generally known that there were quite so many in our midst who could for the very first time appear on a stage such as Philharmonic has with such ease and grace and to the rythmatic strains of such music as that produced by Johnnie Anderson and his orchestra.

William Pierson, the author as Henry—Damon, and Richard Courtney as Alexander—Pythias, representing the Bo Bo Mining Co., were reproductions of his early days of Williams & Walker on the legitimate stage each a scream in his own role, so vividly did they portray the activities of The Bo Bo Mining Co., that one went away feeling that there really was a company of such name and character.

The other characters who made "Chuckles" chuck were Malcolm Patton whose stage manners and voice are always superb; Catherine Reese; Fern Caldwell; T. A. Perkins; Geo. Bronson; Lottie Bolds; James Moore; Janet Cooper; Lula Boyd; Alvena and Fern Caldwell; Clifie Adams; La Neff Pierson; Bessie Ricketts; Joy Morris; Gene Rushing; Eula Douglas; Victoria [illegible]; Alice Walker; Essie Lee; Helen Boyd; Charlotte Strange; Lelia Johnson; Eula Douglas; Milton Douglas; Herman Higgs; each of whom was a star in his or her role.

Some of the character who stood out in their rolls were Fern Caldwell, who is in the Mary Pickford class as to child-like daintiness; Lottie Bolds who is action from start to finish. A Perkins whose role as the high class gentleman of the occasion was well taken and La Neff Pierson whose crisp interpretation of the 20th century 16-year older, was perfect.

Mr. Pierson, Mrs. Perkins, Mr. Sanford, and all who helped to make "Chuckles" a success deserve the highest praise, and should receive every encouragement in their effort to develop the wasted talent in our group.

If the Negroes who have investments in the several banking concerns in this city could awake to a sense of their duty a worth while playhouse would be erected in Los Angeles where Willie Pierson's fertile brain would have full play in the development of the talent he could gather together in our own midst, and this would not be a Jim Crow concern for whites are always anxious to appreciate Negro ability along this line for they realize that it is natural, and true to life.

"BLACK STAR LINE" A HOPELESS WRECK

Huge Sums and Has No Assets

New York, Nov.—(Crusader Service.) Quite a furore has been created in this city by the publication of the records of a supplementary examination of Marcus Garvey, president of the "Black Star Line," held in the Supreme Court of the Bronx, August 19, when Mr. Garvey, under oath, was forced to admit that the "Black Star Line" was a loss without shine, and that it at present possessed only an interest in two boats, one of which, the "Kanawha," is dismantled in the port of Antilla, Cuba, as a wreck; and the other, the "Shadyside," also a wreck, somewhere in New York Harbor. In both these vessels the Garvey concern has only an interest and in both cases that interest is mortgaged. Both vessels are useless wrecks, according to Garvey's own admission.

Asked "should this matter be settled here, much money would the Black Star Line receive individually," Garvey replied "The Black Star Line would not receive anything, because its interest is mortgaged to others to cover liabilities."

Questioned as to whether the Black Star Line had any accounts outstanding, Garvey replied "No, it has no outstanding accounts." Garvey then asked if anybody owed money to the Black Star Line and replied in the negative. He also replied in the negative to the question whether the Black Star Line was doing any business at the present time.

Garvey admitted that the Line has never paid any dividends, and that what property it has in its name is all mortgaged, said property being that at 56 West 135th Street. The present indebtedness of the line was "approximately $200,000," he said, and THERE WERE NO ASSETS. Questioned as to whether there were any other judgments outstanding against the Black Star Line, and to name them, Garvey answered that "there are so many I cannot name them. There are judgments ffrom the crew, aggregating about $40,000. That is, I am giving you what I can remember. We have several wage cases aggregating about $20,000. Also the Green River Distilling Company libel for $52,000." He told the court that the line had about $500 in the bank, but that this had been attached by one of his creditors.

Thus endeth the bubble of the "Black Star Line," and the marvelous things that Marcus Garvey, self-appointed Negro Moses, was going to do for the race if only they would "buy shares in the Black Star Line and support the Universal Negro Improvement Association."

In the meantime, the Federal case against Garvey, growing out of the exposure by the "Crusader Magazine" that his company had been advertising and selling passage on a "ghost steamship," the "Phyllis Wheatley," and the subsequent charges by Federal agents that he used the mails to misrepresent and defraud, is scheduled to come to trial November 6, 1922.

GARVEY'S "DAILY NEGRO TIMES" QUITS

Race's Prize Blunderer Discredited by Yet Another Failure

New York, Nov.—(Crusader Service.) The "Negro Daily Times," with which Marcus Garvey had hoped to combat the rising tide of public resentment against him for his alleged deal with the Ku Klux Klan, and which was launched with a flourish of trumpets and a hot-air blast against his "enemies," has failed to make its appearance for the past week. Announcement was made at the offices of the Universal Negro Improvement Association, 56 West 135 Street, that publication had been indefinitely suspended.

Garvey's daily had a brief and stormy career, twenty-six issues having been published. Publication of the first issue took Garvey and his staff something like three weeks, even after the plant had been installed. What Garvey will do with the plant, which is a white elephant on his hand, is problematical. Should he decide to dispose of it, he would be unable to raise one-fourth of the price paid for it. A peculiar feature of the business management of this plant is that the "Negro World," Garvey's weekly propaganda organ, is still being printed downtown, in spite of the fact that Garvey's plant undoubtedly has facilities for its printing, and could have saved money and supplied work for the force in his plant by having it printed at his own plant. This would be a shocking piece of mismanagement on the part of anybody but Marcus Garvey. From Marcus Garvey the public has learned to expect anything in the line of blunders and mismanagement.

Constantinople, Nov. .... (Crusader Service.) The American Committee appointed by Admiral Bristol several days ago to investigate reports of Turkish atrocities returned here yesterday after a week's tour in the war area and will make a formal report to the Admiral in Constantinople today.

The committee's report is featured by an unequivocal refutation of the reports disseminated from British and Greek propaganda centers of Turkish atrocities against the Christian populations of Anatolia, and states that the Greek prisoners who were seen working on the roads and elsewhere were "generally treated respectably by their guards and did not appear starved or undernourished. Their uniforms were in tatters and their morale seemed low."

DEMAND

Suggests That If Dardanelles be Internationalized Suez and Panama Should Also Be.

Delhi, India, Nov.—(By mail, delayed.) (Crusader Service.) The central Khalifat committee has passed a resolution denouncing the British anti-Turkish policy and declaring the internationalization of the Straits of the Dardanelles would be unjust, coercive and detrimental to the freedom of the Khalifat, and that it would be justifiable only when the powers, especially the ones under their control.

The committee declared it accepted Premier Lloyd George's "challenge" at Manchester to "unite Islam and christian France and Italy for the valuable aid received from the Turks."

A delegation will be sent by the Khalifat committee to the Turko-Greek peace conference with a view to making the demands of India on the Khalifat question known.

IN THE REALM OF POLITICS

Hearty approval of Charter Amendment 8-A, which provides important changes in the present pension system of the Fire and Police departments, is expressed in a resolution of endorsement adopted by the Knights of Columbus. An official copy of the endorsement was received yesterday at the Fire and Police Pension Charter Amendment headquarters, 217 Byrne Building.

Like the Fraternal Order of Eagles and Elks,,, the Knights of Columbus have contributed several speakers to aid in the fire and police pension campaign, as ,well as arranging a number of meetings at which the provisions of Amendment 8-A will be fully explained.

Among the prominent individuals to endorse this important amendment, the primary purpose of which is to establish the existing fire and police pension system as a part of the City Charter instead of merely by Council ordinance, are Louis M. Cole, and Sylvester L. Weaver, former presidents of the Chamber of Commerce; Mrs. Dora Stearns, president of the Woman's City Club; Thomas Ince, Mack Sennett, Mrs. E. C. Brainard, I. Hayes Rice, Louis Burston, Allen Shore, John D. Fredericks, Henry W. Louis, Fred L. Baker, Irving H. Hellman, Rex W. Laws, Fairfax Cosby, Dana R. Weller, W. D. Howard, John S. Horn, secretary of the Central Labor Council; Seth Brown, Assemblyman Frederick M. Roberts, Michael Gore, Sid Grauman, Rev. J. Whitcomb Brougher, S. A. DeCoo, Dudley S. Valentine, Assemblyman Joseph Pedrotti. Twenty-four civic, commercial, church and fraternal organizations have endorsed the measure.

Through a series of neighborhood meetings, arranged by his many friends, Township Justice Howard R. Hinshaw, who, after serving two terms, is a candidate for re-election, is acquainting voters with the details of the various amendments which will appear on the ballot next month. Justice Hinshaw has made a special study of these and his efforts to enlighten the voters are highly appreciated by those who have not the time to otherwise familiarize themselves with the proposed statutes.

Two amendments to which Justice Hinshaw has given much work are thoce pertaining to 8-A, which provides pensions for firemen and policemen and the state amendment known as the "Soldier' Land and Home Act." For his work in behalf of the former, he has been literally complimented by the members of the fie and police departments. Although not seeking any reward for his work in behalf of the act to assist veterans, he has, nevertheless, won their support. This is attested by the indorsement just given Justice Hinshaw by the Associated Veterans of all American Wars.

A big crowd heard Justice Hinshaw discuss the amendments when he spoke Sunday afternoon at the barbecue given by the Church of the Nativity, 56th and Vermont.

With only a short time remaining until the election, the Hinshaw Campaign Committee, which has its headquarters in the Hollingsworth Building, Sixth and Spring Streets, is increasing its activities. The Campaign is being directed by Attorney Edmund B. Hinshaw, father of the candidate, who served four terms as a Congressman from Nebraska.

Ira F. Thompson, candidate for Superior Judge, has gained scores of supporters during the past several days because of his expressed intention, if elected, to make every effort to speed up the action of the courts and remedy the delays that are now seriously hampering the dispensation of justice in Los Angeles County.

Mr. Thompson believes that the accused should be given a speedy trial and convicted or released as soon as possible. Flimsy excuses for the delay of trials should be disregarded, he believes, and all cases tried with the utmost speed except, of course, in very rare cases where it is impossible to secure material witnesses or evidence.

Scores of prominent lawyers, whose cases drag slowly through the courts and whose clients are either held in jail or their property tied up pending settlement, are supporting Thompson's stand and strongly endorsing his candidacy because of it.

Mr. Thompson also believes that the delays of law are lessening the public's respect for law and that this respect will not be fully restored until all unnecessary delays are done away with.

Judge Thomas C. Toland, candidate for Judge of the Superior Court of Los Angeles County, has been endorsed by the County Bar Association is backed by the Federated State Societies, the Civic League and a number of other prominent organizations. He has the endorsement of thousands of his friends who are doing, according to L. W. Andrews of the Toland for Judge Committee, yeoman service.

During the period that he has been judge, attorneys and business men declare that he has presided with great efficiency and courtesy. Some of the most important cases on the docket have been handled by Judge Toland and those who have served as jurors in his court, from time to time have organized clubbs that are working to swell the majority which friends of Judge Toland are confident he will poll at the general election, November 7th.

ELLIOTT CRAIG FOR SUPERIOR COURT

Elliott Craig, who received the highest primary vote of the eight candidates for Judge of the Superior Court, is making an active campaign in preparation for the election on November seventh.

He has been extremely gratified over the number of prominent people who have interested themselves in his campaign, and whwo are working in his behalf to secure his election.

He is endorsed by the United Church Brotherhoods. The War Veterans League, The Public Welfare League,, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, The Apartment House Owners Association, the Associated Veterans of all American Wars, The Young Men's Republican League, The Young Voter's Republican League, the American Patriotic League, The Republican Protective League, The California Citizen's Civic League, and numerous other civic organizations as well as many prominent individuals actively interested in civic and political affairs.

His election seems assured from his strong showing at the primary election, and from the active support being given him by civic bodies and influential citizens.

ENDORSE ELLIOTT CRAIG FOR JUDG7 SUPERIOR COURT

The other members,, and the administrative officers of the Los Angeles Board of Education, have personally endorsed the candidacy of Elliott Craig for Judge of the Superior Court. It is not the policy of the Board, as an organization, to take any interest in political affairs. This attitude extends to non-partisan matters and judicial officers. The respective members recognize, however, that Mr. Craig's services on school board matters have been rendered at a sacrifice to his personal interests, and their individudal endorsement is given as a tribute to his faithfulness in the discharge of school work.

The endorsement reads as follows:

"We are supporting Elliot Craig for Judge of the Superior Court because we know, from our close association with him, that he is well qualified for the position and is deserving of unanimous support."

M. C. BETTINGER.
MRS. MARY G. MILLSPAUGH.
IRVIN J. MUMA.
ROBERT A. ODELL.
CHARLES E. SEAMON.
M. JESSIE YORK.
MRS. SUSAN M. DORSEY.
J. B. MONLUX.
ARTHUR GOULD.
HARRY M. SHAFFER.
HELEN D. WATSON.
ROBERT M. LANE.
DR. E. J. LICKLEY.
WILLIAM A. SHELDON.
W. A. RECORD.
CHAS. F. LYON.
BRUCE A. FINDLEY.

Elliot Craig who is a candidate for the office of Judge of the Superior Court, entered the race with a large number of endorsements which speak well of his record as a public servant and his fitness for the office he seeks. His many friends are gratified over his splendid showing at the primaries held on August 29th, when he ran a strong third in a field of thirteen candidates, to such seasoned campaigners as Judge Summerfield and Judge Wood, who were elected at the primaries. Mr. Craig amassed a lead of several thousand votes over his nearest opponent for judicial honors, and now stands as a candidate receiving the highest vote in the primaries of the eight aspirants who are to be voted on for the four positions to be filled in the November election.

Mr. Craig is in his thirty-sixth year of residence in Southern California and for many years past, has been practicing law in the city of Los Angeles where he has made an enviable record as an attorney of unquestioned character and proven ability.

The campaign headquarters at 1215 Marsh-Strong Building, is a busy place these days as his many friends are actively supporting him and working for his election. His record as a member of the Board of Education of which body he is now in his second year as Chairman of the Finance Committee, has won for him the support of his associates in that body and the respect and confidence of the public. His election seems assured from the active support given him by the many organizations which have endorsed his candidacy, and the number of prominent people who have personally interested themselves in his campaign, who will, no doubt, materially assist in bringing out a large vote in his behalf.

E. E. Millikin, the well known attorney of Los Angeles, fears for the efficiency of any State office when any attempt is made to drastically change the personnel when the man on the job have been tested and found perfectly satisfactory. Therefore he is seriously urging Southern Californians to retain Associate Justice of the Supreme Court Charles A. Shurtleff on the high bench for which he is so well qualified to fill.

R. E. Wales, representing the Shurtleff headquarters for Southern California said recently, before a group of distinguished jurists, "Of the Supreme Court, Judge Shurtleff is an incumbent, yes—for one year, the year that a new Justice requires to adjust himself to the exactions of our highest tribunal. Is it not futile to put a new man, even with a past standing, in the place of a satisfactory incumbent just nicely working into his position, when the new man, or proposed substitute's ability on such a high court is yet to be tried?"

Justice Shurtleff is directly connected with the interests of Southern California through his marriage with Miss Adda West, daughter of Captain West, of Santa Ana, and today has thrown over all election activities owing to his daily attendance on the Supreme Bench, which is in session in Los Angeles.

Justice Shurtleff has the unqualified endorsement of both outgoing and in-coming Chief Justices. Chief Justice Lucian Shaw, considered one of the greatest jurists in the State, has issued the following testimonial:

"In the present campaign there are two candidates whom it is very important to the people of the State to have retained in office. I refer to Hon. William A. Sloane and Hon. Charles A. Shurtleff, at present Justices of the Supreme Court, and who are candidates for re-election. I have served with both of them while they have filled the offices which they now hold, and have had occasion to observe the work they have done. They have been conscientious and faithful in the discharge of their duties, and they have brought to the performance thereof much ability and learning. Speaking from my experience with them I desire to say that they cannot well be spared, that their return is almost a necessity, and I see no reason why any voter should favor any change in the personnel of the court at this time."

The Associated Sunday schools, other religious bodies,, civic associations and hundreds of attorneys have endorsed Justice Shurtleff.

SANTA BARBARA NEWS—

Last Sabbath's services were splendid. The Sabbath School was represented in a commendable number and a splendid audience came to the eleven o'clock service. At Mt. Olive Baptist Church, the pastor, Rev. H. B. Thomas, preached from the text, Ps. 72:17; subject: "The Eternal or a Lasting Name." The Junior Choir rendered excellent music, to appreciate it would be to hear it.

The text of the evening sermon was "Wishing for the Day," Acts 27: 29. It was wonderfully inspiring as the pastor told of the fishermen casting anchor from the ship; it created an atmosphere of Christian fellowship throughout the congregation. Rev. F. H. Davis who is a visitor in our city for a few days spoke words of encouragement at the beginning and close of the sermon which was thoroughly enjoyed by all; he also spoke of being renewed in spirit by both the sermon and the songs furnished by the Senior Choir and Chorister, Mrs. H. B. Thomas. Two young men have joined in the past week. There are many features scheduled for the church in the next few weeks that will be announced later—one is the Hallowe'en party given Tuesday night by the Sunday School children.

The members of St. Paul A. M. E. Church are much encouraged over past results of their pastor Rev. C. A. Harris and are hopeful for our future prospects and plans for another year's work of success. Both Junior and Senior Choirs are doing commendable work and each auxiliary is planning a number of entertainments extending up to and including the holidays.

Among the new arrivals in our city are Rev. F. H. Davis of Watts, Cal., who has been ill for a few months past but is much improved at present. We hope for him a complete recovery before leaving us. Others include Mr. Jefferson and family and Mr. Floyd Tripp of Atlanta, Georgia.

We are glad to hear that Mrs. J. H. Reeves is much improved at this writing.

Mrs. Webster was a visitor in our city last week and was the house guest of Mrs. Julius Jones, her daughter-in-law. She returned to Los Angeles where she is in business.

The many friends of Mrs. C. D. Marshall can locate her at 16 East Montecito street where she has opened up a first class rooming house for the accommodation of our race she is centrally located and just one block and a half from the station.

Mrs. Theodora Lee Purnell of 1600 Woolsey street Berkeley, Cal., was a visitor in our city last week in the interest of the water and power act of the State Bond issue of Five Hundred Million Dollars. She visited all the places of interest distributing literature containing facts concerning the Bonds. Mrs. Purnell is chairman of the Women's Board Committee of Oakland, Cal.

In her field of effort we have no doubt that she will achieve success. Judging from the straight-forward manner in which she presents her subject the Board has the right woman in the right place. Mrs. Purnell was guest of Mr. and Mrs. N. F. Hill while in the city on Santa Barbara St.

RIVERSIDE SNAP SHOTS

By: Jay Hawker

Mrs. Huff, daughter and son, who have been on an extended visit to relatives and friends, left last week for Chicago, their home.

We read in the papers that the Rev. Samuel Davis McConnell an Episcopalian minister for over fifty years, has denied the faith and says the church is a failure and the Bible is nothing more than a fable. Well, that does not make it true. The truth has withstood the test of Ages and the forces of persecution and still lives; and will still go marching down the Ages yet to come that too in spite of the fact that thousand more infidels as Mr. S. D. McConnel may deny the faith. Praise His Holy name.

Compton and Fountain Avenues.
Rev. J. W. Price, Pastor

Residence 202 Thaxter St.

The Parishioners of Grant Chapel are indeed proud of the return of Dr. Price to this Pastorate, and for this reason the loyal members seem to be vieing with each other for places of labor, the church is indeed alive and the early morning prayer service is increasing numerically, spiritually and financially.

We note strange faces in our congregation at each service and they together with our own membership are loud in their praises at the close of each service. Plans are being completed for our years work. New Boards being elected and new workers appointed.

The Sunday School was delighted at the presence of returned officers and teachers from their vacations. This alone seems to add zest and vigor to the consciencious workers and gave impetus to the uninspired. The pastor spoke at both services. The subject for morning "Exultation of the righteous. Text Matt. 25:34. The evening discourse "Eve's Dialogue with the Devil." Gen. 3:1-6. The choir attendance was splendid and the songs spiritually received.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH—
8th and Wall Streets.
Rev. M. Frederick Melchell, Pastor

The pastor filled the pulpit at both services Sunday. A whwolesome spiritual feast was enjoyed bby all who were present. The discourse Sunday morning was especially a rare treat. The heart and soul of it, rested upon the thought "That every follower of Jesus Christ, to his the salvotion of the world. In outbursts of earnest phrases, the pastor laid the responsibility of the non Christian moral state of our neighbors and associates at the door of that Christian who fails in persuasive terms of the gospel to make an earnest effort to lead them to Christ. The discourse Sunday night was equally as interesting. Subject "Fishing on the Wrong Side of Life."

Miss Dora Robinson was the soloist for the preaching service and Miss Ruth Burry for the Y. P. S. C. E..

PASTOR THRILLED AUDIENCE

Without faith our works are vain. One of the greatest messages ever listened to was delivered by Pastor Holt Sunday morning. In the evening we were again thrilled by the excellent programe rendered by the Choir. Every number represented the highest in musical talent. There was a round of applause on listening to those wonderful selections rendered by the Bilbrews.

Those from every phase of life represented this capacity audience. Much credit is due Director C. V. Pitts with Mrs. C. V. Pitts at the piano. Officer Russell interested his audience, proved himself equal to the emergency as well as an administer of the law. But his parting words were 8 A Tuesday Nov. 7th 1922.

BIRCH ST. CHRISTIAN CHURCH—
14th and Birch Streets
F. C. Cothran, Minister

All received spiritual refreshing, at this church, last Lord's day. The pastor occupied hte pulpit morning and evening and preached two soul-stirring sermons. At 11 o'clock A. M. he spoke upon the subject of "Sowing and Reaping," Gal. 6:7, 8—"Be not Deceived, God is not mocked; for Whatsoever a Man Soweth, that Shall he also reap. For he that soweth to the flesh, shall of the flesh reap corruption; but he that soweth to the Spirit shall of the Spirit reap life everlasting." After showing hte close analogy between the world of nature and the world of spirit, he declared that nobody denies the truth of this Scripture in world of nature. It is just as true in the spiritual world as it is in the natural world. Many practical points were gained from the lesson.

Mrs. Jessie Strider in a manner most thrilling sang a solo "In the Garden." Among our many visitors and friends was Dr. B. L. Boswell. The church is highly gratified in the manner of attendance upon the part of visitors and friends. Preaching, 11:00 a. m. and 8:00 p. m.; Bible School, 9:45 a. m. and Christian Endeavor Society 7:00 p. m.. A sincere and hearty welcome awaits you at this church.

Mrs. A. C. Richardson,
1044 E. Washington Street,
Los Angeles, Calif.

Dear Sister Richardson:

Indeed, words are too feeble a means, by which we may convey the deep sorrow we feel in the extreme bereavement, which came to you the morning of Oct. 15th inst., in consequence of the death of your dear husband and our true and loyal brother A. C. Richardson.

His life in the church was a beautiful, begenicent and an exemplary one—the absence of which is greatly bemoaned by all. Our loss, in him, is irretrievable; but we feel satisfied that our loss is his eternal gain.

We tender you our sincere prayers and deepest sympathy, as we commend you to our Great Father above, whose grace is sufficient for all our trials.

We remain your brothers in Christ,

COLORED VOTERS OPPOSE REPUBLICAN OPTONENT OF DYER BILL IN DELAWARE.

Delaware's sole Congressman, C. R. Layton, Republican, is threatened with defeat by colored voters because he opposed and voted against the Dyer Anti-Lynching Bill in the House of Representatives, according to announcement today by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, 70 Fifth Avenue, New York. Colored votes may go instead to the Democratic nominee, former Judge, William H. Boyce of Dover.

At a mass meeting held in Wilming ton, Delaware, on Sunday, October 15, James Weldon Johnson, Secretary of the N. A. A. C. P. said:

"Delaware's representation in Congress voted one hundred per cent against the Dyer Anti-Lynching Bill when it was in the Lower House, and therefore, the colored voters of Delaware ought to vote one hundred per cent against that representation. You have the political power, the vote, and you ought to use it for your highest and best good. If there ever was an opportunity for colored voters to show that they fully appreciate the power which they have in their hands, it is the opportunity which the colored citizens of Delaware now have. You should do your utmost to defeat Congressman Layton. The issue upon which you stand is not one of petty politics, but a fundamental issue involving life, common safety and the good name of America. If you defeat Cayton you will show that you deserve the ballot and that you have manhood and common sense enough to use it.

Furthermore, you will achieve your political emancipation in the State of Delaware."

The Wilmington mass meeting was held under the joint auspices of the Anti-Lynching Crusaders, the Independent Citizens' League, and the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Walter F. White, Assistant Secretary of the N. A. A. C. P., is to speak on the same subject in Wilmington at a mass meeting planned for Sunday, October 29th.

SPRING MELODIES

A GROUP OF SHORT POEMS

By: Wendell P. Gladden, Jr.

I.

BEAUTY'S HIDING PLACE

You pressed the perfumed roses to your lips.
And looked into the heart of one—
A deep-red rose of fragrance rare,
So wonderful to gaze upon;
You saw beneath its velvet petal-tips
The soul of beauty hidden there.

II.

THE SEA

O, the strength of the sea, the rolling sea,
The bounding and swelling of the ocean's breast;
O, the rhythm, the heaving immensity
Where seamen their wisdom and bravery test.

Far out on the restless, roaring deep
Where the thundering sea meets the azure sky—
On the foaming, tumbling waves that leap
In all their grandeur—God is passing by.

III.

WHEN YOU CAME

Something came into my life today—
Bringing with it the bright and blooming May,
Giving back the joy of living too—
My poor soul with sunshine seeping through.
Thrills with joy and hope and love that's true,
And I know that something dear, is you.

IV.

PRESENT PAIN

Deep in my heart
How great is the pain of love and grief!
Ah, love that was wont to bring relief
And succor in the days of old,
To make my aching heart grow bold.

V.

DEFIANCE

Ah, once too oft into your eyes I gazed!
Into your lovely, shining eyes, amazed,
I saw your soul reflected there and felt
The stinging blow your heart, defiant, dealt.

MEN WHO SEE THE DAWN

By Wendell P. Gladden, Jr.

Men who see the dawn—the first blush and glow of the morning—are those who labor. They are the back bone of the community—these men strong-limbed, clear-visioned, and able to withstand the vicissitudes of life. Gaze upon them! Meet them, greet them, mingle with them—ah, how many trudge along in the Valley of Sorrow, still faithful to principles, striving; sometimes with faces empty of dreams, and life-long desires! And yet, how worthy are these, who push and pray, God! What a vital pulsating stream of men!

It is their love of the All-Powerful, and mother, wife, and children—pride of race—the soft, warm, kindly touch, inspiring voice, laughing childhood, that give strength for another fight. These are the men—oftimes industrial slaves—who through hard, manual work, give service for others, yet glorify themselves, though they know it not. Peering over the veil of present sufferings, injustice, and oppression—they glimpse the dawn—and seeing, understandingly brave bitter battles for the realization of their dreams.

Then come those who are trained for mental labor. From dawn to death of day, they work unceasingly for their fellowmen—or how could men build magnificent edifices, great bridges, locomotives, keep pace with this commercial age? It is the monotony of the every-day routine work behind the desk high in sky-scrapers; the executives, stenographers, bookkeepers, and the mighty forces that cope with and keep abreast of, the swirling business world.

These too, see the dawn—beyond the veil of economic crises—the fight of employee and employer, the housing situation in great over-populated cities—and, far-visioned they proclaim the brighter day. So with new methods, original ideas, increased knowledge of the needs of their fellow-men, and the acquisition of better business tactics, the education and co-operation of employee and employer, they pledge their lives for unselfish service.

Here in America, and in the four corners of the world, black men are among those groups. They have felt and still feel the urge for education, wealth, and culture, independence, and respect and some day, they shall rise and know their strength. Old traditions, customs and prejudices shall be as naught when the darkskinned workers, laborers, thinkers, realize that they have as much right on this earth as the dominant. They linger now, only long enough to bring about unity of purpose, aim, and action; and then— even through blodoshed, they shall attain the heights which all freemen should know and deserve. Black men are not ashamed, nor unmindful of the attitude of the world, but are awakening, thinking, and peering, straining through the misty mysterious veil for the light and the crimson glow, and then the flood of dawn.

LYCEUM TEAM IS WINNER

M. Y. C. A. TRACK MEET DECORATION DAY

In what was considered the best Annual YMCA Track and Field meet staged so far, the Young People's Lyceum team carried off first honors with a total of sixty points.

The Lyceum won eight first places beside the half-mile relay. This team has been awarded two silver loving cups; one for the largest number of points scored and the other for the relay. U. S. C. was second with thirty-six. Because of an accident of one of its members, the college team did not enter the relay, as was expected.

Walalyn Stovall was the individual star and high point man of the meet. He won four first and two second places. Stovall ran under the colors of the Lyceum team, and was responsible for the team's great showing. This is the third consecutive time he has won out. He was awarded with a handsome medal and cup for his splendid work. Besides he was given a medal for each of the events which he won. Wilalyn was also entered in the relay, and won one and a quarter points, which brought his total to twenty-seven and a quarter.

Ed Shaw was second highest point man with fourteen. His performance was remarkable owing to the fact that he had not been in training. John Riddle, U. S. C. all-round athlete, Charles Sanders, the great little star of the Lyceum, and Archie Woodyard, of the Lyceum and the city's best sprint ace, and Ivan Johnson, U. S. C. were chief of the stars of the meet. Despite the condition of the track and field, all athletes performed wonderfully.

Too much credit can not be given to the track and field officials for their work, which was done under difficulty. Will Herman, moving picture actor, was on the job wiht a cameraman from the Pathe Studio to make a picture of the meet for the Pathe News Reel which the public and the world will have the pleasure of viewing in a short time. Gold, silver, and bronze medals, and ribbons were awarded the winners and those who placed in the various events.

IN THE MUSIC WORLD

By John A. Grey

Happy is the child who is blessed with parents who are in sympathy with his musical development. Such a child will take greater interest in his studies and will develop much faster than the child whose parents seem to ignore or treat lightly his accomplishments. The fountain of inspiration has its source in the home and when that home contains true music-lovers, there is a great incentive for serious study on the part of the student who lives in that home.

It is as necessary for the parents to to study music appreciation as it is for the student to study his instrument. If the boy or girl is at work on a difficult classical selection, which in most cases they dislike, and the parent should express a dislike for the same piece, what chance has the teacher to elevate the musical taste of the pupil?

Parent sshould always consult the teacher about music that they do not understand before expressing their dislike before the child. It may be that the particular piece was given for a special purpose and although the child may detest it, it is good medicine for him. The intelligent parent will always find some appropriate remark on occasions of this kind.

Parents should always consult the ical events, stories of operas and other stories of musical intelligence to their children as they develop musical understanding," says the Evening Post of Lindsay, Ontario, in Canada. The advancement of music is certain to create a universal desire for it. Libraries, where music is presented will also be a great help to parents in conducting the music hour in the home, especially when the children are studying music themselves. The music pages of the newspapers will also be one of the big factors in making the music hour a fixed institution in the home.

The children of future generations will talk about opera and concerts of the highest order as they now do about movies and baseball. They may even form opera companies in their own communities."

The parent who really understands music can be of real help to the child when he encounters a difficult spot in the lesson. To help him over this spot may save him from having to review the lesson, thus he gets ahead of the pupil who has to "take an assignment over again."

Y. M. C. A. NOTES

Now that the Track season is over and the Ninth Street Branch has successfully conducted its annual meet, attention may be called to the summer program.

Among the many activities scheduled is the indoor baseball tournament to be staged under the auspices of the Y in connection with the work of the Inter-Sunday School Athletic League. Recently a meeting of Superintendents was called, but only a few were able to attend. However, those present decided favorably on the following plan of organization:

1. This organization shall be known as the "Inter-Sunday School Athletic League," composed of all Sunday Schools in the city.

2. Any Sunday School may become a member of the league by expressing its desire through its superintendent and by registering name of said school though a member may play on the team of another Sunday School by permission of the officers and members.

3. The officers shall be a president, vice-president, secretary, treasurer, and manager. All officers shall be held by superintendents, except that of manager, which office is to be held by the Boys' Work Secretary of the Y. M. C. A. The manager may have assistants to aid him in the work.

4. The organization shall meet the first of each quarter or four times a year.

5. An Executive Committee appointed by the chairman shall meet monthly with the manager as an ex-officio member—he, the manager, preparing the program of direction for the meeting each month.

6. All clean sports which appeal to the youth shall be considered and given proper guidance.

7. Election of officers to be held during January of each year.

8. All games shall be played on city playgrounds, public school indoor diamonds, at picnics, etc.

A big camp booster will be held at the Y next Tuesday, June 12th, at 7:45 p. m. for the purpose of planning for the summer camp conducted each year by the Y. M. C. A.

Another meeting of all the Sunday School superintendents has been called for next Wednesday evening, June 13 at 7:30.

Don't fail to see King Tut and his sixteen Beautiful Artists, Wed. Eve., July 11, Independence Church, 18th and Paloma!

Choral Work Spreads Among Our Group

Self-expression in music for colored Americans has lately been advanced through the work among colored people conducted by Community Service. That national civic organization maintains a special music organizer, George L. Johnson, for work among the colored groups which operate under the local Community Service organizations. Several recent concerts illustrate the opportunity that is being given for the development of musical talent among the colored people. For instance, in a program given by Douglass Branch, Community Service in Huntington, West Virginia, numbers were given by a mixed chorus and by a men's and women's glee club, in addition to offerings of talented soloists. The music used included not only the best output of Negro composers but other standard works. Dr. W. R. Franklin, the chairman of the music committee, carried on that branch of the work in Huntington.

A similar alignment of choral groups appeared in a program at Coffyville, Kansas, under the direction of Mr. Johnson, who offered several favorite concert songs as solos. A feature of this and the other programs was the singing of the national Negro anthem, "Lift Every Voice and Sing," composed by J. Rosamond Johnson.

The Annual Spring Musicale presented by the Federation for Social Service in Dayton, Ohio, introduced the Jubilee Chorus in several spirituals; the H. T. Burleigh Glee Club, the latter named for the eminent Negro composer; the Girl's Glee Club of the Steel High School; the Malleable Iron Works Glee Club; a double quintette of the "Miserere" from "Il Trovatore;" and the Community Service mixed quartet. Bertrand Brown's song "Baby" was sung by Mrs. Maude Walker.

STYLE SUGGESTIONS

By: FLORA DORA

Silk sports blouses top off the dashing spring sports outfit. With a smart tailored or four-in-hand bow at the neck and turn-back cuffs linked or buttoned together, the wearer is equipped for the day's adventures.

The new shades are—Red, Blue, Green, Paris Gray, Madeline Rose, Orchid, Jade, White, Sunset, Caramel, Black and Lanvin.

Some of loveliest new underwear are of "tie-dyed" silk.

Piping in contrasting colors is used very effectively on the new lingerie.

Fagoting is the latest of the old-time trimmings which are used so profusely on the new spring togs. The smartest hose for spring are exquisitely sheer.

A black crepe wrap is all-over embroidered in eige with motifs in jade green.

Paris fastens jacquettes with a bow, and dresses, coats, even collars this spring.

Plaits are delightfully new this season and make the simplest frock interesting.

Printed fabrics are very smart today. So is the Egyptian girdle.

Colored kids are all latest in footwear.

Ah, Madam how exceedingly chic to have Madame's lingerie daintily embroidered in tiny rose buds.

EDUCATIONAL NOTES

By William Narcisse.

In the National Inter-scholastic track and field meet held at Stagg Field, Chicago, last Saturday, Pasadena's fast relay team took third place. Hurlic and Whizzar were responsible for the splendid showing made by quartet. These are the only two lads of color to participate in the meet this year. Last year Ed Shaw from Monrovia was sent to Chicago, winning the 440 and tying for first in the high jump.

Last week, Lincoln for the fourth year annexed the Freshmen City meet. The freshmen are divided into three classes, namely: the ninety pound class, the one hundred and fifteen pound class and the unlimited class.

In the one hundred and fifty pound class, Adolphus Jones did his stuff for Lincoln by taking third in the 100 and 220 yd. dashes. Leo Lawrence, of the same school, was fourth in the 100 and 220.

Jimmy Sims, the heavy-hitting piece of furniture, and second sacker of the Long Beach base ball team, proved himself worthy as a hitter last Friday against Lincoln. Sims connected with the ball twice for doubles, and the rest of the time up, he got three singles.

James Norman, sprinter de luxe, last Wednesday got second in the first heat of the 100 yd. dash, but did not enter the finals because of lack of training. Let it be known that this was the first time Jimmy Norman had had on a pair of spikes since the last "Y" meet. Many of you who remember back in 1921 and 1922 when Jimmy was in his prime as a spriter, when he was a member of Lincoln's Championship track team those two years. In the dual meets of those years gone by, he and Stapler always got first or second, or vice versa. Jimmy Norman will never be forgotten, especially by the Lincoln students and his name like Stapler and Myles, has gone down in the annals of the Lincoln High School athletic history.

TENNIS CHATTER

Last Fed Meeting Wednesday, June 6th Before "Hop-Off to Frisco"—Seen and Heard

(By William Mells Watson)
(1555 Court Street, Drexel 3742)

We see and hear—that charming Mrs. Edna Adams Rosco Hamilton Broyles of Santa Monica, the adoreable prexy of the Partheniai girls is the latest to break out in a brand new Maxwell '23 Sport Model speed wagon and is to be crowned "the highway queen"—Atta baby Rosco.

That everybody will get a slant at the wonderful Bertha Miller trophy at the Western Federation of Tennis Clubs "On to Frisco" dance next Monday night, June 4, at Normandie, when the Black and Tan jazz manipulaters strut their stuff or one Lucion Douglas Miller had better camp outta town until the enfuriated natives and tennis savages recover their mental equilibrium.

That J. R. Norwood, a fine young business man of Santa Barbara and a good all around sport with a capital "S", who is stopping at 1318 East 27th street, South 3907, is much interested in the "onto Frisco" thing, and is willing to haul three or four locals north in his hot little "Dodge '23" for the cost of the gas, "un-married beauties welcome also." Better phone this bird, it costs $22.50 by rail and a lot more by the sore foot route. Here, also, is a splendid chance for First Vice-President Mrs. Mrs. Hazel Dick, Temple of District No. 1, to get busy as brother Norwood says the natives of Santa Barbara are "rarin to go" for a high-powered tennis club.

Grand Prize Ball To Be Given

"A Night at the Country Club" is the way the Grand Prize Ball to be given under the management of Romeo Loving, Harry Southard and Lindsey Jones at Arlon Hall, Monday night, June 11th, is being featured.

The event promises to be of great interest. The prizes to be awarded the ladies include a bathing suit, from Bullocks; a pair of shoes from Gude's, a manicure set from Tufts-Lyons, and a pair of silk stockings from the Bottery—all high class shops, whose goods are worth "trying for."

The incomparable Black and Tan will syncopate on this occasion, and that popular personage, Professor F. Wells, will be floor manager.

Come one, come all! A jolly time will be had!

STORK VISITS ATTORNEY AND MRS. LEWIS K. BEEKS.

Lewis K. Beeks, Esquire, rising young attorney with offices at 823-824 Central avenue, wears an unusually happy smile these days. Why?

Mother and babe are doing nicely, and the Eagle joins with the host of friends of this popular young couple in extending congratulations!

Bea CHE, Long Island, N. Y. June6. —The value of a bridegroom depends not so much upon race as financial status, is the comment heard here since Miss Jeanne Stuart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stuart, prominent white people, was married tonight in St. Luke's Episcopal Church to Samuel Fung, a young Chinese, Assistant Treasurer of the Wah Chang Trading Corporation, with offices in the Woolworth Building, New York. The ceremony, a surprise to the bride's friends, was solemnized by the Rev. J. R. Alton, rector of the church. Fung and his bride will leave shortly on a honeymoon in Bermuda and the Orient. The bride and bridegroom met nearly two years ago at the home of H. C. Lee, President of the Corporation, at Thompson Park, near here, where Alfred Sze, Chinese Minister to the United States, frequently spends vacations. Mrs. Lee is the bridegroom's sister. Mr. Fung is a mechanical engineer, graduate of Stevens Institute of Technology. He is twenty-four years of age. His bride is twenty-

WORTHWHILE!

By E. J. Moore

The Forum fills a niche in the civic life of Los Angeles that is not even approached by any other organization. Yet you frequently hear jesting remarks about it that would lead one to believe that it is anything but representative. However this may be, the Forum is the only organization we have where all questions pertaining to our civic betterment can get a respectful hearing. n fact, it is the only training school we have for fitting our young men for public life. It is unfortunate that so few young men take advantage of these opportunities. Perhaps it is not altogether their fault. Older men should take a deeper interest in the young men and encourage them to prepare themselves in vry way possible for future usefulness, for whatever of leadership we have must soon rest upon their shoulders.

If a casual observer should "listen in" on the various groups of young men along the crowded thoroughfare he would invariably hear one or more of the following subjects under discussion: "joy-riding," "boot-legging," "gambling," and "women." If you doubt this, investigate for yourself. This of course may be true of other races, but it remains a stubborn fact that we have by far the greater proportion. We must find a way to interest these young people into some of the nobler things of life, and the Forum is the best medium to widen their vision and increase their aspirations for bigger things.

Professional and business men should take more interest in the civic betterment of the community. If the Forum is not what it should be, they should take a hand in its affairs and raise it to the required standard. You may rest assured that the business or professional man who takes no interest in the welfare of the people of his community, they will sooner or later lose interest in him.

To those who are inclined to underestimate the influence of the Forum, we venture to assert that any Race man who seeks public office and ignores the Forum will find himself trailing in the dust. If you don't believe it, just toss your hat in the ring. A casual glance at those who are most active in the Forum will disclose the fact that they are also those that are most active in all other movements that make for the betterment of the community as well as activity in public life. The mere acquisition of dollars and cents is not all of life. The desire to be a useful citizen by serving your fellowman should be the highest aim of any race or people, and this is just what the Forum stands for.

"For life is a mirror of king an dslave,
'Tis just what you are and do;
So give to the world the best you have,
And the best will come back to you."

CALEXICO NEWS

The Eight grade commencement exercises of the Calexico Public School were Thursday night, May 31st. There were 38 members of the class of which four were colored girls, namely: Miss Sumatria Gamblin, Shebenia Finnery, Luretta Featherstone and Williemae McCollum. "Conquer we Must," was the inspiring class motto with which members advance to the higher education. Class colors, blue and gold; Class flowers, red and white carnations.

Miss Sumatria after being sick with a severe cold developed into the pneumonia for 9 days and passed away Friday morning about 5 o'clock. Her sisters, Miss Indinola and Dora Gamblin were in San Diege attending school and returned home very much heartbroken. The pall bearers were her school mates as follows: Luretta Featherstone; Williemae McCullum; Roberts Gordon; Leola Macks; Elenora Jordan; Shibenia Finnery. All were dressed in white. Services were held at the Second Baptist Church of Calexico, Cal., Sat. June 2nd, and were very sad indeed.

Milledgeville, Ga. June 6.—Dr. M. C. Mitchell, prominent druggist of Macon, who was convicted of poisoning Sam Mitchell, his nephew, to collect his insurance and sentenced for life to the State farm here, has written Governor Hardwick, making a plea for executive clemency.

The former physician protests his innocense and says that his aged mother and family are suffering because of his incarceration. He has a friend at court in the person of Col. Walter A. Gilbert, white, U. S. Army officer now judge advocate at Ft. Sam Houston, Texas, who also has written Gov. Hardwick, declaring he had examined the record in the case and Mitchell was found guilty solely on the "guess" of the jury, the evidence being totally insufficient to legally convict. The Governor replied that inasmuch as no petition for pardon had been formally filed with the prison commission, he could take no action at the present time.

NEEDLES

ST. JAMES BAPTIST CHURCH—REV. SHOCKLEY, PASTOR

On last Sunday evening, we had an interesting visitor with us, who occupied the pulpit and spoke to a very appreciative audience, in the person of Rev. J. Buerland, Grand Div. Chairman of Sheet Metal Workers Association of the A. T. S. F. R. R. Co., of Richmond, California and ex-minister of a charge up North.

His lesson was, "What Is Religion?" There were many good things said which were well received. Being a representative of the R. R. Co., naturally being interested in our people in the service of the company and their welfare.

Mrs. Katie Isom spent the week in Los Angeles and for Memorial services. We are still thankful that we can boast of beautiful and cool weather in this vicinity. The Sunday School gave a social recently which was a great success for the benefit of the piano fund under the able supervision of our Sunday School Superintendent, Mrs. Frank Moss. She is a valuable asset in any community that she may reside in. We will miss her when her northern sojourn takes place for the summer.

Mr. Oscar Clark, the Frisco sheik, is still active among the feminine sex.

Mr. Osborne of Oakland was a recent visitor to our city.

Mr. Oscar Green, the Santa Fe favorite made a two day trip to Bakersfield for Memorial Day and while there met many friends and old acquaintances. He had the pleasure of meeting our lovely President of Western Federation of Women's Clubs, Mrs. Pearl Lowery Winters. Having travelled extensively at home and abroad, she is an interesting conversationalist. He also met Miss Hazel Jones of Fresno. Mr. Percy Boss and wife of Fresno, the Maxwells of Bakersfield and our busy Mrs. Emma Pinkney of Bakersfield and husband.

He also met Mr. Winters, the hustling business man of that city. Mr. Winters is a very thrifty property owner and owns nearly a whole block in the heart of Bakersfield, occupied by many business firms and barber shops. He has recently had a new building built and added to his holdings.

Miss Lois Small and the Hall Sisters are some caterers in the new cafe recently opened up and they are doing a thriving business.

SANTA BARBARA

The pastor Rev. H. B. Thomas at Second Baptist Church preached last Lord's Day at the morning service to a very appreciative congregation. The preaching hour in the evening was given to testimonial service which was inspiring and beneficial.

One member came forward and joined and was fellowshipped.

The Sunday School and B. Y. P. U. are doing nicely all are invited.

On last Thursday night an entertainment was given in the church dining room at Second Baptist and was well attended and a nice sum realized.

At St. Paul A. M. E. Church, Rev. C. Harris, Pastor, a beautiful program "The Star of Bethlehem" was rendered last Thursday night, the 31st the program composed of the Junior Missionary workers did credit to the well experienced in the work. The setting represented all nations from the Judean (the only true 100 per cent (American) to the Equinaux with an angel as missionary carrying the light and rescuing each race. Darkest Africa included. On the whole it was well presented and enjoyed by a large audience hoping that it will be presented again soon, real soon.

Mrs. Anna Cooper received an invitation announcing the marriage of the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Renick Hicks, Irene Hicks Marshall to Mr. Earl Lester Rollins on Wednesday morning the 23rd of May, at 11:30 o'clock at St. Marks Episcopal Church, Chillicathe, Ohio. At home after July 1, 235 Leroy St., Dayton, Ohio. Mr. E. L. Rollins will be remembered here by the many pleasant affairs given in his honor while in our city and he carries on life's voyage with him the best wishes of a host of friends here.

Ada Bell Griffin Displays Rare Artistry

On Wednesday night, June 6th, Ada Bell Griffin, New England's great dramatic impersonator, appeared in Recital at Hamilton M. E. Church, under the auspices of Bethel Baptist Church.

Miss Griffin impersonated the entire cast of characters in the famous crook melodrama, "Within the Law," thus offering an entertainment as brilliant as it was unique in local amusement annals.

Miss Griffin is a young woman of splendid stage presence and magnetic personality. She showed herself to be an artist of genius, developed by skilled training in declamation and pantomime, by the diverse characterizations she offered in this popular play, whose stellar role, "Mary Turner," has been made famous by such artists as Mary Nash, Jane Cowl and Margaret Illington. The play is one of thrilling interest, well-sustained suspense, with dramatic climaxes skillfully worked up, furnishing an excellent vehicle for this splendid, versatile race artist.

The audience was a small one in numbers, bus enthusiastically responsive and Miss Griffin, by popular request, will repeat her performance before leaving California at a time and place to be announced later. All lovers of artistic, dramatic entertainment are urged not to miss the next and last opportunity to hear Miss Griffin.

Rev. S. M. Beane, pastor of Hamilton M. E. Church, delivered the Invocation which preceded the program. Miss Ernestine Jones contributed a pleasingly rendered vocal solo, "My Task," by E. L. Aashford and Owen A. Troy, talented violinist, played that perennial favorite, "The Rosary," which was received with appreciative acclaim.

In conclusion, a few well-worded remarks were made by that scholarly Divine, Rev. H. D. Prowd, of eBthel Baptist Church.

Don't forget to watch for the time and place of Miss Griffin's next and last appearance in the Southland. As a great artist and as a worthy Race woman—she merits our patronage!

AMBITION.

One of the besetting sins of the Negro race is the lack of of ambition in our young men and women. Too much time is lost at pool playing, dancing, baseball, basketball and cards. Not that these sports and amusements are not highly desirable, but it is a mistake to give all one's time to mere passing fancies and fads.

There is too little initiative in Negroes. That explains why few of them attempt to run businesses. The average young man is willing to get into a post office job which pays about $120 per month, and there remain the rest of his life. The average young woman will get a teacher's job in the schools and remain till retired on a pension. Too many young men from our colleges are content to be railroad porters for the rest of their lives.

Now there is no dishonor at working on a pullman car, teaching school or clerking in the post office. All are legitimate, useful kinds of work. But Negroes should desire to advance as rapidly and as often as possible. A white man will become a city councilman one year. A few years later he is trying for the State Senate. Later we see him running for Congress. A few years hence he may be governor of the state. Then his eyes get fastened on the U. S. Senate. And having reached this high Pisgah, his stare is next on the Promised Land of the United States Presidency.

This is as it should be. One should have the ambition to advance—to go higher. If a clerk in a bank today, one should hope for the tellership within the next few years, then the assistant Cashiership, the cashier's position and finally the bank presidency.

Of course, we realize that this deadened ambition on the part of Negroes grows, partly out of closing the doors of hope to them in America. If a man of college training can get only a pullman porter's job, the man of no education says: "Well, what's the use of spending thousands of dollars for education, if the investment will not enable you to do any more than one who spends nothing in training?" And there is some logic in the contention.

The answer to this is that the trained man is ready when opportunity arises. Negroes prior to the war were denied places as machinists; they were refused opportunities to work in the building trades as skilled laborers. But along came the war. More men were needed. They were needed right then. The call went out for mechanics regardless of color. And in stepped Negro brick masons, plasterers, machinists, etc. Had they not been prepared by previous training at Hampton, Tuskeegee, St. Paul School, and similar industrial schools there would have been no time to wait three or four years for them to learn the trade. But being ready, they were able to get in and probably intrench themselves so far as we know. It is certain that should this immigration remain cut off, the Negroes will become intrenched in the industries in every part of this nation.

We need more ambition and more sense of sacrifice among us.

There must be a willingness to rise early in the morning, wait on table, run elevators, work at switch boards—in short, to do any honest work to secure education, or to get on in our business. Splurging must go. Too many Negroes are getting automobiles before they get houses and homes. The cart is put before the horse. The shadow is being accepted for the substance.

This will never do. No one is fooled but ourselves. Instead of merely putting up a strong front with a weak back, let us build more securely, lay a firm foundation in fundamental achievement growing out of praiseworthy ambition.

"WITHIN THE LAW."

The Melodrama in three acts rendered by Ada Bell Griffin last Wednesday evening furnished one of the most unique programs Los Angeles has ever enjoyed, and the moral lesson, to say nothing about the artistic interpretation, was worth the price extracted from those who came to hear and see. However, such artists as Mrs. A. C. Bilbrew, E. Robert-Saunders and Mrs. Williams, and others expressed a desire to hear Miss Griffin again under more favorable circumstances.

YOUR BODY NEEDS TO BATHE IN AIR.

By Dr. E. B. Lewis, B. Sc., M. D.
1618 1-2 East 9th Street.

Your skin gasps for breath as much as it thirsts for water. Perhaps you take your bath in a tub every day, but do not bathe in the God-given atmosphere? Sunlight and air are, if possible, more in demand by your vital tissues than water. Maladies that are nurtured by stale, indoor gases—air is rarely found in its native purity between four walls—at times fade away when saturated by the sunlight atmosphere.

As far back as 1865, Arnold Pikil, a Swiss observer, proposed that doctors stop talking idly and wildly about "fresh air and sunlight," and get down to a common practical method whereby persons could take atmospheric baths in the sunlight as regularly every day as they take their meals. As usual, many medical men considered Mr. Pikil a publicity seeker and a money grabber; but Dr. Heinrich Lahmann, of Dresden, took up the matter seriously at that time.

He installed air baths in some German cities. There air baths are larger than many public parks. Woodland, meadow, pasture or other greensward beyond the built-up suburbs are enclosed and fitted with lockers and apparatus for light exercise. Shower baths are also provided to be used after the air baths to remove the perspiration, dust and dirt. "Air bath meadows," as they are called can be easily established at practically no cost in the gardens or back yards of any dwelling.

Very Easily Made

Screens and hedges secure the privacy of both the public and private air baths. In England the charge is 2 1-3 pence to enter the air bath establishments and to stay as long as you please. Separate "air bath meadows" for children and women are maintained. The sports and light exercises directed for women differ from those planned for men.

A bath—whether air, water, mud, light, electricity or what not—has for its object the health of the skin and other physiological parts. n the ordinary course of human existence the health of the skin is sacrificed to the suffocating effects of garments. Clothing both in the winter and the summer keeps the air from the skin. It cannot breathe except the used-up air between the nether garments and its outer surface is removed.

Values are Various

When you occasionally observe an oppressive sensation indoors, in crowds and elsewhere, the faintness that ensues may at times be due to the vain attempt of the skin to throw off its gases to respire fresh air. The air bath thus accommodates the needs of the skin.

It provides free exhalation of gases and the obsorbtion of fresh air. Unless the poisons which modern customs of wearing apparel dam up into the pores of the flesh are withdrawn as well by air baths, sunlight and water baths, the vitality of your blood and brawn cannot expect to keep pace with that of your fellow-laborers.

There are many reasons why air baths accomplish much good. They make the skin more adaptable to exposure, less prone to the sensitiveness which makes you fall a victim to the infections called "colds," the blood in the skin is invigorated with oxygen which spreads to the farthermost corners of your anatomy; it diverts the thoughts and emotions, and in more ways than there is space to describe. Fresh air baths give aid and comfort to the powers of human health.

THE BYSTANDER

A chord from which most speakers find ready and instantaneous response nowadays, is any mere or referential statement concerning the financial gouging, and quantitative instead of the qualitative condition of our ministry. The reaction is great, and the populace seem bold and loud in their acclaim when denunciations are hurled challenging the men of God to look up and lift up, or cease unprepared efforts to befuddle the people. It is useless for anyone to attempt to stifle this rising tide of public sentiment, for the well need no physician, but the sick had best seek some resort or occupation conducive to their health. Ministers who are prepared and able need not fear the slightest suggestion or criticism offered by anybody, but good or bad, any man ordained by the Almighty to preach wastes time when he attempts to defend the springing up here and there of quacks called by nobody, and little store room churches which reflect vastly more than they add. We love to think of a religion with clean cut, intelligent and business like men attached just as any other profession or occupation that merits talent and time. We deplore the pessimistic, down-cast, slothful, unprepared son of righteousness who would have us believe that others can have all of this world, just give us Jesus. This was good doctrine in slavery, for there was nothing else to look forward to but Jesus. But in this day and time, when everything and everybody is active and alert, we need religion that will make us honest, active, keen, aggressive and good citizens. Any church or pastor that opposes such a program is against progress. And churches which fail to add to the good of their communities great or small should be run out of business with good ministers taking the lead.

University School of Medicine, "You are needed by your race and your country. You are in danger of losing your standing. We will give you for your endowment, $550,000—provided you shall have raised an equal amount by July 1st, 1923." Of that amount $127,500 has been raised; $113,500 is yet to be raised. Howard medical is now "Class A." It will lose this standing if it fails to obtain this endowment. Many states require a graduate to be from a Class A school in order to get a license to practice his profession. This affects not only the Alumni, it affects the race. An entertainment for the benefit of the Howard and Meharry Medical Colleges will be held at Blanchard Hall, Friday June 15th at 8 P. M. This is everybody's chance. It is a worthy occasion for a most worthy cause.

Our Young Men

Young men for war and old men for council was the slogan of old. But lest we forget, and that we be mindful of our surroundings and circumstances, suppose we make a resume of the activities of the young in and about business. The happy result will inevitably mean young men not only for physical, but today, for the intellectual and financial wars. On Central Ave. alone you meet young Drs. Pillows, dentist, Williams, dentist, Stovall, medicine, Green, dentist, Canaday, dentist, Towles, medicine; Willie Roberts, undertaking; Harrison and Watkins, American Woodmen; Joslin Josephs and Lewis, photography; George Beavers and Houston, insurance; Bateman, woodwork; and many others scattered here and there

This si a formidable array of youngsters, pluckily pursuing their chosen avenues of life They are making good in spite of the efforts of some more aged individuals hurling insinuations at youth, for fear that youth with its courage and vigor will swoop down on antiquated ideas and submerge them with the more modern and up-to-date. The Negro like other races is beginning to believe in its young and to know that their minds are fresh active and alert. They learn, retain and practice. They plan, they do, and feel by no means disposed to sit in any gathering or meeting arguing in a circle till down. They deride the jealous, cut-throat spirit in business, and practice the professional ethics so long forgotten by some of our fellows in business. This group ushers in a new era which will effect the unity, strength and progress of our people in the future.

Foolish Prejudice

The late Booker T. Washington used to tell a story which had a two-fold meaning. One was the manner of using color prejudice, or rather overcoming it, for your own convenience, and the other was to show how foolishly ignorant those who exhibit color prejudice are. It was during one of the Doctors speaking tours of the South, and after the meeting in the city, where the incident occurred, he had to reach the train leaving at a certain hour in order to be in time for his next engagement.

He found a cabman dozing on the box of his cab and awakening him, made known his desire to reach the railway station, and asked the amonut of the fare.

The cabby stretched, yawned, and peered down into the face of Booker T. and observing the color of his, would be, fare exclaimed with indignation that he had never drove a "nigger" in his life. "Oh well!" said the great educator "you get inside and I will drive, I can drive a cab very well." The doctor drove himself to the station, paid the cabman one dollar, and caught his train in time for the next engagement. We wonder if that cabman ever considered how foolish it was to accept payment for his foolish prejudice.

Among the freaks in a circus was a fat midget, a lady whose breadth was equal to her length, and the specimen termed the "What is it" Preliminary to the performance hte freaks were parading the arena. The fat lady-midget fell, and owing to her peculiar shape, was not able to regain her feet. The "What is it?" seeing her predicament offered to assist her, but she rolled over and seeing his color waved him away, and lay in that position until one of the white employees came to her assistance.

The pin-headed "What is it?" showed a spirit of helpfulness: What did the fat lady midget show?

A well dressed white man boarded a street car and tok on seat along side of a colored man equally well dressed. Evidently the white man had not noticed the color o fthe other, and when he did, moved his seat. When he was comfortably seated along came a man, also white, who had evidently been tolling in some white substance which adhered to his clothing, there being but two vacant seats the toiler preferred to sit by the side of one of his own complexion, and when he has proved fatal to so many of her kind.

But what we wish to know is, Why the request and what prompted it?

arose to leave the car he left the impress of his companionship all over well dressed colored man. Foolish color prejudice.

Florida Peonage No More

At last Florida purges herself of the baneful disease of peonage which has cankered for years her body politic.

The system of peonage has corrupted the men who were responsible for the just enforcement of the law it has beastialized her judges, brutalized her sheriffs, and made thieves and perjurers of all who came under the blighting influence of the mercenary motives that prompted the law which created it.

It was through the initiative means were taken by the legislature of North Dakota that Florida was forced to probe the system by which victims the vagrancy law were leased by the county officials to the various naval, corporations and individuals.

In the year 1913 a law was passed forbidding the leasing of state convicts.

The legislature also passed an act forbidding the use of the "Black Auntie" and passed an act limiting the fine or term of imprisonment which a judge may impose for vagrancy.

If those acts are enforced, which we beleve they will, it will mean that an end has been made to th barter of votes for free labor. It will mean that no longer Negro men and women will be picked up o nthe slightest pretext and framed out to pay political debts. It will mean that no longer will the black muck of the glades and swamps become the last resting place for those who were dealt the death blow.

The spotlight of human justice has been turned on Florida and she has awakened to the enormity of the cancer which was gnawing at her industrial vitals. It took the death of a white lad to do it, and the influence of a Dakota legislature to show it the way, but has been done and thousands of poor Negroes will reap the benefit.

She Was Not A Negro

Down in Luray, Va., a woman made the dying request that a pet hen which she owned should be killed and buried with her in the same coffin.

Her friends were anxious to agree with the request so they caught the hen and sought to separate her from this mundane sphere by the following routes. First they tried the chloroform road as the most direct, but "Biddy" made a polite declination and absolutely refused. Next fromoldehyde was used with the same result; so the "High Lord Executioner" brought the block and the axe and "Biddy" departed by the route which

Fear comes from Ignorance and Ignorance From Environment

There is a little Island called St. Kilda, that lies off the West of Scotland. It is a lonely little spot and is isolated from the regular trend of travel.

A party of vsiitors recently thought to give a little diversion to the folks and arranged a movie show.

One of the films deipcted a railway train in motion, and when it came rushing down the screen in a close up the audience broke up and fled for safety.

If that audience had been some color other than white, columns would have been written about the inherited instinct of fear which were the relics of jungle days. But this incident did not happen in "Dixie."

Savannah, Ga., June 6.—Pythians Circles in this state are much disturbed over charges and counter charges which are flying about between officers and prominent members of the order. Last fall after the death of the Grand Chancellor fo the State, an investigation o fthe affairs of the lodge was instituted. Supreme Chancellor S. W. Green visited the state and decreed that an audit of the finances be made. It is now claimed by those opposed to the present administration that $10,000 was loaned to the Supreme Chancellor or the Supreme lodge by the endowment board and that the audit expected was never made, that money belonging to the grand lodge has been squandered and that officers are carrying members of their families on the pay roll who have given no service to the order.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., June 6.—The two colored candidates for the City Council from the 3d and 4th wards of this city were defeated at the election last Tuesday. Eight-tenths of the voters in these wards are colored, there being only about 30 white voters in one ward and about 60 in the other. The majority of colored men claim they voted for the colored candidates and their defeat is a puzzle. "There must have been no bottom in the ballot box we voted in," said one irate colored citizen. Considerable dissatisfaction exists as a result of the outcome. Hilary B. Hause, favored by the colored voters, was elected.

THE HEROES

Bring laurel and myrtle, oak and bay,
And wreaths of roses, white and gold.
And drape their graves on this holy day
With the flag they loved in the days of old;
For the red is the red of the blood they gave,
The white is the smoke of the belching gun,
And the blue is the blue of the sky they cleave
To gain the stars in the crowns they won.

Man is his own star.

Thought may work cold and intransitive in things, and find no end, or unity; but the dawn of the sentiment of virtue on the heart gives, and is the assurance that law is sovereign over all natures; and the world, time, space, eternity, do seem to break out into joy.

The thing we call civilization is nothing in the world, nothing but sentiment, the incarnation of the invisible idea. Everything in creation that breathes and speaks, are but the reflection and embodiment of the soul of their creator. No race or nation can long exist in the same atmosphere and at the summit of their glory forever. They either go up or down. They never stand still.

Evil is mere privative, not absolute; it is like cold which is the privation of heat. All evil is so much death or nonentity. Benevolence is absolute and real. So much benevolence as a man hath, so much life hath he. For all things proceed out of the same spirit, which is differently named love, justice, temperance in its different applications.

Man fallen into superstition, idolatry, sensuality can never reach that stage of life to be really happy. Men who blaspheme God, curse His church and turn away from His teachings, may think they are immune from further appeals from God's Saints, but before they close their eyes in death, they will seek Him whom they persecuted and cry unto Him whom they scorned.

To understand man, we must look beyond the individual man and his actions, or interest and view him in combination with his fellows. It is in society that man first feels what he is and first becomes what he can be. In society an altogether new set of spiritual activities are evolved in him. Society is the genial element wherein his nature first lives and grows. The solitary men are but a small portion of themselves and must continue forever folded in, stunted and only half alive.

Man has joined himself with man. Soul acts and re-acts on soul; a mystic miraculous, unfathomable union establishes itself; life in all its elements, has become intensified, consecrated. The lightning spark of thought generated, or rather heaven—kindled, in the solitary mind awakens its express likeness in another mind—in thousands of other minds and all biases up together into one big brotherhood of man. Knowing neither color of skin, nor superiority of creation, but as God willed it, that out of the dust of the earth, he made man and breathed into him the breath of life, and he becomes a living soul.

LAW MUST BE ENFORCED

The matter of law enforcement is simply one of getting the proper viewpoint in connection with one's citizenship duties. It makes but little difference if one be classified as a wet or a dry, as that general classification is understood when the question of law enforcement is raised. There is only one side to that question, only one place where the law-abiding citizen may take position. If government is to survive and be effective, if property and life are to be kept, laws must be enforced and applied as they are written. There is no half-way place. If laws may be set aside at the wish of the individual, then all laws fail and government, as it is now organized, is at an end. Disregard of law, and lack of enforcement to make it effective undermine government.

THE FLAPPER

The flapper always gets attention beyond her deserts. The unusual is conspicuous. The house may have a hundred windows, but the one that bangs in the wind of a stormy night disturbs everyone while no one notices the ninety-nine that do the unobtrusive work for which they were made. The under-dressed, over-painted, super-conscious young woman flapping along the city streets is one in a thousand. Multitudes see and hear her who overlook her demure companions in home and school.

Because a few dazzling flappers put themselves in the vision of those who cannot help but see, the notion gets into the mind of the community that girlhood has become abnormal and altogether superficial. Grandmothers of hoop-skirt memories are sure that former girls were better than their short-skirted little granddaughters. Granny is mistaken, her judgment is warped. The modern girl lives in another world from that in which even her mother lived. A thousand influences touch her that were not known a generation ago. Any alert child of spirit will react to change of environment. That adjustment may seem strange to older folk but it deserves sympathetic undrestanding. School, home, girl and young women organizations will reveal the rank and file of young women live as sweet, as tender, as lovingly ambitious as ever in the past. There are more intelligent mothers today than ever before and as loving as those of olden time. Their daughters are superior of necessity, a few little flappers to the contrary notwithstanding.

ON THE WING

J. B. Bass, popular editor of the California Eagle, and Hon. With regard to the popular young New Yorker, it is reported on good authority that gloom reigns supreme in our "very highest" social circles, since the sunshine of his presence has been withdrawn!

WESLEY CHAPEL

Rev. A. P. Shaw, Pastor

Wesley moves on in its progressive way. Each Sunday finds the pastor furnishing sermons which are jewels in thought and preparation. Last Sunday was communion Sunday and some 300 souls were made glad by being able to again commemorate the death and suffering of our Lord.

The Organ Recital was the expected feature. Each Sunday it is a rare treat to listen for fifteen minutes to the well arranged and admirably rendered selections of the organist. The Young People's League which meets each Sunday evening had one of its banner meeting Sunday. Mr. E. W. Kyle gave one of the most interesting addresses yet heard by the League. The Literary opened Tuesday evening with a bang and it went over the top in great shape. It meets each first and third Tuesday evenings. An All Men's Concert is scheduled for June 15th at which time All Men will participate. Persons continue to join and all departments are continually growing.

THE CHRISTIAN CHURCH—
14th and Birch Streets.

The Church is sailing smoothly along with all the howling winds that have come against her. Yet Jehovah is her rightful owner; and the Emmanual is her captain: the Holy Spirit is her pilot. The Bible is both her chart and compass, and we believe this is enough to guide her safely to God.

Rev. Brother Williams filled the pulpit both morning and evening. At 11:00 o'clock his subject was the words of Jesus, St. John 4:26. "Jesus said unto her, I that speak unto thee am he." And at the evening hour his subject was taken from the 15 Chap. of St. Luke and the 18th verse. "I will arise and go to my father," and these sermons and especially this one is helpful. This boy was one of the family who had gone astray like the wayward Christian or the back-slider, and returned home again. These services were well attended. We had some 6 or 8 visitors at the services.

SECOND BAPTIST CHURCH—

The church passed through a season of refreshing rivival services conducted by Dr. W. F. Botts of Omaha, Nebraska. All persons who were received for baptism were baptised by the pastor last Sunday. The church has purchased lots on the Southeast corner of Twenty-fourth street and Griffith Avenue for its building site.

Plans will be made as early as possible for the new edifice.

Dr. Boone of Texas delivered the sermon last Sunday night. The Teachers Training Class conducted by Dr. Montgomery at the church was a great success. It was attended by teachers from many of the city Sunday schools. Certificates will be awarded to those completing the first course Sunday afternoon at 4:00 o'clock. Our seldom finds in a church a pleasanter spirit among members than exists among the members of this church at this time.

P. E. Co. Must Pay Mrs. Lillie Stokes $3,000 Damages

PACIFIC ELECTRIC MUST PAY MRS. STOKES $3000.

Afue McDowell Wins Damage Case.

Mrs. Lillie Stokes, formerly of Furlong Tract, Los Angeles, was, on Monday, awarded verdict for Three Thousand Dollars, in her suit against Pacific Electric Railway Company, for damages because of her being thrown against a post, by the sudden movement of a car, at East 52nd street and Long Beach avenue, last December. Three women and nine men were on the jury.

Severe Injuries.

Afue McDowell, her attorney, brought out testimony of witnesses that the car started while Mrs. Stokes was on the lower step, in the act of alighting, and that after she struck the post, she was in the act of falling backward under the car, when a colored man, James Fair, quickly caught her. When she became conscious she had to be carried hom, where her children screamed, and much excitement followed, on the family seeing her helplessly placed into bed. Dr. Mahlon C. Cooley testified in detail, of her serious internal injuries; and informed the jury that such fall was severe enough to make an invalid of almost any woman. The injured woman was confined to bed until January 19; and is still weak. The doctor bill and nurse bill, besides loss of time from her work, were considered by the jury.

Testimony showed that the starting signal was given by a high school boy, who, with the conductor's consent, often signalled the motorman to start the car, while the conductor was collecting fares. The railroad's admitted that this did not excuse the company for starting the car too soon; but contended that Mrs. Stokes was in fault.

Last year, Attorney McDowell won a thousand dollar judgment against the Los Angeles Railway Corporation because of a boy being thrown off a car, and being kicked by a car crew; but this latter case is now in the State Court of Appeals. The brief in the former appealed case was printed by the California Eagle.

LUCILLE E. BANTON'S TRIUMPH.

BY: LOUIS MICHEL

In a typical Wilkinsesque style this talented young woman was presented as a competent teacher at the Independent Church on Thursday, November 2nd and won glory and golden opinions from her 400 admirers that gave her flowers of flowers and flowers of speech. She is as great as Professor Wilkins is himself. A year or more in Europe with her brilliant piano opportunities would bring Miss Banton into her greatest capacity. Wilkins and Banton are now in separate fields, but their joint glory is still undivided and undiminished.

A single star on a single instrument—the Piano—! In this one sentence may be fittingly characterized the great and magnificent educational Piano recital for the benefit of the richly deserving Miss Lucile E. Banton, whose friends had gathered 400 strong at the well located auditorium of the Independent Church of Christ, corner of Paloma and 18th street, on Thursday, November the 2nd.

Miss Lucile E. Banton is a gifted Pianist of rare abilities and a charming personality of classic mould and almost perfect statuesque beauty. Of the female gender there may be only two more persons of the Ethiopian race in her class as good pianists—she is a musical host in herself and as an original artist, an inventive romanticist, a resourceful sentimentalist and a creative genius, Miss Lucile E. Banton can be fittingly called either a or the most ravishing girl performer on the Piano in this city, counting in the very best ones that the race has so far brought out. She is a clean and thorough musician with high ideals and large vision, with deep sentiment and broad accomplishments. She plays with all of her soul and never will she sacrifice the mellow strains of finest sentiment for the commanding strictures of simply iron clad technique, though she knows fully what technique means on the Piano and she is a very strict and clever disciplinarian.

Professor Wm. T. Wilkins was needfully at hand on that eventful and life-shaping evening of Miss Banton's recital and to this learned musician is due the everlasting praise for having detected the fulminating musicianly endowments of this young lady 5½ years ago, when he started her out with not a single bit of knowledge about any of the intricate pathways of music and raised her in this short time to the pinnacle of Piano knowledge and Piano teaching, presenting her with a full-fledged certificate as a competent teacher coming fresh with streaming laurels from Prof. Wilkin's Piano academy, where only through hard labor and pure merit as an artist Miss Banton arose as a star girl of Piano playing, and, from here on, as a star woman of Piano teaching.

It can be said without fear of contradiction that with the possible exceptions of Mayme Lowe and Naida McCullough, no greater young Ethiopian piano teacher ever faced the winds and the zephyrs of richest Piano playing in this city. And it can be furhter said without any attempt to be extravagant in praise that of all the three girls as performing pianists, Miss Lucile E. Banton could never be placed as the third one, but in certain, perhaps not all things, would be foremost and oftentimes in the lead. A joint recital by these three gifted women would be rare and appropriate and may do much to clear the atmosphere and as we are writing on we think of another able pianist, that may be acceptable from all-star-girls-piano entertainment and that is Miss Hazel Gottschalk, who is both clever and popular.

Miss Banton's programme was very profuse and of the widest range, deep as the sea, high as the mountains and richer than the richest pearls or gold. In two parts she played all these numbers—Berceuse from Jocelyn by Btnj. Godard; March wind by MacDowell; In the hall of the mountain kings and the march of the dwarfs by Edward Grieg and the great sonatn Pathetique by the matchless L. van Beethoven; Lullaby at Sunset by Wm. T. Wilkins; valse Brilliante, A-Flat major by Fr. Chopin; Elegie by E. Nollet; Alice by Asher; Rigoletto by Verdi-Liszt; 20 minute Piano lesson by Lucille Banton and Professor Wm. T. Wilkins in the very practical, throbbing, amusing and exhilarating flesh; and G. min. Prelude by S. Rachmaninoff concluded this rich and most varied performance.

Miss Banton had a full and lucky chance to demonstrate her leading skill and her deft and exact conception of all the many phases of grandest music and in her refined and winning way nothing coarse, jazz-like and tickling only the fancies and the whims of simpletons and fools was allowable. Her recital was filled with real big spots of richest music, easy or lazy weaknesses for the shallow-minded were absolutely excluded. It was a Banton night of marked talent—a Wilkin's co-operation as the girl's teacher for more than four years efficient teaching and learning.

That a great teacher like Professor Wm. T. Wilkins could bring out a wonderful scholar like Miss Lucile Banton was and is and bring her out fully as able and as original as he is himself, that seems to be the great wonder in the musical circles of this city, as far as our Ethiopian and large-hearted white musicians are concerned. Seldom, if ever, is a girl scholar of the Piano as masterful as her grand and powerful man teacher, but in this case it must be admitted, without taking the crown of a genius away from Professor Wilkins, that that fine-looking, always ready, bee-like toiling remarkable girl, Lucile Banton is as capable and as original, if not quite as picturesque and tempestuous, as the Professor himself.

What better eulogy then can we cite to boom up the just and truthful claims of this Juno-pianist of this city, Miss Banton?! Never before in his life and never, perhaps, again will Professor Wm. T. Wilkins point to a greater reincarnation and female regeneration of his own musical genius than when he singles out Miss Lucile Banton, for it is a high compliment to Professor Wm. T. Wilkins to tell him boldly to his face that the positive product of his school, Miss Banton, is as great as the Professor himself.

It is indeed, a great thing to start a green scholar on the keyboard of the Piano and watch for 4½ years how this great girl-scholar, step by step, note by note, play by play, year by year, finally approaches, then equals and at last compels her own teacher to admit smilingly that the student of the past is now a teacher of the present and as great a teacher at any time as Prof. Wilkins was to herself in her days of struggle and her years of deep study.

To reach this exalted height of swift efficiency and competent musicianship was, indeed, a wonderful feat on Miss Banton's side and the great delight of her 400 participating friends was shown in the 20 or more floral pieces that were given her and the marked applause that greeted her at the conclusion of every number.

Professor Wilkins was very timely with his realistic readings and descriptions of the great composers' lives and toils and in presenting Miss Banton at the beginning of every number showed by the quaint inflection of his voice, when he said "Miss Banton," in both a plaintive as well as a proud tone that he was both happy and sad—happy because she was so able and sad because the roads are separate and the struggles divided now!—

Rev. N. P. Greggs made a most fitting and pleasing speech when he presented Miss Banton with her hard-earned teacher's certificate and in a most feeling way, with a modest, trembling voice that shook with emotion and gratitude, and the tears almost claiming her eyes, did Miss Banton respond!—

What else does Miss Banton need?! —A good and greying class of pupils like she was one and at least 18 months or more travel in Germany, Italy, Russia, France and England and some other lands and an investigation there as to Piano playing, and if Miss Banton can see some of the European masters and absorb their methods, she, young as she is, would be the tallest score that ever shone out of Piano [illegible] in this part of the world.

LOS ANGELES TO HAVE NEW ATTY

LEWIS K. BEEKS RETURNS WITH BRIDE.

After several years' stay in Washington, where he completed a four years' course in the Law Department of Howard University, Mr. Lewis K. Beeks returned to his home in this city, Monday, October 30th with his Chapel, and in 1912 when the present bride.

Mrs. Madelyn Beeks

Mr. Beeks grew up in Los Angeles and received his early education here. He is a consistant member of Wesley management took over the Eagle it was he, then a young lad in school, who came forward and offered a young woman who was struggling his unqualified support, hence Lewis K. Beeks is responsible to a great extent for the life of the Eagle for in 1914 when he left for Washington the old bird was on a sound basis.

When young Beeks packed his grip and was off for Howard he realized that he had to make his way, and Los Angeles will be pleased to know that this young man has made good.

Entering Howard as a freshman in 1914 young Beeks soon made himself felt in the Dramatic and Debating Clubs, was Parliamentarian fo the Phi Beta Sigma fraternity, was class debater and varsity debater. In his junior year he was President of his class, was representative at the National Convention of Colored fraternities which was held during the Easter holiday of this year—among the universities of national representation in attendance at this convention were Harvard and Yale.

Last June when Mr. Beeks graduated, he received degrees L. LB., and A. B. as honor student from both departments.

But after achieving the success and receiving all the honors that one could hope for who had made his own way to the top, Mr. Beeks before returning to his home town conferred upon himself the greatest honor of them all when he claimed as his bride Miss Madalyne Wesly who is a high school graduate of Washington and a milliner.

Mr. Lewis K. Beeks

Mr. and Mrs. Beeks are happily domiciled with Mr. Beek's parents on E. 15th St., where they will be pleased to receive their friends.

It is not known just how soon it will be before Mr. Beeks hangs his shingle after which he will no doubt measure up to the best in his line.

HARDING TO GIVE AUDIENCE TO LEAGUE. LODGE ARRANGES MEETING WITH PRESIDENT FOR NATIONAL EQUAL EQUAL RIGHTS DELEGATION WITH DYER BILL EXTRA SESSION PETION AT NOON NOV. 4.

BOSTON, Mass., Oct. 31, 1922.—Today Senator Henry Cabot Lodge telephoned to National Headquarters of the National Equal Rights League at 34 Cornhill that in response to his request, sent at the League's solicitation, he had received a telegram from the President's secretary stating that the President would grant an audience to hte League to present its petition on the Dyer Bill Extra Session at noon of Saturday, November 4th.

The League started the petition for an extra session soon after Congress ha dadjourned without reaching consideration of the Dyer Anti-Lynching Bill, as a means of expediting, if not actually saving, the bill which was left next on the calendar to the Liberian Loan Bill.

Thousands of signatures have been secured from over 15 different states. One from the President's home town, Marion, Ohio, another is from Tulsa, Oklahoma, several from Georgia and Mississippi.

The petition will be sent by a messenger from Boston who will conduct the audience. The point sought will be to get the President to specify the Dyer Bill in his Call.

The race is askedd to send such a request to the President from Sunday on—individually, through churches, lodges nad organizations, and from all political meetings held Monday night; also to ask their senators and congressmen to write the President.

MANAGING EDITOR ADDRESSED COLLEGE STUDENTS. ALSO ARRANGED PROGRAM FOR EVENING.

By George H. Duncan.

The Managing Editor was selected by Ren Kenngott of First Congregational Church, 9th and Hope Street to address a class consisting of College students on the Negro problems Wednesday night. In addition to this she engaged Mr. Marshall Cloyr, Los Angeles' foremost tenor, and Miss Bilbrew to render a few selections to the classes of that church.

The selections rendered by him were popular church songs. By his clear and expressive tone he proved his abbility as an artist in this line and was commended highly by the members of the classes.

Mr. Cloyd is a former student of John Smallman, the greatest teacher on the Pacific coast.

He was assisted at the Piano by Miss Helen Ruth Duncan.

The public will have the opportunity to hear Mr. Cloyd in a recital to be given at Pasadena in the near future. Those enjoying purity of vocal art, beauty of voice cannot afford to miss this recital

Mrs. Bilbrew renderde several selections from Paul Lawrence Dunbar. Her expression was very good and was well delivered.

The closing number "By and By," H. T. Burleigh's famous song was also rendered by Mrs. Bilbrew. The affair was met by approval byb all attending.

To say that the superb rendition of these varied numbers by Mrs. Bilbrew was a revelation to this large white audience is but putting it mildly. The audience sat spell bound and as each number was rendered burst forth in spontaneous applause.

It was indeed inspiring for one to be present and hear the peerless manager of the Eagle as she stood upon the platform of this great Congregational church and addressed the University students and members of classes on this occasion and at the conclusion of her address the house came forth in probably the greatest demonstration ever given a speaker in this historic edifice. Her subject was, "The Social Side of Negro Education."

On this occasion Mrs. Bass had both been invited to speak to the classes and afterward in the Assembly to provide a program which has been described as above. Great interest is manifested in the study of the Negro and Indian which has been the topic for the past four weeks.

ALLEGE MISTREATMENT OF COLORED SOLDIERS IN GEORGIA. ADVANCEMENT ASSOCIATION WRITES TO SECRETARY OF WAR.

Inquiring into "frequent charges" of mistreatment of colored members of the 24th United States Infrantry, stationed at Camp Benning, Georgia, and asserting that the charges are such as to warrant Congressional investigation, The Association for the Advancement of Colored People, 70 Fifth Avenue, New York, todayy made public a letter to the Secretary of War asking a statement from the War Department.

The letter asks that the War Department state whether it is true that the colored regiment has been deprived of its arms in a community that resents the presence of colored men in United States uniform; whether the regiment has been deprived of its own Colonel and placed in command of one with a bar record for brutality to colored soldiers; whether the War Department countenances advice from commanding officers to colored soldiers that they permit themselves to be called "Damn Niggers" and remember first of all that they are colored.

The Advancement Association's letter, which is signed by the Chairman of the Board of Directors, Mary White Ovington, is as follows:

The Secretary of War,
War Department,
Washington, D. C.

Sir:

"Frequent reports have come to this office that the 24th Infantry, U. S. A., consisting of colored troops, some of them veterans of the Spanish American and the World Wars, have been disarmed, deprived of their commanding officer, Colonel Schofield, and stationed at Fort Benning, Georgia, where they are, in virtue of their being without arms, at the mercy of every brutal Negro-hating white man.

"The report to this office of the treatment accorded these colored soldiers are such as to justify Congressional investigation into the conduct of Camp Benning, Georgia, by its present commanding officer. Before placing the matter before Congress, may we have from the War Department a reply stating whether:

"1. The 24th Infantry, U. S. A. has been stationed at Camp Benning, Georgia, and disarmed.

"2. The 24th Infantry has been deprived of its commanding officer, Colonel Schofield.

"3. It is the policy of the War Department to countenance advice from commanding officers to soldiers that they permit white soldiers to call them 'Damn Niggers.'

LLOYD GEORGE

BY: CHANDLER OWEN

David Lloyd George, First Lord of the Treasury and Prime Minister, has fallen in Britain. He is unquestionably the most outstanding personality in the world today. His ability to maintain his unique and novel position in English politics has distinguished his administration as a Super-Government.

He is the last of the famous "Big-Four." Clemanceau of France, Orlando of Italy, and Wilson of America met their fate immediately their respective constituencies got a chance at them. It remained only for the "Little Welshman" to stem the tide of reaction and keep himself perched on the pinnacle of skillful political juggling.

Coming from a poor family, of the middle class, and rising to the first place in British public life is no mean achievemtnt. It is a career not only full of dramatic thrills and popular admiration, but is replete with life illustrations of what persistency and tact may and may not accomplish, what opportunities mean when grasped at the most strategic instants. A mine of inspiration for the youth of all the world is packed in the rise of England's greatest Premier.

In 1916 Herbert Henry Asquith, England's "scholar in politics," was forced to resign from the Premiership. King George sent down to Parliament for a man to form a new Government. This was the beginning of the stormy course of the "Welsh Wizard."

The British Government was reorganized in the midst of the Great War. Men were selected according to their ability to get things done and not according to their politics. Lloyd George had been Chancellor of the Exchequer and Minister of Munitions in the Asquith Cabinet. He thought his chief incompetent to deal with such a complicated situation as the war ushered in. Pursuant to this conviction, he set the stage for Asquith's fall by suggesting a committee to handle the State affairs, leaving Mr. Asquith out. This plainly told the stoical Herbert Henry to step down.

In the new Lloyd George Cabinet were men of all political parties—the Coalition. The interests of the country were paramount. None could refuse to serve from partinsanship opinions. The Nation faced a crisis.

The war ended in 1918. How did the Welshman habt his own? The election followed the Armistice. It has been called a disgrace to Britain. George reintrenched himself by a series of promises—"everything to everybody." He said he would hang the Kaiser. He said he would nationalize the coal mines. He said anything that would help him back to No. 10 Downing Street. He got back. After getting settled again, free from any fear of immediate dethronement, he was like any other politician—evasive, diplomatic, indefinite.

"Back to Normalcy" has not only been the slogan of the Harding Administration, but the hope of Britons as well. But under Lloyd George they seemed to get back slowly—if at all. They wanted to break up the Coalition and return to the strict party system. What was good in time of war is not the proper antidote for peace. Lloyd George could perform an operation on the heart, but the wary Britons could not truust him to prescribe for their headache. The Conservatives in his cabinet pulled off in open revolt. George is a Liberal. So for the first time in six years the two horses he was riding started in opposite directions. That meant the rider must fall.

Andrew Bonar Law has formed a Conservative Government and the Ex-Prime Minister has appealed to the country. The new election will be November 15.

Where George showed his genius was in his skillful way of placating contending forces. What he did was like a president in this country filling his cabinet with both Democrats and Republicans and trying to keep the two parties in line. Picture Harding sanctioning a tow tariff, or accepting Wilson's League of Nations. Imagine Wilson appointing Taft as Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, or recommending that Lodge should be returned to the Senate from Massachusetts.

But George kept issues away from party lines as best he could. He tried to keep the interests of the country supreme. He is taking Britain to send him back on that score. "My sword is in my hand," he says as he plunges into the fight for his return. We think as a typical capitalist politician he has played his part well and that his end has come. [illegible] will fall.

INVADES LOWER CALIFORNIA

By Owen A. Troy

If the twelve spies who were dispatched to spy out the land of Canaan in the days of Moses had been sent out to look over Lower California, Mexico, they would have returned bearing a big, juicy watermelon instead of a bunch of grapes. And in lieu of speaking of the land as "flowing with milk and honey," they would have spoken of the land as "flowing with watermellons and wild sage honey."

At the request of "Ye Editor" I am to write a little concerning my trip to the "goodly land," Santa Clara Ranch—the holdings of the Lower California Mexican Land and Development Company.

First, I should like to ventilate the idea that the average Los Angeles' Negro holds concerning Mexico. He shuffles upto me and says, "Oh, you's just back from Mexico?"

"Yes, sir."

"How d'ye like it?" he asks with a "come-on-boy-give-me-the-bad report" look.

"Great." The answer being a surprise, he adds, "Did you really like it?"

"I'm sure I wouldn't say so, if I didn't."

"Well," changing from one foot to the other, he continues, "I guess it would be all right down there, but I'm afraid of those Mexs."

"Now I don't know about you," I say, allowing a little righteous ire to take advantage of my pity for his ignorance, "but I feel much safer in Mexico with the Mexicans than I do in this part of the country which is being overrun by the southern white man who is used to lynching a Colored man for the least provocation."

"Can you grow anything down there?"

"What do you think Mexico is, a desert?" I ask in reply to the absurd question. "You must remember that Santa Clara is not more than seventy odd miles from San Diego. Besides, that imaginary line that separates U. S. A. from Mexico does not change the surface of the land, neither the climatic conditions. But there is one thing noticeable: when you cross that line and get away from the white man, you are treated as God intended—as an equal, not an inferior."

Then I show him some photographs of Santa Clara(the corn fields, the hogs, the watermelons, pumpkins, the two hundred chickens, and he gasps "O-O-O-Oh" with a peculiar modulation.

At Santa Clara

But in regard to my trip. My father was suffering from a bone felon, so a hurried trip from L. A. to Santa Clara was made so as to permit him to go for medical attention.

An entire month I had the pleasure of living on that 8,762-acre ranch with its multitudinous interests. My stay was made during the interval between the harvesting and the threshing. Since there was not much work for me to do at this time of the year, Santa Clara became a veritable playground for me.

Mexican Football

However, playing "Mexican Football" with a watermelon was my greatest sport—the "inward pass" being my specialty.

3—EAGLE, Nov. 9, POAGE

I am sure that the saddle horses were glad to see me leave, because I was in the saddle every day. On the trips that my cousin and I made we did everything in the travel line from climbing mountains to wading rivers; from chasing cattle to rounding up some broncos which my cousin, after seeing them dash around in the corral in an "eat 'am alive", fashion, decided that he didn't care for a ride. "No scene twice seen." This was generally true of our journeys. However, we made sure that our trips to the dining room were at least "twice seen" a day.

On the Thresher

But I soon lost that feeling. We started threshing. Five or four-thirty—seemed like two-thirty after working all day—was our rising time. After doing the chores, I worked like a Trojan pitching wheat. Sometimes when a fellow gets that dust and chaff in his eyes, nose, and down his throat he feels like the sea-sick passenger—he doesn't care what happens. Well, I was beginning to like the work—the day after we finished. A good experience, however.

A few days later my father returned to the ranch with Mr. A. J. Roberts and family.

So after a few more days of sojourn, I returned to the States with Mr. Eugene Roberts on one of his famous "Visit-every-body-in-Mexico" trips. Understanding the Mexican language, I enjoyed the trip greatly. My, those Mexicans have an art of making a person feel at home!

Well, friends, Mexico is a pretty bad place, isn't it?

ATTEMPTED TO EXPOSE GARVEY, NEARLY KILLED. NEAR RIOT STAGED IN WHICH CLUBS, KNIVES AND CHAIRS ARE USED IN FIGHT BETWEEN GARVEY AND ANTI-GARVEY FACTIONS.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Oct. 26.—One man was nearly murderedd and a score were badly beaten in a fight Wednesday night that broke up a meeting in the auditorium of the Sterling Hotel, called for the purpose of exposing the Garvey movement, known as the Universal Negro Improvement Association. Samuel T. Saxon, lecturer from New York City distributed circulars during the day inviting colored people to attend the meeting and "learn the truth about the Garvey movement." About 600 people attended and when Saxon arose to speak he was asked by William Ware, president of the Cincinnati U. N. I. A. division, "Did you come here to expose Garvey?" Saxon replied, "Yes." Immediately pandemonium broke loose. Some one struck Saxon with a table leg crushing him to the floor and a general fight ensued. A riot call brought police who arrested sixty of the participants and restored order. Saxon was removed to a hospital and found to have a deep stab under the right shoulder, a smashed head and a cut in the neck. He is a small man but impresses one as being full of nerve. He gave out the following story of the affair:

"I called the meeting, and gave out circulars the day before, for the purpose of telling the people the truth concerning the Gervey movement. I knew that the mass of our hard-working people did not know the truth, because they had heard only one side and that the officials were getting too much money out of the movement, to let them know just what was being done and the exposures of Garvey's methods that had been made in the courts and papers of Eastern cities I hated to see my people imposed upon, and I had no connection with Eason or any other former member of the Order. At the meeting, I stood alone, made a plain statement. WARE WAS THERE. He arose and said, 'Can I ask you a question? I said, after I get through my speech I will be glad for anybody to ask me questions, nad I want to ask some myself. He said, 'Did you come here to expose Garvey?', and I replied, yes. Then the gang rushed me."

"MOVEMENT WILL GO ON," SAYS GARVEY

NEW YORY City, Oct. 27.—Charges against Marcus Garvey for fraudulent use of the United States mail are on the docket of Federal Court for this Monday.

The Department of Justice officials have the books of the Black Star Line carefully audited. They have also collected hundreds of affidavits from people in all parts of the country to whom Mr. Garvey has sold stock.

Through his paper, The Negro World, Mr. Garvey has begun the collection of funds for legal expenses.

"Even if I go to jail," he said, "the Garvey movement will go on."

COMMISSION DELVES INTO OLD PROBLEM. TRANSPORTATION OF RACES IS SUBJECT OF MUCH SERIOUS THOUGHT.

By A. L. Jackson.

The commission finds that friction resulting from contacts on street car lines could be accounted for by the ignorance of city customs and manners on the part of the recent migrants from rural parts of the South who had not yet become adjusted to the ways and habits of their new home. Many of the disputes and unpleasant incidents were found to be trivial and usually resulted from the desire of the clerical workers to avoid too close contact with either white or Race people who wore overalls or rough dirty clothing required by the kind of work they did for a living. The report says: :

The study of contacts between whites and Negroes in street cars or other public conveyances was prompted by a usually unexplained emphasis on apparently trivial incidents connected with public conveyances, together with the observation that the greatest disturbances during the riot of 1919 commonly occured along transportation lines and at transfer points.

Although many clashes and other instances of racial friction on the street cars were not serious enough to have been reported to the newspapers or to have been made the subject of complaint, information obtained by investigators for the commission showed that the attitude of both Negroes and whites toward each other was being affected by contact on the cars.

As affecting attitudes on race relations, transportation contacts, while impersonal and temporary, are significant for several reasons. Many whites have no contact with Negroes except on the cars and their personal impression of the entire Negro group may be determined by one of two observations of Negro passengers. Unlike contacts in the school, play ground and workshop, transportation contacts are not supervised, and if there is any dispute among passengers the settlement usually rests with themselves. Suspicion or prejudice on either side because of the difference in race accentuates any misunderstanding. And transportation contacts, at least on crowded cars, involve physical contact between Negroes and whites, which rarely occur undre other circumstances and sometimes leads to a display of racial feeling.

The commission's investigators, white and Negro, men and women made many trips for observation on the 12 lines carrying the heaviest volume of Negro traffic and therefore involving the greatest amount of contact. Counts of passengers, Negro and white, were made, behavior and habits were noted, and passengers and car crews were drawn into conversation. Officials of surface and elevated lines, starters and station men were interviewed. Instances of friction which came to the attention of the commission were noted and the circumstances studied.

Traffic counts made by the Chicago Traction and Subway commission in 1916 showed 3,500,000 surface railway and 500,000 elevated railway passengers carried in a 24-hour day. Negroes constitute 4 per cent of the city's population and probably about that percentage of the city's street car traffic. Negro traffic, however, instead of being scattered over the city, is mainly concentrated upon 12 lines which traverse the Negro residential areas and connect those areas with the manufacturing district where Negroes are employed. Because of this concentration the proportion of Negroes to whites on these 12 lines is much higher than 4 per cent, and on such lines as that on State street, the principal business street of the South Side Negro residence area, it often happens that the majority of the passengers are Negroes.

No "Jim Crow" in Chicago

There is no "Jim Crow" separation of races on street cars in Chicago. Contacts of Negroes and whites on the street cars did not provoke any considerable discussion before the period of migration of Negroes from the South, when occassional stories of clashes began to be circulated; and even then, such friction as developed did not come prominently to public attention. Only one incident involving a clash was reported in the the newspapers. Even since the migration began, there have been very few complaints based upon racial friction. The Elevated Railroad company, whose South Side line has the largest Negro traffic of any elevated line, replied to inquiries that except during the riot of 1919 when a few cases of racial disorder were reported there had been no complaints from motormen or trainmen since 1918, when a trainman was cut by a Negro. No complaints from white passengers had been received since the spring of 1917, when white office workers objected to riding with stock yard laborers, mainly Negroes, on the stock yards spur of the elevated. White laborers in the stock yards mostly live within walking distance of their work, but Negroes found it necessary to use car lines running east of the main area of Negro residence. The Chicago surface lines replied that complaints due to racial friction were negligible.

Many of the migrants are laborers who must use these lines going to and from work, and many of them are rough mannered and entirely unfamiliar with standards of conduct in northern cities. Another serious factor is the recent entrance of Negroes into industry. Before the war the great majority of Negroes gainfully employed were engaged in some form of personal service which did not require use of transportation lines in their working clothes to and from the manufacturing centers. The migrants many of them coming to a city like Chicago with no "Jim Crow" segregation, felt strange and uncertain as to how they should act. In fact, peculiarities of conduct on the part of these were noted by Negroes of longer residence in Chicago, and it has been remarked by white and Negroes that they could tell a Negro migrant by his uneasy manner and often by his clothing. Conspicuous points of behavior of migrant Negroes before they became urganized, which many whites noted and commented on were: "loud laughter and talking," "old and ill-smelling clothes," roughness and his tendency to sit all over the car," These are easy to understand when one considers the background of the southern Negro. There are, on the other hand, exceptional cases where Negroes have walked miles rather than take a car, thus to avoid possible embarrassment. A Negro who has been in Chicago for a long time is not self-conscious about sitting near white persons.

The Citizens Civic League, Douglass Greer, President and R. G. Lamar, Secretary also pokes out his ghost. 32 winners out of 36 endorsements is not considered slow by any means.

A second thought we, wondered if our Colored leaders could not get together in a great harmony banquet.

And now that Governor elect Friend Richardson has ascended the political heights in California, we can really look forward for better days in which all of the people will receive at his hands due consideration.

POLITICAL PARASITES DISTURBED

The curbstone politician and political hanger on must now get down to brass tacks for it will be many moons before another campaign is on, at least the time will appear that far off with an intervening winter season in sight.

NOT UNSCATHED

Like Banquo's ghost the wet and dry issue will not down, and as a result of the campaign just closed will be to the forefront as never before. .

Some of our heretofore dependdable political workers have not emerged from the campaign just closed, unscathed and come forth in the ranks of the double crossers.

We have not as yet learned of the accomplishments of the N. A. A. C. P. in the recent election but from this distance it looks like they must have been on the firing line, in both New Jersey and in Ohio.

WELFARE LEAGUE

We like the name: "International Community Welfare League" and when such an organization is really and truly set on foot it will mean much to make conditions better for all classes of the average people. Have an interest in the welfare of your brother and sister. Predicate your rise upon a determination to raise others up with you and you are really and truly rendering the service worth while to mankind. We have a profound respect and feel like offering our best service to those who band themselves together, to help all peoples, all classes and all races.

A NOTABLE VICTORY

The results of last Tuesday's election was a notable victory for the Republican party in California and the Soaring Eagle naturally feels elated that the old ship of state made the port and registered such. A splendid victory for the entire ticket which we supported.

We are now promised a new deal and that every man or woman shall have an equal say and opportunity in our State government, a real business administration conducted really for the people and with an eye single for the conservation of the resources of the State and the pocket books of the people by a reduction in the huge expenditures as in the past few years. As a matter of fact, Mr. Richardson's campaign was predicted upon his avowed platform of economy. On this issue he won the nomination and subsequent election. Senator Johnson again gave a practical demonstration of his strength with the people and received a greater vote of confidence than ever before, there remains firm and true as one of the potent forces in our government who must always be reckoned with.

Most remarkable was the victory of the whole Republican ticket even down to the most lowly aspirant thereon.

Locally despite the onslaught made upon him the regular Republican nominee from the 74th Assembly District, F. M. Roberts, won more handily than ever before, trereby demonstrating his hold upon the affections of the people, likewise did Elmer Bromley in the 73rd humble his opponents in the dust of defeat.

WELCOME NEWS FOR JACK DEMPSEY

The news htat battling Siki has been barred from boxing in England is welcome news to Jack Dempsey, for ever since the fighting Sengalese put Carbeen a nightmare in Dempsey's pentier down and out he has path.

HOW ABOUT THE DYER BILL NOW?

Unless President Harding calls an extra session of Congress the Dyer Anti-Lynching bill is doomed, of this fact there is absolutely no question. It was a big blunder to adjourn in the first place without passing this measure. Had this been attended to there is no question but that the party would have retained many seats which were lost at the election on last Tuesday. Colored voters throughout the country were worked up to the highest possible pitch on this measure and nothing that they could accomplish was left undone and the member of Congress who had evaded the bill or of whom there was the slightest suspicion that they were not in favor of it, received absolutely no consideration. To our mind we are of the opinion that our President for the best interest of all concerned should call a special session and pass the Dyer bill.

ON THE STREET CARS

We note in Chicago papers an agitation is going forth calling upon our people for better conduct on street cars and in public places, and citing instances where such conduct has been the cause of not only physical combats, but an agitation which threatens to stir up endless racial strife and a possible attempt to segregation. This identical situation to a large extent is manifest here in the metropolis of the Pacific Coast and unless this boistrous element is curbed it will eventually have a far reaching effect right at our doors and for this reason every good and law abiding citizen should do their utmost to strive for an elimination by drastic action those who are wont to raise disturbances on street cars without any real reason for doing so. We have here in this bailiwick a fine set of officials and citizens who stand for justice and fair play and we should retain this amiable condition to the utmost by holding up the standard of being real first class citizens.

ARE YOU A MAN?

Well then! Meet all the other men at the Independent Church on Sunday Nov. 19, morning and evening. Everything will be done by men. A fine musical and literary program has been arranged. Rev. Anderson will deliver the sermon in the morning and there will be three live wire speakers in the evening.

You cannot afford to be absent from these services on this special day. If you stay away you are losing something.

Are you a man? Well then, be there!—11-11-r-2.

TRAGEDY REVIEW

Right here, dear readers and mothers, I must say-tell your children the truth and thereby lesson the chances for such pathetic ending as that of Sarah Cleas.

As I said in the preceeding paragraphs "Even a child maketh himself known by his doings," think of the greatness fo the above Biblical quotation.. and then read Prov. 20:11.

The time is now ripe—there is no such thing, as having to commit suicide as a relief to conquer the pent up anguish in one's soul to appease a hallucination because there ran in an ancestor's veins a strain of Negro Blood. Not "Taint". No a thousand times, No, a Strain of Negro Blood.

Who first put that strain of Negro Blood there? It must have been evidently desired otherwise it would not be potent. Why then not accept it and straight forward cease beguilment? Why not plant the seed of Truth, Confidence and Equality? Where is he or she who had the creation of self in his own hands? Whose fault is it that all were not born white, yellow, brown or black? Does color make the man or woman? Are they all not endowed with the sense of sight, feeling, tasting, smelling and hearing? Why all the commotion on account of the color of the skin or texture of the hair? Plant the seed of Truth manfully and womanly as once planted it is everlasting reproductive in its likeness and image whose ideals are incommensurate and whose virtues are past ascertaining.

Where to Attend Church

SECOND BAPTIST CHURCH—
Maple between 7th and 8th Avenue.
Dr. T. L. Griffith, Pastor.

Sunday-school was well attended and the lesson enthusiastically taught by the teachers. In the absence of our Superintendent Johnson, due to illness, Assistant Superintendent Bate served. The pastor gave his usual animated and interesting review.

The beautiful solo preceeding the morning sermon sung by Madame Florence Cole-Talbert was listened to with grateful appreciation by the splendid congregation that filled the church auditorium. Selecting his text from Rom. 8:9, "The Acid Test of Christian Experience," Dr. Griffith preached with uplifting power and emphatic conviction. When the spirit of Jesus Christ takes possession of man,, the believer lays down the arms of sin, surrenders all, and becomes a captive of Jesus. This surrender implies love, sacrifice, service. As Christ loved the world, so must his follower show the spirit of love; as Christ sacrificed, so the Christian must sacrifice in a practical way that will bbring results to forward the work of the Kingdom; as Christ served, so must the diciple help bear and lighten the burden of others, and serve his fellow-man. Where the spirit of Christ prevails there is not only willingness to love, sacrifice, and serve, but liberty, joy, and hope fills the soul.

Following the fine sermon from the Song of Solomon 6:::10, upon the principles of the church, the Lord's Supper was administered at the evening service. A large number of communicants received the administration and renewed their covenant. One member was received.

MT. ZION BAPTIST CHURCH—
Third Street and Traction Avenue.
Rev. Archie J. Williams, A. B., Pastor.

Sunday November 5th was another big day in Zion. Both services were well attended. At the morning service Rev. Tins of Washington spoke from the subject "Get Acquainted with God." At the evening service, Rev. J. D. Shockley of Rome, Ga., spoke—subject "I am He that Liveth."

Miss Idell Albritton and Mrs. Alberta Franklin took the duet part in the anthem "Near My God to Thee" while their brother Mr. Albritton took the solo part.

The Mt. Zion choir is holding its own under the leadership of Sister F. B. Murray. When you want to hear good singing come to Mt.Zion.

At our business meeting last Wednesday we found that our financial returns for October doubled those of September and that September itself was one and one half times more than August. So you see we are growing. One addition in membership was made in October. Many of the old members of Mt. Zion are beginning to fall in line with us.

The pastor will speak at both services next Sunday morning, subject: "Under the Eyes of the Allmighty." Evening subject: "The Life Giving Word."

GOOD MUSIC. ALL WELCOME.

LINCOLN MEMORIAL CHURCH—
34th Street and Central Avenue.
Rev. E. E. Lightner, Pastor.

The past Sunday was Communion Day at Lincoln and a large number of members and friends partook of the Lord's Supper. The Pastor occupied the pulpit at both hours, speaking at the morning service on: "Fidelity to Old Friends." The theme of the evening message was: "The Ever-present Christ." There were two accessions to the membership during the day.

This Sunday Nov. 12th will have good things in store for us. The pastor will fill the pulpit at both hours. In the evening he will give the third in his series on: "Across the Continent and Back," in which experiences and lessons from his recent trip will be given. You are cordially invited to worship with us at all times.

GRANT CHAPEL A. M. E. CHURCH,
Compton and Fountain Avenue, Watts.
Rev. J. W. Price, Pastor.
Res. 202 Thaxter St.

Our pastor, Rev. J. W. Price spoke at both services morning and evening and every heart was filled with the spirit. He brought out such deep spiritual truths as is his custom, after which general class was conducted and then the spirit was truly manifested. This being Communion Day the church felt highly gratified in the manner of attendance. The choir was up to the standard. Two persons united with the church. We are glad to say the sick in our community is improving. A cordial welcome extended to all.

The Grant Chapel Choir of Watts, entertained Thursday evening Nov. 2 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Taft, 1121 Compton Ave., in honor of the Pastor, Dr. Price and wife, and Choir Director, L. G. Eggleston and wife. Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Bartlett and Mrs. Emma Smith of Los Angeles were invited guests. Vocal numbers were rendered by Choir members, the party was enhanced by Mr. Bartlett's brief review of his Eastern trip.

The climax came when each person was requested to dress for Dinner, after donning the headgear of many colors,, the guests were ushered to the Dining room, and under that mysterious influence of Hallowe'en a bountiful repast was served. All departed loudly acclaiming that this wonderful committee: Mistresses Daniels, Stanton, Koerber and Brown could not be excelled.

ITEMS FROM WARD CHAPEL

Four persons have joined this church recently and others have said they were going to join. The New Choir was organized last Friday night with 13 members. They are to adopt Constitution and [illegible]

Pastor Ward played the roll of presiding elder and minister in charge last Sunday because our presiding elder was out of the state. The occasion was the first quarterly meeting for this conference year and we had a good old fashioned Methodist meeting. Rev. Ward preached on "Keeping the Feast" at 11 a. m.; and in response to the invitation, nine persons came to the alter and united with the church. With two accessions on Thursday evening there were eleven accessions to our membership this week. Rev. H. B. Gantt preached at 7:30 p. m. Prof. Bartlett and the choir did credit to themselves and the church in the rendition of good singing. This was a splendid feature of both services. Holy communion was served morning and evening. Two Hundred-twenty-five dollars was the offering for the day. Many out of town visitors well as prominent persons of our city worshiped with us. Pastor Ward rejoices in the fact that forty four persons have joined our ranks since conference. Several of these were converts.

WESLEY M. E. CHURCH—
Eighth and San Julian Streets.
Rev. A. P. Shaw, Pastor.

Sunday was a great day at Wesley. The sermon in the morning by Rev. J. C. Anderson was of unusual power. Our hearts were made to burn within us while he talked with us about the way of life. The pastor preached at the evening hour. There were three accessions to the member ship during the day.

This is Exchange Sunday at Wesley. Rev. S. M. Beane will preach in the evening. The pastor of Wesley will preach at Scott's Chapel, Pasadena in the morning and at Hamilton at night.

Special effort will be put forth to make this one of the greatest days for our churches on the Pacific Coast.

Come and worship with us.

BIRCH ST. CHRISTIAN CHURCH—
F. C. Cothran, Minister

This church was the recipient of a rare treat last Lord's day. At 11 o'clock A. M. Dr. H. B. Gantt of the Zion A .M. E. Church, graced the pulpit, and delivered a great message, which was of telling effect upon the hearts and lives of all who heard it. Those who missed it, missed a blessing of infinite value. Dr. Gantt spoke upon the subject "No Room for Christ," Luke 2:7. He declared that the human heart is so occupied, as was Bethlehem's inn, so that there is no room in hte human life for Christ. By many vivid illustrations and striking analysis, he sent home to the hearts of the hearers, the truth of the lesson of Dr. Gantt, for those of the members that were absent. Dr. Gantt aside from professional training is a preacher of great natural ability.

At 8:00 p. m. we had a fine sermon by the assistant pastor, I. J. Williams. We were very much pleased to have among our visitors, Mr. Rouse of Chicago, Ill. and Mrs. Woods of Watts, Calif.

Another feature of sadness came to us, in the death of Mrs. Lottie Bowman, daughter of one of our deacons, brother Gooch, 439 No. Mountain View, whose funeral took place Monday, Nov. 6th, 1:00 o'clock P. M. at this church. Revs. E. A. Carter, Alexander, T. L. Griffith and F. C. Cothran officiating. She was tenderly laid to rest in Evergreen Cemetery. The beautiful floral pieces, which were borne to and from the casket by twenty-four ladies, bespoke of the very high esteem in which she was held.

We anticipate a day of unusual interest, next Lord's day. Preaching, 11:00 a. m. and 8:00 p. m. Bible School, 9:45 a. m. and Christian Endeavor 7:00 p. m. You are always welcome to all of the services of this church.

FIRST A. M. E. ZION CHURCH—
Cor. Pico and Paloma
Rev. W. E. Shaw, Pastor
Res. 1217 Paloma

Impressive indeed were the services on last Sabbath. The morning theme was on "Talents." So clear and concisive was this message that the youngest childd could grap it ,if he had any intelligence at all. One young lady accepted of Christ.

The evening service was another treat. "The Meanest Thing in the World," proved to be the ninth commandment, "Thou Shalt not Bear False Witness against thy neighbor." God knows there is nothing meaner and more deserving of punishment. We need more of these kind of sermons. We had many a lying tongue well interpreted.

The services were well attended all day. Come out on next Sunday and hear some of these wonderful messages. Bible Class 6 o'clock; Christian Endeavor 7 o'clock; Sunday School, 9:30 a. m.; Preaching Services 11 a. m. and 8 p. m.

Don't forget the mid-week services, Wednesday night. All are welcome to attend all services. Visitors and friends will find a cordial welcome here.

Mrs. Bertha Spruell never sang to better advantage than on last Sunday; in fact the Choir deserves both praise and appreciation.

CHRIST TEMPLE CHURCH—
Elder C. P. Jones, Pastor.
Corner Thirty-Seventh nad Naomi Sts.

Sunday, the 5th instant was a day of great rejoicing for the people of God at this place. All services were glorious, replete with wisdom and instruction.

At 9:45 5the faithful superintendent Brother S. Chisley was at his post of duty and began the services of the day by opening Sunday School.

At 11:30 Pastor C. P.. Jones preached a strong sermon to the young men, taking as a subject, "Whose son art thou?" Text: And Saul said to him, "Whose son art thou.. thou young man?" 1 Sam. 17:58.

The young people held a good meeting at 7:00 o'clock p. m. After an interesting and helpful Bible lesson, the constitution for hte Union was read and adopted. Fred McAlister is making an ideal president .

At 8:30, the Pastor delivered a Spirit filled and instructive message upon the subject: "Wresting the Scriptures, and the danger of doing things." Text: As also in all his epistles, speaking ih them of these things; in which are some things hard to be understood, which they that are unlearned and unstable wrest, as they do, also the other Scriptures, unto their onw destruction." 2 Peter 3:16.

All services had an increased attendance.

HAMILTON M. E. CHURCH—
E. 18th Street and Naomi Ave.
Rev. S. M. Beane, Pastor.

Sunday services were much enjoyed at this church on last Lord's day. The Pastor preached at the morning and evening hours, sermons that were much enjoyed and appreciated by the large number of auditors that were present. The communion of the Lord's Supper was administered.

The Sunday School continues to grow in interest and enthusiasmm, and the Epworth League bids fair to be one of the very best, furnishing programs that are at once interesting and profitable.

Sunday Nov. 12th is exchange day with the Methodist pastors. At 11:00 o'clock Rev. Jordan of Pasadena will preach at Hamilton, Rev. Bean will preach at Wesley and Rev. Shaw will preach at Pasadena. At 7::30 p. m. Rev. Jordan will preach at Wesley, Rev. Shaw at Hamilton and Rev. will preach at Pasadena. This is a friendly contest, and each pastor will try and take in more members, nad money than the other. All the members of each church are urged to be present.

On Tuesday night, November the 14th, there will be at Hamilton, a Harvest Home Festival of music, under the direction of Prof. Walter Howard, assisted by the choirs of the Wesley M. E. Church, The First A. M. EE. Zion Church, the C. M. E. Church, and the Hamilton M. E. Church. This promises to be a rare treat, and all persons are cordially invited to be present.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

By William Narcisse.

Ray Hurd, end on last year's football team, at Lincoln High, came back to school last Tuesday. Hurd, although he did not succeed in making his letter, "knows his stuff" when it comes to holding down a flank position. He is out every night, showing the same old pep and spirit he displayed last season, he will be a terror to his opponents.

Last Friday at Jefferson High, Santa Monica High's football team was entertained by the local school in a practice tilt. Although no actual score was kept, Jefferson simply outclassed them from beginning to end. Jack "Husky" Pryer was quite instrumental in the afternoon's proceedings, bucking the line for huge gains time and again. Occasionally he ripped off end runs to good advantage, and once he picked up a fumble and had a clear field to a touchdown. "Husky" holds down the fullback berth, and for a large man, he is by no means slow. Carly "Spark Plug" Williams, diminutive Democrat halfback, also proved himself capable of filling that position. "Spark Plug" is very elusive, and very fleet of foot. William Brisco, veteran guard, also made a creditable showing, by keeping his part of the line intact, and on the offense, he opened large holes for his team-mates to plod thru.

The outstanding star of the lightweight team is Jimmy Simms, of baseball repute, who hails from Long Beach High School. While there he held down second base on the baseball team, he also has the distinction of being the only race lad to receive a letter from that institution. Sims is playing tackle, and he never fails to break thru the opposing line and nail the runner for a loss. Robert Jackson, also of Jefferson, is showing up well as a halfback, and should make the team. Charlie Dade is also making a name for himself, as a halfback. With such an array of lads, Jeff should turn out some pretty good teams.

Last Friday the Lincoln lightweights journeyed over to Montebello to tackle their first team. Addison Carter, tackle, played the game of his life, at that post. On several occasions he nailed the runner back of the line, for five and six yard losses. Otis Whizzar played a smashing game at half back; hence he got loose and made a spectacular 40 yd. run. The writer also performed in the backfield.

NIGHT IN AUTUMN

O night, wondrous night—
Crystal and beautiful
With myriad stars resplendent,
No fleecy clouds,
Nor fogs are hanging now.
Only the moon—
The silver celestial disc,
Sheds its light
Beneath the brilliant dome
Of night.

SERE AND YELLOW

How perfect and complete is the autumn. How beautifully does the master hand of nature give color to the world.

Spring is clothed in exquisite hues. The purple of violets, the red and white roses, and the gold of poppies blend harmoniously with every shade of yellow and blue. With the rebirth of flowers and trees, and shrubbery, the world becomes one huge land scape, a masterpiece of the artist—Nature.

Then comes the summer. Skies of softest blue, and songs of birds give ample proof that earth's grand artist is at work giving new life and inspiration.

But autumn is different. The days are short; birds have taken flight to a warmer climate, and flowers begin to droop and fade, and die. Hills are sarple and hazy. Everywhere one looks he sees plant life turning brown and decaying. Just as the death of mortal man who has lived in peace

IN THE MUSIC WORLD

By John A. Gray

Most parents make one great mistake in following up the musical education of their children. They expect their children to measure up with all other children in point of musical development. At first sight this does not seem to be an unreasonable thing to want, but when we think about it a bit, the absurdity of it is quite apparent. One might as well expect every pupil in a school to stand at the head of his class or every competitor in a contest to win first prize. In bestowing her gifts, nature makes no effort to give each person the same quantity and quality. Nearly every one falls short of the right amount of some fundamental requisite. This fact is overlooked in most of our schools, especially High Schools, where a certain standard is set by which all children are measured. Very often the brightest scholar in a class will appear dull when transferred to another school in which there are pupils brighter than he. In other words he was bright because the majority of the class was dull. This made him appear brighter by comparison. A man is champion of a certain sport until he meets and competes with someone who is superior. The best or greatest in any line is best or greatest just so long as it is measured with thing inferior. The moment it is measured with equal or superior things it suffers by the comparison.

This being true, the bright child, then, in a dull class deserves little credit because he has to exert himself but little in order to kee pahead of the others. On the other hand, the dul lchild feels himself to be very stupid because he is so slow. Yet, all pupils are graded alike and all pupils must have a certain number of credits before being allowed to graduate. The result? At least ninety-five per cent of all High School students are working for credits and credits inly. A remedy for this would be to determine beforehand the mental equipment of a child and then classify him accordingly. For instance, the subject of mathematics might be taught in a class in which all of the students were bright pupils. Each child would then be compelled to exert himself to the fullest extent in order to keep up with the class.

The music student who reads well might get through more pages of music in less time than one who does not read well. Yet the slow pupil in most cases is the one who is more thorough and who really is advancing faster. The parents do not consider this and expect their little one to "get through the book" as fast as any other child. Some children are born with more natural talent also, and can reach a stage of development that other children can never reach. What might be considered good work for some pupils would in reality be poor work for a talented pupil. A standard of measurement should be relative to the ability of the pupil.

MUSIC TEACHERS' CONVENTION

The Second Annual Convention of local teachers of music was held on Wednesday, September 26th at the Independent Church. The session was marked by much enthusiasm and cordiality. A very fine program was given. Vocal solos by Mrs. Naomi Pharr ,Mr. Thomas Johnson and piano and violin solos by Miss Robert V. Edwards and Miss Evelyn Kennedy well received. Short talks by Miss Hazel Gottschalk, Miss Nelle Johnson and Mrs. Bessie Dones were interesting as well as instructive. Attv. Lewis Beeks was the principal speaker and paid a beautiful tribute to music with a poetic bit of eloquence. Miss Maudetta Rosemond introduced the teachers. Many fine resolutions were adopted for the coming year. These conventions are given under the direction of the local branch of the National Association of Negro Musicians.

EDUCATIONAL NOTES

U. S. C. NEWS

(By Arthur E. Prince)

The University of Soutern California opened its fall term with a greatly increased enrollment. This year's registration has already far surpassed tht of previous years. The total enrollment of Colored students this yearr shows a very marked increase, numbering close to fifty.

While a number of students of last year have failed to register for the fall term, many old timers have returned to register in the Sophomore, Junior and Senior classes respectively. Those registering as seniors are Hugh Bell and John Rout of Dentistry; Howard Allen and Arthur Prince of Liberal Arts; John Taylor, Clifford Prince, H. Adams, F. Driver, J. Birch, J. Benton of Pharmacy. In the Junior Class are Miss Alma Thomas, John Riddle, Thomas Reid of Liberal Arts; Paul Moore, Oscar Stokes and C. Austin of Pharmacy. Sophomores include Miss Griffith, Messrs. Thomas and Lloyd Griffith and Lamar Prater of Liberal Arts and Miss Rowena Muckelroy of Music.

Many new faces are seen on the campus of the Methodist Institution. In the class of '27. Miss Fay Jackson, majoring in Philosophy, Miss Laura Lynwood of New York, majoring in Chemistry and Physics and Mr. Sango S. Dye, majoring also in Chemistry. In the College of Pharmacy, Miss Edythe Bell, Mr. Byrce Taylor, the football star fro mSeattle, Wash. and Mr. Leonard Day. Over at the College of Music, Miss Robines Robinson and Miss Leonidas Simmons. Mr. D. A. Hawkins, formerly of Galedega College registered as a third year Pre-Medic Student.

At the College of Law, Miss Helen Wheeler and James McGregor have registered.

The colored people of Los Angeles should be proud of the increased enrollment of their boys and girls in this institution. However, they should not stop here, but urge a great enrollment of race students for each succeeding year, as the enrollment of Negro students in Southland universities is not near in proportion to what it should be.

"As dangerous as a thought" will be one of the accepted expressions of the twentieth century. More and more, men are beginning to learn the power of thought. It will be seen in your face; heard in your voice; every gesture will reveal it. So thoughts like words should never be careless. If we realize how like tools words are, we would hesitate often before speaking. The spectacle of a man abjectly asking a favor from one whom he had berated, was not a very inspiring sight, but it is hoped that it may prove a well learned lesson.

Did you ever pause to think that the tallest butiding in the world was built by the brains of one man, and the five and ten cent pieces of millions of men. It is an object lesson for co-operation. A lesson that we as a race should learn.

PERSONAL MENTION

Our Church is still enjoying the effects of the National Baptist Convention which met in Los Angeles early in September. Nearly every service is visited by one or more of these delegates who bring to us messages of uplift and encouragement.

Company "A" Social Organization gave a "welcome home" to their President, C. Mills, on Saturday evening, Sept. 23rd at the home of Mr. and Mrs. I. A. Teat . Owing to the new system of collecting Pledge Money suggested by Dr. Divine, the necessity of monthly meetings was eliminated but the group has enjoyed their association and work together for the past year and decided to hold reunions every three months as a remembrance of old times. They made a donation as a group of $23.50 towards the Building Fund.

Mr. and Mrs. William Butler will be at home this month at 132 Dayton St. Patronesses of Mrs. Butler's Sewing Parlors will pleace take note.

Our Choir had the honor and pleasure of accepting an invitation to furnish the music for the First Baptist Church of Los Angeles at the evening service, September 30th They rendered complete satisfaction. Arrangements are being made for their early return there. Too much cannot be said of the loyalty of this band of Christian workers who have stood the test and who seem to improve with use.

The Church observed its First Quarterly Conference on Oct. 3rd, with the Trustees acting as hosts.

Meeting one of the greatest needs of our people in Pasadena, Atty Phillips is erecting a new Fire Proof Office Building for our enterprises on Dayton Street just west of Fair Oaks Avenue

The smaller Churches are catching the vision and the trend of affairs and are busying themselves to make God's House of Worship more attractive or are erecting new ones in the place of the old. The Olivet Church at Portland, Ore., where I had the pleasure of speaking to the morning congregation, has for its edifice a new stone structure, nearing the stage of completion. I have been impressed with the fact that we must realize and sail into our opportunity with the utmost endeavor or fall behind in the great march of Progressive Christianity. We have every reason to be proud of our position thus far, but pride will not carry on the battle the rest of the way.

SENIOR MISSIONARY

The Society is glad to report to the public that the Society sent two delegates to the Women's Work Assembly the National Baptist Convention.

Our Representatives were:

Sis. I. H. Ford and Sis. A. L. Smith and others of our members also went and learned many good things. We are very glad that The Women's Home and Foreign Missionary of the Friendship Baptist Church of Pasadena has a voice in this great National Baptist Convention. The chairman of the different Committees are very busy working out plans that would best suit the Society to raise funds to carry its part of the burden.

On Tuesday night of last week this Society gave a shower for Brother and Sister Burch, who have been recently blessed with twins. This affair was held at 516 Oak Knoll Ave. We trust the members did their part for the twins.

We have had quite a number of sick people but we have been able to comfort and help each one.

Sister A. L. SMITH, Pres.
Sister ESTHER SMITH, Sec'y.

The parade will be one the most important features. A Committee composed of Messrs. Ed. Sweet, Fletcher, Smith and Thomas Durham will have this in charge. They will come to you very soon now to enlist the services of your auto for a little while on the day of the parade so that every child can be taken.

We are inclined to consider that the hard tasks, the oppositions, the obstructions, the problems and the set-backs that we encounter, are a condition under which we alone are struggling. No greater mistake could be made than to hold this viewpoint for I have found that every group, whether large or small, engaged in a progressive move has its regular quota of obstructionists who have failed to get the vision, or, having obtained the vision, lack the necessary faith and courage to launch out on the effort.

The work of the staff, during the summer under Mr. Van Williams with Dr. Divine as Commander-in-Chief was most gratifying and it is an inspiration and an incentive indeed to find the Church in all of its branches, generally speaking, in such a healthy condition. —EDITOR

EASTSIDE REALTY COMPANY ANNOUNCES GENERAL INSURANCE DEPARTMENT INNOVATION IN THE FIELD OF RACIAL BUSINESS ENDEAVOR

With this issue, the Eastside Realty Company, 1437 Central Avenue, carries an announcement of teeming interest to our people. This is notice to the public that they have established a General Insurance Department, issuing all types of insurance, such as underwriting Bonds for contracts or bids, fidelity, sureties, Administrators, Trustees, Guardians, Public Officials, Lodge Officers, Attachments, etc.

This company of which Mr. R. L. Ingram is Secretary, Mr. F. L. Banks, President, and Mr. O. L. Banks, Treasurer, was the pioneer among racial enterprises, in the real estate subdivision field. They are again trailblazing in the realm of General Insurance. The service offered the public in this connection will be the same as would be given by the Metropolitan, the Prudential, or any of the highest class insurance companies or agencies in the city.

The East side Realty Company solicits your Insurance Business!

DON'T LET THE SUN GO DOWN ON YOU HERE. THIS IS THE MAN'S COUNTRY. BACK TO WE DON'T WANT YOU HERE!

For the words that are left out in the above if you are interested, I will ask you to drive out Brooklyn Ave. until you come to Belvedere Gardens and you will see what we have reference to, and then ask yourself, "How long ha sit been since I saw a similar sign and how long will it be before I will see another one that may apply to me?"

For that reason we have searched Southern California rather thoroughly for homes and places of peace and happiness as far as this earth can afford for our people. We have temporarily settled on our present new tract now being plotted and made ready for you and such of your neighbors who are far-seeing enough to purchase a home while a home is purchaable to them. This is not a speech, this is a fact that you cannot deny, and a warning to the sane thinkpeople, that the first purchased always has th efirst choice and the last has what is left.

We have Five Hundred dallars lots, 50 x 140 ft. that we are going to sell the first purchaser for $350, 10 per cent down and 2 1- 2 per cent per month. Temporary homes will be allowed and nice homes will be in order. Water and Electricity is already on the property and graded streets are included in the price.

To those who are interested, our subdivision is right in the midst of orange and lemon groves. To those who are interested in poultry raising, I could recommend no better locality. Those who are not slaves to city life entirely will find this locality very convenient for both.

Lots will sell for $100 down and $5.00 per week; $25.00 down and $15.00 per month or 10 per cent down and 2 1-2 per month.

I will sell these lots on easy terms so that each and every person will find them within his reach. Two lots only will be allowed to each person.

HOW TO GET THERE—

Call up Humboldt 6759 or come to 1450 Central Ave. and make arrangements and we will be glad to show you the property.

DO YOU WISH TO LEARN TO DANCE? HERE'S YOUR OPPORTUNITY

Hassey who has taught dancing in the East for a number of years has located in Los Angeles, teaching both ball-room and fancy dancing in the Hiawatha Dancing Academy, 1824 Central Ave. beginning Monday evening, Oct. 1st. Monday and Wednesday evenings will be devoted to the teaching of ball-room dancing, from 7:30 to 8:30. Tuesday evenings 7:30 to 8:30, to teaching the ladies and gentlemen step dancing. WILL RENDER UNIQUE PROGRAM BY MEN ONLY

What promises to be something rare and truly interesting, will be the concert given Tuesday evening, Oct. 16, at the New Hope Baptist Church by a chorus of 25 male voices, which has been training for several weeks under the direction of Viola H. Brandon.

Besides numbers by the chorus there will be special numbers by some of the very best male talent in the city.

Owing to the fact man was never able to accomplish anything without the assistance of woman, one lady will appear on the program, in the person of Madam Anna Range, who will sing the part of "Leonora" in the rendition of the "Miserere Scene" from "Il Trovatore."

This one number in itself promises to be worth the admission price, which is only 35 Cents.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Ground Breaking at the Christian Church, Sunday, October 7th, at 3:00 p. m. The 33rd and Hooper Avenue Christian Church will break ground for its new Church Home. Some of the most public spirited people of the city will participate in our program. The famous New Hope Baptist Church Choir together with our choir will furnish the music. Madam Viola Harris Brandon, Directress of New Hope, and Madam Bertha Spurill, Directress of Christian Church Choir. The public in general is invited.

PEOPLES' GROCERY STORE BRANCHES OUT

We are very pleased to note the move of progress of the Peoples' Grocery Store located on 9th and Hemlock Streets, by opening a branch store at 1581 1-2 E. 21st Street. This is indeed a real mark of progress and the fact that this business venture is owned and controlled by three of our young business men, is commendable indeed and the people should rally to their support. They conduct a general grocery business and will be prepared at all times to give the best possible service, thereby living up to their motto of—"Service The Best FOR THE LEAST."

T. E. SMITH OF OAKLAND ADDRESSES THE FORUM

The Forum was favored on last Sunday with a most forceful and inspiring address by Mr. T. E. Smith, who formerly resided in this city but who is now a progressive insurance man of Oakland, California. Mr. Smith is a pleasing speaker and aroused his hearers to the greatest of enthusiasm. He has been visiting Southern California for the past ten days leaving this week for his home in the North. Mr. Smith is one of our thinkers and a booster for all race enterprises. Not a narrow streak about him, he believes in "All men up and no man down."

NEWS OF CALIFORNIA STATE

SANTA BARBARA NEWS

Services were very enjoyable and largely attended all day last Sunday at Second Baptist Church. Rev. Dr. J. W. Wilson of Kansas City, Kans., occupied the pulpit for both morning and evening services and preached to the delight of all present. In the morning the subject: "The Mysteries and Miracles of Religion," while "Life's Finished Mission" furnished the subject for the evening discourse. The spirit of the Lord was present and blessed the hearts of the worshippers as the message was delivered with power.

We had the pleasure of having with us also Mrs. J. W. Wilson who with her husband began in the morning in the Sunday School and delivered an address in his quiet, unassuming way to the Sunday School, Church and B Y. P. U. which was inspiring to both young and old alike. Dr. Wilson and wife have been friends for a number of years of the pastor of Second Baptist Church, Rev H. B. Thomas.

We also have as visitors in our city with a possibility of making it their future home, Rev. and Mrs. Dr. James, of Dayton, Ohio, who were among the worshippers Sunday at Second Baptist, and who are numbered among our distinguished leaders in America as Professors.

Dr. James with his accomplished wife also delivered an address which was enjoyed and edifying to the congregation. Through his diligence and life of service to the Master, Dr. James has lived to reap the age of eighty two years and reads without glasses and has the appearance of a much younger man. He also has the distinction of being baptized in 1855. Mrs. James through her visit here has had the pleasure of meeting a brother whom she has not seen in over thirty years and his wife with three beautiful children, who have been residents here for some years—Mr. and Mrs Frank Wilson.

tin and little son, Allwyn, were week-end guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Wilson and Mrs. Sophia Hurd on Montecito Street a short time ago as tourists from Greenville, Texas, visiting old time friends.

Mrs. M. L. Jones of Houston, Texas and Mrs. Jessie Hood, her sister now of Los Angeles but formerly of Houston, were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Wilson in their beautiful home on Montecito street and was the occasion for a tea setting Sunday afternoon on their departure for home.

Flowers of the season daintly arranged could be seen in profusion around while the repast consisting of tea sandwiches and cake and wafers was also daintly served Mrs. Mason of Santa Barbara Street poured tea. A goodly number were present. Mrs. Jones paid a high compliment to Mrs. Wilson as an old friend with many others who have known her a much shorter time. Mrs. Wilson has proved herself a genial hostess and loved by all who know her. Mrs. Jones left Sunday night for San Francisco, before returning home. While her sister, Mrs. Hood who accompanied her from Los Angeles, returned to the Southern city.

The many friends of Mr. N. T. Hill will be glad to learn that he is much improved since being brought home

Mrs. Dr. Taylor and Mrs. Lulu Gat from the National Convention in Los Angeles in a dazed condition two weeks ago. He is able to be up and out walking around again.

Mr. Curtis Shannon who has been in the cottage hospital for a few days is much better and expected to be brought home some time this week.

Mr. William Thomas of Gray Ave., is also slowly improving.

Tommy Pruitt has left the city for the University College, at Kansas City, Mo.

Rev. C. A. Harris, pastor of St. Paul A. M. E. Church, Miss Esther Donald, President of the Christian Endeavor and others left as delegates for the Convention in Los Angeles, Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Price celebrated their first anniversary or linen wedding, Sept. 17, 1923, at Second Baptist Church. It was indeed a lovely affair. A host of their friends were present to wish the couple much joy and happiness on their Bonnie Voyage over life's tempestuous sea.

They received many useful gifts. Mrs. Lillian Burke poured tea for the guests.

Mr. Eugene Shans and family spent Sunday in Los Angeles visiting relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Williams and mother, Mrs. B. F. Nauman, of Greely Ave., San Diego, Cal., were guests of Mr. and Mrs Fitch, in the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. Chapman, on Hiley St. Also Mr. and Mrs. George Jones on Santa Barbara Street this city on their tour of the Northern cities. They will migrate as far North as San Francisco returning home in the near future.

Mrs. A. M. Carter of 2541 Glenarm Place, Denver, Colo., were house guests of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Jones of Santa Barbara Street. Also Mrs. E. Galbraith and Mr. Irvine on last Sunday. Mrs. Carter formerly of Waco, Texas, Mrs. Galbraith also of that city and Mrs. Jones were schoolmates and had not met in over thirty years. They returned Sunday evening to Los Angeles from which place Mrs. Carter expects to leave in about two weeks for her home in Denver.

The trip was made in Mrs. Galbraith's Kissel sedan. Mrs. Carter, very much like the rest of the visitors, fell in love with beautiful Santa Barbara.

Mrs. Georgia Lawson, President of the Women's Home and Foreign Mission Society, entertained Monday afternoon from 2:30 to 5:00 p. m. with her co-workers in honor of the distinguished visitors of our race in the city, Rev. Dr. Wilson and wife and Rev. Dr. James and wife, the former of Kansas City, Kansas and the latter of Dayton, Ohio.

Sandwiches, tea and coffee cake and cream composed the menu. The Church dining room was arranged and the tables decorated for the occasion. A number of guests were present. Addresses were made by each guest of honor individually which was encouraging, instructive and complimentary to Santa Barbara and citizens with responses by Mrs. E. J. Alexander, Mrs. Daniel Adams, Mrs. H. B. Thomas, Mrs. Simms, also from Kansas and last but not least Rev. H. B. Thomas, who also told of the effort put forth by him to erect a seventy-five thousand dollar building to be used for a Y. W. C. A. or working girls home for the protection of the Women or our race, but was defeated from so doing and in stead is now putting a building on the ground purchased by himself of which one room will consist of a reading or recreation center room with privilege of getting select literature by those who desire to do so and read undisturbed during idle moments Dr. Wilson also expressed a desire to live in beautiful Santa Barbara and said he might some day realize the desire of his heart.

Many pleasureful moments were spent in dining and chatting heart to heart talks being in evidence and on parting it was with regret that those present learned that Rev Dr. Wilson and wife would be leaving on the following day but all requested a speedy return.

Mr. William Burke, Superintendent of Second Baptist Sunday School, has joined the rank of business men and occupies a house at No. 333 Anacapa Street, where he has furnished it with all new up-to-date furniture with a sign —rooms for rent Mr. Burke is not running opposition but wishes co-operation with those in business like himself as the steady growth of the city needs and demands it.

The annual sermon of the 13th Anniversary of 2nd Baptist Church was preached by Rev. A. W. Catherwood of the First Baptist (white) of this city to a packed house. Prayer was offered by Deacon Wilson of Galeta First Baptist Church (white) and an excellent service was rendered by the choir The text of the discourse was taken from Jno. 14:20 and was a masterpiect of eloquence and logic. Many of the members of our sister church helped to celebrate this 13th year, which has been the most successful in the history of this church and which has enjoyed its marked success under the leadership of pastor H. R. Thomas, who has been with us all through these years.

The members of the Starlight Band under the leadership of Mrs. John Stewart will begin to prepare for a winter of interesting work this month. And promise much for the growth of that auxiliary of Second Baptist Church.

Call 1510-W for news or address 608 1-2 Sta. Barbara Street.

RETRIBUTION

Officials, Boards, Courts and juries failed to give Arthur Valentine justice, when he and his party were set upon by the turbulent deputy sheriff A. M. Cooper two years ago at Santa Monica and in a ferocious rush dealt out misery and near death to Mr. Valentine and his party. Cooper was reported. The sheriff failed to discharge him, the Civil Service Board passed the buck. The Supervisors passed the buck, but the Grand Jury indicted him, the Sheriff never relieved him of duty pending his trial. He was tried but a deep seated prejudice resulted in a hung jury and therefore the case was finally dismissed. However, an unerring judgment on this ferocious Cooper has come to pass and just a few days hence, he pounced upon a white man, and he got all that was coming to him, he got the beating of a life time, he got what he gave Valentine and then some, he has lost his job as Deputy Sheriff and truly in fact and in deed retribution for Arthur Valentine was at hand.

In due time all of these ruffians who are sent forth by our peace officials, unless they change their tactics will get what is coming to them, if not in one way, retribution will surely come in another.

Just what reason these hyenas of the law can give for the beating up and maltreating of defenceless prisoners is an enigma to us, and surely there must be some sort of redress or serious consequences cannot be avoided.

REAPING THE WHIRLWIND.

We once heard Senator James Reed of Missouri in the semi-Southern State of Missouri, say to a jury of white men, while prosecuting the notorious Bill Adler for killing a black man, "If this man (speaking of the defendant) is allowed to go free because his victim happens to be black, bye and bye he will with equal equanimity take the life of a white man." The jury brought in a verdict of guilty, Adler was sentenced and actually sent to prison for killing this defenseless black man, and this thing happened in poor old Missouri.

There are now apparent many instances where the admonition of Senator Reed went unheeded, in many sections of the country, the killing of black men and women was but pastime. So one day the worm turned and they began to take out white men, whip, maim and kill them, and it was further discerned that an invisible force was abroad in the land, taking unto themselves the law and then lo, and behold, the people who have sat idly by and allowed these things to come to pass were but reaping what they had sown and things began to happen, the old nation is topsy turvy, Civil War is brooding in the State of Oklahoma, where it is said, the Ku Klux Klan reigns supreme and truly the nation sowed the wind and is now reaping the whirlwind.

DOWN WITH MALICIOUSNESS.

There should be a reckoning day for pernicious and malicious persecution and a veiled attempt to wantonly ruin a legitimate business concern. We refer to the recent raids upon the Abyssinia Billiard and Barber Parlor on Central near Pico. This place was repeatedly raided and persons in there arrested and taken out, put in the wagon, taken to the police station, and turned loose without the semblance of a charge being placed against them. To our mind this smacks of the small time stuff. It looks like somebody wants to hurt somebody else in a business way. Spread the report of the police activities and customers not wishing this annoyance would not care to go to the Abyssinia for either a shave, hair cut or recreation at billiards. This is unjust and borders on confiscation of one's property. The owners of the Abyssinia tonsorial parlor are clean cut business men who have for years worked to build up a trade and are numbered among our progressive and law-abiding citizens, we refer particularly to Messrs. Southard and Ellerby.

Richard Baker, who conducts the Billiard Parlor, has time and again assured this writer of his ambition to conduct a clean place and to our mind he has absolutely lived up to his resolve —As a business man he is clean cut and a strong supporter of every movement for helping legitimate business concerns.

And so far as this particular place of business is concerned it has the approval of 99 percent of the business concerns in this vicinity.

What we want to say is that when a man is striving to do the right thing help him do it. If there is any reason to arrest anybody at any time we have no complaint to make but we do protest against picking on any person in a malicious and pernicious manner as in the case of the Abyssinia.

With a great amount of pleasure, the Editor "takes his pen in hand" to express a few words of greeting to the readers of the "INFORMER," after an absence of three months. During this time, while separated from the "INFORMER'S" field of activity by many miles, I have followed its course with much interest and concern.

Realizing at the start that my attention was necessary for the successful completion of the work laid out for me during the summer, I comepletely severed my connection with all other duties.

The INFORMER was left under the management of the Associate Editor, Mr. Solomon, with Rev. Tilman, Van Williams and Herbert Mills as a staff of assistants. The issues that they have placed before you promptly, each month, speak for themselves as to their ability along this line and as to how well they have performed their duties. I take this means of thanking them for this splendid support, so generously rendered, notwithstanding their numerous other duties in the Church life.

To the patrons of the advertising columns, who have contributed toward the financial support of the paper and to the Board of Trustees who absorb the difference between the receipts and the cost of publication, when necessary, I feel deeply appreciative. One's task seems light when a group of loyal suporters are at your side.

My trip, I shall always regard as a treasure, long to be cherished. The scenery, the experiences, the contact with different classes of people, in different parts of the country, the unfolding, day after day, of God's creative masterpiece were invaluable as a means of broadening one's vision and viewpoint.

When time and opportunity permitted, I endeavored to be on the alert to observe conditions prevailing among our Churches throughout the Middle-West and the East and to note their progress and methods leading up to success. To say that I was impressed would be to say the least. In fact, the magnitude of some of the projects severely strained our limited visionary powers but I believe that I emerged with a deeper, clearer conception of the job of winning the world for Christ and of the opportunity that we have right here in Pasadent to complete a mighty bulwark and factor for the Pacific Coast.

Owing to the abnormal condition, brought about by the influx of great numbers of Negroes from the South

SUNDAY SCHOOL

Progressive strides are being made to make our Church School the most efficient in its class. At the regular quarterly conference of the teachers and workers on Sept. 27th the recommendations forwarded to us from Mrs. E. O. Solomon, Director of Religious Education, were accepted and adopted. They dealt particularly with the observance of "Children's Week (October 14-21) a national movement to emphasize the religious education of the children. The results sought for during this effort:

1. More boys and girls in Sunday school; 2. More parents awake to the importance of training in religion; 3. More churches prepared to direct religious education; 4. More teachers and leaders trained for leadership.

Program

And while I cannot express my thanks to each one of you personally, I want you everyone to know that your thoughtfulness and kindness shall never be forgotten. I also thank you for the many beautiful flowers.

MRS. VINY MARTIN.

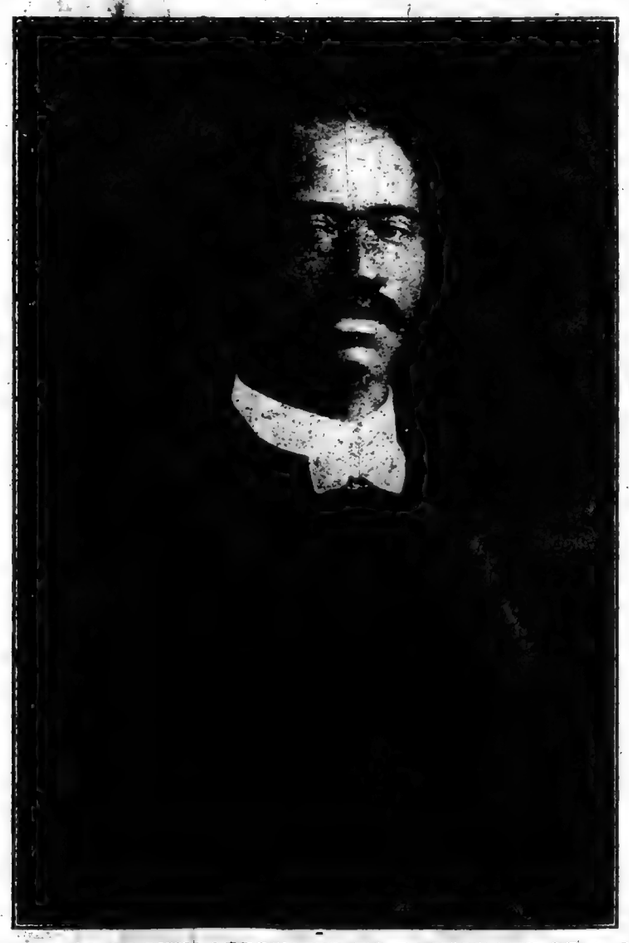
COMMENTS

By: W. J. WHEATON



Down in the city of Little Rock, Ark., the white people owned and operated an ice plant. A considerable number of the customers were Negroes and the major portion of all the customers were served by Negro retailers. The white people thought that the Negro was making too much of a success so they curtailed his activities by refusing to sell him any ice. Did those Negroes quit and accept the situation? No siree! They formed a company and erected a plant to manufacture their own ice, and the beauty of it is, that they manufacture such a superior article of ice that they have made great inroads on the consumers of the white mans' ice plant, and numbers of the white people are patrons of the Negro ice company. Good Ice: Better Ice; No difference if it is made by black hands.

A white woman in the city of Indianapolis, Indiana, became so incensed because her mail was delivered to her by a Negro carrier that she protested to the Post Office Department in the most vehement manner. She threatened to do bodily harm to the carrier if he was not removed from that particular route. Well, Post Master General New pointedly told that irate lady a few things, among them was the assertion that the full power of the United States would be used to protect any of its servants no difference the creed, color or previous condition. It would be amusing if it were not so pitiful, this ranting of a brain so prejudiced that it refuses to function only on matters of racial hate. Well the lady will continue to receive her mail through the medium of that same carrier unless she moves.

The stand taken by the children down in the Imperial Valley should be backed up by every race man and women in the State of California. We have fought segregation in the public schools ever since we have been in this state. This is not the first time that the insidious hand of racial hatred has sought to clutch the throat of our public school system. Years ago, even some of our new arrivals from other states sought to introduce the same system of education from which they had just fled. This writer, with the late Neimore; then publisher and editor of the California Eagle, the late editor of the Liberator, Edmunds; Tom Norris and other members of the Forum, successfully fought every effort then made for the segregation of our race children. Vigilance should never cease. Segregation in the Imperial Valley is the entering wedge for segregation in the city of Los Angeles. Allow segregation in the public schools of Imperial Valley and it will be only a matter of time until the entire State is segregated Back up those children who protest and educate the parents who say "Let well enough alone" that they are setting a precedent for the conditions they moved from to be ushered in. BACK UP THOSE CHILDREN!

A colored waiter on one of the dining cars running out from Chicago bought an apartment house of 2 apartments in one of the best of residential districts. He paid, the goodly sum of $100,000—one hundred thousand dollars. It is evident that that waiter made good use of his tips and has now placed himself in a position of affluence. It would be interesting to know of the many sacrifices which that waiter made to accomplish his end. For without doubt he had an end in view when he saved his money There is sermon in that purchase; a sermon which every boy and girl should read. It is a sermon of thrift and industry; a sermon of accomplishment under great difficulties.

There is stern law of compensation. Nothing for nothing! Put nothing in your community and receive no recompense. It is nature's law, and the law of Nature does not err. How often men try to exact something for nothing. They give not, but expect to receive. The inexorable law makes its exactions, and they become bankrupts in the social as well as the economic world. There are people who live in a community and rail at conditions; but never contribute, financially or morally to its betterment. Such a condition came to the notice of this writer when, not long ago, he was accosted by a young man who complained that he had lain in a hospital and had never been visited by one member of a church or fraternal society. When asked how long he had resided in the city he replied—"For more than a year." Did he go to any church? No! Did he belong to any fraternal society? No! Did he ever go out to any of the public meetings? No! He did not care for such things. He then was asked how any one was to know that he was in a hospital, as he could not be missed.

REV. J. M. BROWN APPOINTED TO PASTORATE OF A. M. E. CHURCH, PASADENA, CALIFORNIA

(By J. B. Bass)

We have known Rev. J. M. Brown who has been appointed Pastor of the A. M. E. Church at Pasadena for many years and have watched his strides to the front ranks of his connection with commendable pride. He is a man who stands for all the ideals of the true Christian life and at no time will he cater to any entangling alliance which would reflect discredit upon the church.

At all points where he has pastored he has lifted up the work and all were pained to see him go. Out on the Coast his work has been phenomenal and Pasadena is fortunate indeed in securing a man of the calibre of Rev. J. M. Brown to preside over its destiny for the coming year.

SAVE THE SCALP FROM RING WORM

By E. B. Lewis, Bs., M. D.
1618 1-2 East 9th Street.

A fungus growth or mold is by no means uncommon on the scalp, particularly the scalp of a child. It may become epidemic in orphans' homes and other institutions for youngsters. School epidemics are not rare by any means. "Tinea tonsurans"—as it is called— is really ringworm of the scalp. It begins as a little red, raised point often around the hair as it merges from beneath the surface.

It soon spreads until it is a patch perhaps an inch or two in diameter. Of ccurse, several such patches may use. The areas thus formed are outlined with rounded margins with very brittle hairs in it. The circle looks bald, but the sharp eye of the expert can see that the hair is broken off close to the scalp. The hair that has not broken off is dull and lustreless, and the mold or fungus which has penetrated the shaft of the hair is filled with the spores and strands of its vegetation. To be sure, the unaided eye does not see this.

What Examination Shows

There may be only scales on the scalp or possibly pimples with white or yellow matter in them. Both cause the hair to fall out. In young babies with thin hair it looks like ringworm of the skin. Scaly, circular patches with loss of hair points to this malady. A lens used to examine them shows the stumps of broken hairs as well as the mold itself.

Inflamation sometimes conceals the trouble, and such ailments of the scalp as dandruff, psoriasis and eczema are sometimes confused with it. Barbers, beauty specialists and other poor observers consider it and a dozen other different affections all the same.

"Tinea tonsurans" is always curable; the other affections only rarely. To call this scalp ailment an incurable malady is an easy way to achieve a reputation for curing what others do not. Even so, there must be an assiduous treatment of the parts. You must remember that this condition is caused by a living parasite, which must be destroyed without injury to the flesh itself. In brief, a parasiticide must be made to enter the scalp deeply enough to reach the branches of the mold which have grown into the hair bulbs and basic tissues.

The hair must first be cut short all over the patch and an inch beyond it. Then the entire scalp must be washed thoroughly and the washings repeated three times a week. To stop its spread the scales are to be kept softened by the use of carbolic acid soap. Coarse-toothed combs should be used, and every time they are so used afterward be disinfected in formalin. A brush should not be put on the hair because brushes tend to scatter the spores of the mold.

Cure Takes Time

Children and grown-ups with scalp ringworm should never wear caps lined with paper in order to avoid infecting themselves, as well as infecting others. In institutions the individual should be isolated and quarantined.

This obstinate ailment requires diligence, labor, patience and persistence for some weeks before a permanent cure results. Three months often elapse before the treatment proves to be triumphant.

Antiseptics such as amoniated mercury in three parts of lanolin to one part of olive oil, 12 per cent strength, is one good germicide. The crusts and scales, however, no matter what antiseptic must be removed with soda and hot water.

In carefully trained and skillful hands creosote, cleate of mercury, kerosene, carbolic acid, alcohol and tincture of iodine have been successful in conquering this foe of the human hair. Needless to say, "home treatment" and similar hocus pocus that answer when things cure themselves can do no good whatever in this condition.

Dr. Lewis will answer questions for readers of this paper on medical, hygienic and sanitation subjects that are of general interest to the public. He cannot always undertake to prescribe or offer advice for individual cases. Where the subjects is not of general interest, letters will be answered personally, if a stamped and addressed envelope is enclosed. Address all inquiries to Dr. E. B. Lewis, 1618 1-2 East 9th Stret.

"PHAT" BILL PIERSON WENT OVER WITH A GIG BANG
By William Mells Watson

At last we have a real musical comedy troop.

"Shake 'em and roll 'em," say folks Bill didn't have to be an actor, he's a professional.

Did you get the treasurer Alexander? He was a bear.

Philharmonic creaked when Lottie Boles Anderson came out, "gee, Johnney is a lucky guy."

As a leading man Malc holds a full house.

Say boy as a Secretary didn't Fern look kiseable—here is where brother Patton worked too slow. I'd be still hugging the sec.

And old man Perkins sure sprints his stuff, don't he brother?

Cecil Green in "No that's not it" this boob was a break down by himself (herself) tee hee.

But when Ophelia talked and refused to enter the stage the natives just howled.

Can't forget the music master Johnny Anderson don't he spread his grits though"

Hereafter if Billy Pierson is leadin it, it will be sold out before the curtain.

The stage director Art Sanford know his beans also and don't forget it bo.

In a word it went over with out room for criticism for the first time in the city's history, and Pierson should "carry on." Don't fail to get a house of your own Bill, please.

Next Monday November 6 is rally day among the clubs and members that constitute the Western Federation of Tennis Clubs, and if the Fed's orders have been carried out, 400 washers will be sprinkled into the secretary's ample lap, which will mean that before another 12 months have been reeled off at least the first part of the "club house or bust" program will be well on its way.

If all the clubs have reimbursed J. W. Clark for lights used on the court during dances. If the committee on constitution and by-laws is coming through Monday night. If the committee on location has even seen a piece of dirt during the month. If Nelly will give us a ride in the moon. If "Joe" will ever come back. If Bal Kemp has won his last crown. If David Sands or Lee Purnell can make the grade next July 4th. Where we will be playing tennis two years from today etc.

Saturday Nov. 11th Jazz Nite

Well the Parthenial Girls are preparing to wrestle around the Ross Snyder club house floor with the hboobs Saturday night Nov 11, every hombo with a cup'la quarters in his coveralls had better grab a skirt and try out the new rink at the corner of East 38th and Compton ave.

Lyons was presented a real nice music bag. These presents to these excellent young ladies were tendered for the great worth and usefulness they have been to our work. Our chorus is rapidly growing in popularity. The 8th of November, the chorus has been invited to sing for the First Christian Church, Eleventh and Hope streets. A BIT OF FUN

Providence, R. I.
By MADALYNE JOHNSON

Lots of Material

"Mrs. Smith I hear, is quite a conversationalist."

"Yes, she has three cars to brag about and six servants to complan of."

To Him Who Waits

A man who had been arrested on suspicion was appearing before the magistrate—

"What were you doing when the policeman came?" asked the magistrate.

"Waiting sir," replied the prisoner.

"What were you waiting for?"

"For money."

"Who was to give you money?"

"The man I had been waiting for."

"What did he owe you for?"

"For waiting."

"Enough of this tomfoolery," snapped the magistrate," who had become very angry. "What do you do for a living?"

"I am a waiter sir," replied the inquisitive man.

The Irish Mail.

An American visiting Ireland asked a man servant at a tavern, "How many mails do you have here a day?"

The servant replied, "Three—dinner, breakfast and supper."

In Competent Hands

"I will admit I haven't always lived as I should but I do love your daughter sincerely, and if ever I should make her unhappy, I hope I will be man to suffer for it."

"Don't let that worry you s ll attend to that."

Subtle Reason

"What would you do if you had a son like mine?"

"I'd work hard to get to be a millionaire."

"What? So that he could indulge his low tastes?"

"No! So he'd feel it when I disinherited him."

More Like It

"Judging by his looks, I should say the team was on him."

IRA F. THOMPSON
For Judge Superior Court

Scores of prominent Los Angeles County attorneys, desirous of placing the most able and experienced men available on the Superior Court bench, have endorsed and are actively working in behalf of Ira F. Thompson's candidacy for Superior Judge and are confident he will be elected at the polls on November 7.

Mr. Thompson's support, which originally consisted of a strong committee of lawyers and business men and women, has grown to tremendous proportions during the past several weeks and now includes local committees in every city and town in Los Angeles County, all of which are working to bring out a record vote in his behalf.

Clubs have been organized in his support in Pasadena, Long Beach, Pomona, Whittier, Santa Monica, Redondo, Venice, Burbank, Monrovia and other cities in Los Angeles County and he is expected to poll a heavy vote in these districts as well as in Los Angeles City.

That Mr. Thompson has the personal character, legal qualifications and judicial temperament necessary for a Superior Court judge is attested by the fact that the members of the Los Angeles Bar Association not long ago gave him a very high vote in balloting on men whom they considered fit to be appointed to judgeships, he standing fourth among a large number considered.

During the past several weeks, Mr. Thompson has sat as judge pro tem in a number of departments of the Superior Court, his appointment having been made by presiding Judge Frank R. Willis at the request of several contending attorneys.

As a member of the law firm of Manning & Thompson, Mr. Thompson has made an enviable reputation during his fourteen years of legal practice in the Los Angeles courts. He has handled a number of important cases which required nicety of legal analysis to bring his clients to victory in court.

Mr. Thompson is a graduate of the University of California and member of the Masonic Order.

During the war Mr. Thompson was secretary of the legal advisory board of his district and served with distinction in the cases which he handled. He has also taken a decided stand on the Japanese question, favoring strong exclusion and land laws to protect against aggression by the Nipponese.

FOR PROPOSITION 6-A

The organization of a Campaign Committee, including Sylvester L. Weaver, H. W. Frank, Mrs. J. T. Anderson, Marco H. Hellman, Seth R. Brown, F. W. Blanchard, Charles A. Baskerville and S. C. Graham, to arouse Los Angeles voters to the necessity for voting "Yes" on city proposition No. 6-A on the November ballot, has been announced. This proposition would increase the salary of the City Auditor from $3000 to $6000 a year.

The ballot also presents for adoption ccharter amendments increasing the salaries fo the Mayor, City Attorney and City Councilmen. The committee points out in its first announcement that the importance of the auditor's work and responsibilities should be appreciated by the public.

The committee in its statement said: "A payment of one ccent each by the average home owner will make the city auditor's salary what it ought to be. The salary attached to the office has not been changed in thirty-three years. Our population has grown from 50,000, when the present salary was established, to 800,000, and the volume of city business is thirty times greater than at that time, when one man alone did the work. The office now has a staff of twenty-eight people.

"The city auditor's salary is the lowest of any large city in the United States. San Francisco and other Coast cities have for years paid their auditors more than Los Angeles. No city in the land as large as Los Angeles pays less than $6000 to its auditor. The cash receipts of the city of Los Angeles in 1922 were $41,302,387, the demands audited amounted to $35,352,459.

"The cash receipts in 1889, when the present salary was established, were but $1,322,906. The city auditor is the real 'Watch Dog' of the city treasury, and his responsibilities have increased in proportion to the growth of the city.

"We urge that the voters mark their ballots 'Yes' on proposition No. 6-A on November 7. It will appear in the last column on the official ballot."

SIKI VICTORY PRECIPITATES NEGRO OFFICER PROPOSITION
French Army in Turmoil as Bitter Discussion Rages on Question to Permit Negro Warriors to Officer White Regiments — France Relies on 50,000,000 Colored Colonials — Africans Saved Her at The Marne

Paris, Nov.—(Crusader Service.) The proposal to permit negroes to officer white French regiments, is meeting with opposition here on the part of those French who "curry favor" with the United States and profess France's need of keeping within the good graces of the prejudiced white population of America by adopting in some degree the Anglo-Saxon attitude toward the negro race. A bitter discussion is raging as a result of this opposition, and Deputy Diagne, High Commissioner for the French Colonial Empire, a Senegalese, has entered the ring demanding whether France intended to use the colored troops for her protection in times of national danger and then discriminate against them after the danger had been safely weathered by their brave hearts and unstinted sacrifices.

Deputy Diagne warns the French people that such a policy could only lead to disaster as the African negro was not the person to give his loyalty to any flag that did not return that loyalty by full protection and absolute equality of treatment in times of peace. The African, he said, has fought for France because he loves the principles for which France has heretofore stood in the face of the bitter opposition and insulting slurs of the Anglo-Saxon world, who saw in her attitude of justness toward the negro, a "love for niggers" which the Anglo-Saxon world of England and America resented.

In France negroes and whites mix freely, frequently intermarry and any job is open to negroes with perfect equality. This is, as M. Diagne points out, due to the attitude of the French people. Therefore, he asks, why should negroes be barred from equality of opportunity in the army?

"One would think," the deputy complains, "it was a novelty for colored soldiers to attain high rank. Here are some names of black, yello wand mulatto soldiers from Algeria, Senegal and Indo-China who in the Second Empire and Third Republic have brought honor to France!

"The Arab Gen. Yousouff and Gen. Verbule both directors of artillery the War School, and the Senegalese Gen. Dodds, a member of the War Council and victor of Dahomey."

M. Diagne's list of names concludes with Col. Mortenol, who had commanded the aerial defenses of Paris when the Germans were bearing down on the capital in August, 1914. He paid tribute to Toussant L'Ouverture, the liberato rsoldier-statesman of Haiti, to Moshesh of the Basutos, South Africa and to Col. Young of the American section of the negro race.

The Commissioner is indignant that Frenchmen should contemplate making the law of equality a dead letter.

The immediate cause of all this talk was Carpentier's defeat by "Battling Siki," a Senegalese, whose war record was excellent. However, it long has been evident that the question would have to be faced.

France, with 38,000,000 population, which will be only 25,000,000 in a generation if the present rate of decrease continues, has come to rely on her 50,000,000 colonials, almost all negroes, for defense, and must therefore heed the warning of M. Diagne that the French negroes will not continue to give loyalty to France should that country initiate discrimination against negroes in its national policies.

CARPENTER ISSUES CHALLENGE TO SIKI
Latter Tells Former Champion to Get in Line and Wait His Turn

Paris, Nov.—(Crusader Service.) Battling Siki, the conqueror of Georges Carpentier, received the latter's challenge for a return match with undisturbd calm. Hellers, his manager, cooly informed the defeated champion that he must get in line and wait his turn to be mauled.

M. Hellers considers that Siki would have nothing to gain by meeting Carpentier, from whose brow he has already wrested the laurels. The manager's plans for the battles are for Siki's match with Joe Beckett, the Englishs white hope, on Dec. 7, to be followed by a trip to America.

BOARD OF MANAGERS OF OLD FOLK HOME HOLD MEETING.

Quite an interesting meeting was held Sunday afternoon at the 2nd Baptist Church of the Board of Managers of the Old Flok Home. Every fourth Sunday of the month this group of energetic workers for the home meet to report conditions, success in operating and maintaining the home. The Board of Managers is the strong link by which the Home has been so successfully managed and the much improvement made for the past three years at the Home. The special work of the Board of Managers is to manage and maintain in general the up-keep of the interior of the Home, to assist the Board of Directors in any improvement fof the success of the Home.

The following officers were unanimously elected to continue the work for the next year:

President, Mrs. S. B. Strickland; Vice-President, Mrs. M. Marshell of Tabernacle Church; Recording Secretary, Mrs. C. D. Robinson of St. Paul; Cor. Secretary, Mrs. M. Brown, 2nd Baptist; Treasurer, Mrs. L. Gilliam of Mt. Olive; Chairmen of Committees—Mrs. L. Kelso, Religious Service; Mrs. Lena Morton Linn, Visiting; Mrs. Sadie Cole, Silver; Mrs. E. Edwards, Entertainment; Mrs. V. Fingers, Halls; Mrs. M. Lawson, Curtains; Mrs. Belle Lowry.

Mrs. Kelso the chairman for three years of the Religious Service committee deserves much credit for her continued effort in successfully conducting these services while she has had difficulty in securing pastors of hte various churches to preach, her meetings have been a success. May God bless her in this work.

The Board arranged to have Thanksgiving dinner at the Home for the inmates. Mrs. Madge Lawson, Mrs. E. Spencer, Mrs. J. L. Perry of Friendship and Mrs. Ida Jackson of St. Paul were appointed to arrange for the dinner; these good women have always successfully carried out this part of the program. Mrs. Lena Morton is preparing with Mrs. T. A. Harris of giving a linen shower for the Home. Mr. T. A. Harris and Mrs. Addie Harris were appointed to secure and look after the heating of the Matron's room. Mrs. Harris along with her husband has been faithful in doing whatever they could in carrying on this work.

The Board of Managers regret very much to have to go from them one of the strongest members in the perperson of Mrs. Bell Lowry. She will leave for the East in two weeks, where Providence has provided for her wealth and a life long home. She will be away from the Board, yet her memory shall remain with us and her good work stand on forever. She promised to continue with helping to foster the work although she be away.

Th efollowing are the inmates of the Home:

Rev. J. F. C. Taylor; Robert Doughty; John Thursman; J. Pendleton; George Wallingford; Jane Dodson; Esebelle Terrell; M. Corter; Jean Worth; Mrs. Annie P. Mitchell, Matron.

BOOK CHAT.

BY MARY WHITE OVINGTON, CHAIRMAN OF THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS OF N. A. A. C. P.

"The Negro in Chicago, A Study in Race Relations and a Race Riot."

Some of us may remember that after the Chicago Race Riots of 1919 the governor appointed a state commission of white and colored people to study and report on the broad question of the relation between the two races. Among those chosen on the commission was the president of the Chicago Branch of the N. A. A. C. P., Judge Brown. Its executive secretary was Graham Romeyn Taylor. The commission has turned in its report, a fat volume of 650 pages; and instead of being dull, as such reports are apt to be, it is full of interest, well put together, profuse with illustrations, and written in an admirable spirit of fairness. We could not hope for a clearer or more sympathetic presentation of the Negro's position in this northern city or his reasons for migrating there. Among the recommendations at the close of the report this marks the tenor of the whole:

"We are convinced by our inquiry: (a) that measures involving or approaching deportation or segregation are illegal, impracticable and would not solve, but would accentuate, the race problem and postpone its just and orderly solution; (b) that the moral responsibility for race rioting does not rest upon hoodlums alone, but also upon all citizens, white or black, who sanction force or violence in interracial relations or who do not condemn and combat the spirit of racial hatred thus expressed; (c) that race friction and antagonism are largely due to the fact that each race too readily misunderstands and mistrusts the other's conduct and aspirations."

After a full account of the Chicago Race Riots and the riots in in other sections of Illinois the reports deal with the migration of Negroes from the South. Here we have related not only the conditions of peonage, poor schools, jim-crowing, but most entertaining answers to a questionaire sent to new migrants. It is evident from these answers that it was the economic urge, as it is with all immigrants, that brought the Negro North. And just as it is the better class of European workers who come to America so the better class of Negro workers, the more energetic, the more adventurous come North. They want to live better. Life is so uncertain in Mississippi or Alabama or Georgia; lynching so common; lack of education so universal, that they migrate. "Earn more money," "I can save more money," "shorter hours," better wages," "freedom," these are their reasons for coming to Chicago.

"Negro Housing" has a chapter, there is another on "Crime and vicious Environment," and a third on the "Negro in Industry."

Then there is a long study on "Public Opinion in Race Relations" ending with a severe indictment of [illegible] and its [illegible] each offense, tends to stamp the entire Negro group as criminals." The book ends with an appendix in which we have an epitome of the facts in the riot deaths, a tragic story of mob violence and wretchedly inefficient police protection.

As one runs through the book, one sees no end of interesting side lights on the race question in the North. There is an account of the "Abyssinian Movement," a picturesque, semi-political, semi-religious movement on the part of a few clever knaves to get money from ignorant black men. There is the answer by the Negro to the southerner's warning that if he goes North he will freeze to death in headlines telling of Negroes frozen to death of exposure in Georgia. There are amusing reasons for liking the North: One, "Men here get a chance to go with the best looking girls of the race; some may do it in Memphis but it aint always safe." There is a most valuable study of the retardation of Negro children in the schools, a careful survey of the number of colored children who are kept back in their classes as compared with the number of white. It is found that the great number of retarded children are from southern states. A study of 116 such children shows 31 fathers and 21 mothers totally illiterate. There is a careful study of the bombing of Negro homes and a map giving the location and extent of such outrages. Indeed there is little that one could want to learn regarding city conditions that is not touched upon in the book.

The race riots in Chicago started by a group of white boys and men stoning a raft on which a Negro boy stood and drowning him. A policeman was asked by Negroes at the beach to arrest the white men who they accused of starting the stoning. The policeman refused to do this. He was removed from the force but later reinstated and today, he boasts, according to the report, of how the whites will clean up the Negroes next time. This is the most discouraign gfact given in a book that urges us all to show sanity and fair dealing when we meet a race different fro mour own.

FAINT HOPE FOR DYER BILL CONGRESS WILL ADJOURN WITHOUT PASSING ANTI-LYNCHING MEASURE.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—The so-called anti-lynching bill, sponsored by Representative L. C. Dyer of Missouri, in which the negroes of America have been more interested than anything before congress since emancipation, will be waiting by the wayside when congress adjourns. It seems the bill will not become a law soon, if at all.

The "inside" story of what has happened to the lynching bill is more interesting than the fact it now is sidetracked definitely. In fact, the present situation, adjournment without action, was planned several weeks ago. The idea was to keep busy on tariff, bonus and other matters and put the anti-lynching bill off to the very last and then not have time to pass it. It was only on an understanding of this sort, it is said here, that the votes were mustered to report the bill from the senate judiciary committee, as certain senators, with stiff primary fights on, desired to "show" the negro voter they were "very much interested" in giving him what he sought from congress.

Say It Is Unconstitutional

The Republicans have been greatly embarrassed by the demand from the negro voters for the anti-lynching legislation. Not that either Republicans or Democrats do not favor curbing mob violence against members of that race, if it can be done by federal law, constitutionally.

Everyone, nearly, has been in sympathy with the idea behind the movement but likewise nearly every lawyer in the senate has been convinced from the start that the measure presented by the Missouri congressman cracked not one, but several sections of the Constitution. The bill, however, was labeled "anti-lynching and negro organizations the country over, churches, lodges and the like, have been demanding its passage, Constitution or no Constitution. The negroes have been active for it, as never before in politics. The house, with its big membership from Northern states with large negro voting populations, shut its eyes to possible legal defects in the bill and passed it.

"The senate will block it," they said, "Or if it becomes a law, the supreme court can take the onus of declaring it unconstitutional."

House Took No Chance

At any rate, the house took no chance of offending the negro vote, which was clamoring for the first time in united fashion for something, and with a worthy motive behind its demand.

With the anti-lynching bill on the senate's doom step, it was held in committee without action for weeks. When negro leaders became clamorous for action, the bill was referred to a sub-committee. Each member of this committee was strongly of the opinion that the sections of the bill that might do some good plainly were unconstitutional in that they proposed that the federal government invade the exclusive jurisdiction of the states. This held it up some more. When pressure for action became strong again and negroes were threatening to vote against the Republicans this fall, if the bill was not passed, it was proposed to have a new sub-committee named.

"Put senators on who come from states with large negro votes and the bill will be recommended for passage, it was urged.

Be that as it may, opposition to the bill being reported suddenly evaporated. There was a strong majority report for it and an even stronger minority report, sympathizing with the purpose, but rejecting the bill as plainly unconstitutional. This display of action was to convince the Negro voters that they weren't being neglected. Meanwhile the debate on other matters began to drag on and on. It was declared solemnly by the senate steering committee that the anti-lynching bill would be taken up before adjournment. But that was several weeks ago. Now they are going to recess and forget it.

LIBERTY

Osteopathic Act 20 Vote "YES"

For Medical Freedom

We unqualifiedly recommend this measure. Osteopathy has stood the test for many years. Thousandds of our people depend upon it for their ailments. They have a righttto choose their own doctor and system of healing. The passage of number 20 is imperatively necessary to save the right of the people to have Osteopathy if they want it—This great boon to mankind must be preserved.

Vote "YES" on Number 20

In the Interest of Public HEALTH

It costs the taxpayes of Los Angeles $125,000.00 anually for the Medical Board to carry on its prosecution of chiropractors, their competitors.

The Medical Board, not the District Attorneys of the respective counties, is carrying on this war of attempted extermination of chiropractors, and chiropractic.

Dr. Dana L. Tasker, who for fourteen years was a member of the Medical Board, states that medical control of osteopathy is absolutely unfair and unjust.

If in fourteen years osteopathy could not find a way to get a square deal under a medical board, is it not stupid to think of placing chiropractic under medical control?

In twenty-two states provision has been made for licensing Chiropractors by separate State Boards of Chiropractic Examiners; having thus made STATE MEDICINE IMPOSSIBLE in such States.

State Medicine is no less un-American than State Religion—and political medicine is fighting its hardest to establish STATE MEDICINE.

Vote YES

On Chiropractic Bill Number 16

And make it possible to employ the doctor of your choice, and also stop this needless waste of taxpayers' money.

WHO IS "BOSS" OF YOUR DOLLARS?

A good many men let the other fellow spend the money they earn—the other fellow just has to suggest something to sell them and—the money is GONE.

Some men are strong enough to control their own money. Every time they get money, they put some of it in a Savings Account—first—BEFORE the fellow who wants to sell you something gets a chance.

It takes a MAN, and a SAVINGS ACCOUNT, in a GOOD BANK, and a STRONG WILL to build up a fund of money in bank which you can use for things that are really worth while.

Why not make a good strong resolution, open an account, and SAVE?

ENTIRE SOUTH IS STIRRED BY NEW EXODUS: SOUTH CAROLINA PAPER WONDERS WHAT IT IS ALL ABOUT.

Reports are coming from our correspondents everywhere in the South of the beginning of a new migration from the South to the North. Race people once more are striking out for the land of liberty, protection and opportunity to work and live as men without accepting insults for their women and children and in the certainty that their children will have the protection of wise laws and the chance to get an education nine months in the year. Many of the Race people when they talk at all to their friends declare that they are tired of living under lynch law and peonage. They say that if the southern whites are so anxious about better crops, then it is high time that they were getting in the fields themselves to make those crops, since Race men are cheated out of their due share in so many cases.

The Greenville News (white) of Oct. 22nd describes the migration in this way:

"An exodus is now on in Greenville, and in fact throughout upper South Carolina. Not the sort recorded in the Good Book, however, but an exodus of Negroes to eastern and northern states. Exactly why this strange movement has set in so strongly during the past fortnight or so has not been adequately explained, yet the fact remains that upwards of sixty Negroes per week are now leaving Greenville, chiefly for points in New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Illinois, Indiana, and Ohio.

"Simultaneous with the departure from here of various and sundry Blacks comes the report from Greenwood, Union, Chester and other upstate points indicating that the dusky folks are betaking themselves in veritable droves into the East and North. Likewise, however, the cause of their sudden and unceremonious leaving remains in doubbt in Greenville.

"An average of half a dozen Negroes per day for the past week or so have bought tickets from Greenville to northern points, according to passenger traffic officials of the Southern railway here yesterday. On Wednesday one negro bought five tickets to a small town in upper New York state. On Thursday one ticket was sold to Chicago, one to California and two or three to Cleveland and Chicago.

Take Whole Family

"'In the case of the Negro who bought five tickets, he explained to the ticket agent that 'I am going to take my whole family up there. Usually, however, it was said the Negroes have little, if anything, to say and never explain their sudden departure for what to them must be "a land of promise."

"'Information from Greenwood is to the effect that from 100 to 125 Negroes are emigrating from there each week now, for northern and eastern points. Greenwood advices indicate that fully half the Negroes making up the exodus are of the agricultural tribes, working and living on farms in that portion of the state.

"In several other portions of the up state section the more or less sudden departure of the Negro has been very noticeabble during recent days and weeks. In almost every case, according to best availabble reports the black man gets his little belongings together and hies away almost before anyone even suspects his going.

"During the past few days here, employers have reported that Negroes working for them have joined the exodus northward and eastward. Just why the employed Negro should rush off with his dusky brethren on this exodus is simply one more wonder of the case. The wanderlust seems to have hit employed and unemployed, prosperous and poverty stricken, just the same.

Lots of Money

"Ticket agents discussing the matter here yesterday said that the most amazing feature of the situation locally, is the large amount of money that Negroes almost invariably have when they arrive at the point of purchasing their train fare into the East or North. "Why they usually come in here with a wad of greenbacks that would choke a Texas steer," said one of the Southern agents yesterday, when answering questions about the Negro exodus.

"The Negro has never been inclined to seek out mills and factories and labor therein to any great extent. Usually he is a rurally inclined human prefering to work on the farm, or perhaps, next to drive a wagon, truck or automobile, wherever such employment is available. So it is not believed that the lure of rapidly reopening northern industrial plants since the immediate post war closing is the attraction that is inducing the Negro to forsake his southern home for the promise of easier livelihood in the region beyond the Mason-Dixon line.

"To all appearances the most interesting, and yet the most baffling feature of the whole Negro exodus, which has long since passed the stage of hearsay, is the mystery that surrounds it all. Why is the black man quitting the sunny fields of Carolina or easy employment aroundd the towns that dot the state, for the more intemperate North, a region to which he is really not adapted and may never become? Mystery hovers over it all, even though hope of better work, easier social status and other apparent reasons might be given. To the man, whom he is not quite sure is a friend the African has always been non-communicative, hence the real and basic, and still widespread reason may never be known.

"But two things are sure, in connection with the prevailing Negro migration. First, the black man is going, and leaving in considerable number, in proportion to his numerical strength in this part of the state and world. And again, the white man is not going to stop him, not even try to do so, and so far as can be learned is not going to stand after the fleeing emigrant, once he has set his face north, where within his simple breast he doubtless fancies life will be easier, bread more plentiful and his station in life somewhat more like other men."

RECORD SALE OF LOTS.

A KNOCKOUT!

RECORD FOR LOT SALES IN CENTRAL AVENUE GARDENS WITHOUT PRECEDENT IN LOCAL REALTY ANNALS.

Central Avenue Gardens is almost "sold out." On Saturday, October 21st, this Tract, consisting of 165 lots, was thrown open to the public by the Eastside Realty Company. As this goes to press, only 41 lots remain. In less than three weeks, 125 lots have been sold—a record without equal in our realty transactions.

This splendid showing is of course due, in the first place, to the unquestionable sterling merits of the proposition. Central Avenue Gardens lies directly in the "Pathway of Progress" to Los Angeles Harber—situated as it is 2 blocks from Central Avenue, soon to be opened and paved to the harbor, according to published official advices, and so offers an unparalleled opportunity to the investor and homebuilder of our race. That they have been wide-awake to its value is convincingly shown by the sales figures. Great credit is due the enterprising officers of the Eastside Realty Company—F. L. Banks, President, O. L. Banks, Treasurer, and L. R. Ingram, Secretary—for opening such a Door of Opportunity to our group, with admittance on terms so reasonable as to make entry possible to even the modest wage-earner, and to those indefatigable hustlers Messrs Caldwell H. Jones, C. W. Copeland, William H. Smith, V. M. Cole, and Mrs. B. Wright for their activities in the capacity of salesmen.

Lots in Central Avenue Gardens, lying just south of the well-known Goodyear properties, range in price from $600 to $1250 and are being sold on down payments of from $20. to $70 and on monthly payments of $10. to $20. The contract delivered with the completion of the down payment includes a guarantee that street improvements will be completed and public utilities available by September, 1923—and the cost of the same is included in the price of the lots.

Is it any wonder that these properties have sold like wild-fire? The following is a partial list of the satisfied purchasers of lots in this Tract:

Space precludes individual mention of all buyers. Let it suffice to say that the sum total of sales to date in this Tract exceeds $100,000.

Most of these purchasers have expressed the intention to erect beautiful homes on their lots, with the result that this section will undoubtedly become one to reffiect everlasting credit on its farsighted and progressive "settlers."

Beyond a doubt the few lots remaining in this desirablbe tract will be sold within a week. Investors and home-builders are urged to "get in" on this proposition while the getting is good. The down-to-date sales service of the Eastside Realty Company—courteous salesmen and comfortable cars—are at the command of the public to show this property. Also, it is no trouble, but a pleasure, to answer truthfully and in detail, every question which a prospective investor is justified in asking regarding this proposition at the office of the EASTSIDE REALTY COMPANY, 1437 Central Avenue.

"THE HISTORY OF THE NEGRO CHURCH."

By Carter G. Woodson, Ph. D. Published by The Associated Publishers, Washington, D. C. Price with postage $2..15.

The amount of research shown in this book of Dr. Woodson's gives us a new sense of his painstaking industry. We did not realize that so many records could be gathered together of a church that was sometimes only a group of ignorant slaves lead by an unlettered preacher, one of themselves. These Negro converts, Christian martyrs as truly as Wyckliffe and Huss, "were whipped until they stood in puddles of blood drawn by the lashes inflicted upon their bodies, while others, stricken down by heavy blows or subjected to mortal torture, went to their death rather than cease to bear witness for Jesus." By such as these, men whose voices could not be hushed, the Negro church nurtured. And one reads with amazement of its growth, North and South in the last hundred years.

Like so many histories, the early part of this book is the best. (There are those who say of Wells' "Outline of History," that it falls off when man comes on the scene:) The story of the early missionaries, white and black are significant. In the West Indies, one learns that these preachers were popular with the slave holders since they never taught the slave to expect freedom but counseled him to keep in the steady course of duty, and nor to offend against the laws of man. In the United States, however, the early Baptist and Methodist preaching to black and white alike, attacked all evils, among them slavery. They were not allowed to preach for long.

The story of the Negro church as it developed out of the white church and grew in independence is told in much detail. It is not always an attractive story, there is bickering and jealousy and pompous intolerance. But there is always growth. One sees, too, the inevitableness of the break with the white denominations, that first demanded acquiescence with slavery and later that, the black accept the white South ideals regarding his status. The dig at the "philanthropist," Thomas Jesse Jones, who has helped many bootlicking Negroes into office, and who kept Max Yergen from going as a missionary to his own race in Africa, makes us realize why the Negro church has kept an eye always open with which to watch the sanctimonious whites.

In speaking of the schools and seminaries, started for the Negroes in the South, we learn that these Negro institutions which have separated and learned to supply their own needs have made a step far in advance of those dependent on the whites. "In this day, when the northern philanthropists are either withholding their donations to Negro schools or restricting them to Hampton or Tuskegee, it is difficult for some of these establishments (those connected with the whites) to eke out a subsistence, while the independentNegro schools, having had years of experience in developing a following, find their prospects growing brighter from year to year." Dr. Woodson quotes among others, The National Training School for Girls, of which, Miss Nannie Burroughs is the head, and the Virginia Theological Seminary and College under the direction of D. R. C. Woods.

I have been glad to notice that Dr. Woodson does not use the colloquialism, "Rev. Jones," or whatever the name may be, but always says, "the Rev. Mr. Jones." The use of reverend in place of mister was common at one time with both races but it is used now, save perhaps in the far South, only by the colored.

The book has an excellent index and contains pictures of many colored clergymen of the past and today.

TENNIS CHATTER

RACQUETTE CLUB OF OAKLAND BOOMS MISS VICTORIA SHOREY, NEW PRESIDENT; FED TO ELECT OFFICERS DECEMBER 4ht.

By William Mells Watson.

One of the hottest and mostimportant meetings the Western Federation of Tennis Clubs ever recorded 4—EAGLE, Nov. 9, POAGE was held in the vestry room of St. Phillips last Monday night, and the majority of the battlers present were "sweet winnies" too.

Club House Assured.

The faithfulness of four of the five local clubs (The Blue Tryangle or Y girls excepted) in comming through with the hundred bricks per club in the "club house or bust", drive was indeed commendabble, bubt the matter of stuffing the Fed's treasury with four or five hundred bank notes with out the treasurer being heavily bonded with "anti-county jail certificates" was declared to be the bunk, but after treasurer William Mells Watson is safely shackled with a thousand pound ball and chain with suitable ankle irons and handsome bracelets attached, then the Fed will gladly accept the 4 club's mazuma.

Election Next Month.

William Marshall Dunn, our highly respected president at the December 4th election meeting may squirm desparately to climb off the red hot prexy brench, but by no means should he be permitted to escape if "prayers and kisses" from all the pretty ladies will hold him as the Fed's business just now is far too important to change nags in the middle of the stream.

Racquette Club Representatives

As requested the Racquette Tennis Club of Oakland will hereafter by represented on the Federation by Mrs. Josephine Brown of the Alpha Partheniai Club and Mrs. Robert Garrott of Alpha who will report Fed proceedings to the Northerners regularly.

Queen Victoria At Helm

Queen of Northern "vamps" and ladies' singles, doubles and mixed doubles champ Miss Victoria Grace Shorey of 483-59th Street, Oakland, was recently elected to the exalted ruleship of the fog eating aggregation around the bay district and we predict record smashing progress for that body under the Shorey administration. Ms. Albert Johnson will share honors as vice president. Pretty Ida Jackson of 653-58th Street Oakland is Secretary; Mr. Seabron Calhoun, Assistant Secretary; Mr. Myer Kingstrees and Miss Laura Reed , Social Manager.

PALYS AND PLAYERS

VIOLA DANA STAR IN COBB'S STORY.

Has Delightful Role in Famous Tale of "The Five Dollar Baby."

"The Five Dollar Baby," the story by Irvin S. Cobb which appeared originally in the Saturday Evening Post, has been converted into a photoplay by Metro, with Viola Dana in the title role. It comes to the Loew's State Theatre Sunday, Nov. 12, with an exceptionally fine record of popularity, and critics who have witnessed it during its run at the Criterion Theatre in New York had only the highest praise to give it.

Mr. Cobb's story has it setting in New York's Ghetto. It abounds in the colorful atmosphere of that interesting section, and its characters are such faithful portrayals that one would believe that they were lifted bodily off the streets and into the Metro studios.

Miss Dana appears in a characterization which is realy unique. This diminutive star, with her vivacious personality, appears in a role that affords her more than her customary opportunity for joyous comedy.

"The Five Dollar Baby" tells the story of an abandoned infant who is pawned for five dollars by a hobo who finds her on a door-step. Uncle Ben, the pawn-broker, thinks someone is playing a joke on him, until he realizes that, as no one claims the child and the required interest is paid, he is up against the proposition of bringing up the foundling. A warm attachment grows between the Jewish Pawnbroker and Ruth, as he has named the girl. When eighteen years are gone, and Ruth grows up into a beautiful miss, the hobo returns to demand the girl.

No mere outline of the story can do justice to its humorous incidents, or the boydenish activities which make Ruth the madcap of the neighborhood and at the same time, the pride of Ben's heart. Director Harry Beaumont, who has staged all the recent Viola Dana successes for Metro, has outdone his previous efforts.

Besides Miss Dana, others in the cast are Ralph Lewis, Otto Hoffman, John Harron, Tom McGuire, Arthur Rankin, Marjorie Manrice and E. Pasque.

As a special feature for "our First Birthday" week Manager Bostick has arranged to present an entire musical revue. It is the Amsterdam Revue and a number of popular New York stars take part in it—with them will be the famous New York [illegible] which, it is said by many, "out-Ziegfelds Ziegfeld's beauties." "Silvia Sweet" the all-American mother story with Mary Carr will remain for the rest of this week.

SPORTS

On account of the down pour of rain on last Wednesday the Madison Square Garden bouts were postponed until to night, when the card will be given under the auspices of the Disabled War Veterans Young's Post No. 7. This is Armistice day and no doubt a record crowd will be on hand to witness this high class card.

There will also be a grand barbecue and a baseball game this afternoon.

The L. A. White Sox are getting in action again and will cross bats with Pironnes All Stars at the White Sox Park on East 4th Street Saturday and Sunday.

The U. S. C. football team is at Palo Alto today to play Stanford and it is predicted will bring home the bacon. It is said that Riddle will play in htis game.

HARRY WILLS MATCHED TO FIGHT JACK JOHNSON

According to announcements made on Monday, October 30, Harry Wills, the leading contender for the world's heavyweight title, and Jack Johnson, former heavyweight title holder, have been matched to meet in one of the armories of Newarkk, N. J., sometime in November, providing that the ban against Johnson is lifted before that time.

Immediately following his release from prison in 1921, almost every state in the East barred Johnson from fighting, but recently several of the states have shown an inclination to lift this ban because of Johnson's good behavior since his release. He has been doing light training and giving sparring exhibitions since his return to this country, but recently started intensive training at Madison Square Garden and now in one of the Harlem gynasiums.

That fact that Wills has finally consented to meet Johnson is taken to indicate that he has given up hope of meeting Jack Dempsey. In a fight between Johnson and Wills, the latter will gain nothing by defeating the former champion, and if defeated will lose any possible chance he would have to secure a fight for the championship. On the other hand, if Johnson should defeat Wills he will well be on the way toward staging a comeback, and would be in demand for bouts with other aspiring heavyweights.

It is unfortunate that Wills' manager cannot secure fights for his man with some of the white heavyweights, such as Floyd Johnson, who claims that they are willing to meet any heavyweight in the game excepting Jack Dempsey.

RACE ATHLETES MAKE GREAT GREAT SHOWING PUSS THOMPSON AND RIDDLE STARS FOR VARSITY ELEVEN

By George Duncan

In the football games held last Saturday, Riddle and Thompson were the individual stars for their colleges. Puss Thompson playing right half saves the day for Whittier College. Thompson played splendid defensive ball by his great backfield work the Poets were able to hold S. B. V. C. to a 6 to 6 tie. In the second quarter Thompson went thru right tackle for a touchdown. The football critics claim Thompson is the best backfield man in the Conference.

While Thompson was playing great ball for Whittier, Riddle was gaining ground for U. S. C. Riddle also plays right half. U. S. C. defeated Occidental College by a score of 46 to 0. Riddle plowed thru Occidental line for several touchdowns. Riddle is a graduate of Pasadena High School, and while there was a track and basketball star.

IN THE MUSIC WORLD

By: John A. Gray

Now that the musical season is on again we shall resume our weekly observations of things musical as they happen throughout the world.

To begin with, the musical calendar for this season is full of good things for the lover of music, and we earnestly hope that more of our students and music lovers will avail themselves of the opportunity of hearing as much of these good things as they can.

There are over 150 events in the musical world that Los Angeles will be called upon to support this winter. There is also the fine orchestra that Mr. Clark has given to our city. He has already spent over a half million dollars and will spend a million more to enable us to hear the very best in music. Yet, how many of our race can one see at the concerts? Hardly any in proportion to the population. At these concerts one hears the best in music done by the best players that money will buy. It is a great gift and and a great opportunity and we completely ignore it.

It is left to the Negro to perpetnate and develop the spiritual and the time has come for race musicians to devote more of their time and talent along this line. When singers like Royal Dadmun, who sang here recently, uses our spirituals for comedy purposes the public will begin to regard them as such. We must, as a race, render them with the proper regard for their seriousness and thus show to the public that there is depth and pathos instead of comedy and jazz in our folksongs.

Ranch life in California is the subject of the new opera by Otto Goritz, formerly a conductor in the New York Metropolitan, which had its premiere in Hamburg, Germany, recently. It is called "At the Golden Gate," and is a romantic tale with local color furnished by cowboys, Negroes and ranch laborers.

A REVIEW OF THE TRAGEDY OF THE "BLACK DROP" IN THE PRETTY NURSE'S BLOOD

Scaning over the Editorial articles of the "Examiner" of October 15, 1922, I chanced to see an article headed as follows: "Tragedy of the "Black Drop" in the pretty nurse's blood, and for a moment I was held spell-bound, my senses had become numb—then, as if touched by the magic wand, but regaining my former composure, I took the paper in hand and re-read the "Tragedy of the "BLACK DROP" in the pretty nurse's blood.

Friends, readers and new thinkers! Awaken ye your senses that you may the better judge, and be silent that ye may hear. If the mother of Miss Sarah Cleas of Rochester, New York, had instilled in the heart of her daughter and grafted into her mind when she was a mere child, those unfailing principles which make for the betterment of home, country, people and her God, in lieu of those which caused the tragedy—Oh! how different! different! different would conditions be at this time with both her daughter and herself. Oh! what shall I say in order that my reader understand me more clearly. But alas, owing to existing prejudices, the opportunity for advancement for the length of her (Miss Cleas's) future successes would be greatly deteriorated if the fact was known that in her veins ran a strain of Negro Blood—there was beauty with her arms outstretched awaiting like the reveille, there was ambition pushing, surging, now lurking, reeking and rocking like a ship at sea on a foggy night—and they, last, but not least, possessed no personability and no tact, talent and judgment hand in hand which are useless the one without the other.

On the contrary if the truth was known and allowed to hold full sway the chances for her childd's (Mrs. Cleas's) advancement and opportunities would have been greatly ameliorated. "Even a child maketh himself known by his doings"—Prov. 20-11. This Biblical quotation is applicable not alone to a white child but to all the hand made personalities of the Creator irrespective to race, color or previous condition of servitude. Oh! no, never, a Child—a Child of God.

Now dear readers, the knowledge of the paternal parentage of Miss Cleas according to the editorial, had not been imparted to her until she had reached the height of success—love had crept into her heart almost unbidden but not unwelcomed. Was this new happiness a mere phantom? Readers, friends and new thinkers I want you to answer that query individually. Or on the other hand, was it an awakening to bring us face to face with the inevitable realization that we are "ALL OF A HUMAN RACE?" True though, it may be, Mrs. Cleas, you did not know that your husband had a strain of Negro Blood running thru his veins until you married him—but what of the welfare of your child—a girl child too, one whom you had nursed, lived, and educated and had watched blossom into beautiful young womanhood—what of her, I say mother! Your only reply is, as soon as you found it out, you left him. What good did that act do toward ameliorating your child's future welfare? None! The child alone had the burden to bear and not being trained properly from the beginning, sought as she thought the only possible avenue of escape, rather than rend the Truth—Suicide.

NIPPONESE LOSE IN SUPREME COURT

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13. Japanese are not eligible for naturalization in the United States, it was held today by the supreme court.

Limited to "Free Whites."

In the findings the court disposed of two cases ,one brought from Hawaii by Tako Ozawa against the United States and the other was brought by Takuj Yamashita and Charles Hiokoko against the Secretary of State of Washington. In the latter case both Japanese had been naturalized by a court of the state of Washington but were refused incorporation as a real estate firm on the ground that their naturalization had been illegal. The lower federal courts denied naturalization in both cases, but the ninth circuit court of appeals, in considering the Ozawa case, suspended its decision and asked the supreme court for instructions as to whether Japanese are eligible for citizenship under the naturalization laws.

The question largely turned upon whether Section 2169 of the Revised Statutes, restricting naturalization to "free white persons" and those of African descent, was still in force

DR. ELIOT SCORES RACE DISCRIMINATION

Charles W. Eliot, of Harvard University, who has ever been conspicuously silent on the matter of race discrimination has finally come forth with a statement in which he goes on record as being opposed to this un-American sentiment.

In a speech before the Woodrow Wilson Club of Harvard, yesterday, he made a sweeping indictment on the present educational system.

"Though I have written nothing on the subject, I have spent many years thinking about it," he said. "There can be no racial discrimination in any American university."

MARSHALL'S APPOINTMENT NOW OFFICIAL

As predicted in the Washington Sentinel several weeks ago, Capt. Napoleon Marshall has been officially appointed Charge de Affaires of the United States in Haiti.

This appointment, while not equivalent to a ministership, will probably become one. it is, perhaps, one of the most important recognitions that President Harding has yet made to the colored citizens.

Along with a meritorious civil and military record, Captain Marshall presented a large number of influential endorsements.

REFLECTIONS

New York City

(Special to The Washington Sentinel)—There is a new white magazine out defending Jews, Catholics and Negroes against the Ku Klux Klan. It is called The Defender, published monthly at No. 799 Broadway, New York, and sells for 10 cents a copy. The editorial staff is Irish and Jewish and is waging a vigorous counter campaign against the Klan's influence.

The Jewish question is really assuming an air of importance. For a long time we thought it only a bluster. Last June it bobbed up at Harvard, but there were such sweeping denials it seemed there must have been some mistake. And also at Annapolis somebody said a boy of Jewish extraction had been insulted because the pages on which his record was printed in the Acaddemy's catalogue were perforated so they could easily be torn out. But there was such a row about it in Congress we finally concluded the whole affair was caused by a printer's error. At Columbia, in New York, we heard rumblings akin to those of Harvard, but they seemed to subside in much the same manner.

All that was last spring.

But now reports are broadcast that Harvard actually has tampered with the application blank for admission. We now believe it is true. Ford continues to circulate his anti-Jew books. The Ku Klux Klan seems to be steadily growing. Something is going on happen.

INTERESTING LETTER

A VERY INTERESTING LETTER RECEIVED FROM WILAYN STOVALL BY GEO. DUNCAN WEDNESDAY. HE DESCRIBES LIFE IN THE CANAL ZONE.

New York, Nov. 9, 1922.

Hello George:

The following information was obtained by inquiring from travelers and from personal observation while passing through the canal zone.

The Isthumus of Panama comprises the Republic of Panama and the canal zone, which froms the connecting link between Central and South America. Two mountain chains surround the Republic, inclosing fertile valleys and plains, affording good pasturage for cattle and excellent soil for agriculture. The temperate climate and gently rising mountain slopes immediately brings to mind the features which make Southern California so popular among the Eastern people.

The historical features of the old Spanish town are quite noticeable, although modern methods of constructio have been in operation several years. Ancient churches, historic ruins, houses with balconies and narrow streets add interest and distinction to the historic city of Old Panama, which is about six miles from the modern city of New Panama.

Among the products which the natives are seen bringing into market are bananas, cocoanuts, sarapartilla, hides and cocobla wood. The market boats run in at the warf from all points along the coast and sell their produce on the beach without the extra cost of marketing.

Industrially Panama is progressing rapidly However, there is a lack of scientific application, which, if applied, would yield far greater returns to her sugar mills and refineries. The majority of the news-papers are published in Spanish with sections of English translations.

In spite of the fact that the government is, and always has been actively interested in public education there is an unnecessary number of illiterates. Illiteracy throughout the Republic.

The interest of the natives does not seemed to have been awakened, and they do not realize the value of preparing for a bigger and more serviceable life. Possibly it is due to the climate and possibly it is due to an inherent mental shiftlessness. The quicker the masses can be educated to properly utilize the natural resources, the quicker will Panama be able to demand her independence.

There is the opportunity for some educated young Negro to put into practice theories which he feels the Negroes economic position in the United States will not allow him to do.

KIDDIES MINSTREL

Miss Lauretta Butler according to her previous record scaled the heights last Tuesday evening with her Kiddies Minstrel at Gamut Auditorium. The packed auditorium and hearty applause testified to the success of the entertainment. Each of the kiddies in their own little unconscious way was at his and her best. There are those that are wishing the affair to be repeated. The Eagle extends congratulations to Miss Butler in this work for which she is especially adapted.

BLACK STAR LINE "BLOWED UP"

BLACK STAR LINE AT BOTTOM OF DEEP BLUE SEA. SO MANY JUDGMENTS AGAINST COMPANY HE CAN'T NAME THEM, GARVEY ADMITS.

New York, Nov. 3.—Quite a furore has been created in this city by the publication of the records of a supplementary examination of Marcus Garvey, president of the "Black Star Line," held in the Supreme court of the Bronx, Aug. 19, when Mr. Garvey, under oath, was forced to admit that the "Black Star Line" was without ships and that it at present possessed only an interest in two boats, one of which, the "Kanawha," is abandoned in the port of Antilla, Cuba, as a wreck," and the other, the "Shadyside," also a wreck, "somewhere in New York harbor."

In both these vessels, the Garvey concern has only an interest and in both cases that interest is mortgaged. Both vessels are useless wrecks, according to Garvey's own admission.

Line is Broke

Asked "should this matter be settled, how much money would the Black Star Line receive individually," Garvey replied, "the Black Star Line would not receive anything, because its interest is mortgaged to others to cover liabilities."

Questioned as to whether the Black Star Line had any accounts outstanding, Garvey replied: "No, it has no outstanding accounts." Garvey was then asked if anybody owed money to the Black Star Line and replied in the negative.

YOU MUST SEE IT!

If you have seen it you can see it again and laugh as heartily; and if you haven't seen it you should see "CHUCKLES"—it drives away the "blues" and fills your heart with myrth

Monday evening, Nov. 20th is the beginning of a new era for William Perkins, author and his cast of characters in "Chuckles" for this is the first time that a Negro production played by Negroes was ever invited to play before a white audience because of its real merit in this city; hence, we should prove our appreciation of this courtesy by seeing that the house is filled each evening.

OFFICER SHEFFIELD SCORES AGAIN.

Friday night after giving chase to a fellow alleged to have held up the Japanese Cafe at 5th and Central Ave., Officer Sheffield captured him in hiding behind a hotel door on the avenue. Although the man had his gun drawn in desperation Officer Sheffield with his ready wit cajoled him along and at the same time with his strength and agility wrested the gun from his hand. The captured man, giving the name of Burns confessed to a number of robberies.

CHOSEN OF THE GODS
Los Angeles Woman Receives Gift Extraordinary

By: IDELL ALBRITTON

It reads like the fairy tales of yore—just wish for a thing and you have it. Better still, an unspoken wish read and granted, such was that of Mrs. W. M. Cooper of 919 Hemlock St., the fairy Godmother being no other than her sister, Mrs. Annie M. Malone of St. Louis, Mo.

'Twas the love of the sister that prompted the gift. She could not bear to enjoy the luxuries of life which her sister might be lacking. Once before she urged Mrs. Cooper to accept a similar gift, it not being convenient for Mrs. Cooper to do so, the matter was dropped for the time being.

It was during the hot summer months when Mrs. Malone was enjoying the great out-of-doors on camping trips via automobile, she thought again of her sister out in California, she though of the beauty of the California hills, canyons, lakes and sea shore. A letter from Mrs. Cooper told her of the heat of the indoors. Straightway Mrs. Malone wrote her "Get out into the air, get an automobile and go!" When Mrs. Cooper wrote her that she was thinking in terms of a Chevrolet, Mrs. Malone wrote directly, "A Chevrolet is no good, get a good car." She backed up this statement with a check running up into four figures.

Today Mrs. Malone is as happy as were the chosen of the Gods in the legends of days gone by. A nifty little five-passenger 1923 Dodge awaits her command.

Mrs. Malone is the owner and proprietor of the Poro College of St. Louis, Mo. More than 75,000 agents of this institution are located in the various centers of the Negro population. Los Angeles enjoys her portion thereof.

Mrs. Cooper sister to Mrs. Malone is herself a modiste of no little note, having operated a dressmaking establishment in Chicago for several years where she employed as many as twelve girls; having catered exclusively to Jewish trade.

QUADRUPLE COWS' MURDER!

By: LOUIS MICHEL

A jealous demoniacal fiend poisons four beautiful cows of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Burgess of 125 Thaxter St., Watts, California. Like Cain of old the murderer or murderess cannot have any peace. Sensational excitement over this terrible crime.

One of the most heinous and cold-blooded crimes, in fact a greater crime than even the slaying of a human being, was committed early in the last week, when our excellent and frugal rancher-friends, Mr. J. B. Burgess and his wife, Mrs. Marie Burgess of 125 Thaxter St., Watts, had four of their best milk cows poisoned with arsenic by a jealous fiend in the neighborhood, and all Watts is now incensed over this quadruple murder, committed by a low-minded fanatic and degenerate, who hated to see this industrious and well-to-do, level-headed and economical couple of workers as hugely successful as their wonderful thrift and constant vigilance had made them.

The cows were of the richest stock and yielded a big harvest in milk and butter and Mrs. Burgess stated yesterday that 1400 dollars represented their value.

These 4 good-looking, well-groomed cows died under great agony on Wednesday, November 8th, and the heart-broken rancher lady, Mrs. Burgess is visibly shocked over this terrible tragedy and is now preparing to leave her old neighborhood and settling on Lake street, near the Old Folks' Home, where the Burgesses have bought in another ranch.

The writer as well as the Eagle deeply sympathizes with the grief-stricken, honest toiling Burgess couple and hope confidently that the dastardly murderer or murderers of the cows may never enjoy a peaceful moment on earth again; that they may be wanderers like Cain and outcasts like Korph and that they should die with as much agony as these poor cows did.

Mr. and Mrs. Burgess have a good idea who the foul perpetrator of the abominable crime is, but for the present they are watching, waiting and investigating quietly, but closely. These worth-while ranchers will still have a neat fortune, when the assassin may be a homeless tramp.

H. L. Mencken, (a Southerner from Baltimore), one of the foremost literary critics in America, says in his latest book, "Prejudices" (Alfred A. Knoff, publisher):

"Again, it is very likely that in some parts of the South many of the plebeian whites have considerable Negro blood. Inter-breeding under concubinage produced some very slight half-breeds at an early day, and no doubt appreciable numbers of them went over into the white race by the simple process of changing their abode.

"Not long ago I read a curious article by an intelligent Negro, in which he stated that it is easy for a very light Negro to pass as white in the South on account of the fact that large numbers of Southerners accepted as white—have distinctly Negroid feautres."

This is not news to Negroes. Yet it is novel. It is novel in that it is openly admitted. Covering up has ever been the practice of the South. But hiding is bad, in that it occasions untruthfulness, resentfulness, debasing the better of one's self in order to keep smutty things hid. These conditions arose out of social and economic depravity which was more inflicted on a people than imposed. Then attendant embarrassments during the rise of the new order taught them secretiveness to shield and deny what was obviously true. But now there seems a ray of frank, unadulterated light is piercing the veil. The sooner the better. It is hoped this openess will lead to a frank and mutual understanding and mutual respect for both races. Once each side accepts that we are all human benigs here on earth, each to do the best he can, the "problem" has taken a long step forward. Years ago some one said the races will finally be brought together by persons containing the blood of both. This prophecy is not without merits, although it will takke quite some time.

But there are those who thrive on preaching hate and intolerance. It is more profitable than urging good-will on the broad, liberal principles of human equality. These same demagogues would brand as anarchists and false teachers those who believe in simple democracy when applied to persons "off-color." Naturally the "offff-colored" rebel at such open stigmatizing and ostricism. What Negro's anger would not rise in torrents at the insolent and brazen story in the Hearst press a few weeks ago of a colored girl, a Miss Sarah Cleas of Wellsville, N. Y., who kikilled herself because she discovered that she had Negro blood in her veins? The young woman had grown to maturity thinking she was white, but when she was about to be married her mother told her of her father being part Ne-

The press report is as follows:

"You cannot marry him, dear," she said. "You cannot marry any man. Not now, nor ever!"

The girl drew back and looked at her. The mother leaned close to her daughter. She looked fearfully about the little room of their home lest even the walls might hear and tattle. She spoke only three sentences. But they were enough.

The girl who had been kneeling beside her mother rose and looked down upon her. Her face was white.

"Your father was part Negro. I did not know it when I married him. As soon as I knew it I left him."

Sarah Cleas spoke at last. Her answer caused her mother to dry her tears.

"You are right," she said. "I cannot marry him. I will not."

It is impossible to love your fellow man when your fellow man estimates you like this. Only simpletons urge whites and blacks to intermarry. That is for the parties concerned to decide. But once they do decide it is downright criminal to insult a whole race because of it.

For this is clearly an insult:

"Her grief swept away her reserve.

"My mother has told me of a taint in my blood. I can never marry."

"Nonsense. You are the healthiest girl in the hospital."

"You don't understand. My father had negro blood. I am at least an octoroon."

The two other nurses were shocked into silence. But they knew that Sarah Cleas was right. For her there must be no marriage.

The propoganda may continue but it is ill-timed. There may yet come a time when white America will wish for a chance to speak of some individual's blond French curls, blue Anglo Saxon eyes, the Roman nose and soft and mellow African smile. Some such type may yet point the way to which millions will strive in unison. It is not improbable that this is daily being done now! It is not too late for an American Alexander Dumas.

THE RISING FEAR OF COLOR

It's in the air; the fear of color supremacy. The powerful people of the earth are quaking with fear because of the unrest of the people who they have enslaved, exploited and trodden under foot.

It seems absurd that England should bar a publist from exercising, or exhibiting, his skill within her domain because of his color, but England prohibits Siki, the Senegalese, from boxing one of her nationals for fear of the effect that the winning of the black man over the white man would have on the morale of the millions of colored subjects in the Empire. The reason why there is so much opposition to mixed bouts in the United States, is not from any particular antipathy to the color of the skin, as it is for the psychological effect it may have on the people of color throughout the world.

If it were sure that Mr. Beckett of England, could give Mr. Siki of France, or that Mr. Demsey of the United States of America, could give Mr. Wills, of that same country, a good trouncing there would be no hesitancy whatever in allowing the battles to proceed.

The War Department is thinking seriously of detaching the 8th Ill., and the 15th N. Y., both National Guard combat regiments, and placing them in the Labor Battallion, and this after the splendid showing that those two regiments made in the late war which was to make the "World safe for Democracy." But here comes the rub: It is alleged that the gallant 24th Infantry has been deprived of their arms and sent down into Georgia, the premier lynching State of the Union and a section known for its hostility against a black man in the uniform of the U. S. soldier. It behooves us to ask, Why? It certainly is known to the officials of the Department that they are only inviting trouble by doing such. There is no possible way of breaking the spirits of those sons and descendents of the heroes of Wagner, and Port Hudson; you may take away everything but their hands and hearts, they will never submit to the indignities. The only way to stem the tide which is causing the white man his sleepless nights; causing him to wake with a start, as he dreams of the "Yellow Peril" or the "Black Menace" is to divest himself of the hallucination that he is the superior animal and that all others are his vassals. When he becomes educated to the fact that all men are endowed with the faculty of sight and the human senses; that a brain under a black skin is just as capable of entering the realm of civilized progress as the brain under the white skin, then, will there be no need to fear for their safety. A just recognition of human rights; a succint understanding of and a right-eous regard for the human ambitions and aspirations of all peoples, will dispell the nightmare.

Despotism; Tyranny. They reach the pinnacle, then totter and fall. No difference how it is practiced or upon whom it is practiced, it has its reaction.

Should the so called superior nations, the United States and England, persist in their "Bear Baiting" of the darker peoples, there will come a time when they will realize the mistake. It is not now too late, the fire of racial hatred has not yet broken into flame; is is only smouldering. Egypt, Asia, India, Africa, are seething, smouldering volcanoes. Japan, whose national pride has been so badly wounded, by the racial decision of the United States Supreme Court, will naturally have a greater antipathy toward those who have failed to give her nation racial equality. The hand writing is on the wall. Will the nations responsible for this feeling of unrest take warn-

The re-election of Hon. Frederick M. Roberts, of the 74th Assembly District in Los Angeles, is hailed with delight all over the state; for Roberts election does not only mean representation for the 74th district, while that is primarily a fact, yet a larger result is obtained, for after all he is our representative in this state and we so see him as does his colleagues in the Assembly.

Maybe his strongest opponent in the election can no wrealize that the majority of the folk have not forgotten another little fiasco a few years ago an dthat sentiment in all probability headed itself in the little scrap in the 74th district. Then, too, his cnostituency knew they had a man in Roberts upon whom they could depend, regardless of the pressure from outside with its glittering gold.

"The proof of the pudding is in the eating." Our Fred proved himself during the trying days of the last session of the legislature when the King Tax bill was before the Assembly and ounce of strength they could gather the corporations wer eusing every Of course there are those who think they could d omore in the capital than he has done; they promise to see to it that the millenial dawn shall be immediately ushered in; they seem to forget this is a thinking age. Roberts is the best man by far, if for no other reason than his previous years of service which puts him in touch with the powers that be in such legislative bodies. Let's give Frederick M. Roberts—our Fred—the representative of the people of the whole State of California, the biggest ovation he has ever had. Three cheers for Roberts!

There is a big scrap looming on the horizon of the Pythian world. Supreme Chancellor Green seems to have slipped int oa web and the more he twists the tighter he is binding himself. His latest trouble are with the Grand Lodge of Missouri. Watch this fight for it will be an awakening to Pythianism. You remember that Russia awoke and where is the Czar? The condition that is bringing about this controversy is one of the big dangers t oour fraternal orders.

Why isn't there an inter-city literary society between the several cities in the state that would meet once a year in some city designated by an executive committee, to compete for medals, in oratory, ddeclamations, original music—written or vocal, essays, etc. Let this big meet be held during the holidays and make it the one big classic of the year where we can enjoy the development of our young and old and increase the desire for something better. Would be glad to hear from Los Angeles, Pasadena, San Diego, Riverside, Bakersfield, Fresno, Stockton, San Francisco, Oakland, Marysville, San Bernardino, etc., on this proposition.

PROGRESS

By: CHARLOTTE KIMBROUGH

On last Sunday evening the Rev. Mr. Hampton Hawes of the Westminster Presbyterian Church spoke before a large white audience at the First Presbyterian Church on the subject: "The Negro's Religions and Race Problems." Rev. Hawes delivered one of the best lectures that has been given in this city by a Negro man to a white audience. He spoke in a fearless manner to the whites of their prejudice and wrong treatment of their Negro neighbors. Following this lecture on Tuesday at 2:00 p. m. Miss Roberta Barr of the Freedmen's Board spoke to the Women's Missionary Society of the First Presbyterian Church about their "Stewardship and the Negro." Miss Barr has been a teacher in the Negro schools of the southland. The following are excerpts from her talk: "Some say they do not want the Negro for a neighbor. There is no better neighbor than the Negro." You white church women of Los Angeles are quite ignorant of the Negro problem. You must study, you must read more of your Negroes and remember they are your brothers and sisters and are made in the image of God."

In referring to Rev. Hawes' speech, concerning the discriminations and prejudices in this city, she said, "you Christian white women of Los Angeles must study and bridge the chasm between you and the Negroes of this city or within the next three years you will have a riot worse than Chicago or Washington."

In closing she read an artcile from the Afro-American Presbyterian, a newspaper, the report of the colored Women's Home Missionary Society of Georgia and told the white women here that they should set that report as their goal for this Missionary year and try to equal the Negro sisters.

Great praise was given the Spellman Seminary and Biddle University. The ministers trained in Biddle are the equal and in some cases the intellectual superior of some city white ministers.

"The Negro is marching in a straight line thru this city and straight across this nation, with Christian aid his march will be upward."

"I heard a minister in Idaho three weeks ago say: 'I wish to God all Negroes were in Africa.' I say to you all the Negro has as much right here as you, and it will be a sad day if you should awaken and find 11 million of this population gone. You would be the first to cry them back."

SAN DIEGO PAPER PRAISES MORRIS HARRIS' SAFETY FIRST CHECK

"Forgers, check raisers, and issuers of fictitious checks will have to seek other means of livelihood or diversion when the invention of Morris Harris of Los Angeles is put into general use, according to the claim of the inventor and testimony of bankers and detectives here to-day after thoroughly testing the invention."

"By the new plan a bank would issue to depositors perforated, gummed stamps in varying amounts to be attached to checkks, the amounts of which would have to correspond to the attached stamp in order to make the check valid.

The stamped check would be honored as certified checks are now, and would do away with the necessity of carrying large sums of cash, thereby decreasing the incentive to rob. Ninety per cent of the $150,000,000 yearly loss through bad manipulation would be saved, it was claimed.

NEW MUSICAL REVUE AT LOEW'S STATE THEATER NEXT WEEK. FOX FEATURE PHOTOPLAY ON BILL ALSO.

Because of the great success met with by Jack and June Laughlin's "Amsterdam Roof Revue" which was put on at Loew's State theater during anniversary week Manager E. C. Bostick has harkened to the popular demand and arrangements have been made with the Laughlin's to present to Loew's State Theater patrons the week of November 19 their brand new musical revue entitled "Toyland" which Laughlin says is even better than his "Amsterdam Roof Revue." There will be an entire change of scenery, the music will be equally as catchy as before but will be all new. The chorus of dainty misses will be decked out in entirely now costumes and the principals will offer new numbers, there will be several new novelties also. Dividing honors with "The Toyland Revue" will be the new William Fox production "Who Are My Parents." This photoplay was written by a mysterious author who prefers to be known as "Mr. X." The writer has demonstrated very clerely that he knows human nature and understands the value of appealing to the highest instincts of the patrons of the screen.

The story has to do with a stern and uncompromising father attempting to rule the life of his young daughter. By so doing he brings her and himself only unhappiness. Betty Lewis, yielding to her father's will, does not tell the man whose wife she becomes of an earlier marriage. This ommission leads to serious consequences and there are many bitter tears shed by a broken-hearted mother until she and her child are united.

A finely balanced cast brings this story to the screen and a newcomer to the silversheet, Miss Peggy Shaw, a former Ziegfeld Follies beauty, has a leading part. Others in the cast are Niles Welch, Roger Lytton, Florence Billings, and Adelaide Prince. Florence Haas and Jimmy Lapsley, a pair of precocious and delightful youngsters, have an important share of the acting honors.

Don Philippini and his orchestra will present a musical program made up of both popular and classic numbers which should appeal to everyone.

"The Amsterdam Roof Revue" and Viola Dana in "The Five Dollar Baby" will continue the rest of the week.

The Junior Missionary Society of the Second Baptist Church held its regular meeting Sunday evening at the home of Brother and Sister E. T. Hubert, 864 E. 48th Street.

The meeting was splendidly attended having a goodly number of visitors. The Society always keeps in mind the idea of forging ahead, and general uplift.

The program Committee made no mistakke in selecting Miss C. Benett, soloist, Dr. T. L. Griffith, lecturer. All of which we enjoyed very much. Program Committee keeps up the good work. Next meeting November 28 at the home of Rev. T. L. Griffith, 1446 W. 36th Place by the Carson sisters.

BASE BALL

On last Saturday and Sunday Los Angeles was favored with real big League Ball games. As the L. A. White Sox, reinforced by Major Leaguers from both Major Leagues, stacked up against Pirrones All Star team composed of the best ball players in the business.

The colored boys however, took the white boy Leaguers down the line to defeat on Saturday with a score of 3 to 2 and played a tie game on Sunday.

Linder, the small, wee man from Indianapolis proved a stumbling block to the all stars on Saturday as did Rube Curry of the K. C. Monarchs on Sunday. Both of these boys are the real class in pitching.

Johnson the sensational hitter from the K. C. Monarchs came thru with the good s and made an immediate hit with the fans.

Pullen put up a wonderful game behind the bat and batted in real form.

Doc Anderson looks natural around a ball park and deserves great credit for bringing this aggregation of players to the Coast.

Games Saturday and Sunday

Games will be played on the White Sox grounds on E. 4th St., Saturday and Sunday Games called at 2:30 p. m.

Where to Attend Church

TABERNACLE BAPTIST CHURCH

12th and Hemlock Streets.

Farewell sermon on the eve of the National Baptist Convention to be held in Saint Louis, Mo., will be delivered by Rev. L. B. Brown, Sunday at 11:00 a. m. "Zion's Travelers" will be the theme. There shall be a highway and a byway and it shall be called the way of holiness. Isa. 35: 8-10.

Does Los Angeles want the National Baptist Convention here next year? Are we willing to accept their excuse that the nation wide strike and the death of President E. C. Morris, so complicated things that it was impossible to muster the three million of Baptists throughout the country and lead them across the country.

If this is the spirit of Los Angeles then meet the delegation which will be addressed by the Rev. R. M. Caver, from Little Rock, Arkansas, and instruct us what to say to the convention in St. Lousis, Mo., December 6th.

Dr. Caver will be at the Tabernacle in the morning and at New Hope Sunday night, November 24th. There will be a union Thanksgiving service Thursday night, November 232ht, at New Hope Baptist Church. Dr. R. M. Caver, son of thunder, will be the union preacher.

SECOND BAPTIST CHURCH—

Dr. T. L. Griffith, Pastor.

Last Lord's Day truly was a day of rejoicing in old Second as the pastor broke to us the Bread of Life. His text was: "When the Heavenly and the Earthly meet together." Micah 6:8. He said that God requried us to do justly towards all men. Justice is one of the things all Christians must render to all not too harshly but finally and in a merciful way for we must all love mercy. Blessed are the merciful for they shall obtain mercy. And we must live and walk humbly withour God ever acclaiming Him above all. He very earnestly requested and urged that there should be a denominational awakening among us.

In the evening both choirs furnished the music for the services which was most thoroughly enjoyed by all. The pastor gave an exposition upon the Faith Chapter. Heb. 11. He said in all our undertakings we must have Faith for by Faith Abraham obeyed God and received an inheritance; by Faith Moses became the Great Leader of his people and by Faith we can with God's aid and assistance remove all mountains of doubt. There were five additions to the church. Both choirs will furnish music every Sunday evening. A cordial welcome to all.

Throubgh his and his loving wife's efforts with God to help them and a few friends and followers have succeeded in establishing a church in our city.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH—

8th and Wall Streets.

Rev. M. Frederick Mitchell, Pastor.

We had a delightful service at the Christian Church last Sunday. The pastor delivered a practical sermon at the eleven o'clock service. Subject, "Where to find God." The answer to the question where to find God is found in His revealed word. The choir w aspresent and did justice to the occasion with gospel songs. The Y. P. S. C. E. was enthusiastic with live talks. After this meeting Rev. G. C. Coleman one of our progressive young ministers delivered an interesting sermon. Subject, "The Unspeakable Gift of God." Next Sunday morning we will have our regular preaching service, with a special sermon by the pastor. Sunday evening our chorus under the able directorship of Madame Viola Harris Brandon and the church are united to hold service at the white Christian Church, Inglewood. The choir will furnish all the music and the pastor will preach.

The Young People's Mass Meeting was held, conducted by Brother Payne Middleton. Our Field Secretary and Sister Pheips our District Secretary. The addresses were instructive and inspiring. Their songs had life and enthusiasm. There were persons from the First A. M. E. Church and the Second A. M. E. Church of the city present and gave inspiration to the meeting. The night services were impresive. About 6 to 8 visitors were present at night and 10 or more in the morning. Our Sunday School and Endeavor are growing. Next Sunday will be Stewards Day. Our First Quarterly Conference will be Tuesday, November 21 at 7:30 p. m. P. E. Washington will preside if nothing prevents. The Pastor spoke last Sunday morning from the text, "Come, let us go up at once, and possess it." At night from the words, "Choose you this day whom you will serve. All are welcome.

These give a total of fifty persons who have joined the church since October 1, 1922. The minister in charge preached at 7:30 p. m. Sister Murphy, Evangelist of C. M. E. Church, spoke at the evening service. Her subject was the "Kingdo mof God." Everyone enjoyed this msesage so instructive to our young women to live a life for Christ. During Sunday School hour we listened to a splendid review of the lesson by Brother Williams, for years Superintendent of Sunday School in Kansas City, Kansas. The choir was indeed glad to welcome their Director, L. G. Eggleston, back in his place after six weeks absence from injured knee. The sick are reported to be improving. A cordial welcome extended to all.

WATTS M. E. MISSIONARY

Rev. O. S. Stout, Pastor.

Last Sunday was a great day at the Mission. The pastor delivered a splendid sermon from the text "The Power fo Prayer."—Act. 12:5.

Peter therefore was kept in prison, but prayer was made without ceasing of the church unto God for him.

When the invitation was extended, three joined our ranks. One was a convert. Praise the Lord. Come and worship with us. You are welcome.

There was much praising God and soul rejoicing in Zion on last Sunday morning when Rev. Shaw poured out to his hearers the word of God found in Matt. 5:47—"What do ye more than others."

He gave unto them spiritual food and they feasted while their hearts were made glad. Would that every Christian could have heard this sermon. A splendid congregation was present both morning and evening. One accession to the church.

The Righteousness and Faithfulness of Job during adverse circumstances were used as the evening theme. The 1st Chapter of Job was read. In patience and fortitude no other Bible character could have been presented with more telling effect.

Rev. Shaw will deliver an old time stirring Gospel message next Sunday morning and evening. You miss a real spiritual treat when you fail to hear him.

Zion's Choir is famous for sweet harmounious music. Prof. Bynum is at the helm. Nuf Sed.

ST. PAUL INSTITUTIONAL BAPTIST CHURCH.

1385 E. 21st Street

Rev. R. N. Holt, D. D., Pastor

Pastor Holt left not a stone unturned after his discourse using for his subj.: "Modern Religion Sick in Bed." Religious critics having little to say, but stood as a witness that there is reality—in serving a true and living God. Too, we find that true Christian religion is a valuable constituent and is essential in this warfare of life. Seldom do we find a weary traveler, but so frequent are those misfits.

At 8 p. m. a message by Rev. J. E. Pius of Seattle, Pastor of Berean Baptist Church, Tacoma. We are again reminded of the fact that the harvest is great and the laborers but few.

Director Pitts and his Gospel Choir played well their part during the Woman's Missionary Convocation held in Pasadena a feature to the Western Baptist Association.

Maraengeopa on account of his health had to give up the work. Although the fruit of his toil has been bountiful. More than 280 converts added to cause during his time. The work, however, was too much for the physique of the reverend, having to preach two sermons each night. Last Sunday Rev. Marangeopa spent the day in Pasadena at the A. M. E. Church. He preached at three services and was cordially received on all sides. Very grateful is he for th ecourtesies shown him by Mr. and Mrs. Fouche of Mountain Avenue and others.

BIRCH ST. CHRISTIA NCHURCH

F. C. Cothram, Minister

Much interest and inspiration marked the day, at this church, last Lord's day. The pastor filled the pulpit morning and evening and delivered two great discourses. At 11 o'clock A. M. he spoke upon the subject "Christ Our Example," John 15:10. If ye keep my commandments, ye shall abide in my love; even as I have kept my Father's commandments, and abide in his love. From this text, he portrayed Christ, as our example in faith, love and service, and declared that the Christian life is conditioned upon diligently following Christ's examples.

Sister Katherine Keith, having recently returned from Chicago, brought greeetings of churches of Christ, appraising us, that the United Christian Missionary Society contemplates extending its Missionary interests to include the work among the Colored disciples of Christ in California.

A call by Elder F. W. Zeller, for money, for education to aid our Christian schools, was cheerfully and liberally responded to by the church.

WHO IS "BOSS" OF YOUR DOLLARS?

A good many men let the other fellow spend the money they earn—the other fellow just has to suggest something to sell them and—the money is GONE.

Some men are strong enough to control their own money. Every time they get money, they put some of it in a Savings Account—first—BEFORE the fellow who wants to sell you something gets a chance.

It takes a MAN, and a SAVINGS ACCOUNT, in a GOOD BANK, and a STRONG WILL to build up a fund of money in bank which you can use for things that are really worth while.

Why not make a good strong resolution, open an account, and SAVE?

BOXING

AMONG THE FOUR ROUND BOXERS AT MADISON SQUARE ARENA.

The postponed boxing bout at Madison Square Garden on last Saturday night held under the auspices of the Disabled War Veterans was a thriller. Quite a crowd of fans were on hand in spite of the inclement weather.

THE BOUTS

For a curtain raiser, Black Mask vs: Battling Lang (white) was the offering. At the bell both boys came forward and Black Mask met the battler square on the jaw and he was out. This bout lasted just 8 seconds.

Second Bout

Eddie Lee vs: Wap Flynn(white). Eddie Lee is a game and shifty fighter but Wap is a regular horse and tough as they make them and despite all of Eddie's cleverness Wap went through to a well earned draw

Third Bout

One round Norman vs: Eddie Morton the Bakersfield Flash This bout came very near being a fiasco. Norman was very shy and it kept Eddie busy trying to catch him. The Referee stopped the bout and then let the boys go at it again. But no improvement was noticed. Finally Norman fouled Eddie and the Referee awarded the fight to the Bakersfield boy.

Fourth Bout.

Young Langford vs: Young Burton, 128 pounds . These two shifty lads fought four rounds to a draw.

Semi-Wind Up

Kid Blondie vs Doctor Murray (white). This bout went four rounds to a draw.

Main Event

Sunny Jim vs: Steve Dalton (white) This was a stellar bout. Steve Dalton the iron man was pitted against the crafty and elusive Sunny Jim, who is a natural fighter and Sunny gave Steve a lacing which he will long remember. Dalton was truly the iron man for Sunny landed on his jaw time and again blows which would have put any ordinary man to slumberland but Steve stood upon his feet and was there when round four ended, badly beaten but game to the core.

WEDNESDAY NIGHT SHOW

This being the regular card of the Madison Square Garden the Arena was completely filled to witness one of the best cards ever put on at this arena. The main event was a real drawing card between Sailor Larry and Mack House. As a matter of face all of the bouts stood out as events on this occasion.

While the decision of the judges and referee gave the fight to Mack House it could just as well have been a draw. Also in the bout between Lightening Davis and Young Langford a draw should have been the verdict.

The Bouts

The curtain raiser between Battling Bullet and Young Owens 135 pounds, was ludicrus if not scientific and historical as well when at the end of four rounds of battling the Bullet knocked himself out. He made a lunge for Young Owens, missed him and struck the lower rope with his stomach knocking his wind and was counted out. It was the fifirst self knock out in this section.

Second Bout.

Willie Shields vs: Eddie Lee, 128 pounds. Round 1. Lee forces fighting, Willie stands his ground, tries to come in, but Lee smashes hi mthree times in the jaw.

Round 2. This was a bad round for Willie as Lee opens up a trerific barage of blows and has Willie in a bad way as the bell rings.

Round 3. Willie tries hard but Lee seems to have his measure and easily takes this round.

Round 4. This round is a continuation of the previous rounds and Eddie Lee takes the fight by winning all the way.

Third Bout

Black Mask vs: Buster Rose, 135 pounds.

This is another funny bout and the crowd goes into hysterics at the pose of Buster. Black Mask keeps up his record for quick knockouts and with terrific smashes knocks Buster down once, twice and finally for the count of ten. Buster went down in repose and made a pillow of his arm.

Fourth Bout

Lightening Davis vs: Young Langford. This was a really good bout and to our mind should have been adraw. The first round was an even go, blow for blow, with Davis showing extreme cleverness and with scientific infighting.

Second round. Davis rags Sam all round the ring and has Sam laying on to keep off the blows.

Third round. Sam gets a shade in this round.

Fourth round. This could not have been called better than even and the fight should have been a draw.

Semi-Wind Up

Blackie Rice vs: Sailor Smith, 145 pounds. This was a bout worth while of the man of the sea was given a big surprise party so terrific was the pace set by Blackie. Blackie's aggressiveness won for him the decision despite the fact that the sailor with a punch to the chin scored a clean knock down in the second round.

The Bout

1st. Round. Both fighter sexchanged blows in thecenter of the ring. Blackie lands to Smith's jaw.

2nd. Round. In a furious mixup, Blackie let go his trusty right and landed on the point of Blackie's chin for a clean knockdown. Blackie took the count of six and was up and opened up a fusilade of blows for Smith's head and body.

3rd. Round. Blackie set a fast and furious pace nad easily won this round.

4th Round. By his sheer aggressiveness and generalship he won this round and the fight.

Main Event.

Mack House vs: Sailor Larry, catch weight.

1st. Round. The fight opened fast and furious. Sailor Larry wins first blood as he lands hard to Mack's face but Mack evens up round as he lands on Sailor Larry for a knockdown.

2nd. Round. This was no choice, both boys fought with caution.

3rd. Round. The boys mixed this round and both landed telling blows. Mack House was bleeding like a stuck bullock but fighting like a demon.

4th. Round. Both boys tired but trying. Each one in turn would start a rally but round was even. The decision of the judges and referee was for Mack House. The newspaper decison was a draw.

THE FIGHTERS

With Mac kHouse still going great it looks like there will be a demand for a Mack Huose and Sunny Jim go and then if Mack can win he will be in his way.

Say what you may next Wednesday night's Main Event will be some fight when Blackie Rice and Ted Frenchie will stack up against each other.

The Black Mask is the sensation at Madison Square Garden now nad he will supersede One Round Norman and must now be hailed as the One Round King.

DEMPSEY AND WILLS MAY FIGHT ON JULY 4TH.

Harry Wills the New Orleans heavyweight will get a chance at the heavyweight title July 4, 1923. The affair will be held in some arena in New York.

After looking around for many months for a suitable candidate, Kearns, Manager of Dempsey claims that Wills is the only man that could give Dempsey an interesting battle.

The fight promoters believe that this bout will be largely attended, and the gate receipts will excell those of previous years.

DANNY EDWARDS WINS BOUT

Danny Edwards greatest , bantam-ever developed on the Pacific coast, gave Vincent Salvatore (white) a severe beating before a large crowd at New York Sporting Club last Saturday.

The bout was a 12 round affair; altho having everything his own way throughout the bout Edwards failed to score a knockout.

BANTAM FEATURE Y. PROGRAM. WICHCLIPPE DEFEATS NARCISSE IN THREE ROUND BOUT.

"He came, He saw, He Conquered." Woodson Wichcliffe, East Hollywood bantam defeated William Narcisse the East side pride last Friday night at the Y. M. C. A. Both are High School lads and are novices in the fighting game. Woodson had his way in every round. He hit Narcisse enough times to knock out a half dozen men but the Eastsider could not be put away.

The Athletic manager of the Hi-Y Club has arranged a thre eround bout Friday night. Charles Matthews vs: William Narcisse. This match is claimed to have plenty of spice.

FOOT BALL

PASADENA DEFEATS Hi-Y ELEVEN DIGGS AND ROSSER STARS FOR LOCAL BOYS.

The Pasadena Hi Y football team won an easy victory over the local boys Armistice Day at the Y. M. C. A. field. The score was 18 to 6. By a fumble in the second quarter, Captain Diggs picked up a fumble and ran eighty-five yards for a touch-down, scoring for the Local Hi-Y.

The team being unorganized and light was the cause of the defeat declared Diggs. This is the first team was not composed of the men that played last year. Many who are now attending college. Stapler, Norman, Stovall, Bunche and Brown.

Altho defeated the local boys deserve credit for their fighting spirit they showed throughout the game.

Narcisse, Salisbury and Matthews played a good defensive game. Diggs splendid kicking and Rosser line bucking kept the visitors from making a larger score.

Eccles and Weziard did great work toward the score for Pasadena.

Brown is the youngest and lightest man playing varsity football on the Pacific coast. He is substitute for the captain and is Coach Trotter's only hope if he is injured.

LEGION FOOTBALL SPIRIT PROMPTS RENEWED EFFORTS

WONDERFUL RESULTS LAST SUNDAY FOLLOWED BY RENEWED WORK ON THE PART OF THE LOCAL BOYS FOR NEXT CONTEST.

Somewhat the worse for wear but anxious to get under way for the next battle, a week from Sunday, the American Legion football players stamped around the grid paths at Recreation Park again last evening, limbering up their joints after the attack of last Sunday at Selma when they performed so nobly as to startle even the oldest experts of the game and came home with a 7 to 0 victory.

That was a real battle, says everyone who saw it. And among them was Fred C. Scott, district attorney of Tulare county and former star player on the famous Selma squad.

"These Visalia fellows pplayed real football," declared Fred. Believe me they were in the game every minute of the time and it did me proud to glimpse them and the spirit which was displayed. I stand ready to tell the good folks of Visalia that the Visalia football team is in the race for the victory goal all the time and deserves the most religious support."

They're kiddin' Ted Brandon on his black eye but he should worry. "It isn't half as good a shiner as I can put on an automobile," he said. "Believe me I'd give another black eye for another six yard gain like the one I got this in." Ted's wonderful work was one of the shining points of the game and the fact that he returned home with a shining eye but tipifies the brilliancy of his efforts.

Erol Chrisman played to the minds of many of the home guard one of the stellar positions. Erol busted up many a play for the fast Selma outfit and himself completed all but one forward pass. He had that ball but was hit amidship and lost it. In blocking attacks he proved his superiority.

Despite the fact that he has a bad side Lee Dugan proved his contention that he knew football and his navy team training came in for good display.

Dark Horse Roberts, who stomped around the other end last Sunday went up against Sells, the fastest end, they say, in the San Joaquin valley and made him look sick. Every player on the American Legion team here stands back of Roberts for his wonderful work.

Of course "Slippery" Ells was on the job. Visalians never knew how well he deserved that title given him at U. S. C. until Sunday when he poured the whole bucket of water over his head and slid through the holes that weren't.

Speaking of being slippery reminds one that "Pet" Lucas is the prime dodger of the league. "Pet" can sidestep more attacks for gains than any other gridiron star in the valley and Selma admits it.

Young Roberts is the son of our esteemed friend Mr. J. E. Roberts of Hanford who is just now residing in our city.

This young man gained an enviable reputation for himself and race upon this occasion and has the promise of becoming one of the race's leading athletes.

Entered as Second Class Matter at the Post Office of Los Angeles, under the Act of Congress, March 2, 1879.

All news matter must reach this office not later than Thursday A. M. to insure publication in current issue.

Advertising rates made known upon application.

Governor Henry J. Allen of Kansas is one of the great statesmen of the day, who is unafraid to stand up for law, order and common decency. He has amply proved this in his denunciation of the Ku Klux Klan.

The Rev. Bob Shuler may be all right but his Ku Klux leaning is against him.

District Attorney Thomas Lee Woolwine need have no fear for the recall. His is a non partisan office nad appreciating a man who has really and truly meted out even handed justice, the people will uphold him to the utmost.

Have no malice against your neighbor or any one else, eschew prejudice, but have no hesitancy in denouncing crooks and crooked dealing.

We stand absolutely for law and order and we are also for a strict enforcement of all laws which are enacted as a protection to society.

It is not the prejudice of the white against the blacks at all times which holds us down, but too frequently the prejudice of the blacks against the blacks.

Nobody would seriously object to the K. K. K. only they are cowardly and would reign in their masks and hoods. In due time this band of renegades will receive their just dues as the most despicable species of human beings in the wide—wide world.

Times may come and times may go but the undaunted and courageous, William Monroe Trotter will go on forever, speaking for the unfettered rights of his people.

And now comes forth the Hon. Benjamin Davis of the Atlanta Independent and says that there is nothing to "what Edith Abbott has been writing about in the Defender in reference to the treatment of the members of the 24th Infantry." Perhaps after all the investigation into the same will reveal who is who in the premises.

At least a jury has been secured that would bring in a verdict of guilty in a notorious murder case. They found Clara Phillips guilty in the hammer murder case, and then when we reflect that Clara did not have as much money for her defense as some of the other celebrated murder suspects, we then have a second though coming.

All eyes are now on Sacramento, where Governor elect, Friend Richardson, is in repose, getting ready for real action early in January. He has a mighty program mapped out and the people anxiously await developments.

A PANECEA

The International Welfare League, with its program of real production and a marshalling of all forces worth while to put over a huge program of real progress is to our likking. We are informed that one of the organizations strong features is the education along all lines of real accomplishment and that within its sphere no member who wields a hammer can qualify. This being so, we can see no reason why this body beyond all others should not succeed. The colored people might as well awaken to the fact at this time instead of later on, that their future is absolutely in their own hands, and that to become real factors in this or any other nation, they must become real producers.

The International Welfare League as we understand it is organizing and launching a campaign of education to qualify its members for the task of production. We are with them all the way and feel that at last they bring to us a panacea for all of our ills.

FOR LAW AND ORDER

The Soaring Eagle has always stood up for law and order and at this time we want to call attention to the conditions which cause us to speak up for a perfectly strict enforcement of the law against vagrancy, carrying concealed weapons, Chinese Lottery and prostitution. We call upon our very efficient police department to wage a relentless warfare against this element which seems to be a gnawing concer at our body politic. Right in front of this office at 6:00 p. m. on last Saturday two thugs enticed a man into our own car and knocked him in the head and robbed him. During the same week three business places in the block between 8th and 9ht street on Central avenue reported being robbed. We feel that a clean up is due on the petty thieves, hooch joints, lottery dens and street walkers and that our present efficient force should be augmented to that end. We feel that protection should be given for 24 hourus in the day and until these petty robberies and other conditions mentioned are abated that a sufficient detail should be made that law and order shall prevail.

WHY THE MILLION DOLLARS.

Mr. Dyer, now nationally known as the father of the Anti-lynching Bill, said, in the course of an address, that if a million people get back of the Anti-Lynching Bill, it would pass.

Any reasonable person who knows anything, knows that Mr. Dyer has not authority to commit the United States Senate. He has no authority to say to any audience what will be necessary to pass any proposed Bill. Indeed, his remarks were made casually, if we understand the context, and were not intended to be taken literally.

Yet as soon as some one heard his words, immediately a new drdive was launched. The slogan was to get a million women back of the Dyer Bill. The slogan was soon changed to include a Million Dollars with a million wwomen.

Let us be sane, if not intelligent. What can be done with a Million Dollars? Is it proposed to buyy up a few Senators and their votes? If it will take a million why not two million? Where will the figures stop? Who will spend the money when it is raised? Who will make a report of the expenditures?

And further. The Courier has seen a letter from New York, in which it was stated that a certain speaker, proposed for a mass meeting, should be given ONE-HALF of the GROOSS receipts taken at the doors, and the local organization should receive the other half.

This is too much for us. We can never lend ourselves to any such scheme to raise a Million Dollars to be divided that way. Then what becomes of the Dyer Bill, if the Million is to be divided half as indicated in the letter we saw from New York?

A Million women. Why not a Million Men? What is the difference? Is it thought that the dear women would fall for the BUNNK, and the men would not? Get a million interested in the bill, if you pplease. Let them be white people, men and women; colored people, men and women, but we can not see the necessity of raising a Million Dollars. Our Senators will never fall for that BUNK. It sounds like an attempt to bribe. We can not subscribe to this Million Dollar idea.

—Pittsburgh Courier.

LEGION FOOTBALL SPIRIT

Ernie Sparks is somewhat the worse for wear, has several scratches and limps a bit yet b it Sparks proved "ole reliable" once again as he did last year. He is always good for gains through the line.

Al Griggs, snappy backfielder, displayed his kicking ability once more. When Visalia was in danger a couple of times Al kicked safely out and it was just plain hard luck that his drop kick failed. Al converted the one touchdown made and that's something extra for this year a converted goal has to be made from a line of scrimmage on a drop kick and it takes fast action to do it.

"Red" Hansen was on the job, of course. Everybody expects "Red" to be the main squeeze when one mentions a center. Hansen is a solid rock in that position, always has been and always will be.

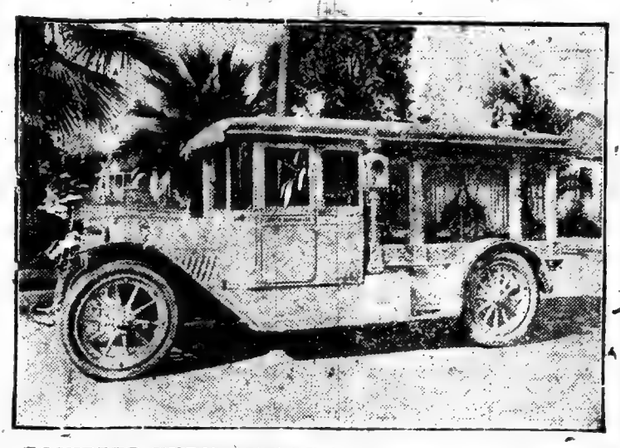
"Cob" Balaam, Tex Bodine and Salisbury constitute three of the hardest men at "nailing them" from the line known to valley football. They are stone wall defenders and always seem to get through on the defensive and get their men without much trouble despite the heavfest of opposition. One should mention, in that connection, that Salisbury is playing football for the first time in his young life and is making good at it with a vengence.

Chet Brown is likewise a stone wall player at tackle but its really pleasing to see what a happy chap he is. "Always leave them laughing," he remarks as he smiles when a straight arm lays him flat.

Williams and "Skinney" Aubrey, who went in for a few moments last Sunday, showed real stuff and it is confidently expected they will be given more opportunity next time.

These are just a few remarks which fit the situation exactly and come fro mexpert football men who know every angle of the game and who have now seen the local boys in their first league game,, and only game. Everybody expected Selma to win last Sunday and when Visalia slipped it over on them-ti was received publiantly and should be followed by a rousing reception and pledge of support.

But now, as we began, the boys are at work again for the next battle They don't play next Sunday but the following week Fresno comes down here. Fur is going to fly for the Fresno outfit wants the football pennant as well as the baseball pennant.



Fresno plays inuba Sunday and the game will be watched with genuine interest for from it a lineup of the two teams can be secured.

Dinuba has a hard gang to beat. In fact many believe Dinuba's offensive will be stronger than Selma's although Selma's defensive is considered remarkbale. Nevertheless Visalia has broken through Selma's defensive and that's going some.

Is Judge Walton J. Wood a Member of the Ku Klux?

Judge Gives New Definition of Americanism.

By: C. A. SPEAR

Mrs. Anna Williams who for fifteen years has been identified with the work of "The Women's Christian Temperance Union" of this city, and an all around social worker, has always demonstrated a true Christian spirit of Americanism; for she has never limited her activities to any race, color or creed, but has always heard and responded to the human cry for help. She has worked in the schools, hospitals, and jails—especially directing her attention on girls, those who have fallen by the wayside; those misled, and even those who have waved fat on the wealth of their forefathers, but have fallen victims of the vice system of this age. So broad is the vision of this woman, and so unselfish her motives that she had never stopped to think of the color of her skin or race affiliation until last Wednesday when she appeared in a Civil Rights case in the court over which Judge Walton J. Wood presides.

It seems that Sunday morning, March 19th Mrs. Williams in Company with Mesdames T. A. Gill, Kate Greaves (both white), all W. C. T. U. workers, after a busy morning's work in the City Jail, appeared in Boos Bros. Cafeteria, located at 328 South Broadway for lunch. After they had helped their trays and were about to eat, the manager of said cafe appeared on the scene, taught Mrs. Williams by the shoulder and announced that she could not eat in there. So insistant was he that the ladies left the cafe, Mrs. Williams perceptably humiliated and her white friends likewise humiliated out of sympathy because of the harsh treatment accorded their friend, and co-worker.

When the case was called last Wednesday the management of Boos Bros. denied the fact that they practiced race discrimination against colored people, and at this point Judge Wood literally took the case out of the hands of the defending attroney, and turning to the witness then on the stand, who was none other than Mrs. Williams, he enquired of her if she was not aware of the fact that colored people were not wanted in white cafes, and didn't she think the proper procedure for her was to have gone to a colored cafe in the first place. And to this Mrs. Williams answered that she was not thinking of the color of the cafe or its management, she wanted food because she was hungry after putting a breakfastless morning in the City Jail, and the pearness was the only and sole reason why Boos was selected.

The judge then wanted to know of her in what other white Cafes she had eaten; where upon Atty. McDowell, who was representing Mrs. Williams, objected. The judge reddening in the face announced to Atty. McDowell that he had had his say, and now he (the judge was going to have his.

It is asserted by those present that this was the rawest deal ever given an attorney and his client according to their observation.

This attitude on the part of Judge Walton Wood is a revelation at least to the colored people of this community, and they are wondering as to his definition of Americanism.

It is further understood that Judge Wood argued that whenever a colored person entered a white cafe it meant loss of dollars for the proprietor.

In this position our learned Judge is certainly out of harmony with the better class of his own people who realize that within the sixty years alloted him for self-improvement, the Negro has surpassed the most sanguine expectations of his friends left over from abolition days.

We have only praise and commendation for Atty. McDowell who never lost his head under the shower of Ku Klux propaganda poured upon him and his client last Wednesday by Judge Walton J. Wood.

The Negro has demonstrated most God-like patience in the face of cruel oppression. He has preserved the honor of America from 1737 to Nov. 11, 1918. He has never assassinated a president nor betrayed his country in times of war, but has always been a loyal citizen.

Now, he is human, and has human rights that must be respected, and when such men in high places with responsible positions as that of Judge Wood forget the ideal of justice for all men alike according to the constitution of these United States he himself is suggesting a new standard of Americanism that is not well founded and cannot last.

Mr. and Mrs. S. T. Anderson had as their guest on Wednesday evening, the Rev. J. C. Anderson and family; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Battish. A delicious dinner of tomato bullion, baked chicken, mashed potatoes, green peas, hot biscuits, asparagus salad, pineapple ice cream was served by Miss M. Watson. The guests departed happily and declared Mrs. Anderson was an elegant hostess.

ASSEEMBLYMAN ROBERTS THANKS PUBLIC.

No words of thanks could fully express my deep appreciation of the splendid loyalty to principle and wonderful support given me as the nominee for assembly by the people of the 74th District at the November 7 election. The choice of the people was unmistakably shown by the overwhelming vote given the victor. It was then a distinct victory for the people themselves, who refused to be either fooled or intimidated.

I want to thank the ministers and the churches, The Forum and many other civic organizations, the Roberts' campaign committee of citizens, its vigilant management and able direction, the many general campaign workers who voluntarily worked for my election, the women's clubs, the men and women of the homes and all the citizens of every walk of life who combined their votes to gain such a sweeping victory. To all who aided in any way, I am grateful.

And now, for the third time re-elected Assemblyman of the 74th District, I pledge anew my best efforts as the representative of all the people of that district for the highest welfare of the people and the state.

FREDERICK M. ROBERTS,
Assemblyman 74th District.

Y. Andrew Roberson Dies of Pneumonia

Y. ANDREW ROBERSON PROMISING YOUNG AUTHOR SUCCUMBS TO PNEUMONIA.

Y. Andrew Roberson though only twenty-five years of age, had succeeded in making a place for the work of his pen in some publications of national repute, namely the Literary Digest and Leslie's Weekly.

Ambitious, energetic, a hard worker toward the goal of a great writer, he was, in the midst of all this, called to account Tuesday morning, at 10 o'clock.

After a struggle of about a month, double pneumonia claimed him as victim.

Mr. Roberson was the author of "Last Night," an article; "A Color Line within a Color Line," for Leslie's Weekly, which created quite a sensation, also a novel serial "Ashes," which appeared in the New Age-Dispatch.

Arrangement for funeral cannot be made as the grandfather, nearest relative alive, has not yet arrived in the city.

IN MEMORIAM
To Y. Andrew Roberson.
By Wendell P. Gladden, Jr.

Let me sing unto the hills
My sorrow-song;
Let me utter my prayer unto the hills,
That they may join me
In mourning.
An oak tree
Young, and growing in strength,
Faced the winds and rain and storms
And stood unshaken.
But came the day when the force
Of driving rain, and sweeping wind
Left the young oak uprooted.
And it died.
A youth, stalwart
Illustrious, growing in strength
Of knowledge,
Faced the world
And stood upright, with high ideals
Unshattered.
But suddenly, Life was Unkind.
And the race, and the world, felt
The loss.
Let me sing unto the hills
The aged, holy hills
Let me utter my prayer unto the hills
That it may resound
Unto the very throne.
Of God.

SOUTHERN SECTION OF STATE FEDERATION OF COLORED WOMAN'S CLUBS, HOLD FIRST RECIPROSITY MEETING OF THE YEAR, AT SOJOURNER TRUTH HOME.

The meeting, which was largely attended, was presided over by the Third Vice President, Mrs. C. B. Hicks The minutes of the morning board were adopted.

Very glowing reports from 16 clubs represented by 28 delegates made the discussion very interesting, after which the chairman of the reciprosity, Mrs. Ada Jackson presented the following program:

Piano Solo—Miss B. Chamberlain.
Vocal Solo—Miss E. Miles.

Mrs. L. Slaughter and Mrs. S. Cole made a partial report from the National Federation of Colored Womans Clubs, which was both instructive and interesting.

MEN'S DAY

People's Ind. Church

MEN'S DAY AT INDEPENDENT CHURCH PROVES BIG SUCCESS. THEY PUT OVER STELLAR PROGRAM.

The ruling spirit at the great Independent Church is a diversified program all branching out from the spiritual welfare and making this church feel like you are at home. Therefore the great effort put forth by the men of that Church to outdo the women was a magnificent success The activities of the day were not by any means confined to the membership of the Independent Church but was participated in by members from all the various churches. On last Sunday there was naught for a woman to do at this church, but to come out look and listen. The men had the day and by that we mean all day, morning, afternoon nad evening. Of course the climax came at the evening when the men brought forth such heavy artillery that the women fell into fear and trepidation—they were smothered; they were routed. However, they say that they have received reinforcements and on next Sunday (which is their day) with banners flying they will demonstrate that woman is not only "God's masterpiece" but his dependence to make the old world move along.

SUNDAY EVENING

Rev. N. P. Griggs in eloquent terms introduced P. E. Alexander as master of ceremonies and he in return acted the part to the glory and satisfaction of the men.

In singing the men's chorus was a feature for the opening of the exercises of the evening. Charles C. Boston, phenomenal tenor singer pleaased the crowd immensely and was called for an encore.

Dr. Wilbur C. Gordon's talk on health was a feature.

A Murdock's paper "Man, God's Masterpiece" was a gem and he received great applause for his efforts.

The violin solo by Mr. Forsythe was most highly appreciated.

The Musical Quintette was a decided hit.

C. C. Flint spoke on business as it was getting late and the people became nervous, his splendid talk on business was curtailed.

Emanuel Hall in Gospel singing was perhaps the feature of the program and things were moving to a high pitch as he sang as never before all for the men.

Lewis K. Beeks, recent graduate from Howard, and one of our home boys was at a distinct disadvantage, owing to the lateness of the hour, but his paper was timely and most refreshing at even this late hour.

The meeting closed in a glamor of glory for the men and how it is possible for the women to get anywhere will be worth seeing them try all day at the Independent Church on tomorrow.

REV. BAXTON LAID TO REST

The funeral services of Rev. J. W. Braxton were conducted by Rev. Milton Ward from 8th and Towne Ave. Church, Tuesday at 1:30. Rev. Ward was assisted by Chaplain Priolean who read the obituary and Rev. Guy, Presiding Elder Washington and Rev. Dr. J. C. Owens of the Kansas Conference, who had responded to the notice of the death, to fulfill a solemn agreement entered into by the deceased and several young ministers as they entered their ministerial career over fifty years ago.

Each speaker paid a high tribute to the moral worth and Christian integrity of the deceased. Rev. Braxton has stood as a stalwart Christian and moral character throughout the middle West for more than fifty years. Not only is his demise mourned by his faithful wife and immediate relatives, but by all whose good fortune it was to come in close contact with him. Rex. Braxton was also a faithful fraternal character having been an honored member of Braxton Masonic Lodge, Hannibau, Mo., where he was born about 75 years ago. The floral emblems were profuse and the large circle of friends who assembled on this occasion to pay the last tribute of respect to this worthy character realized that a giant oak had fallen.

COMMUNITY WELFARE LEAGUE

THE INTERNATIONAL COMMUNITL WELFARE LEAGUE, LOS ANGELES LOCAL NO. 1.

The first public meeting of the International Community Welfare League was held Tuesday evening in the Assembly room of Smith and William's establishment, 1311 Central Avenue.

Under the able leadership of Attorney E. C. Jennings, President and L. H. Bryant, Secretary, Junius Brown, Vice President, the local promises to put over the greatest pprogram ever attempted by Negroes in the United States. It was pointed out by Attorney Hugh E. Macbeth in an address before the local, that the great West and Southwest was the future hope of the American Negro. He further proved by having Mr. Arthur Salerz stand and explain to the meeting how the Negroes of Alabama were planning to come to the great Southwest. Mr. A. Manuel brought greetings from Oklahoma.

The program of the League briefly outlined by Attorney Jennings proposes to send Rev. H. B. Gantt, the great evangelist on a tour of the United States, carrying to the people an invitation from Los Angeles to come West. To show the progress that is being made by Negroes on the Pacific Coast a magazine will be published, "The International Guide," containing articles from every city in California and ads from all the business organizations. The Committee appointed to circulate this Guide every three months to all parts of the country is composed of such able men as Messrs. Clarence Brooks, Rev. H. B. Gantt, H. E. Macbeth and A. Moore Shearin.

The next public meeting will be held at the Tabernacle Baptist church 12th and Hemlock Streets on Tuesday evening December 5th at 8:00 o'clock. All persons interested in the uplift of the great masses of Negroes of all sections are urged to be present.

PIONEER PASSES

Mr. Washington Taylor who died November 11th at his home in this city was one of Los Angeles' early pioneers and one of its most reputable citizens.

Mr. Taylor has lived in Los Angeles upward of forty years and has been identified with every movement in the community that stood for race development—was one of the builders, and first deacons of the Second Baptist Church, having served under Rev. C. H. Anderson until the New Hope Baptist Church was organized, he then helped to build it, and there served as an honored deacon until death claimed him a few days ago.

Mr. Taylor was also one of the founders of the Eagle, and for a goodly number of years one of its stock holders and supporters; has worked for the city for thirty-five years, and was one of the oldest members of the S. M. T. and U. B. F. organization. He has made his home on the Furlong Tract for 16 years and for six successive terms was honored president of the Furlong Tract Improvement Association.

Mr. Taylor was not only a progressive citizen, but one of the most exemplary Christian characters of this Community, and his passing, even though he had lived long and well regretted by his many friends and admirers.

The funeral service was held Wednesday at the New Hope Baptist Church, Smith & Williams Undertakers in charge; and the many resolutions attested the high esteem in which he was held.

He leaves to mourn his loss a devoted wife, and other relatives.

BOOK CHAT

By MARY WHITE OVINGTON,
Chairman Board of Directors of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

"Nigger."

By Clement Wood. Published by E. P. Dutton and Company New York. Price $2.00. Postage 10 cents extra.

The theme of this new novel by Clement Wood is that the Negro is not permitted by the white man of Alabama, where the story is laid, to raise above the status of the title of the novel. Emancipation, the hope of the older generation, has not brought liberty to the younger generation. The old grandmother, before she dies, assures her husband that the emancipation of which he fondly dreamed is only to be found in Heaven. "'You been lookin' fer 'mancipation in de life w'ut is; but dis here 'mancipation ain' gwine come till de life to come." And judging from the fate of the colored people in the book she is exactly right. Out of a family of seven all, in one way or another, fail to live and win happiness. The soldier dying in France, hte other soldier killed in America, the ne'er-do-well, the daughter nearly white who for a time goes "over the line" to return home with her baby, the tired drudges, these are her children. To all has come little but suffering. Naturally hers is the cry of the slave, that liberty can only come in another world.

The uicture of the white men and women in Mr. Wood's novel makes one understand the fate of the colored. No abolistionist ever painted the white southerner so cruelly as this son of Alabama. His whites are not only cruel to Blacks. In his first novel "Mountain" he describes the father of the hero, a rich manufacturer, as cruuelly beating his little son every morning, day after day, because he has committed a single act of indolence. It seems as though this author meant that we should get out of our minds the picture of the kindly slaveholder, so popular with the earlier southern writers, and remember the overseer who fulfilled the law of the slaveholder and day after day beat the defenseless people within his power. The whites in Stribling's "Birthright" were cruel, but they had a touch of go donature. They did their cheating with a laugh. There is no laugh in "'Nigger." From the time Jake and his family appear upon the scene until the last page when the old man shivers tortured by his memories, there is tragedy. "Futility," that might be the title of the story. It is futile for a Negro to be educated, it is futile for him to fight for his country, it is futile to attempt to be white. It is even futile to give up the struggle and be a "no account nigger," for to the ne'er-do-well Tom, the most allive of the figures, ecomes only sorrow. Don't expect to be anything but a "nigger," at least in Alabama. That is the gist of the story.

It is evident that the author believes this will not be changed unless we have amalgamation. "As long as either race had as its ambition to remain itself htere must be conflict. For equality meant sameness, oneness." So his light colored girl thinks, and, seeing only sorrow ahead, is tempted to kill her light colored child.

Clement Wood has written a great tragedy; and it seems only just that in Birmingham, the city of Octavius, Roy Choen's ridiculous NNegro skketches, we should have this dark picture.

That it is unduly dark every Negro will feel. But it is a swiftly moving picture of suffering, that flashes across the pages as a moving picture flashes across the serceen. Sometimes it is pathetic, sometimes gigantioc. No one can follow it in its swift motion nad be unmoved.

INSIDE AND OUTSIDE THE VICE CRUSADE

THE CAMPAIGN—AFTER.

THE CAMPAIGN—AFTER

By: CHANDLER OWEN

'It's all over now!' The 'in' are quet and the 'outs' are in again. Negroes have told Harding themselves where to get off. From New York to the Pacific coast they have said in no uncertain terms that his motion at Birmingham was well taken, his affronts during the past two years have been noted with cafe.

In New York they helped elect a Democratic Governor and a Democratic United States Senator. In New Jersey they downed Frelinghuysen in favor of the Democractic Edwards. In the president's own state they gave him a smashing blow. At Chicag, for the first time, Negroes went Democratic. In California Hiram Johnson is a Progressive.

In Harlem, New York City, Negroes let Ansorge out and chose the Democratic Weller for Congress. And Ansorge and Dyer were pals! Also they let down Richard M. Bolden, Republican Negro candidate for the New York legislature, and chose James Male, white Democrat. Then they whirled and beat Horace W. Palmer, white Republican, and elected Counselor Henri W. Shields, Negro Democrat, to the Legislature instead. (When Negroes don't play they tear up jack!)

But the most surprising and encouraging feature of the elections in New York is the fact that A. Philip Randolph, co-editor of The Messenger and candidate for Secretary of State on the Socialist and Farmer-Labor tickets, polled more than 30,000 votes in New York City alone, and ran second on the entire State Socialist ticket. Charles P. Steinmetz was first, and this was doubtless due to his popularity as an "electrical wizard." Randolph even ran ahead in New York City of the Socialist candidate for Governor, leading him by approximately 25,000 votes. It is certain Randolph got an overwhelming majority of the Negro vote throughout the State. Even where Negroes voted solidly for the Democrats or Republicans on every other count, they invariably cast their vote for Randolph for Secretary of State. And news comes from Rochester that the Negroes there lined up solidly for Randolph, where they went almost equally as solidly for the Democrats on other counts.

Negro Republican leaders are sick. In Harlem there are three Negro newspapers actively supporting the Republican cause, and not one an op[illegible] Democratic advocate. And still the Democrats walked away with an almost unprecedented Negro majority.

The election has much significance Negroes are splitting their votes They are no longer the pawns of the Republicans. And once the splitting is begun there will be no end. It will make Negroes judge their candidates by their platforms. It will make them vote intelligently. And when they begin to vote intelligently in the mass, both Republicans and Democrats had better look out!

The Soaring Eagle editorially last week called attention to vice conditions and urged that a campaign be inaugurated to rid the town of vagrants, petty and major criminals, prostitution, lottery sharks, etc.

Even before the article spoken of ad made its appearance it seems that certain changes for certain reasons had been ordered in the vice-ad which at that time was headed by Officer Frank White and Officer [illegible] P. Williams placed in his stead, that there was a reason for this goes without saying, for J. S. Ealey told a reporter for this paper that he had decided on a change and that change which he stated came to pass. At the time Mr. Ealey stated this, we failing to recognize him as one of the moral forces of the city jokingly told him some of the things which had happened to others in his station in life, in attempt for self aggrandizement, that he said he was on his way and from results he knew just what he was talking about. With the advent of another head of the Squad things began to happen, just as Ealey said, and now, oh yes now, we bow in humble recognition of Mr. Ealey's power as by a real practical demonstration he has convinced us. For right after he said it, down comes the Lieutenant with his Squad, also the hoodlum wagon and some 440 persons more or less were in relays handed up to the police station charged with frequenting a lottery joint. The place raided was the "Royal Star Athletic Club," at 9th and Central Avenue.

TALK AT THE BIG GATE

There is much comment over the happenings, and the "Soaring Eagle" has been known to stand for law and order all along the line without prejudice or malice toward any, but solely for public weal; but there are those who question Mr. Earley's sincerity, especially from the fact that he has never been active in any sort of reform movements which stand for the uplift. There are some who say that he was given a purse by some of the pool room proprietors to bring about the downfall of the Royal Star Athletic Club, and others called the Eagle man aside and said he lined up some of the preachers at so much per to use them to get the ears of the Mayor's office. Of course all of this is big gate talk, and we are simply giving it for what it is worth. Personally we say not, but things surely did happen and all agree that Ealey is in on the happening and we are watching the turn of events so that we can keep Eagle readers fully advised.

NEW YORK, NOV. 18.—The daily papers here announce that the Manhattan Piggly Wiggly Corporation is bankrupt with liabilities amounting to $[illegible]00,000. The assets of the company are only $3[illegible]6,000.00 [illegible] for [illegible] millions of dollars [illegible]. The company had a host of Negro salesmen getting their stock off at fancy prices and the salesmen themselves raked in huge commissions while swindling their Race out of their money. Several salesmen reported that Harlem was the most fertile field for the corporation's stock. Many Negroes thought that because the company was under white management, that it could not fail, and the would rake in huge dividends on short order. But it is getting to be the general opinion among colored people that when a prominent business suddenly comes to colored people with luring promises of dividends on stocks, that the business is about to crash and this is a last resort to save itself.

WHO IS "BOSS" OF YOUR DOLLARS?

A good many men let the other fellow spend the money they earn—the other fellow just has to suggest something to sell them and—the money is GONE.

Some men are strong enough to control their own money. Every time they get money, they put some of it in a Savings Account—first—BEFORE the fellow who wants to sell you something gets a chance.

It takes a MAN, and a SAVINGS ACCOUNT, in a GOOD BANK, and a STRONG WILL to build up a fund of money in bank which you can use for things that are really worth while.

Why not make a good strong resolution, open an account, and SAVE?

CHRISTIAN CHURCH—
Eighth and Wall Streets.
Rev. M. Frederick Mitchell, Pastor

Last Sunday was one of our banner days. The pastor, having prepared a chart sermion, upon the general divisions of the Bible. The canvas upon which the sermon was outlined, was put in a conspicuous place, where the auudience could see it. The discourse called into action the five senses. Each one could see with his eyes, as well as, hear with his ears, and execute the function of his spiritual nostrils and taast and sense of feeling. The chart consisted of a unique picture, "Paradise Lost," and the means that God used to help man regain "Lost Paradise." Also a picture of all the books of the Bible, giving their nature and the periods under which they belong. Next Sunday the pastor will give another phase of the chart. Last Sunday evening instead of holding our regular services at 8th and Wall Streets, on invitation we held a service for the Inglewood Christian Church, (white). The Choir Chorus under the leadership of Madam Viola Harris Brandon, rendered an appreciative musical program. The musical program commenced at 6:45 p. m. and lasted for and hour. The success of the Choir's effort was shown by the outbursts and prolonged applause the audience greeted each number. After the musical program, the pastor, Dr. Bagby, in choice words introduced our pastor, Rev. Mitchell, as the speaker of the evening. The Reverend on rising from his seat announced his text and subject, "Then Peter said, silver and gold have I none, but such as I have give I thee; in the name of Jesus Christ, rise up and walk." Subject, "Power in the Name of Jesus." The speaker took hold of his discourse as the he were addressing an audience of his own race. All the elem to the discourse a forceful ring from the good confession. The impression that was made by the minister and the Choir will live a lng time in the hearts of the citizenship of Inglewood.

Great was the day for those who attended this church last Lord's day. Spiritual feasting to the full. The gospel atble was richly supplied. Our minister occupied the pulpit morning and evening, with soul stiring messages. At 11:00 o'clock a. m. he used for his text "And it doth not yet appear what we shall be: but we know that when he shall appear, we shall be like him, for we shall see him as he is." 1 John 3:2. From this text, he showed that regeneration is the imperative requisite to the enjoyment of this happy distinction in the great future. Our cup of joy ran over, when a fine young woman came forward and took membership with the congregation.

OFFICE LIFE
TRAGIQUE AND COMIQUE
By Idell Albritton

Back into the limelights the life in, around, about and intermingled with that of the Old Birds resting Place! Full many a moon has come and gone since those deeds of great import and small were penned.

Great the changes, shifted the scenery and altered the condition under which I now set forth these listless words that fall from my pen as I remember ye characters of old, which did ample material furnish to tickle the fancy of the readers of this column. Saddened doth my spirit grow and around my heart a gripping sensation starts, as I realize that never again will I be privileged to translate the deeds and thots of my old friends the Head Printer, the Printer's Devil and Lyno-operator of days past and gone.

But away ye thots of remorse for bright is the outlook, yea more full than this feeble pen of mine can pen is the atmosphere around, in, over, under and through the old spot charged. New life is vibrating. The sparks are flying freely. New Printers Devils are born, New Head, Overhead and plain printers and a new Lyno-operator. No two new lyno-operators even a new Lyno.

Just a little scene Wednesday evening from the remnant of the Old Caste did throw my mind back to the days of '19. The Editor sat and chewed the butt end of a cigar and dreamed of his future glory. The managing editor puffed over things she meant to do and tried to do others. The old, new Lyno operator, with a '20 model cigar holder and a half foot cigar stuck therein grumbled and jawed o'er things he would and should and could do. The Society Editor of old sat with receiver at ear and teased and gigled at them all. "Poll—Muddie's Poll" laughed and screamed and—in the corner o'er the young Eagles all. Another moment the old clock's tick was heard. Editor, Managing Editor, Society Editor and Lyno-operator were pushing pens. the Lyno-operator's eyes, a new pride whine when there seemed to be a A soft reminescent light stole into the Lyno Operator's eyes, a new pride in his command to his slave of old and the same old whine when he detected a new tendency to disobey. Yes 'twas then the Lyno Operator of today almost seemed like him of olde again.

The ministers and church brotherhood are not dwelling together in unity on the recall of District Attorney Woolwine and this will make any chance of his recall go a glimmering.

The progress of evolution is manifest as the husbands of California have formed an organization and secured a state charter with its cardinal principles to uphold the rights of the husbands.

Clemenceau, the Tiger, after his New York speech can now realize that America is not such a tame place after all.

We quite agree with the Messenger of New York when it says that any man who will tie up for keeps with the Marcus Garvey fiasco has a screw loose somewhere about his anatomy.

AUTO BAITING.

The campaign inaugerated by the judges to improve conditions particularly as to violations of the traffic laws is both timely nad in the interest of public welfare. It has become so that even the average driver of an automobile is a speed demon and with a reckless disregard for the law, glides through the streets and on the thoroughfares at a terrific speed which too often causes the maiming or death of some innocent pedestrian or occupant of other cars. The people therefore will be squarely behind the officers and judges in their effort to curtail this evil. It is high time that the reckless drivers of automobiles shall realize that if they will speed and must speed that they do so at their own peril.

IN APPRECIATION.

It is refreshing to know that out here in the land of sunshine and flowers that the people of the white race appreciate a real man to the extent that in San Diego County they will perpetuate his memory by the placing of a tablet of bronze on the mountain grade of Palamor. The same is in memory of Nate Turner who died Oct. 10, 1920 at the age of 101 years. A pioneer he was and a man of honor and integrity, known for his astuteness and hospitality and the unselfish other intrepid discoverers when service to all who came his way. He traveled dwith Balboa and they sought to extend civilization Westward.

One of the redeeming features of a California winter is the fact that no particular worry as to buying coal haunts us, as against the conditions in other climes.

We note the decided improvement in the appearance of the California Voice published at Oakkland. It now looks like and reads like a real newspaper.

HIS CLOVEN HOOF.

Judge Walton J. Wood, who when elected to the Superior Court bench was put there by the support from the colored voters and who ran around with his tongue out soaking their support, by his conduct in a case in his court during the past week has shown his cloven hoof.

We have no fault to find with any official who on the hearing of a case will decide the case upon the law and the evidence; for this there is no come back insofar as we are concerned. But in the case of Mrs. Williams this week in his court, which was a civil rights action where she had been refused service in a public eating house and as per law sought the court for relief, we are told that she received more humiliation at the hands of Judge Walton Wood than she received at the cafe where she was refused service. We are told the Judge shouted out to her "What did you go around to white places for to eat, why didn't you hunt up your own people to eat with, it was no place for you.

Now we submit with all fairness that this is a pretty way for a Judge of the Superior Court of California to carry on. You take all of this county or of this State you would hardly find one who would so far forget himself as to conduct himself in this manner, for on the whole, the judiciary of Los Angeles County are as fair and considerate in administering the law as it is possible to be, and it is indeed to be regretted that we have such a Judge on one of our local benches as would conduct himself as above stated.

THE KU KLUX MEETING AT TRINITY AUDITORIUM.

Instead of the colored people taking underhand methods against each other and all of the other untoward happenings which they are wont to do, they should close ranks and come together, join hands with the good people of the white race in order to maintain the untarnished fame and reputation of this our home, AMERICA.

Anybody who can doubt the above statement should have been present at the meeting which was addressed by Rev. Moore from Arkansas, an official lecturer of the Ku Klux Klan. He delivered a childish and illogical tirade against the Catholics, Jews, Foreigners and Negroes. He said that God Almighty had designed this country for white protestant supremacy and that it was useless for the Negro to attempt to climb for God Almighty had especialy ordained hi mfor a subservient position. He maintained in this situation that the Klan was the Negroes' best friend and that they were determined to protect him from the rich white man, the degraded white man and the I. W. W.

Now if this sort of propaganda given out by this cracker preacher from Arkansas is not enough to make you realize the necessity of a solid formation of all forces for law, order and common decency, we will take out our bit and be on our way. This is the insidious propoganda which is now being put forth in secret and in public. Trinity was crowded with a hetrogenious mass, they came out from the sticks and former Texans, Mississippians and Southerners predominated. It will be observed that these are perilous times and we call on all of the people to stand as one mighty force against this pernicious popaganda all for the salvation of real simon pure and unadulterated Americanism.

THE CALIFORNIA EAGLE

LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA, NOVEMBER 25, 1922

ARGUMENT

The "CONQUEST OF COMASSIE" does not lay claim to entire historic accuracy. In fact, the Author freely admits of having given "wild license" to his own individuality in his flights of "epic imagery." However, it is historically true that, the African king Prempey, in the year 1887, was besieged in his capital of Oppoba by a pick regiment of British Infantry. After a seige which lasted for several months, Prempey defeated them and almost completely anihilated the entire regiment.

Realising that she could not hope to conquer King Premprey and his redoubtabble warriors with her white troops, Queen Victoria of England, relying upon the courage and misguided "patriotism" of her bblack soldiers in the Caribean, did not hesitate to call to the aid of the British Crown, the intrepid and indomitable black heroes of The Crimea, Mashanti, etc., the Second West Indian Regiment.

These stormed Oppoba, the Capital of Coosmassie, captured king Prempey,, and delivered him to the English who took him to England where he soon died of a broken heart in exile.

In the recitation by king Prempey in the "CONQUEST OF COMASSIE," of the achievements of the indomitable black men who founded magnificant empires, built gorgeous temples, fashioned civil laws and religious creeds, and inaugurated an era of stupendous maritime commerce which extended, from the northernmost shores of the Mediterranian, along the old and picturesque coasts of the antry of the Sabeans, of Serica, Lybia, Hevila and Oman, even to the stormy hinterland of Ind, such authentic historians as the French Count Volney in his work entitled "The Ruins of Empires," Diodorus, Lucian, Bruce, Strabo, the plates of Norden, Pocock, et. al., will amply justify the Author in his reference to the past achievements of black men.

ALDEBARAN.

Wake! for the lust of nations now
Have writ the doom upon their brow!
Mercy, and Truth forsook the land
And Greed at Justice's Altar stand.
Strike! for your pressaged day has come!
Strike, Tis the crumbling Nation's doom!
Rest not content beneath their feet
Feeding on crumbbs of stark deceit!
Wake! Mighty men of Aethiapia's line
Nor grovel in the mire like swine.
For, hell no loathsome soul contains
More base than slave who hugs his chains!
Once more, on Midian's sacred sod
Shall men invoke the Living God!
Once more the earth shall hear your tread
By Glorious Kings and Captains led!
And when the new-born crescent moon
Spreads o'er the fields her silvery shoon
The Muezzin's call shall girt the land.
Then Africa's sons, a numerous band
Shall worship as they did of yore
By Saba's sacred sunlit shore.

A PICTURE OF ETHIOPIA REDEEMED

Jumbala, king of Ka-Kongo was in league with Prempery, King of Coomassie.
The front of Batanga was the scene of native activities in preparation for war.
and Yakobas' forest was where Jumbala likked his panther.

From savage war's accursed decree
Your righteous Nation shall be free,
For Aeothopia's remnant band
Shall build a highway through the lnad.
A jeweled land of joyous ways
Like Golden Age of Ancient Days,
For on the palm of God's right hand
Their graven names Eternal stand.
They shall not sow while other's reap
Nor toiling, build where other's keep.
Nor shall they need the sun's bright ray
To ope the Radient Gates of Day.
For Golden domes, and jewelled spire
Shall light the land with living fire.

DISOBEDIENCE AND FALL

But they forsook the ways of God,
And on the toe of Justice trod.
The poor and week they did oppress
And gloried in unrighteousness
Then, Brother's blood to brothers cried
And lo! no answering voice replied.
For, clothed in jewelled raiment fine,
Puffed up with Power and drunk with wine,
They, built their towers up on high
Wi htproud intent to climb the sky
And league with Powers of the air
To storm the Courts of Heaven fair.
See now! where Karnac's glory shone
The vultures nest in crumbling stone.
Where Aethiopia's pillars stood
The baleful cobra spawns his bbrood!
Hush, Midian, Thebes, but a name,
And moulding tombs obbscures their fame.

EXCERPTS FROM "THE CONQUEST OF COOMASSIE."

It was not the Russ of the dread Crimea,
It was not the Dane from the frosen sea,
Not the dark-haired Frank, nor arrogant Boer
That bristobd the mane of the Lion o'er,
That ruffilled his pride and brought hi mto bay
And challenged his right to the king's highway.
From Afrioa's embattled jungle-fair
Came the bold defy of Coomassie's Chief.
(If it had been, then England's 'pride' would not have been 'ruffled', and so this epic would not have been written.)
The proud dragoon in his harness bright
That sparkled gay like stars at night,
The kilted wight, and the khakied knave,
Who boastedd that they would whip the slave
"Easy as kissin' an 'ousemaid's chin,
Or gargilin' 'a'pworth o' 'Oliand gin.
(But then, What else could you expect from 'Blighty's bloomin' Tommy Atkins?')
Far back in ages long gone by
When Earth was yet a mystery,
When vapors rolling from the deeps
Wrapped heaven's dome in purpled sweeps.
When monsters roamed the wild plains o'er
Whose murderous fangs were red with gore,
And heaven's arch with winged array
Made noon-day's sun like closing day.
Wresting from Nature's grudging hand
Secrets so dread, they flee the day
And chill the heart with dire dismay
And taught their lore,, engraved on stones
To Aethiops Proud and Princely Sons.
(The weird creepiness of this description, can very well enable us to believe that this must have been "Far back in ages long gone by.")
They yoked proud Nilus to the sod,
Dug channels deep to snare the god
Who ope'ed his bbounty-laden hand
O'er Shara's parched and desert sand,
Made conquered earth bring forth her yields
From verdant meads and dewy fields,
While flocks and herds roamed on the plains
And fattened on the rip'ning grains.
(This happy metapphor well describes the industry, prudence and diligence with which these 'Infidels' and 'Heathen' labored to build their vast Empires.)
The labored Earth gave up her gold,
Her choicest gems to worth untold.
Deep in the sod they sunk the stile
And reared the granit, pile on pile.
Wrought cunningly the fir and ash
Twixt cedar's beam and ivory's sash,
Then reared to heaven from out the sod
The temple of the living God.
And roofed with span of jewelled sheen,
The house of Aethiopia's Queen.
(And the reward of this industry and dilligence, was dedicated to the enhancement of living, and to the greater Glory ofGod.
Proud Memnon tamed the wayward tide
That flowed down Nubia's mountain side.
Built monuments on Shara's sands
That tel lhow Aethiop's war-like bands
Conquered Assyria's savage brood
Which crossed the Red Sea's boiling flood,
Or drove the Hyskos kings in chains
Back o'er the Babylonian plains,
To teach the might of Aethiop's Lands
To Chaldee's roving desert-bands.
The kings and warriors of Aethiopia maintained right well, the splendour and the prestige of their brilliant Empire.)
From Oman's caves to mystic Ind
Where typhoons raged and tempests dinned,
They sought the runes of Ancient Budd
That calms the wind, or tames the flood.
They braved the crested storm-tossed foam,
Seeking an incense-laden dome
To pilfer perfumed ointments rare,
To deck a lucious damsel's hair,
Or, dark-skinned maidens to array
In shimmering silks from proud Cathay.
(And gloried in the voluptuous and dreamy-eyed maidens, who were the favored receiplants of the rare and exotic spoils of their dangerous quest.)
Dark, beautious maidens glad the eye,
Whose matchless charms and witching sigh
Effulgent as a summer's morn
A prince's mansion may adorn,
May soothe a peasant's longing soul
Or grace a monarch's throne of gold.

CONVENTION FLASHES

By: DR. L. G. JORDAN

Even going in debt for the purchase of a home is not bad; get a home at any cost, because renting is such poor business.

Tell our people to train their children to go to and from school like children, and not like courting characters. Whether it be on trains, street cars or walking along the streets,, teach them to be careful in their conduct. Loud talking and boisterous laughter are signs of bad breeding.

Dr. L. K. Williams was President of the Texas Baptist Convention for twelve years.

These years were during a stormy, turbulent period in the history of Texas Baptists. His experience, gained at this time, fits him admirably for the Presidency of the National Baptist Convention.

The coming session of the National Baptist Convention at St. Louis in December, will be largely attended and interesting. Many questions of vital importnace to our present and future workk will come up. Let us urge our people to pray earnestly for wisdom and guidance in holding this, our 43rd Annual meeting.

Every man and woman among us should go to St. Louis with a prayer on the lips for God's leadership. Our missionaries out on the fifring lines of our gospel work are looking to us. Our Foreign Mission Board is doing its best and nothing should make us withhold from them the help that they need.
Join the REGULARS.

Our National Seminary awaits our final action. The money is ready for use in the training of our fuutre pastors. God has brought Negro Baptists into a large place, for some great purpose of His own. Shall we prove worthy of His trust?

Yours in His Service,
L. G. JORDAN.

NEGRO LAUNDRY WORKERS OF WASHINGTON, D. C.

With the advent of the steam laundry 40 years ago, began the gradual passing of the picturesque Negro washerwoman, arrayed in gingham apron, delivering and finally washing in certain sections of the country was done by colored people. The Department of labor, through Hill H. Brown, Commissioner of Conciliation, instituted a survey to ascertain to what extent Negroes were employed in the laundry industry. Washington, D. C., was selected as a typical city for the investigation, and the results indicates that 64.4 per cent of a total of 1,549 workers of both sexes and sexes, engaged in the laundry business in Washington, D. C., are Negroes. This does not include Chinese and hand laundries; nor those plants employing machinery. This per cent is based upon a total of 551 white and 998 colored workers, who are further divisible into 248 white males, 223 colored males; 213 white females, and 776 colored females, the colored males and females forming respectively, 14.4 per cent and 50.0 per cent of the grand total of 1, 549.

An analysis, by skill, of these workers, after eliminating the unskilled workers, discloses the fact that it takes 343 white males as against 490 unskilled white males to conduct the plant laundry of Washington, D. C. The skilled workers, with a per cent of 57.2 are performing the bulk of the skilled duties, and of that per cent colorde female workers with a per cent of 42.6 which is practically equal to the entire white increment, male and female, of 42.8 per cent, are performing virtually one-half of the entire skilled laundry wrok. Their male co-workers account for the remaining 14.6 per cent of the skilled work.

Coming to the unskilled group of 490 workers, 73 white and 417 colored, it is found that the latter have a percentage of 85.1 as against 14.9 for the former; and that the colored females with a per cent of 74.1 are, as before, performing the greater part of all duties. Colored males have an inclusion among the unskilled workers of 11.0 per cent.

A further analysis was made, as far as possible, of the actual occupations of these workers, and it was found that they were principally distributed as follows:

Occupations	White	Colored
Assorters and Markers	10	46
Drivers	117	58
Engineers	11	5
Ironers	122	492
Office help	44	0
Shakers	10	44
Shirt and collar girls	12	57
Washers	17	108
All others	89	164
Total	551	998

Notes:
1. "Drivers" includes collectors and deliverers.
2. "Washers" includes starchers and wringers.
3. "Ironers" includes machine operators and feeders.
4. "Engineers" includes firemen and mechanics.
5. "All others" includes supervisors, catchers, cleaners, general helpers, etc.

From the above it is apparent that Negro workers have mastered every art and trade of the laundry industry on through its development from the hand to the machine processes, and that their female wing has advanced, along with the whites, far beyond the stages of apprenticeship.

While the above figures and facts do not depict the full circumstances of 100 per cent of the laundry workers of Washington, D. C., and while they must not be understood to have any reference to the many private workers who, as of yore, are still plying their trades with old customers who do not desire to utilize the modern and mechanical means of washing ironing; yet it is believed that the statistics submitted by the active plants which readily cooperated with the Department in this study are thoroughly typical of normal local conditions, both as to the above plants and as to the very small increment remaining untabulated.

COMING NORTH

We received a letter the other day from a friend connected with the Census Bureau, asking any information possible as to the increase of the Negro population on the Pacific Coast for the past year.

The letter is interesting, from the fact, that it states that, on an average, one thousand Negroes are leaving the Southland every week. We have always deplored the fact that there was no organized plan to assimilate these strangers into the new environment.

Coming, as they do, from sections of this country where color hate has held sway, they are too apt to become intoxicated with the "new freedom" and take, liberty for license. It is not worth while to be mealy mouthed about the matter. It confronts us. We see it in our daily rounds. It is noticeable on our public carriers; It can be seen in the conduct at places of public amusement. Those things should not be, and if they continue will only create a feeling akin to that from which they seek to flee. The prior residents of a community are responsible for the continued respect of the people of that community. With tact and discretion the stranger who seeks asylum in the freedom of our section, can be taught that it is only by observing the common courtesies of life that this freedom can be maintained. We know that the task is a hard and ungrateful one, but the end to be gained is worth the sacrifice.

THIS AND THAT

Col. J. T. Robinson, Senator from Arkansas, says: "That the Japanese is the only color race of modern times to strike a blow at the supremacy of the white Race. The Senator should remember that history has a habit of repeating itself.

A San Francisco Japanese was recently apprehended for burglary, and strange to relate, the robberies were confined to his own countrymen. Hitherto, the Japanese maintained a splendid attituude of cohesive helpfulness, and that was one of their main measures of success.

France is seeking to restrict foreign ownership of land. Why? It is alleged that Americans have taken advantage of the exchange rate to invest in French real property, hoping for an advance in the value of the French franc. If we are not mistaken, there is a clause in the Treaty of 1853 or 4, between the United Sattes and France, allowing reciprocal rights to own real estate.

In these feverish times, when divorces are as frequent as marriages, to note a couple who has walked hand in hand down the matrimonial path for a quarter of a century. The many friends of Christopher, and Mrs. Grichott gathered at their Andover St home in San Francisco, to witness them renew their vows for another Twenty-five years or, "until death do them part." Mrs. Grichott, who was Miss Nellie Bynum, pprovod a splendid hostess and from two till five p. m., November 4, the many friends bearing useful and costly presents of silver, gave tangible evidence of their love and esteem.

The evening was spent in card playing and dancing with a delightful Dutch supper at the close of the affair. Miss Winona Winder rendered a few popular selections at the piano.

Among those present were many social leaders: Mr. nad Mrs. Winder, Mr. and Mrs. Harrison and Mr. and Mrs. Hills.

IN THE MUSIC WORLD

By John A. Gray

Hampton, Va., October 21.—"Folk music of the East and West met on comparable terms, through the co-operation of Max Rabinoff of New York, when the well trained Ukrainian National Chorus, dressed in gorgeous, native peasant costumes, and the Hampton Institute chorus nad choir, composed of Negro voices, recently sang in Ogden Hall, at Hampton Institute, the famous folk songs of little Russia and the Negro religious folk songs or "Suirituals" of the old South before a warmly enthusiastic audience of over 2000 representative white and colored citizens of the lower peninsular of Virginia. This matinee concert was given under the anspices of the Musical Art Society of Hampton Institute, of which R. Nathaniel Dett is the conductor.

The Ukrainian singers were encored again and again. They were greeted with sympathy and fervor by the 850 Hampton Institute students, who sang to them under the leadership of Paige L Lancaster, formerly a song leader and fifirst lientenant of "The Buffaloes," four Negro folk songs—"Ride on, Jesus," "Nobody Knows the Trouble I've Seen," "Look away in the Heaven," and "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot." Some of the Ukrainian singers declared that in all their travels through Germany, France and Belgium, they had never heard such thrilling chorus singing as that which was furnished to them by the Hampton Institute students. They fairly danced with joy behind the curtain, after the Hampton students sang for them the primitive and developed Negro folk melodies.

Alexander Koshetz, the conductor of the Ukrainians, after hearing the Hampton Institute choir of sixty voices sing "Listen to the Lambs" and "I'll Never Turn Back no More," two compositions based on Negro folk motifs, written by R. Nathaniel Dett of Hampton Institute and interpreted under his conductorship, said: "The Negro composer's work is colossal in its significance of the cultural possibilities of Negroes. On my return to Ukrainia I shall put Professor Dett's compositions on my programs and have my students study and interpret Negro folk music."

ANTI-CATHOLIC K. K. K. ACTIVITY

(Translated from the Fort Wayne, Ind. Freie Presse Staatszeitung by I. C. B.)

At Olpin, Texas, eight members of the K. K. K. went unmasked to the Parish Priest's house and forced Rev. Father Jos. Meiser, to accompany them to a lonely spot, eight miles distant, where he was subjected to a severe beating. The miscreants gave as reason for their un-American action, that Father Meiser had been too pro-German during the World War.

A similar fate was meeted out some time ago to the Parish Priest of Slaton, Texas.

N. A. A. C. P. PREVENTS EXTRADITION FROM CLEVELAND TO SOUTH CAROLINA

The Cleveland Branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People has been successful in preventing extradition of a colored man to South Carolina, it was announced today. According to a letter from Harry E. Davis, Representative in the Ohio legislature, and member of the National Board of the N. A. A. C. P., the man in question, James Roberson, was arrested November 10, on a fugitive warrant from South Carolina.

The defendant stated that he had lived in Simpsonville, S. C. and had there borrowed money on mules and other farm property, which was sold when he was foreclosed.

"Roberson left Simpsonville," continues the letter of Mr. Davis, "and came to Cleveland, where he has been employed for nearly two years as an iron worker at the Cleveland Hardware Company. He has a wife and four children.

"Roberson, through ignorance of his rights, had signed a waiver of extradition, and the local police authorities wired the South Carolina sheriff to come and get his man. He immediately wired the Governor, demanding a hearing on extradition and followed this up by letter.

"On Saturady morning, I filed a petition in habeas corpus in Common Pleas Court, but the writ was denied on technical grounds. The Court, however, at our request, annulled the waiver of extradition and ordered the Chief of Police to hold hte man in custody until regular extradition papers were produced.

"We then demanded a hearing on the merits of the case in the Criminal Branch of Municipal Court, and are glad to report that the Court ordered the discharge of the defendant.

"What I want to emphasize is that Roberson is a member of the U. N. I. A., and immediately upon his arrest, he asked assistance from their local officials. Not one of them responded, and as far as I am able to learn, no effort was made to do anything for him."

William R. Greene, President of the Cleveland Branch, N. A. A. C. P., was associate counsel with Mr. Davis in this case.

N. A. A. C. P. TELEGRAPHS HARDING ASKING PROTECTION FOR NEGROES IN TEXAS. SAYS SITUATION IN BRECKENRIDGE DEMANDS DYER BILL ENACTMENT.

On receipt of news from Texas that Mexicans and Negroes were being driven from their homes in Breckenridge, Texas, and that the Mexican Government had protested against the lynching of its nationals in the United States, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, 70 Fifth Avenue, New York, immediately telegraphed President Harding renewing its demand for enactment of the Dyer Anti-Lynching Bill and asking federal protection of colored United States citizens in the danger zone. The telegram which was signed by James Weldon Johnson is as follows:

"National Association for the Advancement of Colored People respectfully calls yours attention to International situation created by lynching of Mexicans as well as of Negroes in Texas and again urges that Dyer Anti-Lynching Bill be endorsed by Administration and enacted by Senate in order that the Federal Government may properly deal with this humiliating and dangerous situation.

"In the mean time may we respectfully urge that Federal protection be extended to colored United States citizens of Breckenridge, Texas, who are being driven from their homes by threats of violence.

(SIGNED)
JAMES WELDON JOHNSON,
"Secretary, National Association for the Advancement of Colored People."

WILMINGTON DAILY NEWSPAPER CALLS DEFEAT OF LAYTON A WARNING TO REPUBLICANS

Under the title, "Fair Warning," Every Evening, one of theleading daily newspapers of Wilmington, Delaware, in its issue of November 13, issued an editorial warning the Republican Party, because of the defeat of Delaware's Representative in Congress, Dr. Layton, by colored voters. The editorial bears out the contention made by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and editorially by the Wilmington Advocate that colored voters emancipated themselves in the recent election. The editorial in Every Evening says in part:

"It is an undeniable fact, eloquently revealed by the figures of the election, that the Negro voters of Delaware for once demonstrated their freedom from partisan slavery. Representative in Congress, Caleb R. Layton gained the strong disapproval of Delaware Negroes by his opposition to the Anti-Lynching Bill now pending in Congress. They protested in advance against his renomination, but their protests were insolently disregarded. And at the election last Tuesday, when the purely political contest was very close, Layton went down to defeat under an adverse majority of more than 6000. Now fair warning is served on the managers of the Republican Party in Delaware, that the Negroes will no longer consent to be mere party chattels, but must be recognized in accordance with their numbers and their voting influence in the party."

N. A. A. C. P. SECRETARY IN WASHINGTON FOR DYER BILL AS SENATE CONVENES. MOORFIELD STORY SAYS "WE MUST PUSH."

As the Senate convenes on November 20, in the special session of Congress calle dby President Harding, the Secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, James Weldon Johnson, is in Washington to fight the final battle in behalf of the Dyer Anti-Lynching Bill. Mr. Johnson has been at the National Capital throughout the campaign in behalf of the Dyer Bill, and during debate on the floor of the House of Representatives, before its passage there, was in constant conference with Republican House leaders. He intetnds to remain in Washington until the bill is entirely disposed of.

Mr. Johnson announced before his departure from New York for Washington, that he would kkeep colored people informed of the progress of the bill, and made public a letter from Moorfield Story, ex-president of the American Bar Association and now President of the N. A. A. C. P., which says in part:

"I want to congratulate you on the results of the campaign. The defeat of Dr. Layton and Mr. Parker is a very important contribution to our cause, for it will show that where the colored forces are united they can defeat their enemies.

"I do not know what we may expect in Washington, but we must push and with the presidential election before them, and their present low estate, I think the Republicans may feel that they cannot afford to alienate so large a body of voters, and voters so much in earnest as the colored citizens of this country. That certainly is the idea which we must bring home."

During the Senate fight on the Dyer Bill, special bulletins will be telegraphed the New York Office of the N. A. A. C. P., by Mr. Johnson and sent out as occasion warrants.

KANSAS MAN MAKING GOOD

FORMER KANSAS DAIRYMAN MAKING GOOD IN CALIFORNIA. HAS RECORD MILCH COW.

James Scott of N. Evergreen St., who gained fame and many ribbons as an exhibitor of fine stock at the fairs back in Kansas, has likewise, out here in the Golden West, produced a milch cow which bids fair to make one of the greatest in these parts.

Mr. Scott has qualified as a judge of fine cattle and has with credit served in this capacity both in Kansas and California. Having been in poor health and his means invested in city property in both this city and in Topeka, he has not been able to launch out on the scale that he would wish to, but having regained his health, he would consider going in 550-55 with any lover of this line of effort who would finance the dairy business and breeding of Registered cattle. He can be reached at 612 N. Evergreen Street or Phone Boyle 4815.

The following record of milch cow will be of interest to lovers of high bred stock:

Fawn of Willowwood H. R. No. 378899. Sired by Oga's Mella Pogis H. R. No. 92000. Dam Eurota's Pogis Fawn 4th H. R. No. 262507. Registered on Merit No. 8594 Class A. Has a record of Fat 388.33 lbs. Dropped a pair of twins on Oct. 22, 1922. One female, other male. Sired by Massett's Releigh. She is giving more milk today than did any day while on test. HOWARD UNIVERSITY FACULTY HAVE NOTABLE DINNER IN NEW DINING HALL. 183 PERSONS PRESENT. FIRST EVENT OF ITS KIND EVER HELD AT THE UNIVERSITY. CAMPAIGN LAUNCHED FOR ENDOWMENT FOR SCHOOL OF MEDICINE.

Washington, D. C.—The greatest Get-To-Gether meeting in the history of the Howard University was the Allied Faculty gathering in the New Dining Hall on the University Campus, Wednesday evening, November 8th. For the first time the faculties of the Junior College, School of Liberal Arts, Applied Science, Music, Religion, Law, and Medicine sat down at dinner and for conference as to how the whole University may cooperate with the School of Medicine in securing the conditional gift of $250,000 offered by the General Education Board of New York City provided the University raise an equal sum.

Although the New Dining Hall has but recently been turned over by the contractors for use, it has already become the center of University social life and activitiy. The Get-To-Gether dinner was the opening gun in the campaign to raise the $500,000 endowment for the School of Medicine. President J. Stanley Durkee, presided at the dinner. He laid before the faculty groups the opportunity which has come to the University to prove itself equal to the need of the hour, and introduced in turn Doctor Scott, the Secretary-Treasurer of the University, who spoke in some detail of the present stage of the campaign, revealing the fact that substantially $550,000 is already in hand or pledged toward the amount needed; Dr. E. A. Balloch, Dean of the School of Medicine; Dr. W. C. McNeill, Dr. A. M. Curtis, Dr. H. H. Hazen of the Medical School Faculty; Mr. James A. Cobb, Acting Dean of the School of Law; Dr. D. Butler Pratt, Dean of the School of Religion; Prof. Kelly Miller, Dean of the Junior College; Miss Lucy D. Slowe, Dean of Women; Mr. William B. West, Secretary of the Student Branch Y. M. C. A.; and Colonel C. E. O. Howard, Professor of Military Science and Tactics.

Dean Kelly Miller, in his remarks suggested that each member of the Faculty pledge not less than one month's salary toward the Medical School Endowment.

POPULAR SOCIAL AFFAIRS AT THE COLLOSEUM ON THANKSGIVING DAY ASSURED OF SUCCESS. HOWARD STUDENT ORGANIZATIONS COOPERATING TO MAKE EVENTS AS OUTSTANDING AS THE ANNUAL CLASSIC.

Much cooperation is being given by various individuals and organizations to make an outstanding success of the two social affairs to be held on Thanksgiving Day after the annual "Football Classic of the Year" at the Coliseum, Ninth and Pennsylvania, for the benefit of the Department of Physical Education of the Howard University. Messrs. E. Gaylord Howell and C. Herbert Marshall, two of the most popular students of Howard, have volunteered their services to make the events equall yas important and representative as the now much herald annual athletic event.

In addition to the fact that the proceeds of the two affairs will be given to Howard's Department of Physical Education, the Secretary-Treasurer of the University has just announced that the checking privileges at the Coliseum for the two affairs have been given to the Student Branch Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. organizations of Howard. The young ladies of the Howard Branch Y. W. C. A. will have charge of the checking arrangements at the afternoon Matinee. Dansante and the men of the Howard Branch Y. M. C. A. will have charge of these arrangements in the evening at the Assembly and Reception.

For both of these two popular social affairs, by special arrangements the services of Louis N. Brown's De Luxe Society Orchestra have been secured. Mr. Brown has agreed to personally direct his Orchestra for these two occasions.

HOWARD WOMEN HOLD FIRST ANNUAL DINNER IN UNIVERSITY'S NEW DINING HALL.

Brilliant in every aspect was the assembly of 250 women, students and alumnae of Howard University, in the first annual Howard Women's Dinner, Friday evening, November 3rd, in the University's New Dining Hall. The affair was planned by Dean Lucy D. Slowe who had as her motive the unifying of the women of the various departments of the University and the coming together of the undergraduates and alumnae in a common bond of sympathy had fellowship.

It was the meeting of youth and experience when the alumnae threw off their cares and problems and entered into the spirit of the occasion by giving yells and singing the college songs. The enthusiasm at the dinner was tempered by a far deeper significance than was indicated by the jollification. The affair served to help awaken a woman's consciousness which is one of the first steps toward the evolution of the "New Howard Woman."

Among the speakers of the evening were Dean Slowe, Miss Dorothy Pelham, Miss Bertha McNeill, and Mrs. Coralie Cook. Miss Mamie Neal, of the College Department, and Miss Lena Edwards, of the School of Medicine, represented the undergraduate life.

Autum leaves combined with a color scheme of blue and white, the school colors, offered a pleasing setting for the assembly. A well arranged program to music was given throughout the evening by an orchestra under the direction of Miss Emily Pitts, a member of the Sophomore College Class. The evening, closed with the singing of the Alma Mater.

MARRIED LADIES ART GUILD

The Married Ladies Art Guild met Monday at the home of Mrs. Beverly E. 23 Street. It was program day for the club. A very inspiring program was rendered. Owing to the fact that the club suspended meetings for the Summer the reports of Mrs. Sadie Cole, delegate to the National Federation of Colored Women's Clubs and the president, Mrs. Afue McDowell's report of the Federation were deferred until this meeting.

The report which Mrs. Cole made was interesting indeed, telling of the splendid work accomplished by Easterin Club Workers and giving somewhat of the Methods used by them. Mrs. McDowell's report was also well received. Mrs. Senola Reeves contributed a piano selection. Mrs. Westheimer as Chairman of Program was responsible for the evening's enjoyment.

Refreshments were served.

Invitations are out for the Terpsichorean Dance, December 4th.

MISS CLINE ENTERTAINS

One of the smartest and most distinctive gatherings of the local social 400 was enjoyed last Saturday night at the beautiful and cozy home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Harrison 1608 W. 35th Street, when charming Miss Willie Cline entertained fifty or sixty of her friends with a most unusually large, sumptuous and delicious selection of French pastries and snappy refreshments of every description and impressing each guest with the brilliance of her cullinery art as unsurpassed.

A few of those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Edward Carlisle, Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Parker, Dr. and Mrs. Frank Gordon, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cameron, Mr. and Mrs. Wisenot, Mr. and Mrs. Barber, Mr. and Mrs. Turner, Mrs. Moore, Mrs. Venerable, Mrs. Neighbors, Mrs. Wallace, Misses Hattie and Floyd Folse, Carolina Taylor, Messrs. Byron Kenner, Al Matthews, Wheaton, Kenneth Wallace, Charles Sanders, George Duncan, William M. Watson and many others all of whom left reluctantly in the wee hours after enjoying many wonderful piano selections by Mr. and Mrs. Harrison's beautiful and very capable and accomplished daughter and Manual Arts High School student Angebell.

FOREIGN RIGHTS AND INTERESTS FOR SALE

"Harris' Safety-First Check" eliminates losses from forged, raised, and fictitious checks.
The safety method consists of a coupon attachment, which must appear on each check to assure the person receiving it that the amount of the check is on deposit at the bank indicated.
The coupon bears a serial number, an account number, a face value and also the name of the bank from which the check is issued. This coupon is given to the depositor in various denominations for use of checks to be drawn.
This system will prevent over-drafts; will at all times inform the depositor of his exact balance; will establish his credit as if he were carrying certified checks; will protect the innocent party who may cash these checks, and as a result, there will be no more grief caused by checks being returned to the payee marked insufficient.

AN APPEAL TO THE RACE

MY DEAR PEOPLE:

I want you to stop and consider what it means to you and to your family, as a race to become more interested in the invention of Mr. Morris Harris, the inventor of the "Harris' Safety-First Check."

Mr. Harris' greatest desire is to have his race join in with him and share the benefit of this invention.

We are appealing to our race for it's support. There never has been a time that this opportunity has come before you to make an investment in something which will solely benefit you and your family; something that you can be proud of, and to say that I hold an interest in an invention that was invented by one of my race. An invention which saves the world the loss of money in the exchanging of checks. The banking world's attention is now being aroused to the extent that the adoption of the use of he "Harris' Safety-First Check will eliminate the loss from forged, raised, and fictitious checks, and will protect the innocent party who may cash these checks. As a result, there will be no more griefs caused by checks being returned to the payee marked "Insufficient."

Possibly Cæsar Lacomie's message meant very little to you. But this message direct from Morris Harris, the inventor of "Harris' Safety-First Check" either means that you will remain in the old rut of drudgery with no hope of having your Air Castles materialize, or else you will make a real winning that will make you financially independent for the rest of your life, or at the least, you can expect a few slaps from fortune's capricious hand.

Put yourself in line to be your own master, and live in ease and luxury the rest of your days.

TENNIS CHATTER

FED MEETING POSTPONED TO WEDNESDAY, DEC. 6: ELECTION OF OFFICERS, ADOPTION OF CONSTITUTION TO BE SPICY.

By William Mells Watson

Because practically the entire local tennis fraternity has been invited to the Utopian's formal ball at Blanchard's Monday night, Dec. 4, the Western Federation of Tennis Club's most important meeting of the year necessarily had to be postponed to Wednesday night, Dec. 6, but after a day of rest the entire brigade is expected to stampeed the Guild Room at St. Phillip's where considerabble chin music will be poured out.

The Political Outlook

The un-seating or re-seating of the incumbent squad of officers and spotting new and more efficient ward heelers and politicians is expected to draw the blue fiflame of the evening and as an efffort will be made to put some of our very capable suffrigettes on the job a sweet evening is assured. Thus the following ticket is suggested for the consideration of the voters and office dodgers.

Who Gets the Moon?

That $1,475.00 moon touring car is kicking up considerable disturbance among aspiring members as follows: Miss Victoria G. Shorey, Racquette Tennis Club 483, 59th Street, Oakland; Miss Bulah Hall, Westside Ladies; Mrs. Rosco Broyles, Alpha Parthenia1 (Sahta Monica) and Mrs. Nellie K. Carlisle, 1611 W. 35th Place, Westside Ladies Club. Let's all help this "sweet bunch of loveliness" win that benzine buggy or at least some of the lesser prizes, some body get it sure, why not one of ouru group?

BASE BALL

ALL STARS RUN AWAY FROM THE WHITE SOX

Last Sunday Pironne's All Stars turned the tables on Doc Anderson's White Sox and defeated the crack colored team to the tune of 7 to 4 and 7 to 2 respectively. The score however fails to indicate the fact that the game on Saturday was a good one, the Sox were simply off and by errors lost the game. On Sunday, however, the boys lost from the fact that they only secured one hit off of Piercy of the Boston Red Sox.

Reinforcements on the Way.

However Doc Anderson is allowing no grass to grow under his feet and has sent out the S. O. S. The answer is that Mackey and Blackman of the A. B. C. Indianapolis team are on the way and with their addition the team will close ranks and the All Stars or any other Stars will have a real ball game with hardly a chance to win.

A banner crowd was ont to witness the game. Billy Donaldson and Reajau umpired. Billy shows up as a big leaguer and only for his color would be in the big show.

BOXING

AMONG THE FOUR ROUND BOXERS AT MADISON SQUARE N GARDEN

Wednesday night Madison Square Garden was comfortably filled to witness the weekly offering and all who were present were well repaid as the various contests between the athelets who shine in the manly are of self defense were good ones and the crowd was satisfied that it received a run for its money.

Be it known that Vernon, or Hollywood has nothing on these bouts which are put forth here from week to week and the offerings at Madison Square Garden often excell anything that either of the big clubs mentioned can produce.

THE CONTESTS

The Main Event between Blackie Rice and Tod Frenchie at 155 pounds, was a hummer, action all the way. Ted Frenchie set a terrific pace and won a well earned decision. However this Blackie Rice is a comer and his loss of a decision to the veteran Frenchie was no disgrace for he showed his gameness and his ability to take punishment and still toe the mark and give back in kind.

The Other Bouts

Eddie Horton vs: Eddie Huse ((white) 145 pounds, put a rattling good fight and was right at his man all the time, but Huse who is a veteran at the game proved a tough customer and out fought the Bakersfield boy and gained the decision. This boy Eddie Morton is a promising lad and will shine in the squared arena. He does not back up an inch and always trying, he was defeated only by a close margin.

Battling Steve vs: Sailor Smith, catch weights. This bout started off like a whirlwind. Smith led off tapping Steve at will, and then Steve got busy and rushed Smith and scored a knock-down and was all over him for a minute. It actually looked like Smith would be beaten, but Smith recovered and measuring his man he let go his trusty right which caught Steve on the chin and it was pay day with Smith at the window.

Young Lang (white) vs: Bud Woodie (white) fought a terrific pace for one and three-fourth of a round when Woodie caught Lang a hard one to th ribs which sent Lang to Slumbreland.

Battling Bullet vs: Young Owens, 125 pounds, as the curtain raiser, Bullett beat Owens all around the ring for two rounds and in the third put on the finishing touches, a right and left to the body and head. Young Owens crumpled up and was out.

Ring Side Chats

R. W. Baker still keeps his place on the center of the East side of the ring side of the fighter he picks to win.

Art Collins still referees the bouts like a master and gains the favorable comments of the fans.

The fans all welcome the announcement of another Langford and Burton go.

Trainer Henry Smith has a fine string of boys and if they carry out his instructions they will bring home the bacon. We look for Blackie Rice under his tutelage to forge to the front.

Sunny Jim and Sailor Cooper will shine in the main event on next Wednesday night. This bout in itself will draw a banner crowd.

Boots Hines is like clock workks itself as he times the various bouts with eminent satisfaction.

Mack House like Alexander of old is looking for more worlds to conquer. His manager, Henry Smith says that he is open for a contest with any middleweight in the land.

SUNNY JIM OF SAN DIEGO

This clever and gentlemanly boxer has earned for himself a high place in the estimation of not only the fight fans but of all who know him and the announcement that he is going to box always brings forth a capacity house.

On next Wednesday evening at Madison Square Garden he will box four rounds against Sailor Cooper and and as Cooper comes highly recommended this will no doubht prove to be a stellar event. Sunny Jim has quite a record as a fighter as attested by the following which is only a partial record of his achievements in the ring:

GETTING THE JOY OUT OF LIFE

DON'T HURRY—DON'T DELAY

Action and reaction are equal. We get out of life just what we put in it. Before the flood when men lived to be nearly one thousand years old they had plenty of time to consult their relatives and friends before buying a book or a farm, and then put off doing so a hundred years and still have plenty ot time.

Today we move at a swifter pace. Life is more complex. We do not live so long as in those days and time is really our most valuable possession. Since Lincoln's time the population of the country has nearly quadrupled and we have jumped from the bottom of the ladder as a Race to the top financially, and become a world figure. This same ratio of growth during the next sixty years will give us a population of half a billion souls and perhaps more.

To properly feed, house and clothe the future generations is sure to be a great problem. With this we have no concern, but how to care for those we have now is fast giving us enough to do. It is only a question of time when every foot of arable land we have will be utilized. All will be highly watered, naturally or otherwise, fertilized and made to yield three or four crops a year by newly developed, highly intensive, scientific cultivation.

Many workers in shops, stores, offices and all other lines of activity are getting tired of the ennui and ceaseless grind to make a mere living and at the end of one year no nearer their goal than another, and are looking forward to owning a farm or a little land in Mexico where the climate is mild and they can grow their own living and make money besides.

If you are thinking of going to Mexico in the near future, we say—don't hurry! Take time to close out your affairs where you are and investigate thoroughly the location you are coming to, and go clean and right so you will have no recriminations. But, if you have decided to do this, don't wait too long. If you do; the best locationss will be gone and you may have to take the husks, and prices may be prohibitive.

The International Community Welfare colonies are a big step forward and are meeting the requirements of the average man and woman as no other colonisation or land proposition has ever met them. It is the big idea of the generation and is attracting country-wide attention and many are availing themselves of its advantages, as they are bound to do as it becomes more generally known.

A little land—a garden homstead—a living therefrom for one's self and loved ones—in addition to a good income and assured future independence under your own vine and fig tree, the master of your own fate, is a solution of most Negroes' problem and the real antidote of nearly all the great problems threatening our social fabric.

You can easily take advantage of The International Community Welfare League Colony plan if you act now or in the near future. If, however, you are in moderate circumstances, in reasonably good health and are expecting to go to Mexico to live and get your living from the land, do not delay taking the proper steps to that end. Time and tide and desirable wait for no man. For more information, write, 221 Lissner Bldg., Los Angeles, Calif.

COLORED VOTES RETIRE TWO FOES OF DYER BILL

Two congressmen who voted against the Dyer Anti-Lynching Bill in the House of Representatives have been retired by colored votes and defeated in their candidacy for re-election, according to announcement today by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People , 70 Fifth Avenue, New York. The two Congressmen are: Dr. Caleb R. Layton, Republican Representative at large from the State of Delaware, and R. Wayne Parker, Republican Representative from the 9th New Jersey District.

Delaware colored voters roused by the untiring and courageous work of Mrs. Alice Dunbar Nelson who put the facts before them; organized meetings, conferred with newspapers editors, and was instrumental in bringing the N. A. A. C. P. speakers into the campaign against Dr. Layton.

Against both Dr. Layton and Mr. Parker, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People conducted a persistent and insistent campaign. The Secretary of the Association, James Weldon Johnson and the Assistant Secretary, Walter F. White, both went to Wilmington where they spoke before mass meetings organized by the local N. A. A. C. P., in conjunction with the Anti-Lynching Crusaders and the Independent Citizens.' League.

N. A. A. C. P. press releases were sent to white and colored newspapers throughout New Jersey, informing their readers that Representative Parker had voted against the Dyer Anti-Lynching Bill in the House of Representatives and urging that he be rebuked in the election. N. A. A. C. P. Branches in Parker's district were also urged t odo all in their power to defeat him.

The entire Republican ticket was elected in Delaware with the exception of Representative Layton, who voted against the Dyer Bill, and Senator, Du Pont, whose defeat is partly due to his having persisted despite warnings from colored leaders in try-to force Layton upon voters who would not have him. According to figures from the official 1922 registration, the Republican had a margin of 7000. There were, however, 12,000 registered colored voters in Delaware an dthese proved decisivet.

James Weldon Johnson, Secretary of the N. A. A. C. P., issued the following brief statement in comment upon these results:

"Colored voters had an issue in this election and they made the most of it. That issue was the Dyer Anti-Lynching Bill and on the strength of it they retired two men who voted against it and who might, but for colored votes, have been returned to Congress. That is a convincing demonstration of power. This should be borne in mind in watching the Senate's action in reference to the Dyer Bill. The Republican margin has been reduced. But the Republicans can still enact the Dyer Bill if they want to. They and they alone are to be held directly responsible for the fate of the Dyer Bill by colored voters."

MISUSE OF SPIRITUAL MUSES

EMINENT NEGRO MUSICIAN ASSAILS MISUSE OF SPIRITUALS IN DANCE TUNES. H. T. BURLEIGH URGES CO-OPERATION OF RACE IN PRESERVING MUSICAL TREASURE.

H. T. Burleigh, the eminent Negro musician and composer has written a letter to the National Association for the Advancement ofColored People in which he urges the co-operation of colored and white people in preserving from debasement in jazz the musical treasur of the Negro Spirituals. Mr. Burleigh's letter, as made public by the Advancement Association today at 70 Fifth Avenue, New York, says in part:

The growing tendency of some of our musicians to utilize the melodies of our Spirituals for fox trots, dance numbers and semi-sentimental songs is, I feel, a serious menace to the artistic standing and development of the race.

These melodies are our prized possession. They were created for a definite purpose and are designed to demonstrate and perpetuate the deepest aesthetic endowment of the race. They are the only legacy of slavery days that we can be proud of;—our one, priceless contribution to the vast muusical product of the United States.

In them we have a mine of musical wealth that is everlasting. Into their making was poured the aspiration of a race in bondage, whose religion—intensely felt—was their whole hope and comfort, and the only vehicle through which their inner spirits poured free.

"They rank with th egre atfolk-music of the world and are among the loveliest of chanted prayers."

?Now, since this body of folk-song expresses the soul of a race, it is a holy thing. To use it and not artificialize or cheapen it calls for reverence and true devotion to its spiritual musicians contemptuously disregard these traditions for personal, commercial gain.

There use of the melodies debases the pure meaning of the tunes, converting and perverting them into tawdry dance measures or maudlin popular songs. Their work is meretricious, sacriegious and wantonly destructive. It offends the aesthetic feelings of all rtue musicians—white and black—and because some of us have endeavored never to sink the high standard of our art nor commercialize the sacred heritage of our people's song, but rather to revere and exalt it as a vital proof of the Negro's spiritual ascendency over oppression and humiliation, we feel, deeply, that the wilful persistent, superficial distortion of our folk-songs is shockingly reprehensible.

Skilled musicians can detect instantly the flagrant misappropriation, the amateurish perversion. There are others, the unskilled musicians and particularly our young people who cannot detect the misuse of these prayer-songs; wh ocannot distinguish the false from the true, the makeshift from the real, the spurious from the genuine, the theatric from the spiritual and who are thus being fed with a wrong idea, a false valuation of all our beautiful melodic inheritance—unless this pernicious musical trickery is stopped.

How can it be stopped? These gentlemen seem not to realize that they offend the deepest sentiments of the race. They seem incapable of comprehending the enormity of the offense and the far-reaching effect upon future generations. True, these melodies are public property and there is no real means of protecting them except through race pride.

Have these men sufficient race pride to forego the cheap success and the easy money? Have they sufficient racial pride to refuse to prostitute

In the niterests of millions of col-Spirituals? Can we not convince them that it is all in bad taste; that it is like polluting a great, free fountain of pure melody?

In th einterests of millions of colored people who love and revere the Spirituals and who believe these old melodies can be an essential factor in the cultural evolution of the race as well as a powerful stimulus to its higher artistic development, and, in the interest of millions of white people who love and revere the Spirituals and who believe that the "Negro stands at the gates of human culture with hands laden full with musical gifts," I earnestly solicit your help and cooperation in a determined effort to persuade our misguided friends to cease their desecrating work and to join with us in honoring, and protecting from any secular or degenerate use the Negro Spirituals—the only songs in America that conform to the scientific definition of folk-songs.

I have the honor to remain,
Very truly yours,
(SIGNED) — H. T. BURLEIGH.

ATLANTIC MONTHLY PUBLISHES STUDY OF JOHN BROWN

Attention was called today by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, 70 Fifth Avenue, New York, to a story, "The Chimney" by Phillips Russell, published in the November McClure's Magazine. (76 Lafayette Street, New York.)

The story concerns a Negro bricklayer who undertakes to build the tallest chimney in his State. How he undertakes the enterprise and how he succeeds, are the theme of the narrative.

Attention was also called by the Advancement Association to an essay on "John Brown" by Gamaliel Bradford, published in the November, 1922 issue of the Atlantic Monthly. (8 Arlington Street, Boston, Mass.)

Calls Calif. Baptist Leader's Hand

WHAT IS THE MATTER WITH SUPER-INTENDENT OF NEGO WORK?

Since March 12, 1912 when, without any previous experience or encouragement, I started single handed to perpetuate and memoralize the principles upon which the "Eagle" was founded by Editor J. J. Neimore in the year 1879, I have never had but one intention, and that was to contribute whatever I may to the development of my people in this community, hence it has never been necessary for me to hide my hand or use someone in my employ as a cat's paw in order to criticise some person or proposition I did not believe in.

In fact I believe in freedom of speech all the way—so long as that speech does not imperil the life or liberty of others or the government in which we live.

Perhaps the reason why the Germans were so thoroughly hated during the World War was because of their method dof spreading propaganda in their own country, and the countries of the allied nations against whom they were waging war.

Now, the point I am getting to is this— In the October 11, issue of the San Diego Eagle which I own, and edit there appeared this article:

"WHITE BAPTISTS SEND A BLACK MISSIONARY TO WORK AMONG THE RACE IN CALIFORNIA.

By: Ira Smith

"The following article by Kelly Miller of Howard University is timely and should receive careful consideration by th race throughout the country. A striking example of what Mr. Miller says in his article is brought to our mind by the action of the Negro Baptist leaders in California. A vigorous campaign was staged recently claiming that the National Baptist convention would convene in the City of Los Angeles during the month of September but by some political manipulation the meeting was called off. However every white man and organization in and around Los Angeles was begged for money with which to defray the expnse of the gathering and now the promoters of the affair are coming forward with unpaid claims of something like three or four thousand dollars. The Chamber of Commerce of Los Angeles is perhaps the heaviest hit by the high binders and they agree to pay $1000. of said indebtedness. The balance of course will be collected by brass colored missionaries who will traverse the state begging and panhandling wash women and fleecing small churches.

"It has always been a mystery to this writer since landing in the Golden West why a Superintendnt of Negro Work or Missionary should be sent out by the white Baptists to spy on Negroes and report his findings to them. Mr. Miller has truly said that it makes us a race of beggers and the Negro Baptists of California or any other state should frown down on the idea of having some Negro standing at the door of the white man shedding crocodile tears for the crumbs that fall from his table. The Baptist Church is too great an organization to thus seek alms from the white man and we believe that as soon as their eyes become open to what is going on that they will not only condemn but will give the white man to understand that they do not need such an individual and that they are men and women with sufficient pride to conduct and finance their own."

"LEST WE FORGET

By: Kelly Miller

"'Ethiopia is in the habit of stretching forth her hand unto the white god even where there is no need for it. If he should assiduously cultivate his own vine and fig tree, they would yield him sufficient sustenance without continuous beggary. A race of beggers sacrifices its own self-respect and forfeits the respect of others. Of all of the evil effects of slavery, there is none more baleful than this. It is unmanly and un-American. Expectation of a tip is a subordination of manhood. The Negro is often assigned to such lines of service as to have his stipulated wages supplemented by the white man's tips. Every tip taken lowers the manhood of the taker. The giver is often actuated by this motive. A tip to an able-bodied man is a studied insult.

It is reported that the Negro Baptists have solicited a gift to install a theological seminary at Nashville, Tennessee. This is a case of unnecessary philanthropy. There are three million members in the wing of the Baptist Church begging this paltry benefaction. A contribution of twenty-five cents a member would abundantly endow the institution in question. Those same Baptist brethren are to hold their annual convention in Los Angeles, California. The average expense per delegate will amount to over $200.00. There will be a minimum of a thousand delegates. Here is a sum of two hundred thousand dollars, gathered from the general membership of the church for a pleasurable excursion across the econtinent. For these luxurious excursionists to pass the hat to the white Baptists for a contribution of $50,000 to help the poor, benighted Negro, requires a degree of audacity that is amazing indeed.

'"Those that are strong ought to bear the infirmities of the weak. The white race has the mass of wealth and ought to be appealed to for all needy causes that cannot be promoted without outside assistance.

'"The war has standardized labor. The workman is worthy of his hire according to the character and efficiency of his work. The Negro, in all of the great lines of industry, is receiving like pay as white men for the same grade and degree of work. While it is true that he still labors under many industrial disabilities, the Negro who works with his hands is about as well compensated as the white man of like occupation. The old assumption that every white man is rich and every Negro poor has long since been exploded. It is true that most Negroes are poor, but most white men are poor also. The rich and the well to do are comparatively few when measured against the great masses of the people.

'"The old notion was that the Negro's three centuries of unrequitted toil lays the white race under an everlasting touch of alms to be collected from the first white man met with. This debt has long since been repudiated. The portion of the white race that owes it has neither the ability or the disposition to honor the debt.

"Let the Negro build up on his own basis—self-reliance is the one virtue needed.

"A single Negro Baptist congregation builds a church edifice costing $3,000,000. Three million Negro Baptists beg the white race for $50,000 to build a school for the race. The inconsistency is grotesque. The race must as rapidly as possible throw aside the crutches of dependence. He who leans unnecessarily upon shelter will never learn to walk alone. Th Negro cannot seek the shelter of the white man's wings and a place in the sun at the same time. Needless philanthropy perpetuates the Negro's inferior status. After all, it is about as easy to earn a dollar as it is to beg one, and a great deal more manly. Nobody respects a generation of beggars."'

The San Diego Eagle is managed and handled almost entirely by Mr. Ira Smith and his valuable little wife, Mrs. Edna Green Smith, both of Topaka, Kansas and The Topeka Plaindealer—Mr. Smith having served on the staff of the Plaindealer for upwards of twenty years and is considered, in the Middle West a very clever newspaperman.

It seems that after reading this article which was written by Kelly Miller of Howard University, and commented upon by Ira Smith in the San Diego Eagle, Dr. W. R. Carter, who is Superintendent of Negro Education in California and, because of the fact that he is a Baptist, always had my support as a fellow Churchman has taken exception to said article, and with the paper carefully in his pocket appeared at the Church of which I am a member, and before the opening of the service produced said San Diego Eagle containing this article and announced to those present that as a matter of fact Ira Smith was used as a cat's paw, that the author of the article was none other than the owner of the paper who was supposed to be a member of the Church, but who through this medium was fighting the cause.

Now, as a matter of fact Dr. Carter has come smiling into my office without showing any signs of malice when as Superintendent of Negro Education in and for the Baptist Church preacher of the gospel and an presidnt of one of Kansas' reputable Negro Institutions would not he have discharged his duty as a Christian and an Educator to have come to me with the light of Salvation for I would have to be a hypocrite of the meanest type to attempt to reach an end through such means.

If Dr. Carter had asked my opinion of said article I would have gladly expressed myself concerning the same. However, I will say here, and now, that I have no respect for the hat in hand Negro whether he be preacher or layman, but I have no criticism to offer against any alliance between whites and blacks for the religious, educational development of any group or all groups for I am a would-be student of race adjustment.

While I agree with Mr. Miller the author of the article and Mr. Smith, who wrote the comment in part, and respect both gentlemen for their frank criticism I feel free, and sincere in stating that I agree with neither all the way, and have no reason to be ashamed of the fact that I am a colored American, a member of the Baptist Church, and the owner of two "Eagles" sometimes, however, called Buzards.

Nevertheless, even though Dr. Carter upon said occasion which I have already mentioned told my fellow communicants that the California Eagle was not to be considered as a newspaper. I wish at this time to tell him that his words are wasted, as far as serving to discourage an effort that has been fraught with sacrifices, discouragements, and obstacles too numerous and varied to mention.

It has never been my desire to ascend any heights or reach any goal at the expenss of others. Nor do I believe that any business can or will succeed if God is not in the plan, hence I have no fear. Within twelve years I have with the assistance of those who believe in me and have linked their destinies with mine for better or worse; developed a printing plant that is said to be the largest and best equipped in the state. I am paying six men and two young women salaries equal to the salaries paid by white shops; and aside from this two other persons are making their living on a commission basis on the Eagle.

If after a twelve years stay Dr. Carter can make a similar contribution to his group if I am still on the stage of action I shall sing his praise from the house tops, and if I have passed on I'll hear and now commission those who shall take the reins after me to do likewise.

POLITICS

To the student of political affairs in the United States, the recent elections have an incongruous aspect.

As far as party names are concerned, it is hard to define just where Republican begins and Democrat ends.

It was stated some days ago in these columns that party names, at best, had become a fetish, and that the intelligent voter was casting his vote for the man and measure which he deemed best for the pprogress and prosperity of the nation.

To cast a look at the policies of the men who were elected at the election just passed, it would be hard indeed to classify some of them with the policies of either major party. For instance, if Senator Lodge of Massachusetts represents the Republican party, how on earth can you class Senator La Follette of Wisconsin as one? Their policies and endeavors are as remote as the poles. And then if Smoot of Utah is a Republican, then Senator elect Shepherd is not. And what about Pepper and Brookkhart?

Party lines are rapidly becoming erased, and while we believe that they are essential to the form of government established by the United States, we also believe that the difference between the two major parties is so ngligible that it will take a new alignment to decisively creat new issues.

We elect men to positions of political preferment by the use of the party machinery, but we also expect htem to ues the office for the godo of the people as a whole.

THAT DYER ANTI-LYNCHING MEASURE

It comes from good authority, that the Bill to make lynching a Federal crime, will not be made one of the special measures for the extra term of Congress called by the President.

The Ship Subsidy will take up the greater portion of the present legislative time, and if it is passed over for the consideration of the incoming Congress, it, with the Liberian loan, is doomed to defeat. What, with the ponderous majority of the Republican party in the present Congress reduced to a handful, we can see the handwriting on the wall.

On or about two months prior to the election of "24" it may be called from some neglected pigeon hole and placed in play for the edification of the colored brother in the section reserved for him in the great national game of polittcal football. Oh yes! He will fall for it: the shrewed leaders of the party understand that.

One would believe that the United States would, if for no other reason than that of cleansing her skirts from the hideous charge of barbarism, enact a law that would give protection to all of its citizens. Although the colored brother has made the anti-lynching fight peculiarly his own, there is nothing in the measure which designates him.

It is a measure to prevent the unlawful taking of the life of any national by mob violence, and the penalty therefor.

Perhaps in time America will learn that she is living in a celluloid house and that it is a dangerous thing to keep therein a lighted torch.

MEXICO AND TEXAS

President Obregon of Mexico protested against the treatment, or alleged treatment, of Mexican nationals in some of the Texas districts.

Quite a voluminous correspondence ensued, with the result that the Governor of Texas is awoke to the fact of Mexico that the rights of her nationals would be fully protected from any violence whatever.

It is pleasing to learn that the Governor of Texas has awoke to the fact that the State can protect some one.

It has been a long time learning that fact, and we do not believe that it has, as yet thoroughly learned, from the fact that we have not heard him say that the State could, and would protect the thousands of her black citizens from the rapacious mob.

LITTLE COMMENTS

The man who is so deadly right that he is sure everyone else is dead wrong is a very dangerous individual.

Those who can, Do; Those who can not, Critisize.

The constructionist is one that tries, although the trial is a failure.

The obstructionist is the fellow who objects, but offers no tangible thing for his objection.

The old Republican ship, which Frederick Douglas referred to as the Ark of Refuge for the Colored voter, has, without doubt, lost her rudder, sails, and other means of propulsion, and is drifting.

The Negro has won his place in this nation of many races, and deserves the right existence adherent in a people who have shown themselves capable of vigorous progress, and his aim is to conserve and consolidate the position gained by strenuous endeavor, and his loyalty to the principles of this Government.

WOMEN BURY MEN "HEELS UP"

WOMEN BURY THE MEN HEELS UP. INDEPENDENT CHURCH MEN ORDERED TO WEAR CREPE FOR 90 DAYS.

Last Sunday after re-inforcing and strengthening their first lines the Women at the Independent Church of Christ with their habiliments of warfare about them, advanced in solid formation against the Hindenburg line which the men had said was impregnable, but the women had brought forth near range guns and at each explosion great gaps were torn into the lines of the men and finally on last Sunday night with a mighty onrush by the women the men were annihilated. Few escaped the overpowering strength displayed by the women. P. E. Alexander was last seen walking and talking to himself. Dr. W. C. Gordon has not been seen since and Brother Murdock of "Man, God's Masterpiece," fame, took a spiritual balloon ascension to parts unknown, and all that Quintette business put on by the men was made to look insipid along side of the Girl's Orchestra, which played two selections. (The Ferris Sisters) and then the Woman's Saxaphonist played so wonderfully well as to take the heart out of the men.

Rev. Mrs. Mary Palmer preached the Morning sermon and Rev. Gregg has not recovered yet from the philosophical masterpiece of the woman preacher.

In the evening oh yes in the evening other events took place. Mrs. Murdock graceful and tactful as Mistress of Ceremonies and with her analysis of women followed by the Managing Editor of the Soaring Eagle it was curtains for the men. And at their passing when the collection was raised and they fully discovered just how little they stood for, the women did not fail to render the last sad rites and to the tune of the funeral dirge they bore their coffin upon their shoulders and committed them from whence they came. They buried them —heels up.

The joint session of the U. B. F. and S. M. T. was held on Monday evening November 27, 1922 at Masonic Hall. A. L. Tilton, State Grand Secretary, acted as Master of cere monies.

A short program was rendered by members of the order, after which the meeting was turned over to the State Grand Master, T. B. Norman and State Grand Princess, Mrs. W. L. Willingham.

The object of this meeting was to submit the plans for the year's work to the presiding officers of the local and Pasadena lodges and temples. These plans as laid before the order are for a closer union between the lodges and temples and for an extensiv fund to carry on the work of instituting new lodges and temples.

The commission from the National Grand Master, Rev. W. H. Jamison of Peoria, Ill, appointing the State Grand Master was read. Also the greetings from the National Grand Princess.

The California Jurisdiction of the U. B. F. and S. M. T. have prospects for a most successful year, as the National Deputies have been authorized to work in the States of Oregon and Washington.

A dispensation was granted by the State Grand Master for an indefinite period, so that all lodges and temples can avail themselves of the opportunity to participate in the membership drive.

The slogan for the year is "Five Hundred New Members and Five Hundred Dollars for the extension fund."

T. B. Norman, State Grand Master Mrs. W. L. Willingham, State Grand Princess; Mrs. Victoria P. Lewis, Asst. State Grand Secretary.

The schools gave more than one-tenth of the entire amount given by the Negro Conference," said Dr. I. G. Penn of Cincinnati, Ohio.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Nov. 25.—Five bishops and prominent officials from all parts of the United States will attend the Board of Home Missions and Church Extension of the Methodist Episcopal Church at Wesley Building, Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 22-24.

Bishop Joseph F. Berry, Philadelphia, is president of the Board.

Bishop Edwin H. Hughes, Boston, Mass., Bishop Robert E. Jones, New Orleans, La., Bishop Charles Wesley Burns, Helena, Mont.; Bishop Luther B. Wilson of New York, N. Y.; and Bishop Charles L. Mead, Denver, Colo, are among the principal speakers.

Dr. William S. Bovard, corresponding secretary, Board of Sunday Schools, Chicago spoke.

The report of the Joint Committee on Religious Work of Tax-Supported Schools was given by Rev. Warren F. Sheldon, New York, N. Y., and the report of the Joint Committee on Indian Work was given by Rev. Elmer E. Higley, Chicago, Ill., Superintendent of Indian Work.

The secretaries of the departments of Church Extension, City Work, Rural Work, Frontier Work and Evangelism gave their reports, and the Bureaus of Foreign Speaking Work, Negro Work, and Publicity was represented.

"The work of the Board promotes rural prosperity, develops the missionary spirit, fosters good health conditions, promotes civic righteousness, supports better public schools, provides social recreation, cooperates with other community agencies, cultivates spiritual growth, develops right ideals, helps to make good homes, trains for social service and develops loyalty to communities," according to Dr. D. D. Forsyth, corresponding secretary of the Board of Home Missions and Church Extension, Philadelphia.

Gold Coast, Secondee, Africa, Nov. 25.—The African Union Company has secured finance for shipment of 20,000 tons this season cocoa beans. They are worth at present New York price about $4,000,000. An offer has come to take over all the remaining bond issue $100,000.

The company has recently secured contracts for a half million residence for the King of Benin.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 25.—To succeed the late Dr. E. C. Morris, of Helena, Ark., as President of the National Baptist Convention, one of the outstanding features of the Baptist church, who will be presented for the consideration of the convention in St. Louis, is Dr. M. U. D. Norman, of Washington , D. C.

Dr. William D. Jarvis, chairman of the committee in charge of the candidacy of Dr. Norman, has stated that he feels very greatly encouraged by reports being received from all parts of the country. The committee of ministers and laymen is thoroughly acquainting the entire country with the merits of the well-known Washington minister,, and state that Dr. Norman's qualifications for the most responsible place in the church, bespeak a great future for the denomination.

"'Dr. Norman is unquestionably qualified by training and experience for this place in the church," stated one "First of all he is a christian gentleman, gentle and kindly in his manner. He is a business man and executive of capacity. The high efficiency in which he conducts the affairs of Metropolitan church show this.

"But there is much more, Dr. Norman has few equals as a presiding officer, and he is always able to command respect. All of the Baptists, ministers, and laymen, of this section, love him as a father. And it seems to me, the more honors he gets, the more solicitious and humble he becomes; he is never to busy to show Christian kindness to all.

"Dr. Norman has vision. We need vision in this day. As he has been broader than the church in Washington; as head of the Baptist church, he will continue to be broader than mere denominational lines, for he is a race man to the soul.

"In meeting the big problems of the day, both in the church and state, we need a man of strong personality, who will in every way cope with the best minds everywhere. Dr. Norman has the appeal that gets consideration."

As an advocate for the reunion of the two great Baptist bodies of the country, Dr. Norman has declared himself frankly for this.

There will go to St. Louis from Washington, a most enthusiastic delegation of Norman advocates. They are going early with the avowed purpose, as one puts it, of "Conducting a Christian campaign of education."

THE KLAN AGAIN

BY: CHANDLER OWEN

Governor John M. Parker rushes to Washington and tells President Harding the Ku Klux is about to assume control of the Louisiana State government. Very likely, true.

(It has leaked out that Gov. Parker is more interested in the appointment of a Negro, Walter L. Cohen, Controller of the Port of New Orleans. Parker, it is said, wants this $5,000 a year job nullified and thought it of so much importance that it required no less a smoke screen than the Ku Klux Klan for him to come and see the President concerning it. This is possible.

Harding promises assistance only in the event "Federal interests" are involved. Very likely, true.

Were this the I. W. W. or some other organization of liberals and radicals, Federal troops would be dispatched on short order. Most likely, true.

The Klan boasts of some 75 or more members in the new Congress. Very likely, true.

The press reports the Klan has elected Earle B. Mayfield of Texas to th Senate and defeated Olcott of Oregon, putting in their own candidate instead. Almost likely, true.

But it is predicted that Mayfield's seat will be challenged and a fight exceeding the intensity of the campaign against Newberry is expected. We hope this is true.

(We hear Negroes are ready for the Klan . This certainly ought to be true.)

In New York City the Klan has showed its hand. A virtual nest has been uncovered in the Calvary Baptist Church, of which the Rev. John Roach Straton, of "public moralist" fame, is minister. Rev. Oscar Haywood, the church's Evangelist minister, from North Carolina, openly admits he is the Klan's national lecturer and that he has sought its propogation in the Rev. Straton's sanctuary. Also it was discovered that the Klan held a meeting in a Harlem undertaking establishment, and that they distributed circulars among school girls asking them to help secure members.

Mayor Hylan telegraphs Police Commissioner Enright, from French Lick, Ind., to "treat this group of racial and religous haters as you would the Red and bombthrower. Drive them out of the city after you discover them." We hope so.

But, in passing, it is well to note that Negroes have vowed if the Klan shows itself north of 125th. St., blood will be shed. Most likely true.

The Klan has been allowed to spread its hate long nough. Think of this. Alfred E. Smith, lately elected Govenor of New York by a plurality of some 400,000, is a catholic. Even his friends, who think him a logical candidate for the presidency in 1924 are fearful to attempt his nomination, lest it stir religous (Klan) hatred as never before. And Smith is admittededly the idol and ideal of the sidewalks of New York." Professional politicians say he wouldn't carry a single Southern State, although Smith is a democrat and the South has been solidly so for the last half century. We hold no breif for Smith or any other democrat - or any republican, for that matter--but we see something in this which protends evil for the country. And this criminal spirit won't be eradicated in any week or ten days.

But—lest we forget—Negroes, be ready when they come."

TORONTO, Canada. Nov. 25.—Alhambra Hall was the scene of one of the most brilliant events of the season last Thursday evening. The occasin was the fifth Anniversary and Reception of Bethlehem Chapter O. E. S. (popularly known as the Lady Masons).

The evening was divided into three periods, each blending into a delightful finale. In the opening hour the officers and members of the lodge were were the recipients of many happy returns, refreshments were served and the "get acquainted spirit was prevalent. At nine o'clock an interesting program was rendered by Misses Fannie Vick, and Annabelle Duncan, vocalists; and Mr. George Bennett, violinist. Immediately following, the guests tripped the light-fantastic to the dreamy strains of Prof. Matthew's Harmony Orchestra.

The Hall was tastefully decorated; and with the lighting effects and the gorgeous costumes of the guests, one seemed to be in the Orient. The committee in charge was Mesdames S. O. Hastings, S. S. Jackson, C. Deas, C. Hodge, and M. Barker.

The Managing Editor's "bad" French blood," is up. Look out boys! The little Lyno's monkey chasing blood is up. Look out monkeys!

Anyway Friday night there was a free for all battle. It was safe to say that the Teuton got all that was coming to him. Bullets, no, missels, sharp and stinging flew hither and thither, the air was charged and surcharged. Well praise be, we are all accidently alive! T'was all over a fraction of a stick of metal.

Something happened!.. Something must have happened over Sunday, Saturday evening the Head printer was quiet and could be, did'nt seem to have any bright visions of the future or joyous memories of the past. But Monday morning at the sunlit hour of ten bells he blew in with gay haloos for evrybody. He was divinely happy all morning. Everything tickeled him. Optimism burst forth from every pore in his body About noon he suddenly decided to go home. Wednesday noon he appeared again and—well he is Head Printer again.

A grunt, a groan, a puff, some excitable kicking was heard. The editor was then seen hanging desperately off the big press. The box on which he had stood slipped from beneath him and his feet could not reach the floor. Help, he almost lost the remnant of the cigar out of his mouth. Help, his anatomy, some portion thereof threatens to be mashed in. One more desperate kick—Safe on the box again.

A trim little man of affairs was a passer-by in the other day. The now Society Editor pumped him for all he knew with the following result: "Miss May B. Dutrickkie is giving a "whatchamadoodle in her palatial home on Riverside drive. The exclusive 400 will be—no the 401 for I too will be there.

THIS WEEK
——JJ

By George H. Duncan

This holiday is now observed in every state in the Union. Custom prescribes that the date shall be set by special proclamation of the President, and adds that the date shall be the last Thursday in November.

The celebration has a long and curious history. Days set apart for special Thanksgiving to the Lord were known to the Israaelites and are mentioned thruout the Bible. The earliest record of any observance within the United States was held by the Poplam colony settled at Sagadahoc, on the coast of Maine in August, 1607.

Various methods are used in celebrating Thanksgiving day htruout the United States, due to climatic conditions in each state. The California celebrated in large outdoor affairs; while the New Yorkers were confined to stay at home, but all the people enjoyed the large dinner prepared for that day.

There has been an inconscious unifaction of Christians and Thanksgiving feasts in certain material aspects. The Thankksgiving turkey has driven the Christmas goose from all tables; on the other hand the mince pie of Christmas shares the honor of completing the Thanksgiving indigestion with the pumpkin pie which once monopolized the work.

CHUCKLES

Chuckles the sensation of the year has closed a successful week at the Philharmonic Auditorium. William E. Pierson and Jonnie Anderson deserved much credit in their sincerety and efforts in making this the greatest race musical comedy ever produced in the West.

Chuckles has done for the West what "Shuffle Along" has done for the East in proving to the people that the Negro race is fast coming into the theatrical spotlights.

This musical comedy before long will takke prominent place along with other Broadway comedies that have made world-wide fame.

The first performance of the comedy was staged at Gamut Auditorium which was met by approval of all who saw it. The second performance at the Philharmonic has again been received by approval, which goes to prove that this musical comedy is successful bound.

Edwin Schalbet "Times" critic, states that after "Chuckles" has been tied together with a more adroit plot it will then be an acceptable show, for its novelty in its favor.

AN OPPORTNUITY

The Los Angeles Public Library is offering a great opportunity to high school graduates in preparing them for future library positions.

They have opened a daily school for graduates in which in a year's time they will be pprepared to fulfill vacant library positions that might arise.

The tuition fee is one hundred and five dollars in which it entitles one to all school requirments. The term starts in September and ends in May. After completing this course a student will then be prepared to take any library position in the United States.

At the present ime nearly every race is attending this school, but we have not as yet any colored students in the classes. This is a great apportunity for some intelligent colored students to apply and qualify for a library position.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—A senate debate today on the recent utterances of former Premier Clemenceau of France took a sensational turn when a Negro wearing the uniform of the United States Army interrupted from the gallery a speech by Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska, ranking Democrat of the foreign relations committee, regarding alleged atrocities by black French troops in Germany.

Removed by Police

The soldier who said he was Lucius Jones, a patient at the Mount Alto, Md., government hospital, finally was removed from the gallery by the police after his attempt to join in the debate had resulted in a sharp passage of words on the senate floor. Senator Heflin, Dem., Alabama, led in demanding the negro's removal, but Senator Hitchcock said he hoped the police would not interfere.

Previously Senator Hitchcock had renewed his challenge to M. Clemenceau to disclose the real facts about the use of black French colonials in occupied areas and had received a etter in which the writer had declared the former premier had deliberately "lied" in saying that no black troops were being maintained in Germany.

"I don't believe that Clemenceau deliberately lied," continued Hitchcock." I believe in his public life he has made reckless statements, as in this case, when he says that black troops were not there and when he said that Germany was making hundreds of cannon to prepare for war.

"No Use to Quibble."

"These black troops are brutes and are stationed among white people and that's all there is to it. The evidence shows it beyond contradiction. There is not any use to qquibble as M. Clemenceau does."

It was soon after the senator had made this statement that Jones shouted a question from the gallery.

"Mr. President," he said, "may I ask the senator a question right there?"

Vice President Coolidge banged his gavel while the negro sat down and the senate attendants rushed to him and ordered him to be silent.

When Senator Hitchcock concluded, Senator Heflin arose with his face aflame, demanded that the negro be removed.

"This is the first time that such a person has not been taken from the gallery," said Senator Heflin. "I have seen white women removed from the house gallery and from the senate gallery. This is the first time such an indignity and insult has not been followed with ejectment."

Senator Curtis, Rep., Kansas, said that he understood that the negro had asked if he could question Senator Hitchcock and had been reprimanded by gallery attendants and informed of the senate rules against interference of spectators.

NEW YORK CITY, Nov. 25.— The "New York Post" makes the following interesting editorial comment on the U. S. Supreme Court's recent Papanese citizenship decision.

"There is nothing sensational in the decision of the Supreme Court that Japanese cannot become naturalized in this country. The sensational decision would be one to the opposite effct. As Justice Sutherland observed the privilege of naturalization was confined to white persons in every naturalization law from 1790 to 1870. In 1870 it was extended to persons of African descent. If in 1906 congress had intended to alter a rule that had been in operation from the beginning of the government, it would have done so in unmistakable language. The court had no alternative, therefore but to declare that there had been no legal change in our policy of excluding Japanese from becoming American citizens by naturalization.

This does not mean that there can be no such person as an American citizen of Japanese blood. Japanese who are born in this country and subject to its jurisdiction are American citizens by the fourteenth amendment like all other persons so born and governed. Even a Chinese who is in that category is an Amrican citizen. The fact that his parents cannot become citizens has no effect upon his status whatever. Nor can any state change this fact. The fourteenth amendment was adopted for the very purpose of preventing states from excluding anybody from citizenship, and while it was aimed primarily at discrimination against the Negro, it includes discrimination against any other race as well."

ROME, Nov. 25.—For the last two years representatives of the Mussulman people from Asia, Africa, and eastern Europe have been concentrating in Italy, especially Rome. Most of them are escaped prisoners or native Nationalists who have been exiled by England or other western nations who rule over the Mussulman countries.

Despite the fact that they are from lands far away from each other, they have united in a great cause—the liberation of the whole Mussulman world from the yoke, rule, or influence of foreign nations. India, Turkey, Mespotamia, Trans-Jordania, Arabia, Palestine, Tripoli, Tunis, and Algiers are in the league against what they call Christian oppression.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Nov. 25.—Governor Parker and Attorney General Coco have laid before Attorney General Daugherty the recent activities of the Ku Klux Klan in this state. The Governor would not be quoted and his departure for Washington was known to only a few friends and a newspaper reporter, who quoted him as saying that he is alarmed at the activities of the Ku Klux Klan in Louisana and intends to seek federal aid and advice on how to suppress its activities.

The governor has recently been defied by the klan. He asked that it refrain from holding parades, but the parades were held.

LONDON, England, Nov. 25:— Dr. R. R. Moton was the guest of the archbishop of Canterbury in London recently, after a visit to Scotland, where he attended the Scottish national missionaries conference.

He was entertained by the archbishop at luncheon, after which he visited the British Institute of International Affairs. Dr. Moton said the archbishop showed a deep interest in the welfare of the black races, and was anxious to find a means of making proper adjustments between the races.

Y.M.C.A.

The Hi Y program given at the Y. M. C. A. on last Sunday proved successful, although the audience was not as large as was expected. And the club wishes to take this form to thank all those who have aided either by contributions or appearance on the program.

On Turkey Day the Hi Y foot-ball squad will tackle the Pasadena Hi Y at the Crown city. The bull-dogs are anxious to met the locals. On the other hand, Captain Diggs promises them a real surprise when the purple and gold team gets under way.

Next morning after the game, a delegation of Hi Y fellows will journey down to San Diego to attend the Older Moys' Conference, which convenes until Dec., 4. The following are the delegates:

Leroy Johnson, Charles Diggs, Charles Matthews, George Johnson, Charles Sanders, Edwin Jefferson, and Wendell Gladden.

BASE BALL

Baseball.

Last Saturday the L. A. White Sox took the Fary-Fords down the line to a score to the time of 13 to 4 and on Sunday the Sox lost to the same team by a score of three to nothing. The reason that they lost was that Thurston of the Salt Lake team pitched air tight ball allowing the Sox but one hit in nine innings.

To-day and tomorrow Pironnes All Star aggregation will cross bats with the Sox on the first of a special series of five games. With Mackey in the line-up and expecting Blackman to join the team these two teams will put up an exciting contest and will be well worth going to see.

BOXING

AMONG THE FOUR ROUND BOXERS

Wednesday night rain failed to dampen the ardor of the faithful fight fans and quite a few were out to the Madison Square Garden to witness the offering which Messrs Brown and Toles had to offer.

The card proved to be a good one and pleased the crowd immensely.

THE MAIN EVENT

Young Sam Langford vs: Benny Shannon was a run away for four rounds with Young Langford winning all the way. Shannon's only ability was to cover and hold on.

Kid Blondie won from Jimmy Ford by a K. O. in the third round.

Cyclone Williams outfought One Round Andrews for a decision in four rounds of good mixing. Of course this go could have just as well been a draw for Andrews was a king pin at blocking and smashing away but Williams was doubtless given the decision for trying.

One Round Norman and Rough House Cooper went four rounds to a draw. Norman proved like he would kill Rough House at any moment but failed to deliver the killing hence the draw.

Battling Butler vs: Slickie put up the funny bout of the evening. It is said that this was the Slicker's first fight and a bunch of his Hollywood boosters (where he lives) came over to whoop it up for him and so loyally did they perform that it put heart in the Slicker who laid Battling Bullet low in the 2nd round of the fight. Previous to this the battler put the Slicker down for the count of nine.

RING SIDE NOTES

The Hollywood fans put a lot of pep in the old arena on Wednesday night.

Next Wednesday night will be a capacity House when Sunny Jim and Mack House will toe the mark for championship honors.

The Sporting Department of the Eagle appreciates such gentlemanly boxers as Sunny Jim and Blackie Rice who have demonstrated their honesty and thorough sportsmanship.

Art Collins was right on the job as referee and his work was commended by all.

Manager Brown is solving the heating problem of the arena and in due tim it will be wholly comfortable.

The management and matchmakers in their cards are overlooking one of the cleverest and promising boys in the business who is Bobby Pierce. We want to see him in action against some of the top nothchers in the near future.

TENNIS CHATTER

ELECTION OF OFFICERS AND OTHER IMPORTANT BUSINESS AT FEDERATION'S POSTPONED MEETING WEDNESDAY DEC. 6.

By William Mells Watson.

An ardent lady correspondent severely criticised the postponement of the Western Federation of Tennis Club's regular meeting to Wednesday night, Dec. 6, because of the Utopean's ball at Blanchard Hall Monday night not withstanding that nearly very member of the Tennis chain-gang will be at the full dress affair or break up housekeeping in the attempt, however, we thing there is little argument as to the executive committee's wise move.

Roasts Our Politics—Wow.

The fair critic also poured venom upon us because in our last issue we dared to display an election ticket with more vile men thereon than "sweet women," neither does the dear madam agree with our choice in several instances and strongly espouses Mrs. Eddy Carlisle's candidacy for president instead fo the Secretaryship, but doubts the advisability as suggested of re-electing the present incumbents to office.

Our Come Back

At present the office holders of the Fed are: President, William Marshall Dunn; Vice President, Miss Miriam Garrott; Secretary, Charles Andrew Black; (no corresponding secretary), but one is needed in the future; Treasurer, William Mells Watson; Executive Committee, Byron Kenner; Eddy Carlisle, William M. Watson.

Now, this whole outfit except the president might be ship-wrecked with out damage to the Fed, and while Mrs. Carlisle with her unusual brilliance and executive qualities is equally as well fitted for the job as is Bill Dunn, but family responsibilities of any married woman would often hamper the conduct of this most important office, but as our secrtary or other office holder, Mrs. Nellie Kay Carlisle has no peer.

The eight years' experience of the Fed teaches us that it matters not so much who its officers are, but its success depnds upon their being present at all meetings and performing their duties to the letter, "rain or shine."

PENSACOLA, Fla. Nov. 25.— Following delibrations lasting only nine minutes, a jury in the United States District Court here late Monday night found Sidney J. Catt, former governor of Florida, not guilty of the charge of having held in the state of peonage John Henry Rogers, colored.

WASHINGTON, D. C. Nov. 25.—Miller Abner, age 75, Colored, was arrested last Sunday for begging.

Police Judge McMahon turned him over to his mother on parole. He added: "Mothers know how to correct wayward sons."

The mother was born a slave at New berry, S. C., and when 18 years of age was brought to Washington by the late Senator Lyman in 1840. She is 100 years of age—the oldest member of the local South Carolina colony.

BYRNE, Texas, Nov. 25.—Fire which was discovered on the upper floor of the Fairmont Hotel, in the heart of the business district, threatened for a short time to develop into a conflagration which would have wiped out the business section of Byers, Saturday afternoon. Volunteer Negro fighters controlled the blaze, with only nominal damage being done.

OPELOUSAS, La., Nov. 25.—The first candidate for Governor of Louisiana is in the ring. His announcement came unexpectedly Saturday. R. Lee Garland, District Attorney for St. Landry and Evangeline Parishes for twenty years, announced he was a candidate for Governor. He declared Ku Kluxism was the great issue in the State in this campaign.

"I stand squarely against the Klan meddling in State politics and I stand for a modification of our drastic blue laws, he asserted. These are his two chief plans.

DALLAS, Texas, Nov. 25.—When Ed Greer, 37-year-old Negro, lone occupant of the garage and servants' house in rear of the residence of W. H. Goodnight, 403 North Edgefield St., was awakened about 5:00 o'clock Sunday morning by a strong odor of natural gas, he lighted a match to see what was wrong.

An explosion resulted that seriously burned Greer, wrecked the garage, blowing its roof for a distance of twenty feet and awakened sleeping residents for a dozen blocks on every side. Greer was seriously but not dangerously injured.

BRISTOL, Va., Nov. 25.—Lily White not contest the election of George C. Peery, it was announced today following a meeting of political leaders with Congressman C. Bascom Slemp. Prior to the election Mr. Slemp gave notice that the election would be contested in the event Peery was elected, charging fraud and irregularities in the campaign.

Mr. Slemp refused to accept the nomination and John H. Hassinger was nominated and defeated. Peery's majority over Hessinger was 3,000.

Negroes in the district voted for the Negro candidate to defeat Hassinger.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Nov. 25.—"Is this 107?" a woman queried early last Sunday.

"Yes," Police Lieut., J. R. Lyons answered.

"Well, I'm Mattie Williams, the hardest boiled woman on Florida ave. You better send for me for the protection of other people, because I'm getting bad."

"You'd better go to sleep," the lieutenant retorted, "or I will send for you."

"Help yourself," she said, and hung up the receiver.

"Another drunk," the officer mused and resumed his duties.

Thirty minutes later, a horse-drawn wagon pulled up at head-quarters. A ginger-caked colored woman almost fell when alighting from the front seat. She staggered into the lieutenant's office.

"I'm Mattie Williams."

"Well,"

"I thought you changed your mind about sending for me and I came down to give mysif up."

The lieutenant looked puzzled.

"What have you done?" he demanded.

"Nothing, but if I don't get in jail I might do something," she said.

Mattie was locked up.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 25.—Receiving a load of shot in the neck when his hunting dog stepped upon the trigger of his shotgun lying on the ground, Clyde Byrd, 16, colored, died early Sunday morning from the effects of the wound.

HELENA, Ark., Nov. 25.—George Bradley, colored employe of the Helena Cotton Oil Mill, was caught in the belting at that plant here Monday night and lost his life almost immediately by having his neck broken.

NEW YORK, N. Y., Nov. 25.—Bishop W. T. Vernon of the A. M. E. Church who returned from South Africa, Tuesday, November 14, on the steamer Majestic, spoke briefly on the important work for which he is responsible in South Africa at the welcome reception given in honor of Dr. R. R. Moton at the Y. M. C. A. Wednesday evening, Novmber 15. He stated that the vital problems confronting the church and the native people in South Africa demand his return to the continent after spending a short vacation in th United States.

Bishop Vernon was warm in his praise of Dr. Thomas Jesse Jones whom he met in South Africa while the latter was a member of the African Education Commission. In the course of his remarks Bishop Vernon stated that Dr. Jones had "opened the door" for him in South Africa by introducing him to prominent Government officials, including Dr. C. T. Loram, member of the Native Affairs Commission of the Union of South Africa, whose sympathetic co-operation has made it possible for him to enlarge the scope of his activities.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Nov. 25.—Modern women have equal rights with men regarding property and a woman who commits an offense against another's property even though it is her husband's, must answer to the law. This is the decision handed down by the District Court of Appeals last Tuesday in the case of Harriet A. Canfield Graff. The state appealed from an order of Superior Judge Houser, granting a motion to quash information brought against Mrs. Graff for embezzlement in connection with certain of her husband's property. Local colored women were greatly interested in the outcome of the case.

CHICAGO. Ill., Nov. 25.—Ashton Stevens, Dramatic Critic of the local daily, the Herald Examiner, makes the following humorous reference to the principal of the "Shuffle Along" company now playing here at the Olympic Theater:

"Our colored brothers at the Olympic, who sing and dance in "Shuffle Along," have eleven limousines and their own chauffeurs. It is easy come, easy go with them. "What's money for but to spend?" is their slogan, and they live up to it in union suits that cost $40.

The company was shuffling along in the small towns of Pennsylvania a couple of years ago when Al Mayer—a connection of the Guggenheims—saw a performance and said, "Come with me to Broadway." Not a scratch of the pen was heard, nor has been heard to date. "Al's word went" with the shufflers and is still going strong. Last season he and Harry Cort and the teams of Blake and Sissle and Miller and Lysles subdivided more than a quarter of a million dollars. And just before they came to Chicago, Mr. Eubie Blake, the Paderewski of the production, bought himself a raccoon overcoat, taking the same almost off the shoulders of Jack Pickford, a competitor for the purchase.

The racoon coat followed Mr. Blake to the Olympic by parcels post and was diverted in transit. That is, Mr. Aubrey Lysles got to the expensive parcel first. In the layers of Alice blue tissue paper that lined the box he substituted for the racoon masterpiece an ancient and mangy garment that had been discarded by his chauffeur. And when this spurious package was delivered to Mr. Blake in his dressing room, there was an off-stage roar which is not written in the libretto. Mr. Blak's rightful racoon coat had to be restored before the show could go on.

Mr. Lysle is not a frugal person, either. His waistcoat is attached to a platinum watch trimmed with diamonds that cost a thousand dollars. Mr. Mayer carries the only Ingersol in the organization."

When "'Shuffle Along" leaves Chicago, it goes to Detroit, returning to New York after other Eastern appearances. It is already booked to open with Charles. Cochran, London, Dec. 1923.

Mrs. Harry Perkins gave a delightful dinner party at her home, 1206 E. 25th Street last Sunday in honor of Mrs. Jones and her daughters recent arrivals from Colorado Springs.

Amnog those enjoying her hospitality were Mrs. Watkins and Miss Myrtle Duncan.

ACCOMPLISHING MORE GOOD WITH YOUNG PEOPLE

By Wendell P. Gladden, Jr.

I.

The family is the basis of the home. Without mutual understanding between mother and father of the needs and wants of the child, and an effort to realize most of these, true happiness will not be maintained. Parents need to know about the aspirations of their children, their plans for the future. And of vital importance is the genuine home influence exerted over the lives of the young. It is the purpose of these articles to show how even more good may be accomplished with our youth, if proper guidance and encouragement are given.

Stimulating Interest in Literature

In literature one finds the strivings, suffering, the culture, ideals and hope of a people. Young pople must become more and more acquainted with literature in general. It is true that they dabble into the great works while in school; yet, this experience is a mere test of the innumreable volumes which grace the universal chambers of the Temple of Literature. Worth while books and periodicals are accessible to everyone today, so that young men and women should be encouraged in extensive reading out side of their regular studies. The names of Shakespeare, Goethe, Shiller, Milton, Dante, France, Dunbar, and their immortal works should be familiar. These books may be either purchased and placed into the home or borrowed from the public libraries.

Reading lists, in connection with this program, may be supervised and reviews made and records kept. Many of our boys and girls are studying foreign languages, and are capable of reading the literature of other countries and people. They should read a book by a foreign author occasionally.

If a proper apperciation of the literature of the race is hoped for, young people too, must be led to see the beauty, pahtos, the humor and tragedy and other impressions of our literary works. Purchase these books for them. These volumes should become permanent possessions and treasures.

It is surprising how much is published during the year affecting the Negro. Not only should parents, but their children familiraize themselves with current literature.

Again, the libraries contain magazines, pamphlets and volumes concerning racial relations written by foremost students and thinkers. Such books as, "Darkwater," "The Negro Faces America," "Following The Color Line," and others, ought to be read by the young as well as the old.

Interesting to note is the fact that the recent Prix de Goncourt was won by Rene Maran, Senegalese officer and author. This brilliant Negro was educated in France. His book, "Bartoula," was acclaimed the best novel of the year in France, where eight thousand copies a day were sold. It depicts African life and customs, the cruelty and atrocities of the French are exposed and denounced, and true portrayals and sketches are handled in a masterly way. Many reviews have already been made, hre and abroad, but everyone should meet this remarkable writer through his immortal work.

Hundreds of our boys and girls have litertry talent. It is drawn out slightly in the classrooms and school papers, but that is not enough. They must be encouraged to study, to read aloud so that they may accustom themselves to the sound of their own voices, and the beauty of the language. And they must learn to write. By this means of expression people can be reached everywhere, and ideas and thoughts disseminated.

Parents must assist these young writers to get their articles and stories into the publications. All of us need to keep abreast of the times. Only through constant reading of our own journals, as well as others in general can we be fully informed. Editors of our papers give opportunity for the venture into this still undeveloped field. At present we find contributions from our high school and college students. They show much promise for the future; but they must ever toil,—for writing is hard work, but fascinating—if they would be successful.

C. Alphonso Smith has given us an excellent outline of the literature of the world in "What Can Literature Do For Me?" He brings out the many joys ow living with the literary characters of all times; and the benefits to be derived from the study of them is stressed.

Bertrand Brawley added a monumental work to our literature in his book, "The Negro in American Literature." This is a general survey of our literary achievements from the time of Phillis Wheatley to the present day. James Weldon Johnson offers another treasure in his latest contribution, "The Book of Negro Poetry," a compilation preceded by an essay by Mr. Johnson.

To be cultured is to be broad. A thorough knowledge of literature is a prerequisite. Familiarity with works not only of history and science, but also of sociology, philosophy, ethics, economics, and othe rbooks dealing with the social fabric should be our aim. O, that men and women would delve deep into the storehouse of literature and learn of the civilization of West Africa, Egypt, the life and history of Haitians, the pomp and splendor of the East, and the swirling events of the modern world. Such knowledge will serve as a boomerang, for young people will appreciate keenly the influence the rest of their lives. And, being far-visioned, they will express their gratitude.

II.

CO-OPERATING WITH BOY AND GIRL.

Owing to the rapid growth of cities, increase in population, the multiplicity, and the contsant struggle for existence, home-life has lost some of its influence on the boy and girl. The economic pressure, especially, linked with other important causes, force men and women into apartment houses and there are less real homes. Throughout large eastern cities this is very evident. New York City is a striking example of this fact. Parents are employed away from home and consequently, the sphere o factivity is broader in contrast to that of other days.

The housing situation in some cities has become so acute, and space so valuable, that children, when out attending school, must play in the streets. Deplorable, it is true, but these are the conditions under which hundreds of children must grow. And parents lose contact with them.

Nevertheless, in other places not so thickly populated excellent opportunities are afforded for real service. The community also must realize the seriousnss of helping to train the young, and rally to the aid of mothers and fathers wherever possible.

To know young people is to work and study with them. Often their wants exceed their needs, but their mistakes can be shown them in a spirit of love. They must be convinced that the interest in them is deep and lasting, if true companionship is sealed.

Accompanying his boy or girl to church, entertainments, and visiting the schools whenever convenient will help the parent strengthen the tie that should bind. In this way children will want to do their best, act their best, and remember the occasion.

By questioning young men and women about things within their experience and knowledge, steps can be takekn to correct poor judgment and ignorance, and older people can ascertain what the young know. Children create all kinds of images. Grown-ups once dreamed as do these youngsters, but environment has been so varied that they have become hardened and the aesthetic is less strongly appealing.

Of course parents know their children, but in the matter of close attention to details, sometimes they are not so careful. By enforcing daily habits of cleanliness, much improvement can be made. The care of the teeth, the hair, face and hands and nails are so often neglected; and when the byo or girl go out from the home people notice these things and judge accordingly. Whether or 'not they are neat in general appearances can often be traced to their daily habits.

Frequent talks about vital affairs are necessary. Instruction can be given in the care of the body. The war revealed the astounding facts of our young manhood's deplorable physical condition. Much of this can be traced to the home where advice was not always given, and where much danger can be eradicated, and more wholesome relations affecting young men and women can be fostered.

If the old adage be true that "A man is known by the company he keeps," it is eqqually true that the man or woman is known by the books he reads. The best of current literature should be placed before children before they "grow-up," for during the adolescent period impressions are gained and ofttimes remain fixed in the mind.

"There is power in simplicity. This is true even in dress. To over-dress is not to dress well at all. Excessive use of cosmetics should be discouraged. Common sense in attire and personal pride should be given attention.

Supervision and aiding young people more in their plans of entertainment, as far as possible, may prove beneficial. Of course, this can be carried too far. But if fair supervision is employed in the theaters and and dance-halls, as is done in some instances, the right attitude will be taken. But simply to condemn the forms of amusement of the young, without taking steps to improve them and remove temptations, does not seem to be the best policy.

Youth craves action, romance, adventure, amusement, and recreation; youth is unsteady, curious to know; and if given sufficient freedom, his interest in higher things may be assured. But to stifle these cravings is to kill the soul of youth. These future citizens must be kept alive, wide-awake, ready to refend themsellves and their posterity in time of trouble, but encourgaed to take more active parts in the community and national life. The world needs them with their new ideas, thoughts, and hopes.

III.

SUPPORTING THEM IN EDUCATION STRUGGLE

When the boy or girl has finished the grade school and is about to enter high school the problem of the choice of a course of study is to be met with. It is here that the foundation is laid. So it is advantageous if the young student can decide what his life-work shall be, and plan his program accordingly.

Teachers and parents should be careful not to disregard the special inclinations or talents. The idea of forcing the boy and girl to study for something contrary to their own wishes is regrettable. On the other hand, the enthusiasm which one puts into the work of his liking is worth more than the half hearted interest which is evident in the trades and professions, as well as in business.

Our boys and girls must be assisted in their plans of study. There are many courses of study in the public schools; vocational, scientific, engineering, literary, mechanical, music and elective courses are offered. Making the most of their time in these schools, our young will soon qualify themselves for better positions, and for higher education. Equipment, the best of teachers, an excellent system of education are all in their favor.

During the last two years of their high school careers students should be informed constantly of the advantages and disadvantages of attending some colleges. The opportunities offered for complete pursuance of college courses in some places should be noted. A careful study of the catalogs, and announcement will prove beneficial. And once the boy or girl has decided, after receiving advice from parents and friends, upon a particular college every effort should be made for the entrance. Too much emphasis cannot be laid on "Stay-in-School" campaigns. It is not enough to attend school, but the completion of the entire course will fie one for greater service.

A good method which can be employed to effect is the plan of study with day, hour, and length of time devoted to each subject indicated. Once the hours of study are regulated and enforced, scholarship will be improved.

Environment, too, is an important factor in shaping the life of an individual. Let the surroundings be wholesome for our young. Furnish them with books and stationery, supplies, and clothing needed. Help create in them a taste for the aesthetic. Thrift about the home, interest and pride in the home, the appearance of the house, the yard, become a part of the lives of children when practiced. Economy habits should be enforced. A part of the weekly or monthly earnings should be put into a savings bank. If the boy is out of work, wasting precious time, help him find a job. It is not the part-or full-time job, but the habit of work and service that is important. Life is made up of joy and sorrow, poverty and misery, but despite the circumstances, everyone can help remedy these unfortunate conditions. We must help the young to get the most out of life. It will mean hardship, sacrifice, striving, and suffering too. Yet, constant thought and effort should be our aim if we would remove these. It is the spell of the work that is worth while that counts.

IV.

Encouraging Varied Pioneer Work

Some people are doubtful of the success of every new undertaking. They put their stamp, of disapproval upon every enterprise before it is well under way. It is true that young people have had little experience and training, perhaps, but how can they ever develop initiative, unless they are encouraged in varied pioneer work. A careful study of our business enterprises will show a very small percentage of large, efficient organizations. True, that there are many difficulties, but through honest co-operation more of the larger enterprises will be possible.

Yet, our young people are neglecting many opportunities for service. But they need the support of the older people. How many Negro organizations are prepared to employ our young who are trained and seeking employment? Young graduates are challenging the influential citizens; they are coming and will continue to come, to takke the parts of men and women.

Besides business organizations, more literary, dramatic, religious, and social clubs should be fostered. In these clubs young people will have an outlet for their talent, practice parliamentary procedure, and also develop qualities of leadership. The power of organization must be realized, together with the responsibility attached.

The west is growing. And our young as well as old must grow in enlarged ideals, greater service to their fellowmen; taking more active parts in the community life. Then will they be able to meet with eventualities.

WOMEN'S DAY AT INDEPENDENT

Sunday was a big day at the Peoples Independent Church the occasion being Women's day. Women had charge of everything the spacious church was packed to its utmost capacity and women did all the work there were women ushers and trustees and also a woman preacher none 'othor than the Rev. Mrs. Mary E. Palmer who delivered a most inspiring sermon about women. It has been said that the hand that rocks the cradle rules the world. So a short time ago the Independent Church decided to find out if this was so.

The men were given first chance to prove this, they did well but alas the following Sunday women took their stand and so easily proved that the hand that rocks the cradle does rule the world. The program was very good indeed with our own Mrs. Sinclair Murdock as Mistress of Ceremonies we were very proud of her so sweetly did she fill her position. The program was rendered in the evening every woman was at her best. Mrs. Spear Bass delivered a most wonderful address. Women we are very proud of you. The collection for the day for Mrs. Mary Palmer $52.00; for regular collection $279.21; for the two Sundays $557.52.

Mrs. Lawrence Butts, Grand Elector of the Order of Eastern Star, who has been confined to her bed at the home of Mrs. Elgin Frambo Hicks of 1446 E. 20th Street for the past three months was removed to the hospital Wednesday. Mrs. Butts' condition is serious.

WHAT'S THE USE?

What's the use to worry,
You've not got long to stay;
Why not take things easy
As you pass along Life's way?
T'will do no good to worry
If things were going wrong;
Meet reverse with a smile and a song.
What's the use to criticise;
What's the use to knock;
What's the use to ridicule,
Or at some to throw a rock?
Don't appoint yourself a censor,
No matter what you do;
This great big world was never made
For just a chosen few.
There are none of us that's perfect;
There are few of us that stay;
And never stray and wonder
From the straight and narrow way
So when you start to hammer
Some poor fool that's gone astray
T'will do no harm to pause and think
You may uuse your grip some day.
What's the use to kick one
Who's about to fall?
If you do not care to help him
Don't mention him at all.
You'll find, if you take notice,
That what I say is true;
While there may be faults in others,
There's a flaw or two in you.

Washington, D. C. Nov. 25.—The Allied Industrial Finance Corporation has just sent out a dividend check covering the first quarterly dividend of 8 per cent to the paid up holders of its preferred stock. The corporation has made remarkable progress during the past few months in which it has been actively engaged in business.

Having been organized in December, 1920, with Dr. Emmet J. Scott, of Washington, D. C., as president, and with Mr. John R. Hawkins, Dr. A. M. Curtis, Mr. Whitefield McKinley, and Mr. Norman L. McGhee, as fellow officers and directors, over One Hundred Thousand ($100,000) Dollars worth of the Allied Industrial Finance Corporation's stock was subscribed by July 1, 1922, at which time it started actively on its program to supply financial assistance to colored business men and women, and groups of colored mn and women, in the extension of business, the building of homes and other worthy objects.

Other prominent men who are on the Board of Directors of the Allied Industrial Finance Corporation are: Dr. M. O. Dumas, Mr. F. Morris Murray, Dr. A. B. Jackson, of Washington, D. C., Mr. S. W. Green, of New Orleans, La.; Dr. George E. Cannon, of Jersey City, N. J.; Dr. R. M. Fowler of Atlantic City, N. J.; Dr. J. B. Stubbs, and Dr. S. G. Elbert, of Wilmington, Del.; Mr. E. C. Brown of Philadelphia, Pa.; Mr. J. L. Jones of Cincinnati, Ohio; Mr. T. H. Kiah; of Princess Afine, Md. The counsel for the Corporation is Attorney James A. Cobb, of Washington, D. C.

The Allied Industrial Finance Corporation is nation-wide in scope. It expects to add to its already strong management the leading men of the race in the various states. Already the Corporation has operated with satisfactory results in Delaware, Maryland, New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, and the District of Columbia. In ministering to the needs of the Colored business men and women and the enterprises undertaken by them in these states, it is not only making money for its subscribers but it is rendering a needed servic to the Race.

EDITOR'S NOTE:

"Edmund Burke said that there were Three Estates in Parliament, but in The Reporter's Gallery yonder there sat a 'Fourth Estate' more important far than they all."

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 25.—Washington is different with Congress in session. Washington is different to begin with. It is different from the big industrial and commercial cities, where there is hustle and bustle; hurry and scurry. Here, everything moves slowly—except prejudice. That is about the swiftest moving thing in town, and those who compare things now—even under Republican control with what they were twenty-two years ago, under a McKinley administration, or twenty-six years ago under a democratic Cleveland administration, in office and out, will be forced to admit that prejudice here has has a fine run for its money.

Race prejudice in Washington, the nation's capital, where the very acme of government idealism would be supposed to be reached, is a fine field for cynics, to say the least. The appeals to justice, equality and fair play are a travesty upon the dreams of the founders of the nation. It's all a huge joke in Washington, "One Sue," as the promising offspring of the writer dubs it.

Prejudice is so rampant here, and indifference to it by the authorities so glaring, that one is made to shudder what the answer will be in another score of years, if the old cursed things keep on.

Take Treasury Department

There is the Treasury department, for example. There has been discovered an unwritten law in this department to the effect that all colored women must be accepted only in the registers division, and then must be segregated. Precedent would require a Colored Register of the Treasury, and if President Harding expects to succeed himself in 1924, he could make a good political play here.

However, it has been discovered that there is a young gwoman from Boston in one of the divisions, whom the scrutinizing chiefs had failed to "case." Her work is efficint, and she has been promoted to a position paying $1,850 a year. Presto, someone found that this capable young lady is living with "Colored people." Hence, she has been called in and informed that it would be wise to be transferred to Boston, at $14,450. The young lady cannot see the point, and refuses to go. Congressman Tinkem of Massachusetts, who says he is going to compel the southerners to permit all citizens to vote, is backing the young lady up in her refusal. The matter haas been taken up directly with Secretary Mellon.

Another Case in Point

Down in Virginia, a colored clerk was promoted to be clerk in charge, in the railway mail service. He happened to be well qualified, and a brother-in-law of a prominent public official in Chicago. When it was discovered that this man is running in charge, the two Senators from Virginia, several Congressmen, "prominent" citizens and business men, entered a strong protest to Second Asst. Postmaster General Paul Henderson, son-in-law of Congressmar M. B. Madden of Chicago. They said, "This is a white line," meaning that while in the South Colored clerks run in charge over some lines, former P. M. G. Burleson, made a dead line.

It happens that General Henderson is made of the old fashioned clay of justic, and, so far as he is concerned, is determined to wipe out the follies of the color line. Henderson has told the clerk to stay on the run, and his opinion of prejudice of this kind would change the temperature.

WASHINGTON, D. C. Nov. 25.—President Harding in appearing before Congress with his special message on government aid to shipping, or the merchant marine, is staking his future on the success of the measure. His address was clear cut, and well received, but will not be accepted on face value by some, as he acknowledged in the course of the address.

The address showed a fighting spirit of determination that is seldom seen in President Harding. If he wins, and the odds are in favor of his winning, it will give him a much stronger hold on the political fortunes of the future.

CHICAGO, ILL. Nov. 25.—A suit was filed by P. W. Chavers, a stockholder, through Maj. A. E. Patterson and the law fifirm of Hoyne, Barnhart, McKay and Niemeyer, last Tuesday, against the Douglas National Bank, Thirty-second and State Sts., heralded on its organization four months ago as the second Negro national bank in the country.

Federal Judge Carpenter was asked to take charge of the assets and to wind up affairs. A petition filed in the Federal Court charges the bank is insolvent and that a move is on to dissipate its assets.

Officers and directors, the petition charges, have conspired to invent $175,000, practically all of the capital, in a bond issue floated by the Overton Building Company.

Anthony Overton, president of the bank, is said to be also head of the Overton Building Company, which is selling bonds for the erection of a business building at Thirty-sixth place and State Street.

The petition charges the charter was fraudulently procured from the comptroller of currency by false representations.

Subscribers for stock, the bill asserts, were denied an opportunity of completing payments, and it was sold to a white syndicate for $105. per shaare, whereas the subscribers agreed to purchase it at $130 per share.

Operatives of the Keystone National Detective Agency were employed to gather evidence.

Officers of the bank include the Rev. J. W. Roberson, R. R. Jackson, S. A. T. Watkins and Edward Miller. Deposits are about $75,000.

Judge Carpenter reserved his decision pending an investigation of the alleged irregularities. Bank officials deny the institution is insolvent and, it is said, charge Chavers, who organized the bank, with conspiring to wreck it because he was not elected President. Chicagoans who have taken pride in the institution are rallying to its aid.

In The Music World

By John A. Gray

Why should your child study music? This question has been asked many times and the parents are very seldom able to give a sensible reason. In fact, few parents know why. They merely imitate their frinds or consider it an accomplishment for social purposes. Both these reasons are very poor and the main advantages are entirely overlooked.

In this day of superior education, the study of music is not considered a amere accomplishment any more than reading, writing or arithmetic are considered such. When we stop to realize that music is being used for practical purposes, such as curing mental derangements, diseases, and for rhythmical penmanship, for putting pep in workers, (witness the sings given daily by Stores, factories, etc.) not to mention its use in the removal of surplus fat and other novel forms, we are compelled to acknowledge that it is a necessity.

Alexander Lambert says that every child ought to begin the study of music in some form together with his other studies. Not with the intention of becoming a great musician, but for the personal benefits to be derived from its cultural possibilities.

Paderewski says: "Music in itself is one of the greatest forces for developing breadth in the home. Far too many students study music with the view to becoming great virtuosi. Music should be studied for itself without any great aim in view except in the cases of marvelously talented children. Again, many children might b developed into teachers or composers who would never make virtuosi. This should be very carefully considered. Most of the students assume that th career of the virtuosi is easier, more illustrious, and last, but not least, more lucrative than that of the composer. But it is better to start out to be a great composer or a great teacher and become one, rather than to strive to be a virtuso and prove a fiasco. The intellectual drill which the study of music gives the child is of great educational value. There is nothing which will take its place, and it is for this reason that many of the greatest educators have advocated it so highly. In addition to this, the actual study of music results in almost limitless gratification in later life in the understanding of great musical masterpieces."

Rev. F. W. Cooper preached a sermon recently on "The Removal of the Family Altar." It was a timely question and ably delivered and we are wondering if any of the members has brought that dear old relic of gone by days. Not all have removed the altar of abandoned family worship for that is what it means. There are many devout people who adhere to the divine teaching. These will never remove the old time honored family altar.

THE STORY OF EDUCATION IN AFRICA

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—"Africa, like every other land of continental proportions, has all types of climates, due to differences in latitude and altitude, is a statement embodied in the report of the African Education Commission just published by the Phelps-Stokes Fund. For instance, British South Africa, which is one half the area of the United States, is almost entirely in the South Temperate zone. All the West Coast Colonies have some high sections where the tropical heat is favorably modified, while the great Congo Basin has an average altitude of one-thousand feet.

In further discussion on the subject the report says: "Even in the lower levels where mosquitoes and testse flies have been a menace to health and life missionaries, merchants and government officials are, living with considerable safety and comfort. Members of the Education Commission were repeatedly impressed by the sight of Europeans and Americans who have lived in these regions for many years. In one American mission station, just where the Congo River crosss the Equator, the Commission saw four American families with seven children, all in good health. In another station in Lower Congo there were two American missionaries and their wives who have served an average of forty years in that region, notorious for malaria and sleeping sickness.

"The health experience of the Education Commission is most reassuring to travelers in Africa. This party of Americans and Europeans with one native African traveled 25,000 miles for ten months in coast and interior regions of Africa, absolutely without illness from any African cause. The precautions required were helmets in the tropics, daily quinine in malarial regions, and boiled water where the supply was not supervised."

That the prosperity of all peoples is dependent upon co-operative relations with other peoples, and that the influence of the white races on Africa has so far been on the whole, good, are conclusions reached by the commission. Excerpts from the report on the subject follow:

"Some have thought that the influences of Europeans and Americans have been more for evil than for good. Some have thought that it would have been better to leave the African in his natural condition. Few have realized the importance of the movements that have been started and the changes that have been wrought. It must be stated that many mistakes have been made and many injustices perpetrated. In some sections the Africans have suffered tragically at the hands of selfish white exploiters. Evil influences originated by white people still persist in too many parts of Africa."

"It is, however, the emphatic conviction of th Education Commission that the gains that have come to Africa through the white man are far greater than the losses. Among the most convincing evidence of this conviction are those obtained from a study of the portions of Africa now ruled by European nations. The elements of life that reflect the changes introduced by the white groups have been the improvement of physical well-being, including the decrease of sickness and death and the attendant suffering; the decrease and often the elimination of the power of witchcraft, a form of oppression exceeding general and cruel; the overthrow of inter-tribal slavery; the development of friendly relations among tribes formerly hostile; the extension of the economic benefits of the country to all the tribes, and the opening of the doors of civilization to those who were formerly limited to the narrow compass of their tribes."

Admitting that the extension of commercial, industrial and even governmental influences sometimes have too often been attended with suffering on the part of the native people, the report continues: "The early periods of adjustment to the new forces are especially trying. But in the long run one of the best measures of the final influence of the white group upon the native peoples is the increase or decrease of population. So long as there are no records of the feelings of the native masses we must rely on the vital measur that reflects the condition of the majority of the group, namely, the power of the group to maintain life. On this basis, the statistics of most of the colonies show a decided increase in population and, therefore, an improvement in general welfare."

TORONTO, Canada, Nov. 25.—If a student named Choen made 92 marks, and one named Murphy made 68, after the Star chamber had finished it would be Murphy who would be admitted," said Rabbi Brickner at Friday night's service in Holy Blossom Synagogue. The Rabbi (who lectured in English) chose for his subject: "The Exclusio nof Jews by American Colleges."

After describing the attitude of American Colleges as autocratic, the Rabbi declared that in comparison with Oxford and Cambridge and other Big European Universities, the products of American Universities are like kindergarten children alongside mature men.

Analysing the causes that had led up to the exclusion, the speaker said that jealousy at the success achieved by Jewish students, and racial aloofness were the two main reasons, although the heads of the colleges advance the reasons that the Jews disturb the social equilibrum of American Institutions.

TORONTO, Canada, Nov. 25.—There are grave indications that Ontario may experience a Chinese problem similar to that which has perplexed British Columbia for two decades.

Th truck-farming business in the surburban districts of Toronto is gradually becoming controlled by Chinese gardeners, and the Ontario farmers in their alarm over the yellow peril in thir midst are urging the provincial government to act. "The Chronicle," a weekly Toronto publication, says:

"When the hordes of orientals invaded the Pacific Coast, many Canadian gardeners, being dazzeled by the incredible sums offered for their property, readily sold their farms. Those who did not sell were practically forced to vacate the vicinity because the Chinese standard of living was intolerable, and the competition in marketing farm produce was an insurmountable handicap.

Many Chinese are undoubtedly clever and astute, but a large number show physical evidences of licentiousness. They are the agencies by which the terrible drug traffic has been spread throughout our nation. One perceives, with dismay, the increasing tendency of sensual Chinese to associate with Canadian girls—the inevitable consequnces are too horrible to contemplate.

Something must be done to control or eradicate this grim menace to Canadianism.

NEW YORK ELECTION

Philip Randolph polled 90,000 votes in New York City alone, and most of the Negro vote throughout the state. He ran second on the entire Socialist ticket, even beating the gubernatoriaal candidate. The electrical wizard, Steinmetz alone ran ahead of the ticket, but his vote was largely complimentary to his genius.

Croswaith, candidate for Congress, polled only 2049 votes in the Negro District and Carpenter, assembly, polled 5440. The Negros defeated the Republican Ansorge and sent a Democrat to Congress from their district. Negroes defeated Bolden, colored Republican condidate for Assembly and sent Male, white Democrat. They defeated the white Republican candidate for Assembly from the 21st district and sent Shields, Democratic Negro lawyer. But Philip Randolph's old powerful vote came as a stunner for both old parties. They are learning fast.

Where to Attend Church

THE PEOPLE'S INDEPENDENT CHURCH OF CHRIST—

Cor. 18th and Paloma Streets.

Rev. N. P. Greggs, D. D., Pastor.

The most interesting, inspiring and enthusiastic services ever held in this church were the services and program held in honor of Woman's day on last Sunday. The edifice was packed and many persons were turned away.

The morning sermon was preached by Rev. Mary E. Palmer. Her subject was "God's Purpose to the Ethopian Woman." Her text was Psalm 68:11. "The Lord gave the Word, great was the company of them that published it." This burning message will live forever in the hearts of all who listened to this woman of God. A chorus of sixty women under the direction of Mrs. E. Monroe Beavers furnished excellent music. Madam Sinclair White Murdock as mistress of ceremonies conducted th services in a very satisfactory manner.

Every number on the program was worthy of commendation, but the special features were an eloquent address on the "Achievements of Race Women," by Mrs. Charlotte S. Bass, a reading by Mrs. Maude Prayer, and an excellent address on the subject, "Woman in the Home," by Madam Murdock.

Woman's Day was indeed a tremendous success. The offering to the Church for the day amounted to $279.21. In addition to this $52.83 was given to Rev. Palmer as an appreciation of the impressive talk delivered by her. The entire offering for the day amounted to $332.04. The contest between the men and women resulted in a triumphant victory for the women.

Splendid services were enjoyed by the worshippers at this church the past Sunday. The Pastor filled the pupit at both hours. In the morning he spoke on "Church Support," and at the evening hour he used as his subject: "The Light of the World."

This Sunday December 3rd. will be observed as Fellowship and Canvass Sunday." The Lord's Supper will be observed at both hours. It is the hope of the Pastor and officers that 100 per cent of the resident members of the Church will be present at the Lord's table. The membership roll will be called at the morning service. Be present to answer your name. In the afternoon every member of the church will be visited at his or her home by the visiting teams from the church. Every effort is being made to make this the most successful "Canvass" in the history of the church.

FIRST A. M. E. ZION CHURCH—

Pico and Paloma Streets.

Rev. W. E. Shaw, Pastor.

"Watch ye, stand fast in the faith, quit you like men, be strong." I Cor. 16:13 verse was used quite effectively on last Sunday morning by our pastor, Rev. Shaw. Men cannot help but turn way is made so plain. Rev. Shaw lets from their evil ways when the right folks know he does not tolerate any of Satan's works.

A lovely missionary service was carried out at 2:30 p. m.

The Bible Class at 6:00 p. m. and C. E. Society at 7:00 p. m. have become a live wire indeed.

At 8:00 p. m. Rev. J. G. Edmonds spoke from the text, "How can we escape, if we neglect so great a salvation."

There will be Thanksgiving service also dinner at our church Thursday November 30.

The services were carried out as usual. The Pastor preached at 11:00 a. m. Isiah 38:8. His subject being "Certainty of the way." The sermon was forceful and full of thought and wholesome advice. At the 3:00 p. m. service Rev. B. R. Guy of Ward Chapel brought us a message from Nehemiah 4:6. His subject, "Willingness to Work" and he indeed fitted our hungry souls up to our Heavenly Father and we were fed from his spiritual table. At 7:45 the choir held its Sacred Concert and every number was both pleasing and uplifting. We are looking forward to a great union Thanksgiving service at 11:00 a. m. at which time Rev. White of C. M. E. Church will deliver the message. Indeed this was a glorious day at Grant Chapel. We had one accession to the membership of the Church. We are proud to say that the special effort collection reached the proportional

WEST END MISSION A. M. E. CHURCH—

Major G. W. Prioleau, Pastor.

We held our last religious services in Normandie Hall last Sunday. Rev. J. C. C. Owens, Presiding Elder of the Parson's District A. M. E. Church, Kansas, preached at 11:00 o'clock to a very nice congregation, who enjoyed the discourse.

The Sunday School was largely attended. The Thanksgiving token from the children will fill several baskets for others. The Junior A. C. E. League was largely attended and an enthusiastic meting was the result.

The pastor preached at night to an exceptional congregation as for numbers. He hopes that this will continue when we get into our new home. this, is expected before this note gets before the public. The location has been selected, building and pews for church bought, and will be placed upon the lot this week. The Mission will begin its work in its new home with malice toward none and charity towards all. We will love whether we are loved or not. We know that love begets love. All are welcome. Come and help.

BIRCH ST. CHRISTIAN CHURCH—

F. C. Cothram, Minister

Happy and very gratifying results obtained in every department of this church last Lord's Day. The day was ideal and our attendance most excellent. The presence of visiting ministers was agreeably surprising. Among them was our beloved brother, Kellar, and his good wife. At 11:00 a. m. our minister brought us a burning message from these words: "Behold I come quickly and my reward is with me, to give every man according as his work shall be." Rev. 22:12. From this text he showed very conclusively that man shall either stand or fall, by his work—that no labor would cease, but his work was eternal and would follow him through all eternity. At 8:00 p. m. Elder Jacobs preached a expository sermon from John 11., which was full of spiritual food and was heartily received by all present.

It is a source of pleasure to note the manner in which our new members are taking hold to the work. Indications point to success for our Thanksgiving program.

Great things in store next Lord's day. Preaching by the pastor 11:00 a. m. and 8:00 p. m. Bible School 9:45 a. m. and Christian Endeavor 7:00 p. m. Your presence is highly gratifying. All welcome.

WARD CHAPEL ITEMS

B. R. Guy, Pastor

Last Sunday was a glorious day spiritually. The pastor spoke from the words, "Seeing we compassed about with so great a cloud of witnesses, etc." All present felt the influence of the Holy Spirit. The Sunday School was well attended and a number of the pupils stayed for the morning services. Brother White conducted a splendid Endeavor Service at 6:30 p. m. And Brother Williams delivered an excellent sermon in the evening from the text, "Many are called but few are chosen." There were many visitors present. The trustee offering for the day amounted to $26.95 making a total of $70.95 for the month of November for the trustee department. Sunday Dec. 3, will be General Class and Sacrament day. We are praying and looking for a glorious out pouring of the Holy Spirit. All are invited and will be heartily welcome.

THE FIRST A. M. E. CHURCH—

EEighth Street and Towne Avenue.

Rev. A. Milton Ward, Minister.

By special request the minister in charge will deliver both the morning and evening sermon at Eighth and Towne Avenue Church Sunday. The latter subject at 7:30 p. m. will be on "The Automobile Religion." This subject caused quite a little stir whn delivered recently to a morning congregation. Holy communion is to be observed at both services. Good music by the choir under direction of Prof. Bartlett will be a feature of each service.

Sunday was a gala day in historic old Eighth and Towne Avenue Church. The large congregation included many prominent visitors. Rev. Ward used as his text: "Remember Me for Good." In response to invitation 12 (twelve) persons came forward and united with the membership of our church, making a total of 73 to join since conference. The singing by the choir was inspiring. The services had the old time fervor.

Miss Borcella Sweatman led an interesting A. C. E. League meeting.

The choir under the direction of Prof. Bartlett gave a sacred concert at 7:30 p. m. Those who took part in addition to the splendid chorusses rendered by the choir were Mrs. Cecil Jones. Messrs Samuel Stewart and Charles Boston in vocal solos. Mr. H. Atwell Rose on the violin; and Mr. Lee in cornet solo. Mrs. Smith led the chorus solos; and Miss Isadore Stewart read an instruetive paper on "Thanksgiving."

Remarks were made by Mr. S. W. Brumfield. Others who took part were Mrs. Lauretta Butler, Mrs. E. Roberts Saunders and Pastor Ward presiding.

A. M. E. CHURCH, REDLANDS

The A. M. E. Church has taken on new life, since the arrival of Rev. S. E. Edwards. The rally just completed noted a total sum of $307.50. The members are much enthused, and are looking forward to the accomplishment of many things in the course of this conference year. The church is now heated with gas heaters at a cost of One Hundred Dollars all paid for. The next step is now to comfortably seat the church, with up-to-date pews. Rev. Edwards and Mrs. Edwards are hapily domiciled at the parsonage and with their experience in Sunday School and Church work much will be accomplished. Last Friday evening a host of members and friends of the Church led by Mrs. Clay and others made the Pastor feel happy with a full store of provisions. It was indeed a great treat. Rev. Edwards is the right man in the right place.

ST. PAUL INSTITUTIONAL BAPTIST CHURCH

1385 E. 21st Street

Rev. R. N. Holt, D. D., Pastor

Having listened to that great message by Pastor Holt "Religion on the Fence," we still have food for thought and the following passage we quote:

"The soul of the sluggard desireth and hath nothing: But the soul of the diligent shall be made fat. Wealth gotten by vanity shall be diminished, but he that gathereth by labor shall increase." Prov. 13:4, 5, 11.

In the evening Dr. Ford plenty good news.

Director Pitts with his gospel Choir is not only a feature, but bringing things to pass in this part of the vineyard. At the close of the evening session you are expected to commune with us. All are welcome.

Visit us at St. Paul.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH—

8th and Wall Sts.

Rev. M. F. Mitchell, Pastor

Enthusiastic services characterized all the activities at the Christian Church last Sunday. The Pastor filled his station at the eleven o'clock service with an able sermon. Subject "Master Why Could not we Cast Him Out." Following the discourse invitation was extended, a fine young woman responded, took membership. Dr. Johnson, representative of the Inter-Denominational Ministerial Alliance "Go to Church Booster" was present and spoke many words of encouragement. The Choir as usual rendered inspiring service. Sunday night our pastor Rev. Mitchell having been invited to speak at the Central Christian Church (white) Rev. G. C. Coleman conducted the services. Bro. Coleman delivered an able doctrinal sermon, which was enjoyed by all. The pastor reports inspiring services at the white church. We will have regular services next Sunday. The pastor will use another phase of the chart. Our Choir chorus under the leadership of Madam Viola Harris Brandon will give a Sacred Concert, Tuesday evening, Dec. 5th at 8 p. m. at the Church of Jesus Christ Latter Day Saints, 11th and Wall Sts.

Phillips Chapel C. M. E. Church, Watts, has just finished a two week's effort. The Lord wonderfully blessed. The receipts of this effort were over $60.00. Rev. Price and his congregation were over in the afternoon and gave us something over $15.00. Our white friends through Club No. 3, "The Alamo" gave us $20.00. Some of those giving were Mr. Henry Boos $5.00; Mr. R. J. Giles $5.00; Mr. E. Haines $2.00 and others. The pastor's wife has arrived and we hope to be in good working order in all departments from now on. We feel that the Lord is with us. We extend a welcome to all to come and worship with us. Sick list: Sister Harper.

MR. AND MRS. JULIUS ALBRITTON RECEIVE

After two years of wedded happiness Mr. and Mrs. Julius Albritton of 1460 E. 22nd Street thought it befitting to invite those immediate members of both families to celebrate with them the end of the second year. So Saturday evening at their residence was spread a never-to-be-forgotten feast and around the board the lucky ones did partake.

It was shortly after eight when the doors to the dinning room were slid back and Mrs. Julius Albritton did smilingly welcome the guests in. Was there ever such a table spread? The snow white linen cover was a fiting background for the sparkling crystaline wear, center piece of red roses, sweet peas and greenest of fern. A pretty salad designated each place. A deliciously browned turkkey stuffed to the bursting point turned its breast heavenward in waiting. Now it is too great a taxation to mention everything but it is safe to say that every thing that human appetite could crave was there to satisfy. And eat? Why you couldn't begin to taste of everything it was only hitting the high spots to get through at all.

And merry? Why there was a burgundy fluid waiting at each place to make the merriest more merry. It was a time never to be forgotten. The host and hostess received some useful gifts in paper. The partakers were as follows: Rev. and Mrs. Wm A. Washington; Mrs. Mamie Pope; Mr. and Mrs. Foster Driver; Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Albritton; Mr. and Mrs. Wilbour Wilson; Mr. and Mrs. George Jefferson; Mrs. Daisy Branham; Mrs. Nelson Albritton; Mrs. A. Maxfield; Miss Idell Albritton; Mr. L. D. Bateman.

SIDELIGHTS FROM THE FORUM "CURRENT TOPICS" LASHES SEA INTO FOAM. FORUM ACTS IN THE MATTER OF JUDGE WALTON J. WOOD. COMMITTEE APPOINTED TO DECIDE ON CANDIDATE FOR COUNCIL.

By E. J. Moore

"Current Topics" was the storm center last Sunday at the Forum, but ex-president J. W. Coleman came out unscathed, and succeeded in having an editorial from Marcus Garvey's Negro World read in current topics.

A committee was appointed to investigate and act in the alleged arbitrary action of Judg J. Walton Wood in his treatment of Mrs. Anna Williams last week when she brought suit for discrimination in a downtown restaurant. Prof. J. C. Banks, president of the local branch of the N. A. A. C. P. is chairman of the committee.

In order that the Race may have representation in the city council at the next election a committee was appointed to confer with other civic bodies, churches, lodges, etc., for the purpose of deciding on a candidate who can command the support of the entire Negro group. The Committee on Industrial research met again at the residence of Mrs. Slaughter and outlined plans for a vigorous campaign. They will make report next Sunday.

COB WEBB ON JURY SYSTEM.

The jury selected in Judge Shenk's Court again failed to bring in a verdict in the Burch case. To us it seems as long as a defendant has the coin to raise chaff to hurl into the eyes of the jurors, just so long will murderers escape the law. Poor Clara Phillips was short on coin, hence no difficulty was experienced in bringing in a verdict of guilty in her case, likewise Mrs. Louise Peete. Not so with Burch and Mrs. Obenchain who from some source or another are able to retain the services of high-powered attorneys and pay investigators to run down and gather every and anything that will cause the dust to fly into the eyes of the jurors.

KU KLUX PROPOGANDA HAVING ITS EFFECT--- PREJUDICE RUNS RIOT.

You might not think it, but right here in fair Los Angeles, beautiful Los Angeles, in the midst of sunshine and flowers, the pernicious virus as contained in the propaganda of the Ku Klux Klan is having its deadly effect for prejudice is ten times as acute at this time than it was a decade ago.

This condition which is upon 50000 people finds them at a serious disadvantage in the race fo life, that the injustice of it will dethrone those who are responsible for its presence goes without saying but a generation perhaps must suffer in the interim. Such a burden from without coupled with the burden of prejudice from within takes superhuman strength to overcome. But like the Danes who would destroy the hearing of their horses in time of war that they might not become affrighted in battle, we must turn a deaf ear to all untoward happenings and be on our way for bette rand greater things.

The influx of Texans and sons of the South bringing with them the benighted ideas of that slothful and unprogressive clime is in a large measure due the increase of prejudice of the white against the black. The internal prejudice of black against the black is the relic of ignorance and superstition, of envy, resulting from dishonesty of purpose and to destroy those who would dare to call their hand. The Soaring Eagle is absolutely unafraid and altho we must call down this tendency in high places from time to time, we shall not cease in our efforts for clean-cut and honest leadership, both in church and state.

We feel that with a clean house for ourselves we can best qualify to go in for insisting on righteousness for all others. We want 50000 people here to qualify as the very best citizenry of our fair city and then our demand for justice and fair play will have an impelling froce which cannot be denied.

We were amazed a few days ago when informed by one of our leading professional men that it was next to impossible to secure office room in any of the office buildings up town, that they would ring and inquire and rooms were for rent but as soon as they appeared on the scene there was no room to be had, other professional men are in the same category and are at a distinct disadvantage when they cannot secure office room in the down town district. This condition is the result of insidious propaganda unlikened only to that put forth by the Ku Klux Klan and must be overcome.

VICE CURBING THE SAME.

Probation officers either city or county are sorely needed in many sections of our city. Contributing to delinquency is prolific and with wilful abandon. This evil should be curbed, it is as necessary as the apprehension of hold up men and robbers. The colored population is entitled to and should have the proper officers whose duty it would be to inquire closer into the home life of our people. We are advised that it is common, a very common occurrence, where immorality and vice abounds in the very presence of minors and not infrequently minors themselves are taught to participate in this dangerous vice should be stamped out by all means.

WILL THE PRESIDENT BACK UP ON COHEN

We note that the Southern crackers are after the President again and this time are insisting that he shall withdraw the name of the Hon. Walter Cohen whom he nominated as Custodian of the Port at New Orleans. It will be interesting to watch the President's attitude on this nomination. On Lincoln Johnson he backed up, that was before the election; and now as the Cohen nomination comes up after the election we calmly await whether or not he will back up as before.

BUTLER-McKNIGHT NUPTIALS

To the great surprise of a host of friends nad relatives and yet not altogether so—Mrs. Etta McKnight, who until a few years back was a resident of Topeka, Kansas, was quietly married recently in Los Angeles to William Butler upon her return from an extensive trip home.

Prior to her coming to Pasadena, Mrs. McKnight was an ardent and consistent worshipper in Shiloh Church of her home town under the pastorate of the late C. G. Fishback. Shortly after coming to town she became acquainted with a gentleman by the name of William Butler and like begat like until the final climax was the passing of the ways to the minister's home, hence this article. We congratulate you Mr. and Mrs. Butler.

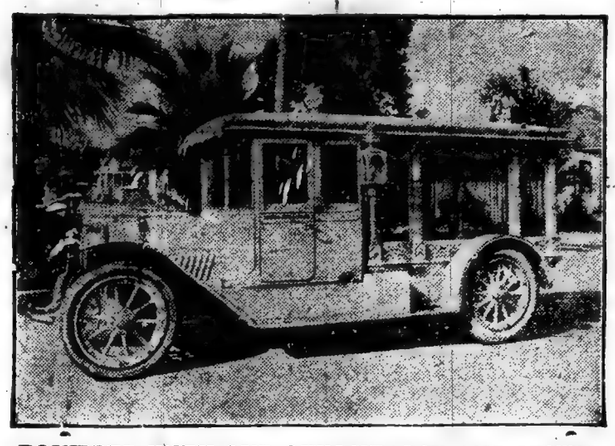
"No Harm Intended"

"I don't think he intended any harm, although I am sorry the chair did not inform him of the rules," said Senator Curtis, "I think we had better just let the matter drop."

Senator Hitchcock interrupted to say he took the same view, but Senator Heflin retorted:

"It wasn't ignorance. It was impudence."



While both senators Hitchcock and Heflin were on their feet and the chamber was in an uproar with both endeavoring to make themselves heard, a capital policeman wormed his way through the crowded men's gallery and led the offender away.

It was suggested by Senator Reed, Rep., Pennsylvania, that Senator Heflin might be gratified to know that the man was a wounded soldier who had served his country.

"I don't care how many uniforms he had on," senator Heflin replied. "He was not removed until I demanded it. Wounded soldier or what not he's got no business to get up and interrupt a senator. I protest against this discrimination against the white race in favor of the negro."

No charge was laid against the negro and some time lated being taken from the gallery he returned and taking a seat on an aisle row in view from Senator Heflin's place, remained through the senate proceedings on the Liberian loan bill.

MRS. MARKHAM IN ORGAN RECITAL

The overflow crowd at Wesley Chapel, Tuesday evening attest the fact that Los Angeles is beginning to realise that it has diamonds of its own.

The occasion was an organ recital promoted, conducted and executed by Mrs. H. W. Markham who demonstrated that vested in her are all the powers of a great organist for beneath the touch of her well trained and sensative fingers the great new pipe organ that shall hence forth enchant the goers to Wesley, pealed forth in strains that were at intervals plaintive, pathetic and violent.

Mrs. Markham has had less advertisement than many considering the fact that she not only possesses marked ability as an organist, but likewise staying qualities that characterises her life from maid to matron.

Before coming to Los Angeles Mrs. Markham was for eleven years organist of The Trinity A. M. E. Church of Houston, Tex., and has served Wesley for fourteen years.

Those who ably assisted Mrs. Markham, Tuesday evning were:

Mme. Mari L. Jackson, Soloist; Mme. M. O. Bowers, Reader; Miss Uvalda Range and James B. Warren, Violin.

RACE MUSICIANS MAKE DEBUT BARTOW DUNCAN AND MARSHALL CLOYD IN JOINT RECITAL

Many musical lovers will have the opportunity to hear in a joint recital two of our coming instrumental and vocal artists in Bartow Duncan and Marshall Cloyd, Thursday evening, December 14, at the Pasadena Y. M. C. A.

This is the first appearance of these musicians together and should prove a high class evening entertainment.

Bartow Duncan has been studying the violin for ten years and has been under the skilful direction of David Maanes for the past five yars in New York City and he should be fully prepared to render the very best in his line. This is his first appearance in the West.

Marshall Cloyd, a lyric tenor, is considered by many critics the finest in the West, and is a former student of John Smallman, the celebrated "coast teacher." Mr. Cloyd's first appearance was at the 1st Congregational Church, 9th and Hope stfeets, a few months ago and which was highly recommended by those who attended.

SAMBO WAXED FAT AND KICKED BACK

The above will be the subject of an address that will be delivered by Dr. Charles Stewart at Hamilton M. E. Church, E. 18th and Naomit Sts., Friday night, Dec. 15th.

Dr. Stewart is the Missionary for the Baptist Church and is the only Colored man in the United States who is a full fledged member of the Associated Press.

As a lecturer and writer he is a genius of four sided ability—He can make you laugh, using the common phrase, until your sides crack; cry until you are limp; think until your head aces, and regret, but with the determination to take a new hold on life. In other words every word picture painted by Charles Stewart is life size and to read after or hear him speak is mental rejuvnation for the old and inspiration for the young.

And you never tire hearing Charles Stewart.

ANITA PATTI BROWN IN FAREWELL RECITAL

Those who have heard Patti Brown prior to her European trip realize that just how she is at her best, tones sure, manners easy, technique natural, and pois perfect—Hear her.

IN THE MUSIC WORLD

By: JOHN A. GRAY

One of the greatset complaints of the Negro is, that he does not have a chance. That if he were a member of the other race his chances for success would be easier and that he would get more credit for what he does. It is time that this form of reasoning should be changed. For in truth—the Negro has today a greater chance of being recognized than any other individual in any other race. We mean that the little that he does stands out in bold relief from that of the masses of his people and attracts attention much quicker. For example—Gilpin the actor, of "Emperor Jones" fame, is known, not only by the theatre-goers of both races, but by nearly every other group of people of both races. Bert Williams was another example. These solitary figures are noticed, not only by what they achieve, but also by reason of their race. Again—a Harry Burleigh— a Clarnce Cameron White—a Florence Cole Talbert, etc., is forced much quicker into the limelight and at much less expense than persons of similar attainments among the other race.

There are hundreds of musicians among the other race whose abilities and attainments are far greater than anything that our race has ever produced and yet—they are hardly known. Why? Because of the lack of dollars necessary to properly advertise and push them forward.

It takes money to keep the name of Mary Garden, of Mischa Elman, a Clarence Cameron White—a Florence But our folks know very little about press agents, managers and a dozen other things that are necessary. We get recognition from the very start and keep it because there is little competition. You ask—why the need for complaint?

That is easily answered by the following reasons. First—Our people are not able to appreciate the higher things of life. Secondly—We are not able to discriminate between what is good and bad. Third—We lack racial pride and either underestimate or overestimate our artists. And all of these reasons can be summed up in the word ignorance.

We are not able to appreciate our own because we lack training. It takes generations of training along artistic lines to produce a group of people who thoroughly understand and know Art. It takes training to be able to tell just what is right or wrong with a work of Art. It takes training to develop a racial pride that will make us support and propagate our own and stop wishing that the other man would put down his own and give ours a chance. Why should he do what we do not do ourselves? Through ignorance we often praise that which is inferior and condemn that which is superior. We have no standard of measurement except that of personal likes. Yet—we must make a place for our own. We have a grat inheritance in our music and folk-songs. We have contributed more to the nation along primitive lines than any other group. We must develop our birthright and support our artists.

The need now, is for teachers and more teachers, whose main idea is to dvelop appreciation among the masses and foster deserving talent. In time we shall have enough supporters and sympathizers who will be able to understand and promote musical development.

Let our artists remember also, that to blame the public for not appreciating their work is not quite just in this age. They must teach as well as perform. Classes in appreciation should be formed and even in their recitals, a fw words of explanation will greatly help their hearers to understand what is being done. We musicians are responsible for the growth and development of music among our own people. Let us make a place for ourselves and be proud that we are Negroes, because our chances for success are much greater and easier without money than our fellow musician of the other race.

MME. ANITA PATTI BROWN—LYRICAL ORIGINATOR

By: LOUIS MICHEL

In the popular Methodist Church, presided over by Rev. Ward, at the Corner of Eighth Street and Towne Avenue, there was a lyrical reminiscence of song and grace, of good diction and exquisite ladyfied manners, as were distinctively typical of the high artistic ingenuity of Madame Anita Patti Brown, who gave to her large and charmed audience the very best that was in her fine, vivacious personality.

She is, indeed, a diva of sweet lyrics, a genuine Prima Donna of rare talnt, such as the race has not shown with the only two exceptions, the old pioneer-singer Madame Sisieretta Jones (Black Patti) and the latest new star, Madame Florence Cole-Talbert. In artistic technical surefootedness she possibly leads them all, whilst in sweet, bewitching magnetism, it may be that Madame Florence Cole-Talbert may have just a shade the better of her. But both, Madame Anita Patti Brown and Madame Florence Cole-Talbert are wonderful singers and it is almost a sentimental crime to draw a comparison between them; as both are so very good and grand in their lyrical emissions that they run neck to neck and step to step as well as hand in hand, in about a close equality of genius and a direct unity of greatest closeness in ability.

A noticeable feature of the lyrical feast was the eloquence of grace and the depth of a real noble heart, when Madame Florence Cole-Talbert demonstrated her great admiration for Madame Anita Patti Brown's incomparably wondrous art by applauding her stronger and longer than anyone else in the audience. That in itself was the greatest tribute that could have been rendered to the remarkable song bird that hails, as she stated with modest dignity, from Georgia, and the writer feels that this warm demonstration of love and appreciation on the part of the able home singer for the equally able singer from the far South may lead to a joint recital of these two wonderful singers, before Madame Anita Patti Brown will leave Los Angeles.

Such a dual treat, of the two greatest living female race singers of America would be artistically charming and financially well paying and it would be a very lucky undertaking, if it could be arranged promptly.

Madame Anita Patti Brown has a dulcet voice of rare soprano altitude and it reaches the most sensitive cords of every listeners' heart. She is a born singer, but has recived very careful training, as her charming, non-plussed, always ready personality proves beyond a doubt. She is big enough to sing in the largest theaters in America, if the mad cracker-prejudice of our disgraced country was dead, buried and unknown.

She has an abundance of culture, a wealth of fine concert-stage manners and is a very broad-mindd woman who knows what to say and to do at the proper time.

She evidently has gaind greatly in experience as well as in artistic progression by her recent European trip and in a neat address that she interspersed between her wonderful singing confirmed the contention of the writer that capable artists of the race should go to Europe, if they have the means and the friends, as the old country will do just the opposite thing that color-crazy America is doing—for Europe will receive the black artists that foolish, sleeping Columbia rejects.—

What Madame Anita Patti Brown said of European appreciation for our meanly insulted Black singers must have struck a hot tempest in the heart of Madame Florence Cole-Talbert, for this new artist can never find justice in America, no more than her gifted friend, Madame Anita Patti Brown, until Europe holds a big, artistic club over the lynching head of prejudice of America,—after she has crossed the ocean as her older sister did!—

It is a sacred duty of every Negro artist of rare ability to throw down the gauntlet of battle to American intolrance and American color-hate and transfer their wonderful abilities to other countries, thus depriving their American stepmother that rejects them of their genius and giving to other lands, that receive them with open arms, their talents and their idealisms!

This is the best and the only way to punish a country, that rejects, humiliates and actually boycotts its greatly gifted Black artists!—

Madame Anita Patti Brown is a lyrical pathfinder, a singing originator in more than one way. On Monday night she sang in 4 languages, in American, in German, in French and in Italian, thus proving that in language songs she excels with grandeur and proficiency. Her German song "Du Bist Die Rub" elicited the greatest applause of any of the foreign songs, proving both her big broad-mindedness and the noble temperament of the intelligent audience. Her program was rich and choicy, containing 14 numbers, all of which, excepting one, were rendered, but in addition three voluntary encore numbers were given willingly in rsponse to the clamorous, enraptured and lovable audience.

Miss Nathalie Doxie, her dainty accompanist that gives loyally with the Madame, was an exquisite playing assistant and as a humorous character delineator this young girl dazed the house with two numbers that were rendered in most capable style.

Between Madame Anita Patti Brown and Madame Florence Cole-Talbert we leave it to the Gods to make their choice!—

COMMENTS.

The Third Internationale in assion at the city of Moscow, Russia, has, according to the Associated Press dispatch from that city, passed a resolution declaring, that as the United States of America is the center of Negro culture, it must play an important part in the struggle of the African race for liberty.

The Communist, it is stated, will use their influence to have all of the Trades Unions, and if necessary will undertake a special campaign to achieve this aim.

The resolution further states, that the Negro population of Japan, China, india, and other countries are having the same struggle against oppression as the Negroes of the United States.

That last paragraph will prove a surprise to the most of us who were of the opinion that we were the only race who were fighting an uphill fight.

We wonder if it is the aim of the Caucasian to drive to despiration the darker races of the world and thereby create the greatest holacaust that the world has ever witnessed. Every action of those who are in power tends that way. Let us hope that before such a catastrophe befalls us that the teaching of the lowly Nazarene will have so sunk into our consciousness, that the "Fatherhood of God and brotherhood of man" shall become a reality.

—Clemeanceau—

When the United States was an embryo nation and the life of the revolution hung in the balance, Benjamin Franklin was sent to France as an emmissary to ccreate a friendlier feeling between the countries and seek the moral and financial assistance necessary to carry on the struggle against England.

Benjamin Franklin succeeded in enlisting the sympathy of the French nation and they contributed greatly to the outcome of the revolution. Today France sends her emmissary—Not official—to bring before the American people the necessity of a closer co-operation of the nations for the peace of the world.

While the mission of the aged French patriot falls on sympathetic ears, there will be no promise given either direct or indirect of any aid whatever.

We appreciate the loyalty of the fighting ex-Premier, who is for his country, France, first and last. The masses of the people sympathise with him; but, remembering the admonition of the "Father of our country", we must steer free of all entangling foreign alliances.

Death of the Dyer Anti-Lynching Bill.

Dead, Dead; DEAD! As we predicted in our comments of a previous issue, the Dyer anti-lynching measure which passed the lower house of congress, and was made the political football of the upper house, has, like the Liberian loan, been referred back to the committee without recommendation. The opposing Democrats have been assured that the bill will not be called up at this, or any succeeding session.

Thus is a humanitarian measure sacrificed upon the altar of prejudice. The Southern senators threatened to hold up all legislation until the bill was withdrawn. So well was their fillibuster organized, that it was possible for them to do so.

It is to be regretted that a handful of retroactive politicians, should be able to show to the civilized world, that after all, the show window of America is dressed in good words and selfish deeds.

It tells civilization in flaming letters that the civilization of the United Sates has not moved one pace ahead of the savages which they conquered. That believing in the burning and torturing of human beings they would pass no act seeking to remedy it.

It was no strange thing: nothing of a progressive character ever came from below the imagery line of Mason and Dixon.

They killed the law prohibiting child labor, they have been antagonistic to every progressive measure that has been put forth by the present administration, in fact the southern contingent has sought to impede all legislation showing progressive tendencies. It is a sure and potent fact that any legislation that tends to ameliorate the condition of humanity, is progressive; and that, if for no other reason, the Dyer bill would have received the opposition of the senators of the South.

—The Summons—

We must arise, we must breast the storm if we desire to obtain our inherent right among the citizens of this country.

There is no use to whine: whining never accomplished one thing. The Negro of America is progressing. Some may decant on the ignorance of the masses, but, and we ask, Who is responsible for the ignorance of the mass? That is not hard to answer. The men who defeated the Dyer bill are responsible for the mass of illiterates who are mainly in the rural South.

Now is the time to show the mettle that was shown by our fathers at Wagner and Port Hudson. But our fight will be with brain not bullets. Let us hold up to the ridicule of the civilized world the iniquity of the South. Let no stone be unturned to acquaint the world with the condition existing in the southern portion of the Republic. Let us get closer together, stop our exploitation of one and the other, and close up our ranks for the common good.

Perhaps, after all is said and done, the defeat of the measure was best, that is if it will teach us to be more self reliant.

May be that it will drive a little political sense into our heads, and sweep away some of the demagogic cobwebs.

The friends that we have, let us grapple them to our hearts with hooks of steel. Let us seek to make new friends; but above all let us strive to help ourselves while asking others to assit us.

To those who think that we are whipped in this struggle, let us answer in the words of the immortal John Paul Jones, that, "We have just begun to fight."

WEST VA. WINS FROM WILBERFORCE 6-0

Game Sold, Rumor

By: A. MOORE SHARON

Before the largest crowd of football fans ever witnessed on Wilberforce Campus Thanksgiving Day, West Va. Collegiate Institute wins from Wilberforce 6-0. Both teams showed wonderful form, with West Va., playing in her own territory all during the first half. The first half ended with neither side scoring. Both teams back fighting for supremacy. After 10 minutes of hard scientific football tactics West Va. succeeded in "connecting" a clever forward pass. The kick for goal failed.

Ten minutes before the ending of the 4th quarter Capt. Tupp, All-American End, 1921, who an account of an injured hip received in the Lincoln-Wilberforce game some weeks, was unable to begin the game saw that there was a chance for his team to win. He immediately, though injured, took his position at left end. From then on it looked as though Wilberforce would turn the tide. Tripp lead his team to within 3 yards of the West Va. goal. Failing to carry the "pigskin" over. The Whistle blew, ending a hard fought struggle.

After the game the report began to be circulated that Stout, Quarter Back for Wilberforce had sold the signals and plays to West Va. for $32.00. Stout was a former player on the West Va. Eleven. Last year the writer of this article played with Wilberforce, and during the game with West Va., it was noted that West Va. knew as much about Wilberforce signals and trick plays as did Wilberforce. At that time one of Wilberforce's "star" half backs was accused. It is noted that this same half back has failed to appear in the regular line-up this year.

NINTH STREET BOYS ATTEND OLDER BOYS' CONFERENCE

San Diego with out-stretched arms met nearly 3600 delegates and leaders when they assembled there for the annual Older Boys' Conference of Southern California, December 1, 2, and 3.

The theme of the conference was "Tuning In," a radio idea. Not only was the theme novel, but interesting in its relation and co-incidence with the paramount purpose of the conference.

Between the hours of 2:00 and 5:00 delegates and leaders were registered and home assignments made at the YMCA and the First Methodist Church.

Los Angeles Ninth Street delegates, having made their triumphant entry into San Diego early in the forenoon, stopped at the "Y" where they delighted in billiards, checkkers, and witnessed a great volly-ball gam. The handsome gymnasium, the polished hardwood floor of which had been marked with red and black lines for volly-ball, basket-ball, and indoor baseball. An indoor track, banked, was another joy. Swinging down the winding iron steps which led to the basement, the boys found a beautiful plunge.

At the opening session at the First Methodist Church, C. E. Lashbrook, Pomona, presided. Snappy songs and yells made the audience wide-awake. Then the following committees were appointed: Nominating; Crdentials; and Resolutions. Following, there was a conference invocation by Dr. Lincoln A. Ferris, San Diego. "What We're Here For," was the topic of Ralph Cole's address.

From 5:45 to 6:15 delegates assembled to their respective rooms where a delegation president, yell leader, and reporter were electd. Los Angeles Ninth Street officers were, Leroy Johnson, presidnt; Chas. Sanders, yell leader; George Johnson, reporter.

Later in the evening the opening banquet was held at he San Diego high school cafeteria. At this time a fine program was rendered, with music furnished by the High school orchestra between numbers. The program included a selection by Emanul Quartette, Los Angeles; "The City's Keys," by Mayor Bacon; Tuning In," Jack Carr, Imperial County; "Wave Lengths," James E. Adams, Long Beach; "Soldered Connections," Leonard Scott, Pomona; "Transmitting," Tom Hammond, Los Angeles; "High Voltage," Elwood T. Baily, Chicago; Solo, Ella L. Palmer, San Diego.

Four separate commission meetings were held at the high school on Saturday morning, followed by a recreation period near the huge stadium. Mr., Arthur Rugh, Nw York, made a short talk about his work in China.

Early in the afternoon a conference picture was taken. The announcement that a trip over to North Island would follow, met with the approval of all. Inspection of the govrnment shops, airplanes and seaplanes and boats, proved very instructive and interesting. And everyone left hte beautiful and senic island with reluctance.

After dinner a college night program at the high school auditorium, together with a selection by Emanuel Quartette and a good-night message, by Elwodo Baily, nded an eventful and memorable day.

The next morning, in keeping with the spirit of the Sabbath, a fellowship nad mass meeting was held at First Presbyterian Church with Harry O. Hill, State Secretary, presiding. Arthur Rugh delivered an address, "Tuning In For Service," being the subject. Afterwards, delegates attended the various churches, returning at noon to the cafeteria where the final session was held.

Every one of the 9ht Street boys: Leroy Johnson, Charles Sanders, Charles Diggs, Charles Matthews, George Johnson, Edwin Jefferson, and Wendell Gladden—expressed joy in having been present at the conference. They also showed their appreciation of the hospitality accorded them in the homes where they stopped. This conference was the source of inspiration that will ever be a part of every leader and delegate.

LETTER FROM RAHMAT ALI KHAN TO HIS DICIPLE, ALDABARAN P. BYER.

Your kind and welcome letter to hand. Please accept my hearty thanks for your interest in the work of the Muslim Association, and that of India.

And now, a few words concerning our Muslim Religion, which so very few persons in the Western World really understand.

The word Muslim is an Arabic word which means, A follower of Islam. And Islam is the Religion which was preached by the Holy Prophet Mohammed, who appeared in Arabia over thirteen hundred years ago. It is the last of the Great Religions of the World, and it can also truthfully be said, it was the first: in other words, The Alpha and Omega of all Religions.

According to the Qur-an, (the Holy Baook revealed to Muhammed, may Peace, and the Blessings of Allah be upon him,) The Religion if Islam is in its conception, as wide as humanity itself. It did not originate from the preaching of the Prophet Huhammed, but it was equally the Religion of the Prophets who went before Him.

Islam was the Religion of Adam, Noah, Abraham, Jesus, and in fact, the Religion of every Prophet of God who appeared in any part of the World.

The Holy Prophet declares that he is not the originator, but the latest Exponent of that Divine System which was perfect at His advent. The Natural Religion of every human child born in the world.

Islam is the Nature created by Allah, (Allah means, The Only One God) in which Nature He made Men. There is no altering of Allah's Creation, for that is the True Religion. see, Qur-an. Chapter. 30. Vre. 30.

Now, since according to the Holy Qur-an, Prophets wer raised among different nations, in different ages, and the Religion of every erue Prophet was, in its pristine purity none other than Islam, the scope of this Religion in the true sense of the word, extends as far back and as as wide as Humanity itself. The fundamental principals of Islam always remain the same. The accidents, changing with the changing needs of Humanity.

The latest phase of Islam is that which made its appearance in the world with the Advent of the Holy Prophet Muhammed. (may Peace, and the Blessings of Allah be upon Him)

A Muslim, according to the Holy Qur-an, is he who has made his peace with his God and his fellowman. Peace with God implies, complete submission to His will, Who is the Source of all Purity and Goodness, and peace with man implies the doing of Good to one's fellowman.

Islam Abolishes All Invidious Class And Colour Distinctions, indeed, one of the Beloved Followers of the Holy Prophet Muhammed was of African descent: his name is Balal.

The aim of the Muslim Association of America is to spread the knowledge of the true Religion.

"THE MIRRORS OF HARLEM" NOW READY. PSYCHOANALYSIS OF NEGRO LEADERS IMPARTIALLY PRESENTED.

Have you read, "The Mirrors of Downing Street?" Have you read the read "The Pomp of Power?" Have you read "Woodrow Wilson and The World Settlement?"

If you have read these books you understand and appreciate all the differnt qualities that help to make a great man. You have peeped into the mysteries surrounding big personalities. You have been "surprised with what little wisdom the world is governed."

But if you have not read these books you can still appreciate these most interesting and clever sketches of Harlem's "Upper 10s." Mr. Floyd J. Calvin, assistant editor of The Messenger magazine, has written "The Mirrors of Harlem," a psycho-analysis of our New York colored first citizens, and they will be published serially in The Messenger, bginning with the December number. Mr. Calvin selects here and there bits of conversation, little unconscious actions, impressive displays and showoffs, calm, thoughtful, intelligent approach to any question—these, after two years of close observation of the men and women about whom he writes. Mr. Colvin selects as straws and pointers indicating the character and dominating tendencies of his subjects' lives. Among those who are stripped of their stoical airs and ruthlessly snatched from their cloisterd seclusion, laying their very souls bare to public gaze are: Prof. William Pickens, Alderman Geo. W. Harris, Editor Chandler Owen, Dr. W. E. B. DuBois, Mr. Hubert H. Harrison, James Weldon Johnson, Rev. Robert W. Bagnall, Editor William H. Ferris, Editor Lucian H. White, Marcus Garvey, Editor Fred R. Moore, Ferdinand Q. Morton, Editor John E. Bruce, W. A. Domingo, Mr. Lester A. Walton, Editor A. Philip Randolph, Mr. Harry H. Pace, Harry Wills and others.

Among the ladies to be caught in this dragnet are Mrs. Lucille E. G. Randolph, Mrs. Addie W. Hunton, Miss Jessie Fauset, Mrs. Grace Nail Johnson, Mrs. W. E. B. DuBois, Mrs. Benton Lattimer, Mrs. Lelia Walker-Wilson, Mrs. William Pickens, Mrs. Edward A. Warren, and others.

Most of these people will be shocked when they read this statement. They don't know Mr. Calvin has been watching them—their very action. Thy don't even know Mr. Calvin personally; they wouldn't know it if they sat next to him in the subway or at the theatre. That is how he has come to get so near them and yet they not be embarrassed. And he doesn't allow any partisan spirit, for or against, on his part, to warp his correct appreciation of their true value.

If you really want to know just Who's Who in Nw York, take a peep into these "Mirrors." The very souls of our most dominating intellectual monarchs are stripped of the last vestige of their philosophical shrouds. But it is done so wittily and subtly the patient hardly knows the aperation is going on.

COMMISSION RANKS LINCOLN UNIVERSITY AS AN APPROVED COLLEGE.

Lincoln University, Pa., Nov. 24th: The recent action of the Board of the Association of Colleges of the Middle States nad Maryland adds one more Negro institution of higher learning to the list of accredited colleges of the Middle Atlantic States.

Today, on the occasion of an address to the students of Lincoln University by Hon. Roland S. Morris, Ambassador to Japan under President Wilson, George Johnson, Dean of the College of Lincoln University, announced that Lincoln had been recognized as an A-1 institution.

On November 20th the commission on institutions of higher education of the Middle States, comprising New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware, District of Columbia and Maryland, took action to include Lincoln University in its list of approved colleges.

The Association gave their approval of Lincoln University and their recognition of its degree only after several months of searching investigation in which the quality of the class-room work, the standard of admission and the facility for carrying on strictly college work were given the fullest examination.

The Dean pointed out that the significance of this action is that credits and degrees from the institution will be recognized as on a par with those of Columbia, University of Pensylvania and Prinston, the leading institutions of the country.

GENERAL NEWS OF THE PACIFIC COAST.— By the Wesley C. Peoples Press Service.

Looking over the general dispatches from Washington it is found that a wounded Negro soldier desired to ask a certain eminent Senator a question, whereupon it is said that great excitement prevailed in the Senate Chambers. As it is said the dignity of the Senate was [illegible] upon, and one Heflin who by the way should be in prison [illegible] assault with a deadly weapon, insisted the Senate had been insulted. B that as it may, the main thing with many people is not a question of the dignity of the Senate or the Senators, but "What was the quqestion Lowery wanted to ask Senator Hitchcock" and will the Senators after all be compelled to answer that particular question. It will be recalled that a certain soothsayer once upon a time, desired and did attempt to tell the great Julius Caesar something that really pertained to the great Caesar, not unlike the poor Negro soldier in the Senate of the United States, he was hustled away by sycophants. But you know the story.

The annual election of officers of the Negro Progressive Club of California will be held in Hamilton Hall, Geary and Stiener Streets, Tuesday evening according to notices being mailed to the members today.

Mr. J. C. Rivers, grand chancellor of the K. of P. lodges in this State has signified his intention of being present at the Entertainment and Dance to be given by th Negro Progressive Club of California in the Exposition Auditorium, January 1, 1923. He has made reservations for himself and Mrs. Rivers.

Saturday's mail brought word from Mayor James Rolph, Jr., that he would be on hand to lead the grand march on the fifirst of the New Year. Also word from director S. Le Protti that the music for the occasion would be the best ever.

Dr. W. W. Purnell, Grand Medical director, says he is going to take Christmas dinner with the best woman in the world, his mother, who resides in Washington, D. C. and who is 78 years young. At the close of his visit in the Capital City the genial doctor will proceed to Hot Springs, Arkansas where he expects to spend the month of January in one of the general hospitals there. He expects to return to Oakland about February 1, 1923.

Tried to get a line on what would be doing for the black contingent when Friend W. Richardson, takes his seat as Governor of California the eighth of January next. Was unable to locate John H. Taylor, before this release, so nothing could be had from that quarter. Saw A. P. Alberga, one of the Richardson lieutenants and he was as mum as a clam, absolutely refused to talk. H. L. Richardson, leading Oakland attorney, was rejoicing at the development of Woolwine strength. So it will be seen that no line could be had as to what the brethren are expecting. Have not seen any of the pale-face bosss since election day, so cannot tell whether they have any Christmas pudding to give. Under ground rumonrs however brings out that there is a great deal of jockkeying going on, and desperate efforts ar being made to land several places. Out at the Negro Progressive Club headquarters all that could be learned in this direction was that they were working on several things to lay before the next legislature.

One of the surprises of the last election was the fact that there were no non-partisan leagues or clubs functioning. We wonder what has become of them.

Hardly had the election closed before we read of Presidnt aspirations. New clubs are being formed and organization work is going forward looking to the selection of the next President of the United States. Would you believe it.

Where to Attend Church

THE METROPOLITAN BAPTIST CHURCH—

East 37th and Paloma Streets.

Rev. M. C. Carter, pastor

We are glad to say that our membership and attendance is constantly growing. The pastor used for his subject in the morning "The Bible." The congregation was willing to acknowledge the presence of the Holy Spirit.

In the evening we had covenant meeting, which everybody enjoyed, after which Dr. J. Madison Young preached a very great sermon, also expressed himself as to what he thot of our church taking its place among the great churches of the country.

It would be a treat to yourself to attend the literary society each Monday night.

Miss Young, daughter of Dr. J. Madisom Young, is our president and she has something good for you always.

Dr. F. O. Brown of San Diego, is in the midst of a great Gospel meeting each night. The pastor will fill the rostrum Sunday morning.

Come and help us.

YOUNG DIVINE STICKS CLOSE TO OLD TRADITIONS

Notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather many received that blessing as coming from God's storehouse. At the morning hour, Rev. W. P. Gipson spoke on "Our Adoption by Christ" These present among them were Founders of Faith, all being a witness to this gospel message.

Subject at the evening service "The Agony of Christ."

By Rev. S. J. Booker with this spirit of appeal to both saint and sinner. All were made to rejoice. Having told the story of he who made mock of the Christian religion and ohter sacreligious rites, but in time all met violent and untimely deaths at the hand of God. Several recruits added Much is contributed to this excellent choir of well trained voices, which adds much to the worship of God.

GRANT CHAPEL A. M. E. CHURCH.

Compton and Fountain Ave, Watts.

The pastor preached at both services. We are glad to say the 5:00 a. m. prayer meeting band is increasing. The pastor spoke from the 95 Psalm at 11:00 a. m. After the sermon we entered into general class and it was a glorious meeting. We can truly say praise God from whom all blessings flow. We were pleased to see the members and visitors present.

The Union Thanksgiving service was a grand success. Rev. White of C. M. E. Church delivered the sermon. His subject being "Thankful unto God for His unspeakable gift," and it was enjoyed by all present, The offering was $35.17. December 10, the Field Secretary of A. C. E. L., Mr. Payne Middleton will be with us.

We extend a welcome to all.

WEST SIDE MISSION A. M. E. CHURCH—

1509 . W. 36th Street.

Major G. W. Prioleau, Pastor.

We worshipped in our new church home last Sunday morning. Every body agreed that it was the largest morning servicce we have ever had. A large number of visitors and friends helped to make the occasion a success. Forty-two communicants partook of the Communion. The offering was very good. We hope to have our Sunday School completed by next Sunday and the painting of the building is on the way. The pastor and members feel under deep obligation to the friends of different churches for helping us in our two nights entertainment from which we realized a nice sum. The Mission is now one of the real institutions in Los Angeles to help similar ones to lift up the standard of Christ and the uplift of our people and community and not to tear down.

HAMILTON M. E. CHURCH—

Corner 18th St. and Naomi Ave.

Rev. S. M. Beane, Pastor.

The pastor occupied the pulpit at the morning and evening services and administered the communion of the Lord's Supper. The services were much enjoyed by the large number of persons present.

The every member canvass was held on Sunday afternoon between 3:00 and 5:00 o'clock. The results were splendid.

Sundya School and Epworth League, continue to grow in interest and enthusiasm. The on and only Charles Stewart will deliver one of his famous lectures at this church on Friday evening December 15. Watch announcemnts.

You will find a cordial welcome at all our services. Hamilton is the "Stranger's Home." Come and see.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH—

9th and Wall Streets.

Rev. M. F. Mitchell, Pastor.

We had a full and wholesome day's activities at the Christian Church last Sunday. The pastor inspired his audience with an able sermon at each service. The subject Sunday morning, "The Relationship of the Old and New Testaments to Each Other." This discourse was a real instructive one and was made still more interesting by the large chart that was placed on the wall. In the evening, "Behold The Lamb of God." The Sunday School and the C. E. Society under the leadership of Mr. Hollins and Miss [illegible] had a fine spirit in the [illegible] cess of the day. Just after the morning service, Mrs. Kathrine Kieth, our missionary, had a rich and rare meeting with the missionary workers. The choir with Madame Viola Harris Brandon as its directress as usual furnished an inspiring musical program. Tuesday evening our choir chorus under the direction ofMadame Brandon spent an evening at the Latter Day Saints Church (white) in a concert. The pastor and members of this church were loud in their praise of the evening's entertainment. After the concert the pastor of the Church ordered a liberal offering to be contributed to our work.

ST. PHILIP'S CHURCH, EPISCOPAL

1527 Paloma Avenue.

In response to the request of a few church people who had come to Los Angeles to settle, the Bishop secured a lay reader in the person of Mr. E. Williams to gather together the small flock. Meetings were held in cottages, halls and homes under the supervision of th Rev. T. C. Marshall. On the first day of February, 1910 the present priest in charge arrived to take charge of the work. His first servicce was held in a room of a house 1427 E. 14th Street (still standing) and when this no longer could accomodate the faithful few, we were transferred to a hall on 9th and Wilson street, that site being now occupied by the Neighborhood Settlement. In July fo the same year the priest secured a lot and in November following laid the corner stone for a small church building which was ready for occupancy on Christmas Day 1910. Many of the faithful who saw that corner stone put in position r today rejoicing over our growth and reaping their reward. This building now needs enlarging to accomodate a growing attendance and many improvements are hcessary to make the worship of Almighty God more decent and orderly. The estimated cost is about five or six thousand dollars. We are trying now to accomplish this under the help of Almighty God.

W. T. CLEGHORN,
Priest in Charge .

BIRCH ST. CHRISTIAN CHURCH—

F. C. Cothran, Minister.

Union Thanksgiving Services held in this church Thursday 11:00 a. m. with the Lincoln Memorial Congregational Church, was indeed praise worthy. The Misses Rachel and Cornelia Edwards, of the Congregational Church deserve creditable mention for the most admirable manner in which they sang their duet. Our own Mrs. Jesse Strider sang by request, "In the Garden," and "God will take Care of You," with telling effct. Sister E. E. Lightner rendered the music for the chorus by the Union Choir and congregation; and there were spontaneous expressions of thanks from different speakers. Rev. E. E. Lightner, delivered a great Thanksgiving message from the words, "What Shall I Render unto hte Lord for All His Benefits towards Me?" This, indeed, was a message of infinite value.

Last Lord's Day at 11:00 a. m. Elder H. A. Sullivan, Editor of the Converted Romanist, a monthly magazine, was present with us and preached a wonderful sermon from the language of John. "I am the voice of one crying in the wilderness, make straight the way of the Lord, as said the prophet Esaias." John 1:23. He made it plain that each Christian is a voice for Christ. One minister spoke at the 8:00 o'clock services upon the subject, "Baptism of the Holy Ghost and Fire." Matt. 3:11,12. He showed that the baptism fo the Holy Spirit was present on the day of Pentecost at Jerusalem and on the occasion of the conversion of the Gentiles, at Caesarea. Acts 2 and Acts 10., and that the baptism of Fire is to come upon the chaff or wicked. Mrs. Minnie Thompson sang a beautiful solo. "Hold thou my hand dear Lord."

Ladies of the church are elated over the pleasing results of the Thanksgiving dinner. Every body's happy. We expect you next Lord's day. Our prayer meetings on Thursday evenings, are full of life. Christian Endeavor will be conducted by Elder Jacobs, at 7:00 p. m. The pastor will preach at the 11:00 o'clock service and EElder I. J. Williams, at the 8:00 o'clock service. Bible School 9:45 a. m..

All Welcome.

Rev. A. Milton Ward, Minister.

Phone S. 3780-Res. 1466 Griffith Ave.

The minister in charge will preach the second of a series of sermons this Sunday evening, which he began last Sunday night. "Our Lord's Prayer" is the topic. Rev. Ward will also occupy his pulpit at 11a. m. Special music by the choir under the direction of Prof. Bartlett will be a feature of both services.

Last Sunday was a gala day religiously in historic lod Eighth and Towne Avenue Church. Rev. Ward preached morning and evening and the Choir led the congregation in singing good gospel hymns. Holy communion was observed at both services, which were well attended, notwithstanding the weather. Seven men and women were added to the membership of he church, making a total of 80 persons to join since Oct. 1, 1921.

Conspicuous among the worshippers and our most prominent visitors at the morning services, were Mme. Anita Patti Brown and her accompanist Miss Nathalie Doxie. Madame Brown was introduced and made fitting remarks, and was warmly received by the large audience. Those who hailed from Georgia were ecstatic[illegible] when told by the noted singer of song that she was born in Georgia.

SECOND BAPTIST CHURCH—

Dr. T. L. Griffith, Pastor.

On last Sabbath our pastor preached a most practical sermon from the subject: "Put not your Trust in Man, Isaih 6:8. Among the many things he said, "God from the beginning of time has always spoken to His chosen people in an audible voice, sometimes in prophecy, somtimes in anger, and sometimes in judgment. God's ministers must always have a message from Him to give to his witnesses and listeners and they in turn must be witnesses in actions and deeds. He made very clear the relationship of God's messengers to his people.

In the evening the Lord's supper was commerated. Rev. Shipley preached the sermon from the subject of "Steadfastness." At the close of the sermon all those who had not been Fellowshipped came forward and received the right hand of fellowship. The pastor left Monday for the National Baptist Convention and a much needed vacation. During his absence Rev. W. R. Carter will have charge of the pulpit.

WESLEY M. E. CHURCH—

Sunday was a fine day at Wesley and the Pastor preached a very effective sermon both morning and evening.

This Sunday will be Great Re-opening Day. Dr. Byron H. Wilson will preach the morning sermon and Rev. J. B. Middleton of Atlanta, Georgia, will preach at the evening hour. This is Gold and Silver Star Rally Day. Every member of the Church is expected to be in the Star Class. We need at least $2,000 to clear up our repair work. LINCOL NMEMORIAL CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH—

34th Street and Central Avenue.

Rev. E. E. Lightner, Pastor.

The past Sunday was a very enjoyable one for the congregation of this church. The Pastor filled the pulpit at both services, and administered the Lord's Supper to a large number of ture of the morning service was the calling of the church roll immediately preceeding the communion, when the members responded to their names with a verse of scripture or with a brief word of loyalty and devotion to the cause. This Sunday December, 10th. the Pastor will preach at the morning hour and the result of the "Every Member Canvvass" will be announced.

At the evening hour a Memorial service will be held in honor of Dr. E. C. Silsby, who departed this life, Sunday November 26th, last, at Talladega College, Talladega, Alabama. Dr. Silsby had been connected with Talladega College for some thirty years, and his passing is felt not only by the Student body and the Faculty, but by the thousands of former students scattered all over the land, whose lives have been made richer by the contact with this noble soul.

Every graduate and former student of Talladega College, and of any other A. M. E. School, is expected to have a seat on the platform.

Strangers cordially invited to worship with us at all times.

THE FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH—FURLONG TRACT.

The First Baptist Church of Furlong Tract Pastored by Rev. A. T. Hines, an energetic, efficient young minister of the gospel, is doing great things down in his vicinity. A two weeks church school drive conducted by Mrs. Eva Overr-Solomon, director of religious education for the Western Baptist Association met with astonishing success resulting in the addition of 145 new scholars.

Mrs. Solomon is making visits to the respective churches in turn, but up to now the new scholars attained at this church has not been equeled, yet most of the schools visited are larger.

The Sunday School under the leadership of a most splendid intellectual personality, Mr. Prentice Brown, is making rapid strides to become the banner school of the state. Mr. Brown has put his shoulder to the wheel and the persistancy he possesses, with the hearty and pleasant cooperation of the Pastor, teachers and those newly inducted into office bids fair to makek a mark not easily equalled in church school activity.

The work accomplished was the result of the Campaign and survey committees who worked harmoniously. have shown themselves so much Activities that once were dormant aright, and the church officials are so jubilant over results accomplished, that plans are on foot to erect a Ten Thousand Dollar Edifice to house the increasing membership.

Pledges have been made to be paid weekly so as not to be a burden to any. To further consumate their plan the third Sunday in March has been designated as the day toraise the pro rata.

The most pleasant feature of it all is the hearty response from the members and the unanimity of support given the Pastor, who can meet with no failure with such attributes.

Your truly.
EVa OVERR-SOLOMON.

FIRST A. M. E. ZION CHURCH —

Corner Pico and Paloma.

Rev. W. E. Shaw. Pastor.

Residence 1217, Paloma Avenue.

Rev. Shaw without question preached two very able and digestive sermons on last Sunday. Fortunate indeed were those who heard him.

His morning text which was most appropriate being Communion Day, was, "If therefore thou art offering thy gift upon the altar and there remembereth that thy brother hath aught against thee, leave there thy gift and go and be reconciled with thy brother and then come and offer thy gift." Matt. 5:23-24.

The evening text: 2 Cor. 12:7. "There was given unto me a thorn in the flesh." The subject was "Temptations and How to Meet Them.

Rev. Shaw sets a standard for righteousness. The Thanksgiving services proved a benediction to all.

ST. JAMES BAPTIST CHURCH—

Rev. W. H. M. Dickerson, Pastor.

Services at the church last Sunday were interesting, enjoyable and inspiring. The pastor spoke at both services. On Sunday morning the pastor spoke on the subject, "Shiloh's Coming, It's Results" This indeed, was quite interesting and many things were said which were helpful. Sunday night the pastor spoke on the subject "The Lost Sheep,". Quite a large congregation was present. Conditions are improving and we are looking favorably for St. James to do a greater work for the Master this year than in years which have passed.

We solicit the prayers of all for our success.

PEARL GARAGE HELD UP BY BURLEY WHITE

The big garage of C. E. Pearl on Ninth Street at Central was visited on last Monday night by ye hold up man who proved to be a burley, shaggey white tramp, who produced a .38 automatic and told Earl, A. Cook, who was on watch, to stick 'em up, and then commanded him to open the cash register and dish out the contents, all of which Earl, little Earl, obligingly complied with for the gun was upon him. The loss is reported at some $1500.00 more or less. However, this sortie was not without its humor, for the above cut shows that little Earl's eyes were about to leave their sockets, and over further in the garage was little "Shorty", who claimed that he was asleep but the boys say that the scene of the occasion was such that he fainted and then Boykin the night man , they say had a presentiment of impending danger and had little Earl to substitute for him on this self same night.

The hold up took place just three minutes after the Eagle man had driven in and left his car for the night or else he would have been in on the big doings.

PASADENA HI-Y TRIUMPHS OVER LOCAL HI-Y ELEVEN 7-6.

LOCAL TEAM OUTPLAYS PASADENA IN BOTH HALVES.

BROWN AND ROSSER STARS.

By George Duncan

The Pasadena Hi-Y eleven after a stubborn and hard fought gridiron battle won the annual Thanksgiving game against the local Hi-Y tam. The contest was staged at the Pasadna High school field.

Coach "Has Davis" team outweighed the local squad fifteen pounds to the man, but the Los Angeles team outplayed and out-fought them on very qurater, which was really a moral victory for the local team.

In the first quarter the spectators were thrilled by the playing of Jefferson Brown. His snagging passes and defensive playing was the feature of the game. In the first five minutes of play he caught a long forward pass and dashed down the field to his own 20 yard line. Rosser after two downs carried it over for the Y's only score. These boys worked togehter like a million.

In the second quarter Pasadena kicked and Diggs caught it to be knocked out of his hand by one of his own men. Pasadena recovered the ball and galloped down the field for a touch down and the ball sailed between the uprights for one point which won the game.

The next half the ball was punted back and forth by both teams, with little gain by either team. When the game ended the ball was found in the local Hi-Y's territory.

Both teams played clean football. Pasadena made their gains thru the line and the local team by forward passes.

George Johnson star fullback on the Hollywood team proved his worth in gold to the local team by his splendid defensive playing. Diggs at quarterback played the game of his life generalship was excellent. In fact whole team fought and worked together like an organized company.

The Pasadena "Y" had three good warriors in quarterback, "Mark Kelly," Coburn Whiszar, and "Bob Poynter," fullback.

REX INGRAM'S LATEST AT LOEW'S STATE THEATER

The showing of a Rex Ingram picture is always a gala event and the western premier of his latest Metro picture "Trifling Women", at Loew's State last Sunday confromed in every way to the openings heretofore. When Rex Ingram turned out "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalpse" the critics said it was the greatest picture ever made and now his latest release has received the same criticisms from the East. The story of Trifling Women," which was written by M.r Ingram as well as directed by him, deals with the affairs of a Parisienne sorceress, Zareda. The picture carries a strong moral message and is perhaps one of the most unusual stories ever filmed. A special presentation has been arranged by Ernest Belcher which will lend itself as a prologue to "Trifling Women." It is called the "Ballet Batik" and is done entirely by the Ernest Belcher dancers. Thre are ten dancers in the number, seven coryphees and three principals. Don Philippini has arranged a special musical score to be played with "Trifling Women."

Y.M.C.A.

What was considered to be the greatest Older Boy's Conference held in Southern California, convened in San Diego December 1, 2, 3. The co-operation of officials and the hospitality shown by the people made a lasting impression. Seven delegates from 9th Street Branch Y. M. C. A. attended the sessions. They gained an inspiration at these meetings and are enthusiastic about their future work and activities here.

A program has been arranged by the Hi Y delegates for Sunday, December 10 at 3:00 p. m. at the Y. M. C. A. Everybody is welcome.

The annual Future Leaders' Conference will be held on December 31, at a church to be named later. Arrangements for the program are already under way. This conference should be the best yet.

The Y. M. C. A. desires to heartily thank the public for its earnest support in making their Thanksgiving charitable efffort a tremendous success.

We especially wish to thank the churches and ministers throughout the city for their co-operation in permitting us to present our four-minute speakers in the interest of the drive.

In those churches where no four-minute speakers were featured, it was not because we did not have the co-operation of the church and pastor, but because we had only a limited number of speakers.

We also wish to thank Miss Gladys Harris, our own social service worker, for her ready assistance, as well as all others who donated their services and machines.

Through the co-operation of all, we were able to extend our benevolence to approximately 150 people, and into the homes of more than a score of families where no doubt the spirit of Thanksgiving festivity would not otherwise have been manifested.

LINCOLN UNIVERSITY AGAIN WINS THE EASTERN CLASSIC

Approximately fifteen thousand football fans crowded the American League Park Thanksgiving morning to see Lincoln University win the annual Eastern Football Classic from Howard University. Howard was unable to show her old form until the last few minutes of play, when she began to solve the intricate Lincoln plays. The deadly Dartsmouth shift again won favor with the old guard.

Score by Quarters:

Lincoln	7	0	0	6	—13
Howard	0	0	0	12	—12

OFFICE LIFE COMIQUE AND TRAGEQUE. By Idell Albritton.

Nobody seemed to care or seemed anxious except that he should go—that is as far as we knew. So the Lyno operator stills continues to operate. Every now and then his fingers cease their tapping; he is seen to stare longingly towards the East—but that is all. Not even another word about going.

Ye Society Editor was found and returned. He seemed to have come back to life—that is office life and is ready to play his role. Monday it was he dropped in on us. For obvious reasons he refused to remove his hat. He sat himself down, declared himself on duty. Never seemed more comfortable. His eyes he closd for rest or languidly rolled in the direction of any remark addressed direct. His voice became croaky, his speech irregular and missing then silence.

SUDDENLY with one leap he was up. Fiery his eyes as he glanced at the clock. Hasty his fingers as he grasped his wallet from the desk. He was gone. Nor could eye discern or mind conceive—so quickly he flew.

Prayers, prayers, supplication, entreaties and more prayers, he must be Catholic or near kindred for "Shorty" the printer certainly believes in prayer. "The prayers of the righteous availeth much," so says the good book. Anyway "Shorty" was saved from any possible error. And all his prayers were over the well being of a Protestant record that it should be kept without blemish.

I want to speak to Mr. Bass! came the imperative tones o'er the wires. busy Friday afternoon. He's very busy just now could I take the message" the Secretary asked. I want to speak to Mr. Bass Mr. Bass"— I say he is busy, can't— No, you don't understand. It is Mr. Bass I want." So it was that Mr. Bass indeed was herald from the Lyno where he was earnestly trying to relieve the Lyno-operator.

She will be convinced that Managing Editor, The "know everything," Secretary told her that the skirt was out of date. A bet was on a fashionable tailor should be the judge." He could a tailored skirt be out of date? Besides they are wearing flares now." "But argued the Secretary they are really circular cuts not simply wide skirts fashionable in the forties." The Secretary however was willing to be dragged to the tailor judge.

"Is this skirt out of date" revolvingly asked the Managing Editor. "I just want to know to convince this young lady."

"Why-er yes it is somewhat too wide," replied the astonished tailor timidly. But not really out of style." Pleaded the Managing Editor.

"Yes Madame it is out of date!" firmly now the tailor.

O! all right meekly submitted the Managing Editor.

COLORED CHORUS SING FOR WHITE AUDIENCE

Well, we told you last week if you were not present Sunday evening last to hear the negro chorus you would miss a treat, and you certainly did if you were not there. There were 22 of them, accompanied by their pastor, Rev. Mr. Mitchell. They rendered ten numbers, some of them consisting of the old Southern melodies that just made the shivrs creep up your back and filled your heart with joy, such as:

"Lord, I want to be a Christian in my heart,"
"I couldn't hear nobody pray."
"Wrecks along the way," and
"Every time I feel the spirit," etc.

Special mention is due Mrs. Maybelle Hebert, who sang, "My Task," and Mrs. May Williams who sang "Rebuke Me Not, Oh Lord," both of which selections were admirably as well as ably rendered. The chorus was ably directed by Mrs. Viola Brandon with Miss Swanson at the piano. It was manifest to all that the leader had her chorus well trained as the program passed off without a hitch, and was very much enjoyed by a large audience, due to both the ability manifested and the unique program rendered.

At the close of the musical program our pastor invited the Rev. Mitchell to preach for us, and he did so very acceptably. These people should be judged not by the height to which they have attained, but by the depths from which they have come.

A. W. CHANDLOR, Secretary.

WHO IS "BOSS" OF YOUR DOLLARS?

A good many men let the other fellow spend the money they earn—the other fellow just has to suggest something to sell them and—the money is GONE.

Some men are strong enough to control their own money. Every time they get money, they put some of it in a Savings Account—first—BEFORE the fellow who wants to sell you something gets a chance.

It takes a MAN, and a SAVINGS ACCOUNT, in a GOOD BANK, and a STRONG WILL to build up a fund of money in bank which you can use for things that are really worth while.

Why not make a good strong resolution, open an account, and SAVE?

With the clean get away of Clara Phillips and the neatness and dispatch in which she played the game, we really think there is a screw loose somewhere up at that County jail and it will take shrewd maneuvering to find it.

MORRIS HARRIS SAFETY FIRST CHECK.

While those who are wont to disparage the effort of any man who visualizes and has the temerity to use his brain which was given him, this young man Morris Harris turned a deaf ear and he kept right on until he has brought forth what should undoubtedly be a boon to the public and that is the eradication of the check evil. It is claimed for this check that it is all that it implies and with its use in the banks of the land, check forgeries will be unknown, insufficient funds will be a thing of the past for this Safety First Check absolutely blocks the way for the pernicious crooks who specialize in issuing checks without the mazuma to back them up.

HAS REACHED LOS ANGELES!

We have on our desk an application blank from the Civil Service Department of the U. S. Post Office of this city and on this blank after all other questions have been asked is the question—"What is your Color?"

Now what we want to know is what has color got to do in making an application to take the examination for Clerk-Carrier in the Los Angeles Post Office or for any other position for that matter? We have always understood that the Civil Service was based upon merit and upon competitive examination. Since color has come to the forefront we might inquire how many points can be obtained upon color and which color will gain the highest standing? To us it looks like this feature which was put in vogue by the Wilson administration for the first time is being passed down the line by our great Republican administration guided by President Harding.

VANGARD OF FREEDOM ON THE WAY.

On last Wednesday at the Santa Fe depot there were twenty-five hardy sons of toil who have wrought all of their lives as producers from the soil of the earth in Southern climes, below the Mason and Dixie Line. Under cruel oppression they labored on and on, the more they produced the more settled become the conviction that on their native heath they could never enjoy real freedom. Then there came a day when their leaders went forth and in Southern California and Lower California was a land which would produce and at the same time real freedom was to be had.

This condition brought these hardy pioneers to the above station on last Wednesday; they had their eyes set on Lower California and freedom, nothing could swerve them from their course, they were on their way to Lower California and to freedom. They go to prepare a way for the forty and four thousand who are to follow, they are the vangard for a near era and to become a part and parcel of the [illegible]

All eyes are now looking toward Sacramento to catch a glimpse of Governor elect Friend Richardson as he prepares to swing his mighty axe.

The Rev. Bob Schuler of Ku Klux praise with his dream to unhorse Woolwine is bringing up the rear.

Bradley Martin balls may be alright and we certainly have nothing to say against those who delight in this diversion, but the same energy centered on real production would be a boon for the material advancement of the Negro race.

That the Negro refuses to be hog tied to the Republican Party was demonstrated in the recent election in the State of Delaware to the utmost.

Senator Pat Harrison, W. E. Borah, et al could not stand for even the rumor that Emmett Scott and one or two more, including the Hon. W. H. Lewis, ex-U. S. Assistant Attorney General should get in on the Liberian loan to the tune of $600,000.

We have not by any means dispaired of crystalizing into proper shape a real effort for a real harmony and get-together feast. In fact it would be a great impetus for greater affairs for the incoming year, 1923.

Every train from the East at this time brings to these shores people of all stations of life who have read and heard of this wonderland.

Sunny Jim Coffroth of Tia Juana fame seems to have the Indian sign on all contests which are single handed, for it appears that he still reigns in his realm of sportdom.

Perhaps a dearth of candidates for the City Council means a deluge of aspirants for the mayoralty.

Politics make strange bed fellows as evidenced by the slashing fight which Virgil Williams formerly of this city and who was a bosom friend of Lou Anderson is putting up against him in Chicago at this time. May we ask what's it all about?

NO TRIMMING OR BACK-TREADING HERE.

The people of the Pacific would not really appreciate the Soaring Eagle and the service it renders if they did not note the fact that we have trimmers, back treaders and apologists for those who would deny the people Justice as well as they have those who will fight and endeavor to discredit anybody or anything which stands for real progress.

The case in point is the apology made for Judge Walton Wood in a local weekly published in this city. Last week we called the judge's hand on his unusual procedure, when he humiliated a woman in his court by upbraiding her, and suggesting to her that she should not go into any white restaurant to eat. We hesitated not but spoke right out as we felt in the premises and still feel that way about it.

We did this and would do so again even if her husband and all his kin had tried to go into the Judge's Chamber and talk to him, who's he that he cannot be talked to?

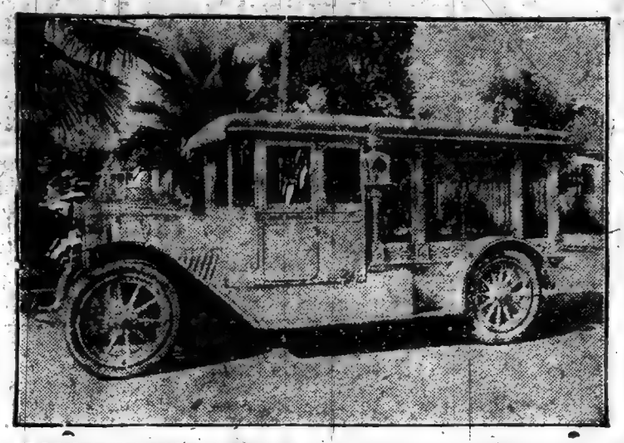
In slave time the one who riveted the shackles more firmly upon the limbs of the slave was what was known as the snitch, the 'white folks Nigger' who kept the masters posted on all the inside dope which perchance it seemed they were about to break their chains they went post haste to tell their master. We have another species in this day and time who are the real weights on our progress, and here they come in their masked faces, making an abject apology and condoning the great injustice which a Judge had the termerity to inflict upon a woman because she wsa a member of a darker race.

We plainly stated that the case was under advisement and we will always have a sneaking belief that the "Nothin' Doin'" sign would have been up had not the old trusty Soaring Eagle screeched.

In a case only last Summer Judge Albert Lee Stephens gave judgment to the Managing Editor of this paper for $500.00 in a case not near so aggravated as the one before Judge Walton Wood.

Apologize some more, brother!

BERT WILLILAMS STILL LIVES



Bert williams, the Greatest Colored Comedian the world has ever known still lives in the hearts of the music loving public through those beautiful melodies so delightfully sung by this great artist throughout the length and breadth of America. Modern science has perpetuated and transmitted to unborn posterity all of the native comedy, melody and logic characteristic of the race through the wonderful invention of the Phonograph. Some of the songs as sung by Williams—"My Last Dollar," "Somebody," "Not Lately," "Ten Little Bottles," "You Can't Trust Nobody" may easily be classed among the songs we can never forget and should be found in the homes of every member of the race. These records can be had at the international Music Co., 229 West 3rd St.

Sifting Charges of Graft by Alleged Self Made Leader

OFFICER'S BULLET STOPS AUTO THIEF ON EAST TWELFTH STREET

Officers Irvin and Simpson, Detective Sergeants, assigned to duty for the Southern California Automobile Club, while driving along Alameda Street on last Sunday spied a Hudson with a number on it of a stolen car. The officers gave chase. The faster they went the faster the Hudson would go. Around and around the chase went on. Suddenly the Hudson made a turn on Washington Avenue in and out of a filling station; the officers attempted to follow. In doing so one of the front wheels of their machine broke down and the Hudson made its get-away. However, these same officers still on the alert on the evening of the same day in the vicinity of 9th and Central avenue discovered this same car again. The occupant also discovered the officers and stepped on the gas. Before they could get a flying start the officers pulled along side and commanded the driver of this machine to draw up to the curb and covered them with their sawed off shot guns, but as good as the driver of the Hudson felt about it he again stepped on the gas and shot away and the officers blazed away with their sawed off shot guns, and the piercing cry of women and the groans of a man disclosed the fact that after the car was stopped there were in the car two women and three men. Two of the men made a miraculous escape from the hail of shot. The women were badly wounded. The name of the captured man proved to be Marquiss Johnson and the women Mrs. Lee Duval, 832 Merchant Street, and Virginia Hurlie, 55 Glenietta Avenue, Pasadena.

Leader Has Unsavory Record

Marquiss Johnson the driver who was captured has quite a police record as indicated by his record in the hands of the police. He was arrested at the age of 16 years Nov. 26, 1921 for burglary by officers Davis and Stevens; was arrested again March 1, 1922 for Grand Larceny at San Diego for stealing an automobile, brought back to Los Angeles put on trial and was sentenced to Ione until he reached his majority. On his way to the institution to serve his time he escaped from the officers; later was caught at Oxnard and sent back to Ione where he remained but a short time and escaped and has been at large ever since until brought low by the hail of shot from the guns of officers Irwin and Simpson.

The officers regret the shooting of the women who were in the car, but were performing their duty in stopping the car, as the theft of an automobile is a felony under the law, they are if necessary authorized to use drastic measures to bring them to a stop.

The other men who were in the car made a clean get-away and have not been apprehended as yet. The two women will recover as well as Marquiss Johnson.

INVESTIGATING GRAFT. THE POLICE COMMISSION. ALLEGED 'FIXER' REPORT STIRS POLICE BOARD.

Charges that a Central Avenue "political boss" is attempting to collect fees from persons desiring to obtain certain police permits, on the ground of his alleged statements that he is "in strong with the police" and can at will stop the issuance of these permits, were being investigated today by Police Commissioners De La Monte and De Coo.

The commission has in hand specific allegations made by Mrs. Elizabeth E. Pryor, who desired to obtain a permet to conduct a bazar and carnival for the benefit of the Pilgrim home.

Mrs. Pryor charged that she was approached by the self-styled "Central avenue boss" and was told that she must pay him 50 per cent of the gross proceeds of the carnival. Unless she did so, she declared the "boss" informed her that the permit would not be granted.

The charges, if proven, it was stated, will bring about proceedings for the prosecution of the alleged "boss" The charges brought by the woman are so serious, it was stated by members of the police commission, that they will hold a special meeting next Friday to hear full testimony in the matter.

—WEDNESDAY HERALD.

The Police Commission according to the above clipping from the Herald is stirred to action by report of the above instance. We heard this same charge made in the case of officer Smith before the Commission, but no action was taken of the same. As a matter of fact the Commission simply looked out the window.

Who Will Be the Goat—

It is an open secret as to who the article refers to and to our minds in the mix up which is sure to follow, Somebody, Oh Yes, Somebody, will be the goat. All along the line divers assertions have been made that certain police shifts have been made; licenses granted and other things brought about to make matters good for special parties and now that the show down is at hand, have no goats, but sift it to the bottom and see just what is wrong, if anything in the premises quoted above.

THIS QUESTION WILL EVER RING IN THE HEART OF BLACK AMERICA—WHO DEFEATED THE DYER ANTI-LYNCHING BILL?

PERRY HOWARD DOES HIS BIT TO DEFEAT DYER ANTI-LYNCHING BILL.

N. Y. CITY, Dec. 8, 1922.—Astounding revelation of the activity of Perry W. Howard in an effort to defeat the Dyer Anti-Lynching Bill was made today at the office of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, which send public the text of a letter written by Mr. Howard to Senator T. Coleman Du Pont of Delaware. This letter was dated November 22, 1922, just three days after the opening of the Special Session and at the time when every effort was being made to have the Bill brought up and pushed. In this letter, Mr. Howard declares he has "blood in his eyes" for the N. A. A. C. P., which he calls a "Negro Democratic Organization" and insists that no legislation ought to be enacted by reason of the N. A. A. C. P., or its sympathizers.

Mr. Howard's letter is in part as follows:

"I reached here Tuesday night of last week on my return from the West where I have been almost the entire time since th close of the campaign.

I confess to you that I have blood in my eyes for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and others who have used them with sinister designs to defeat some of the best friends that we have in particular and the Nation in general.

The purpose of this letter is to call attention of you and other outstanding statesmen to the fact that the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People is purely a Negro Democratic organization and has always been found on the side of the Democrats in the final analysis. This organization was used by Bob Nelson and others and you owe your defeat to no other agency. I corrected the evil in Wilmington and if I could have gone into the Dover neighborhood on the following Monday, I could have saved the day, but I had an engagement to fill for Senator Frellinghuyseen and you know it was impossible for me to do so.

Now, I may call attention to the fact that whatever legislation or whatever else is done for the colored people of this country ought certainly to be done and done promptly, but I insist that none of it ought to be done through or by reason of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People or any of its sympathizers.

I therefore think that it should be the policy of the leaders of the party like you to absolutely ignore and give the back of your hand to such men as Nelson, James Weldon Johnson, W. F. DuBois, Robert L. Vann, of Pittsburg and other of their ilk. There should be no quarters; and while treating every colored man with fairness and looking well to the interest of our group, these political bolshevists should be annihilated as the basest of ingrates.

(Signed) PERRY W. HOWARD.

In Mr. Howard's letter to Senator Du Pont, it was stated that copies were being sent to Senators Frelinghuysen, McCormick, Watson and Moses also to Attorney General Daugherty, who it is to be presumed would be interested in the charge by Mr. Howard that Messrs. Nelson, Du Bois, James Weldon Johnson and Vann are "political bolshevaits." Copies of Mr. Howard's letter were furthermore sent to Charles Adams, chairman of the Republican National Committee and were circulated among prominent Republican Senators.

Mr. Howard's reference to his willingness to "save the day" in the Dover neighborhood will interest those colored readers who recall that the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People was instrumental in defeating Dr. Caleb R. Layton, largely through the enthusiastic and able work of Mrs. Alice Dunbar Nelson, was regarded among colored people as well as among white politicians as one of the most convincing demonstrations of solidarity and power ever evinced by colored voters in America. Delaware became an object lesson to the Republican Party showing the strong feeling among colored voters about the Dyer Bill. It is presumably against this proud achievement of colored voters accomplished on the sole issue of the Dyer Anti-Lynching Bill, that Mr. Perry Howard could have "saved the day."

THE "HEART" OF THE SOUTH

DOES HIGHER CIVILIZATION IN THE WHITE RACE ERADICATE ALL LOVE, SYMPATHY, AND RESPECT FOR BLOOD TIES?

UNWED GIRL'S SON FIGHTS IN COURT. TELLS STORY OF VENGEANCE AND HOW HE WAS OSTRACIZED BY RACE.

Oakland, Cal., Dec. 16.—Arthur S. Hill unfolded a story such as only the best of novelists might weave when he filed in the superior court here today a petition to become heir to the $10,000 estate of Robert Bruce Kyle, who died a short time ago.

The story began in Kentucky, where Hill alleged, a gay young northerner betrayed a pretty daughter of the old South.

Hill, the petition alleged, was the child of the unwedded union.

Shoots Alleged Betrayer

Robert Bruce Kyle was the brother of Hill's mother and, according to the papers filed here, he swore and carried out vengeance upon his sister's alleged betrayer—shooting him, but not fatally.

The mother, unable to face society with her disgrace, gave her babe into the kkeeping of her own negro mammy.

"Raise him as your own," she told the mammy. The negress swore never to reveal that the child was not her own during the life of the real mother.

I was told that the negress was my mother and that my father was white," declared Hill.

Then followed a story of flight by Kyle and his sister, fearing prosecution for the shooting of the alleged betrayer, into Mexico and then to California, where, in the last year, both died.

But during those four decades which intervened Hill lived the life of a negro.

But the mammy, released from her pledge of secrecy by the death of the mother and of Kyle, told Hill the true story, the petition alleged, and then dropped from sight among her own people in Kentucky.

Hill stepped from the society of the black race and took his true place in the scheme of things.

"I believe the story is entirely true," announced the public administrator, "and will use every effort to secure for this man the property of his uncle, the late Robert Bruce Kyle."

—THE RECORD.

CHIEF OF POLICE HIGHLY COMMENDS A COLORED OFFICER.

COMMENDATION

I hereby wish to call your attention to the exemplary work performed by Officer M. B. Sheffield (colorde) Nov. 10, 1922, in making the arrest of one Robert Burns, colored, alias Red Wing, alias Lightning Dan.

Burns pulled a gun on Officer Sheffield about a week before and made his getaway.

Officer Sheffield met Burns with another negro, Percey Duff, on the above date, whom he at once recognized and endeavored to place Burns under arrest. Both negroes started to run and eentered the Aberdeen Hotel, pursued by Officer Sheffield.

Duff escaped through the fire escape and Burns ran into the lavatory. Sheffield pursued Burns into the lavatory and when he entered, Burns stuck a gun into his face and told him not to move or he would kill him.

The cool and deliberate way in which Sheffield conducted himself while covered by the desperado, enabled him to use his wits. He talked Burns out of shooting him and finally succeeded in getting possession of his gun, after which he arrested Burns and brought him to the Detective Bureau.

Merritt was taken to the Receiving Hospital and given treatment for gun shot, later being removed to the County Hospital, where upon Burns' confession in which he was implicated, Merritt was placed under arrest and is being held in connection with these crimes.

The dressing table in the work room was arrayed with all the modern equipment for attention of hair and scalps. The new linoleum on the floor was spotless and the white enamel furniture without a single print. Mrs. Turner and her assistants were smilingly in readiness.

Guests began to arrive early and all afternoon until ten o'clock in the evening they were coming and going to show their respect to the opening of the Beauty Parlor. A most delightful afternoon indeed for all who attended.

CELEBRATING

Florida and Texas have been celebrting the defeat of anti-lynching bill. The former by a burning, the latter by the bullet.

A mob of Southern Christian Americans chained a Negro to the stake and delightedly watched his writhing body char to ashes.

In Texas the mob chained a Negro, suspected of complicity in an attack on a white woman, to a stake and riddled his body with bullets.

In both cases the mob was unmasked and easily identified.

Now, the argument against the passage of the Dyer Bill was, that the States were willing and could protect their people against mob rule, and that the police force of the States were sufficient to enforce an obedience to its laws.

Will Mr. Senator Underwood and his henchmen state on the floor of the U. S. Senate a denouncement of the murderous orgies of Florida and Texas? Will they call upon the government of those States to bring the participants in those henious outrages before the tribunal of justice? Now is the time to make good their boasted love of law and order and show to the civilization of the world that the United States of America stands for the humanitarian rights for which she preaches, and that her boasts as a Christian nation are not the boasts of a braggart or a hypocrite, but that she will enforce the law in letter and in spirit.

PATRONIZING

In a recent edition of a San Francisco daily, in the society column, was an article reading that a Mrs. Graves would give a Christmas party to the little PICANINIES of the city.

No doubt Mrs. Graves is a wealthy lady who can well afford to patronize her vanity in subscribing to the entertainment of children, but why the Picaninies? Whenever any person goes out of their way to give such they deem that they are patronizing their inferiors. Whenever a people stoop to be patronized they don't amount to a Tinker's————. It is to inculcate this spirit of racial pride that the I. B. P. O. Elks have inaugurated the practice of giving an annual Christmas party for the children of the race. There they can come and feel as if the enjoyment that is being given them carries with it no thought of inferiority. Let us awake to the fact that the person who patronizes does so from a feling of superiority. Let the parents of our colored children come out and bring their offspring to receive the cheer of an organization whose creed is, to encourage race pride.

AUNT JENNIE "MAMMY" PRENTICE

There passed away recently, at her home in Nappa, the aged nurse of the late author, Jack London. It has been some time since we sau aunt Jennie, but there was a bond of affection between her and the late author, which was extremely touching.

We saw the two together once at Glen Ellen, and the solicitous manner with which she was looked after by the famous author left no doubt in our minds but that the bond of affection between those two was of a genuine brand.

BOUND TO SEND HIM TO HEAVEN

A few days ago a woman in the city of Chicago became angry at her husband on account of his failure to attend church, and shot him dead.

It would be splendid, the study of the psychology of the mind of that wife. Did she really believe that by hustling the soul of her mate into eternity that she was fulfilling a Christian demand? The working of the human mind is one of the most intricate problems and offers a study both interesting and instructive.

UNDERSTANDING

There is a mortal and material power taking possession of the world for freedom, and the colored race of the world are interested participants.

In this mortal upheaval the American Negro cannot but help be one of the participants.

In the past few years events have been unfolding themselves with rapidity; events which have awakened the self consciousness of the Negro. Proscribe as they may against him, the Negro has had that awakening and the transformation is noticed in his attitude toward life.

True, he is taking a serious viewpoint of life and its obligations. He is accumulating; he is getting educated in the ways of life as from the past experiences, and believes that a glorious death is to be preferred to an ignominous life.

It is to be hoped that America will awake to this fact before it is too late.

CAST THY BREAD ON THE WATERS

BY: JAMES LLOYD

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following interesting and dramatic story by James Lloyd will run in serial form in this publication for several weeks. We trust that no reader of the Eagle will miss a single issue as it grows with intense interest until the end.

"CAST THY BREAD UPON THE WATERS."

It was a pleasant mid-summer evening in Southern California.

The great golden sun was sinking low behind the Isle of Santa Cruz. His last rays of light caused the shiloutted little isle to appear against the sky as a black, irregular shapen mass of peaks and crags, while around the corners filtered a few bright rays which shown across the smooth waters of the channel and lit the tops of the trees on the main-land. One bright ray shone through the big hole in Old Castle Rock and penetrated far beyond as a search light set there by The Creator to guard His beloved ones. The several lone pines which stood on the crest of the high bluff above the narrow beach were grim and silent as sentinels in the gathering dusk of the evening.

Far back, and on the hill side, the lights of the Rievera shone above the rest of the town like diamonds in the pure evening atmosphere, and on the mountain tops, far away to the East, which skirted the town, a bright star or two shone above the tops of the great stalwart pines on la Cumbre.

The bells of the old Spanish mission chimed out the hour of vesper as several gay young couples strolled along one of the side streets in the shade of the overhanging old pepper trees, singing a light song and trumming on a Spanish guitar and Santa Barbara, the fairest gem of the Pacific coast, lay wrapped in her evening siesta. In a beautiful mansion near the outer edge of the town, surrounded by well kept grounds and situated at an altitude which commanded a splendid view of the fair little city, there dwent a wealthy banker and his beautiful young wife, whose greatest joy in life was their darling little son, a child of some three years or thereabouts, who bore the name of his father, Dick Belden.

But the father, Dick Belden, had not always been a man of wealth. Far from it.

He was born of poor but honest parents, within a stone's throw of Abraham Lincoln's tomb and like "Honest Abe" he studied diligently and long of evenings after working hours to attain his education which fitted him for the position which he now held.

In his early life, after he had ventured into the world alone to make his way, he had taught school but, being of a roving disposition, and desirous of seeing some of the world, rather than reading so much about it, he soon tired of the monotony of the school-room and started out to explore the world for himself.

It wsa the same old story, over and over again of which we have heard so much all of our lives.

Fame did not come to him as easily as he thought it would and Dame Fortune though not the most courted of all his desires, stood long and far away. But, above all the hardships which he endured, and above all the trials and temptations which he endured, and above all the trials and temptations which he encountered, he always maintained that principles which he had learned to love from his early boyhood up. That principle which has always made all truly great men beloved, honored and trusted by their friends and fellow countrymen. The principle of truthfulness, unselfishness and honor. And while it may be conceeded that "a rolling stone gathers no moss," yet we all know full well that the brightest and most polished stones are those which have rolled and traveled the farthest and Dick Belden, at his then present position in life, was a splendid example of the latter.

A world wide experienced soldier of adventure he obeyed the laws of Nature, of his country and of God, but never forgot that there were others in the world beside himself. Charity was his right hand and full often had he suffered the pangs of hunger and felt the deprivation of luxuries by his self denial and assistance to his fellow men of the world.

NEGRO DAY IN FICTION

BY: CHANDLER OWEN

In the last eight months the Negro has had quite a day in fiction. Novelist have seemingly discovered his unexploited local color is a rich field in which they can not only earn a quick name, but a well-filled purse as well. Anything which causes controversy attracts attention. And if a thing commands the interest of the public, it is sure to sell. Hence the popularity of T. S. Stribling, H. A. Shands and Clement Wood. Irving S. Cobb is already a popular man, but he won this prominence largely on Negro stories, which have culminated in his first novel, "J. Poindexter, Colored."

Stribling is from Tennessee. Southern psychology. This accounts for the preposterous conclusions drawn in "Birthright." The book was issued last Spring and is by this time quite familiar with our readers. Detailed comment is not necessary by us. But suffice to say any Negro—from Harvard, or even Tuskegee, has more "spunk" than to marry a girl whom he knows will soon bear a child by a white father. There are too many more good colored ladies who haven't succombed to their squalid environments, waiting for all colored men of real or less ability and attainments. Incidentally, however, Stribling has produced a good book.

Shands is from Texas. He writes a vivid story and seems honest enough. It is hardly probable he intended being so honest—in view of recent strides of the Ku Klux Klan. Nevertheless, the book is written now and we judge what the author presents. "White and Black" is a short, complete course in Southern race relationships. Any one desiring a comprehensive picture of the rural South is respectfully referred to this volume. It is not propaganda and the author is not a Northern Missionary.

"Nigger." Don't get angry—no harm meant. This is really the title of the latest thesis on the "eternal problem." All you whites and near whites are carefully labeld this time. No more octoroons, quadroons, and mulattoes. No. Just "Niggers." We will surely get somewhere if the world doesn't collapse. It has taken sixty years to prove we are all alike. This is more nerve than we had bargained for. "Son a man painted the picture!"

We have discovered quite a bit about New York we did not know from reading "J. Poindexter, Colored." Especially several new things about Harlem. But we would expect Irvin S. Cobb to know such. He was once a star newspaper reporter. We concede that Mr. Cobb has an unlimited store of pleasant sallies. His book abounds with them. But he, like all other "white philosophers on the Negro Problem," has failed to touch our "better element"—our "400." This is because Mr. Cobb can't get into first class Negro homes. If he did he would come in as a social equal and not a superior. Now Cobb is from Kentucky! He can frequent Harlem cabarets and theatres—or some of the the social st might be present—but casinos where a few of the best of into a 138th or 139th street parlor—never. "Jeff" does not touch on these scenes. The fellow needs to pull his speech in line, forget his "how-towing," read a few histories of his race and attend the Friends of Negro Freedom Forum regularly. In that way he could get primed for initiation into the ranks of the leaders of New Thought. But hanging around billiard rooms and other such places would never get him anywhere. It is true, however, that Jeff has unusual natural ability. His homely wit only needs coaching in the right channels to result in the greatest good for his race.

We don't know what tune the writers will strike next. So far, very good—at least an improvement, because nothing has been done worthwhile before. But as time goes on we itely settled we are all just—will advance, slowly, if it is not defin. Don't grieve over it. We long ago found out white people don't know everything—even Southern white people.

ASHANTI SENDS GIFT TO PRINCESS MARY

LONDON, Dec. 16. (Crusader Service) A silver stool has been presented to Princess Mary, Viscontess Lascles, as the wedding gift of the Qeen Mothers of Ashanti and the Gold Coast. The stool is an exact replica of the Queen Mother's own stool over which an Ashanti war was fought when the British plunderers attempted to sneak it out of Ashanti to London to join the vast collection of plunder from every corner of the world housed under the roof of the British Museum.

Accompanying the gift was a letter from Queen Aketa, describing how the stool was made and consecrated.

FREE SPEECH WINS VICTORY IN NEW YORK

New York, Dec. 16, (Crusader Service) The cause of free speech in this State has won anothr victory—even if it proves only a temporary one.

Through a writ of error granted by the United States Supreme Court to Benjamin Gitlow, Communist, convicted nearly three years ago of chiminal anarchy and sentenced to ten years in the penitentiary, the entire criminal anarchy statute may be stricken out as unconstitutional.

This statute has an important bearing on the Negro Liberation Struggle in this country as under it, Negro militants who uncompromisingly wage war against the oppression of their race, could be prosecuted.

The New York Statute is the one which the criminal syndicalist laws of thirty states are based on, and if it is found in contravention with the United States Constitution, it is expected a movement to strike out the laws in other states designed to curb radicalism will be begun immediately.

SAYS WORLD WAR WAS BORN IN AFRICAN ADVENTURES

NEW YORK, Dec. 8,—Crusader Service) Writing in the New York Call, Jean Longuet, French Socialist leader and grandson of Karl Marx, now touring this country, makes an attack on Clemenceau and branded the French adventure in Morocco as the direct cause of the late wor.

"He (Clemenceau) forgets all the colonial policy or advnture, more especially in Mexico, and having been thrown to the ground above all for this reason.

"'He (Clemenceau) forgets all the colonial policy of adventure that was followed by those various Governments, including his own; more especially toward Morocco, and which was over and over again most eloquently denounced from the floor of the French Parliament by our great Jaures.

"How frequently did Jaures demonstrate that by invading that African country, in violation of the very treaties that our Government had signed, we were exciting everywhere in the world the appetites of the various and similar nationalisms and imperialisms of Germany, Italy, Austria, Russia, and even of those which Jaures calld the "smaller carnivorous states" of the Balkins.

"Everybody knows how, from the French Moroccan expedition to the Tripolitan attack on Italy, to the attack by Bulgaria, Servia and Greece on Turkey, there was a powerful link of facts and events, and everybody knows how the Balkan War was the prelude of the World War.

MOSCOW DEMANDS AFRICA FOR NEGRO

Soviet Russia Reaffirms Her Persistent Stand Aaginst Imperialist Exploitation. Opposes Land Gobbling General Self-Determination Her Peace Solution for War Wracked World.

LAUSANNE, Dec. 8th. (Crusader Service) Speaking to Press Correspondents here on the action of the Allies in barring his country from all conference discussions except those that concern the Straits, M. Rakovsky, Soviet delegate to the Lausanne Peace Conference, declared that, unlike the imperialist nations, his country sought no spoils at the conference.

"Russia," he said, "came to Lausanne only for free and equal discussion, taking the position that any one affected has the right of full participation. There are no more superior and inferior nations.

"We have only one solution for Turkish and Straits questions. Others have several and are ready to negotiate. If it is to be a patched up peace, any solution is good enough, but if it is to be a durable peace, ours is the only one which will satisfy all peoples, East and West.

"We want to see Turkey re-established on the nationalistic, non-aggression basis the Angora Assembly announced. We want to see the Souhtern frontiers fixed on this basis so the Turk can live in neighborly equality with the Arabs and other neighbors. The question of Mosul, which is playing such an important part in blocking progress, should be treated as a question of population, not of oil.

"The British claim it because it is oil. As Turkey's friends we want to see the qqeestion treated according to population.

"'Our one and only solution is to see Turkey reconstituted strong enough to defend the straits, under an agreement to let commerce pass freely, but no battle ships.

"That is the only way to tranquilize the Near East. No Western Power could then dominate the Eastern Mediterranean nor could Russia threaten it.

"'The British ought with the others to accept our solution. If they had succeeded in giving Constaninople to the old Russia as planned, Russia would have dominated the Eastern Mediterranian and been a constant danger. But with Soviet Russia confined to the Black Sea, defending itself as we propose and no one with the right to attack us through the straits, the troublesome question is settled. For details any one of a half dozen agreements made in the last hundred years would do.

"We are told our interest is simply in the straits. Even if that is so, we are interested in the islands in the Aegean, which can control the straits. We are interested in the disposition of the frontier around Adrianople, which is Constantinople's fortification. We say, as Ambassador Child said, that there is no way to separate one Turkish question from another. As we have one fixed principle for a settlement we can afford to wait."

Asked if leaving Turkey in complete control of the straits might not easily block Russia, as happened at the beginning of the last war, Rakovsky replied:

"It is impossible to provide against everything. Ours is a choice between a small nation controlling a waterway within its own territory or leaving it to the strongest foreign power. We prefer Turkey. We want Turkey for the Turks, Arabia for the Arabs, AFRICA FOR THE AFRICANS, as Russia is for the Russians. Accidental geographical facts likek the Dardanelles and Mosul oil must conform."

WIFE COLOR, HE SAYS IN SUIT

NEY YORK, Dec. 8.—(Crusader Service) Alleging that his wife had forgotten to supply him with her family genealogical tree, and had therefore kept from him her knowledge that she possessed Negro blood, one John Stovall, a white insurance broker of 2261 Andrews Ave., Bronx, has broken into the newspaper columns by seeking yesterday before Supreme Court Justice Faber of Brooklyn to have his marriage annulled.

The Stovalls have been married and living together for a year. They were evidently fairly successful in their negotiation of the rocky road of matrimony until old ubiquitous Mother-in-Law sprang the coup in the traditional fight between son's wife and son's mother and handed Cupid the count by her revelation that Mrs. Stovall was of Negro blood. Mrs. Stovall, who is only 20 years old, takes the position, through her attorney, that as nobody had ever questioned her as to tion to boast of her possession of the her race ties she had felt no obligablood of the Pharaohs.

Justice Faber directed that the case be tried next month. In the meantime speculation isrife as to whether the courts could stand the burden if every wife and every hubby with the least drop of Negro blood in their veins were sued for separation. It is said that thousands of light-colored people are at present "passing" and that somewhere between one and two million apparently white people have colored blood in their veins, themselves apparently unaware of the fact.

TURKS REVOLT IN WESTERN THRACE

Take Things in Own Hands As Allies Oppose Self-Determination

CONSTANTINOPLE, Dec. 8, (Crusader Service) With the Allied representatives at the Lausanne Peace Conference opposing the Turkish proposal that a plebescite be taken of the population of Western Thrace to determine the question of political affiliation with Turkey or with Greece, the population of Western Thrace determined to take matters into their own hands and in a spontaneous uprising against the Allies and their Greek tools have overwhelmingly decided in favor of connection with Nationalist Turkey.

The insurgents population are now masters of the situation, having driven out the Greek troops and British auxiliaries, from all strategic positions. An armed band of 15.000, having machine guns supplied involuntarily by the discomfited British auxiliaries, is marching on Dedeaghatch demanding the holding of a plebiscite.

Risings are reported against the Greeks at Tohima and Sarakhner, as well. The population at Gumuldjina dispersed the Greek garrison, captured all arms, formed a provincial Government and organized a defense.

In the mean time the Turkish Nationalist Government notified the Allied powers that Turkey will no longer tolerate the capitalism system whereby Turkey in the past surrendered her natural rights exceris jurisdiction over all persons on Turkish soil.

DIANGE WILL CHAMPION SIKI

African Deputy to Fight France-British Frameup Against Senegalese Fighter.

PARIS, Dec. 8.—(Crusader Service). The case of Battling Siki will be brought into the discussion of the French budget in the Chamber of Deputies during the next few days. Ever since he was robbed by a frame up of the title of light-heavy-weight champion of the world by the French Boxing Federation there has been anagitation in his behalf going on in a fairminded section of the press

Now Deputy Diagne, from Senegal, a fellow-countryman of Siki, intends to drag the affair before the Chamber. When the Budget appropriation for physical education comes up he will move that it be reduced by 300,000f, in order to prevent subventions being given to sporting societies which claim the right of arbitrary decision and have exercised that claim to help rid the French and British Foreign Offices of an embarrasment in the nature of a Negro boxer who had beaten the best man that Europe had to offer in the pugilistic field.

NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—(Crusader Service) It will be remembered that at the time of the disqualification of Siki by the French Boxing Federation two days after the British Foreign Office had intervened to call the proposed fight between Siki and the British, Beckett, the newspapers using the Crusader Service were the only ones to give to their readers the facts as to the true nature of, and motive for, Siki's disqualification. Other papers swallowed wholesale the false version given by the white Associated Press in its service to the white Metropolitan Press. So, too, with the Turkish situation, it was only those papers handling the Crusader Service that presented the truth of the situation, as borne out by subsequent events, to their readers. The Crusader Service is the only Negro press service that at present has two representatives on the ground in Europe; Claude McKay in Russia and C. Valentine in Constantinople.

QUOTA EXCEEDED, AFRICAN PRINCE IS HELD

BOSTON, Dec. 8.— (Crusader Service) Because the African immigration quota for November had been exceeded, Stanley Kisingiri, age 15, was held by immigration authorities on his arrival from Calcutta on the "City of Benares." Kisingiri claims to be a prince, and says that he would be King of Uganda had not the British deposed his late father. He was on his way to Tuskegee Institute.

Immigration officials said he was held because he was without a legal guardian nad also because the African quota of immigrants for the month had been exceeded.

COLORED MAN GETS $50.00 FOR EXCLUSION FROM N. Y. SWIMMING POOL.

A colored citizen of New York, James Pilcher, who was excluded from the Madison Square Garden Swimming Pool, took the case to law, upon the advice of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, with the result that the Swimming Pool settled the case out of court and paid $50. The case was undertaken under the Civil Rights Law of New York State.

Mr. Pilcher consulted his attorney in August of this year. On November 22, a check for $50. was in his attorney's hands.

The exclusion at the Madison Square Garden Pool was upon the pretext that Mr. Pilcher was not a member of "the club," and could therefore not use the swimming pool. However, Mr. Pilcher was accompanied by a white friend who gained access to the pool upon payment of the admission fee, without being a member of "the club."

NEW CONSTITUTION TO BE RATIFIED THEN ELECTION OF NEW BOSSES WED. JAN. 7TH

By: WM. MELLS WATSON
1555 Court St., Wilshire 3742

Exactly five of the city's most beautiful and lovable "rolling pin swingers" braved a drenching rain storm last Wednesday night in order to be in on the Fed's "big doings" which really didn't take place as only one "hen-pecked hubby" and three "alimony dodgers" took a chance on wet feet, so the big show opens Wednesday night, January 3, 1923. However, considerable kick was injected int othe night's work as follows: hereafter the first Wednesday night of each month the Federation will meet at Parish Hall; every one of the 14 representatives of clubs are expected to take a shot at the new constitution before it becomes law, and the election of a brand new set of engineers is next on the bill of fare. the stationary committee's report with a pretty and descriptive design on the letter heads and envelopes was accepted with but a single whisper—"why not black faced," a location committee consisting of Mrs. Josephine Brown, Mrs. Henry Young, Mrs. Bessie Davis, Miss Juelíette Harris and William M. Watson was appointed to assist the one now standing in bringing in its report at next meeting.

Alpha Takes on New Life

At its Thursday night meeting at Parish Hall the election of Clarence A. Brooks, president; Charlie Andrew Black, secretary; James Thomas Pollock, Treasurer and William Mells Watson as Manager of publicity opened up a drive for a burst of brand new prosperity for the Alpha club and a request of the Federation to hold a tournament early next year may be one of their first ventures.

Champion Juliaette is "Mooning."

Queen Juliaette Harris 1514 W. 36 Street ladies singles, doubles and mixed doubles champion of the Pacific Coast is our latest tennis member to join those "in quest of the moon." Is it humanly possible for "sweet Juliaette" our athletic pride-of-the-West, after winning three queen ships in one year to also "capture the moon"—No at this date she can't do it alone, but her parents and friends can easily do it for her. Miss Victoria G. Shorey, Miss Bulah Hall, Mrs. Edward Carlisle, Mrs. Rosco Broyles and Miss Juliaette Harris are all honestly and earnestly "racing for the moon," let's see to it that this beautiful quintet grabs off the first five prizes.

The Questionaire

Q. Why in your writings do you so persistently infer that Mr. Dunn should not be removed? A. J. K. Pasadena. A. Because Mr. Dunn who obtained his knowledge of the game up around Boston and New York where it is played on a larger scale is more thoroughly equipped with knowledge of the proper conduct of the game than any one on the coast and is therefore best fitted for the job of president of the Western Federation of Tennis Clubs.

Q. What of the Seattle club, is it dead, I never hear of it any more? C. S. A. By no means is the Alpha Tennis and Outing Club of Seattle a dead one. In fact this one club has just completed a club house and three courts of its own, which is much better than the six Southern clubs have done to date. The reason for no mention of their progress is that they have with drawn their membership from the Western Federation.

SPORTITORIAL

In the opinion of many basket ball is much less interesting and thrilling than the gridiron pastime, but basket ball is a splendid game. The rapidity and intensity of play and the utmost physical condition demanded of the contestants makes it a game of great benefit to players.

The benefits derived from playing basketball will greatly aid a player in the building up of his physical, moral, and mental powers.

The moral requirements for playing basket ball are essential in one's later life. The idea of fair play, clean, hard fighting, makes the game of basketball a sport worthy of support by all.

The average basket ball players possess a very keen intellect. The quickest thinkers and the ones of keenest the sharpest wits are usually the best players. This shows that basket ball develope one's mental faculties to a higher standard of mental-

GLIMPSES

Christians.
Uncover.
Ku Klux Klan.
By George Duncan.

Christmas arrives in the month of December inevitable. It comes on the twenty-fifth of this month punctually. The people this year should be more thankful than previous years.

Every one of us should give thanks to our heavenly father for care of us during the year.

Christmas is the Anniversary of the birthday of a baby? This baby grew to be a man who thru nineteen hundred years has been known as the "Prince of Peace." He knew no prejudices, and his heart was gentle and his spirit sweet. His ideals were high and his sympathies were broad. Race hatred was odious to Him. He was free from class consciousness and he claimed all men as his brother.

The question springs spontaneously to every tongue now what shall I give in offering to our Saviour as a thankful token? I will attempt to suggest something that will be of benefit to those concerned.

It would be a very Christian act for the various churches to unite and arrange a program consisting of their choirs giving musical selections, also many of our talented speakers could also render selections concerning this Day. The birth of our Savior, a place whereby all our Christian people could meet and spend a day in worship.

The people of California or more than blessed by plentifulness and wonderful climatic conditions and should do something more than giving Christmas gifts and eating large dinners.

Man yof our race papers in the various cities throughout the country attempt to keep under cover all news concerning some wrong done by the negro.

The newspaper that follows this policy is really a detriment to the race. All news should be given to the reading public whether it is good or bad.

The "Soaring Eagle" at all times never pails to give the people all news that they so nobly deserve.

The Ku Klux Klan, an un-American un?Christian organization has been ordered out of Kansas by Governor Henry J. Allen. This action by Governor Allen proves that he is a true and upright citizen-trying to rid the country of this viciousness.

Governor Allen traveled throughout the State of Kansas denouncing the members of the "Ku Klux Klan as un-American cowards and not true to the Christianity which they were supposed to uphold and protect." In many places he was warned and even threatened to talk against the Klans, but their threats did not stop him in releasing Kansas of this menace.

What the country is in need of at the present time is more men of Governor Allen's type. Fearless, law-abiding citizens who have no fear in expressing their ideas no matter what the consequences might be.

NOTE: This is the first of the series of articles Mr. Wilayn Stovall will write on the various Eastern Activities:

THE EASTERN ATHLETE

By Wilayn O. Stovall

De Witt Clinton, High School of New York is rapidly turning out colored track stars who are grabbing off honors in boht track and field events.

Cecil Cooks, a popular athlete, was born in Jamaica and reared in Panama. He later moved to New York where he is continuing his education. For the past two years he has been showing New York cinder path artists a pretty pair of heels in the 440 yd. dash. During this time he has not lost a race. In the Penn Relay Carnival he helped De Witt Clinton carry off the honors by giving his team a lead over the other competitors.

Notwithstanding the fact that a great part of his training is indoor, he has hung up the enviable record of 51 flat in the 440 yd. dash.

Besides being a star track performer Cooke is a member of the Arista, an honor society in New York High Schools. He has another year of eligibility for interscholastic athletics. After finishing his course in prep school, he will major in science and medicine at Syracuse University.

Several colleges in and around New York are making offers to this wonderful performer, and he will surely make the best of them step in inter-collegiate competition.

RACIAL DEBACLE MENACES WHITES

Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., Sees Oriental Alliance To Block Impudence of Europe.

NEW YORK, Nov.—(Crusader Service) Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., writing in the New York American for November 19, 1922, declares that a racial debacle faces the white race and charges Japan with aiming at an Oriental Alliance to wrest Asia from the "white grip." He says in part:

"An alliance of Oriental people with the avowed purpose of wresting all Asia from the "white grip" is the goal for which Japan is heading.

"The Foreign Office in Tokio calls this movement for a united yellow race the "Pan-Aistia League." Nationalists in India call it the "All-Asia Movement."

"It is a movement pregnant with possibilities far beyond the race object or ridding Asia of the white man's economic dominancy. Rather is it the seed of a mighty movement that may yet sweep the caucasians from their own spheres.

"To this end the Imperial Japanese Government proposes to take the main step in its hastening succession of clever deeds in diplomacy. Japan is almost ready to invite the great Powers of the world to attend a World Congress on Immigration and Racial Discrimination.

BUT Japan knows all to well, far in advance of the convening of such Congress, that the Oriental peoples will not leave such a conference victors—knows that the white race will never voluntarily lower the bars of immigration nor concede racial equality to the dark races.

"Japan knows that such a conference must end unfavorably to the Asiatic, to the African, to the Australoid.

"But once Japan has been successful in drawing a definite declaration from the white nations that the Oriental is persona non grata to all white peoples, then the first great unifying force among the Oriental peoples will have been fashioned.

"Returning home, seemilgly defeated, but in reality with the fruits of richest victory, Japan, under the protestation that the Asiatic has been grievously insulted, will turn her eyes upon her Asiatic brethren and, as leader, decry the action of the white nations.

"In a clarion voice of commanding and exalting tone her stentorian cry will sweep all Asia and Africa: "The white man has refused to grant us equality. We must ally ourselves for protection against him lest the white man subjugate the yellow man in Asia as they have already subjugated the black race!

"By inverse application of results such a conference becomes the key for unification of the dark peoples into a mighty.... organization—numbering three-fifths of the earth's population. Its menace to the white race needs no elaboration."

WORKS OF HAITIAN COMPOSER FOR B'WAY

NEW YORK, Nov.—(Crusader Service) Justin Elie, celebrated Haitian composer, distinguished product of the Paris Conservatorie and the black race, has arrived in New York to offer the most unusual ballet of modern times.

M. Elie's new ballet is a work devoted to the weird, thrilling strains of the ceremonials and rites of what is generally known to hte world as Voodism and greatly misunderstood by the white Christian world which ever pretends to look down upon all cults not its own and can never see good in anything different from its own preachings, carrying this peculiarity even to the event of denominational quarrels and debates as to whether Catholics can enter the Protestant heaven and vice versa.

Voodism is said to be as lofty in conception and pure in practice as any of the ancient Greek cults, to which, in fact, it bears a close resemblance. Its initiations are closely guarded and it was only by a rare piece of good luck that M. Elie was able to witness one of them. He describes his experiences as follows:

"My young friend and guide took me with him back into the mountains at a considerable height. We were not a great distance from Port au Prince when we arrived at our destination.

"As we approached, and we were both dressed in simulation of the clothing of the mountaineers, the ceremonial was in progress. We could hear the drums, the cymbals, the species of castanets, the voices and the soft reed music. It shrilled my soul to hear it and I shivered with an ecstacy of pleasure, combined with fear.

"We stole reverently to the outer line of worshippers circling the fires and dancers and musicians and stood as though part of them, speechless and with bowed heads.

"As I gazed I felt myself back in Ancient Greece, whence thousands of years ago these same strange airs how been played and those erotic dancers performed the same tempo.

"I listened with all my soul, drank in the ineffaceable impressions; caught the music, watched the dancing, noting steps and costumes, physical gyrations, and seized upon the pageant. I had captured Voudou! When he was able my companion spoke to me breathlessly, himself carried away, explaining and interpreting the significance of this and that rite."

M. Elie's ballet on Voodooism will soon be produced on Broadway.

GARVEY CONVINCED OF OWN UNFITNESS?

NEW YORK, Dec. 16.—(Crusader Service) That Marcus Garvey, self-styled president of the continent of Africa, founder and "founderer" of the Black Star Line, has at last been convinced of his unfitness for leadership is proved by his seeming determination to free himself of the various "businesses" conducted by the U. N. I. A. in New York City. Within the past two weeks he has closed down restaurants, one grocery store, ousted dispossess from a branch office and now the grocery store at 552 Lenox Avenue, formerly run at a loss by the association has been sold to its manager, Mr. C. C. D. Walcott for the insignificant sum of $500.00. Like everything else that Mr. Garvey has touched this store, has merely been a means for transferring the money of colored people of the world into the pockets of white people. When the association acquired the store a few months ago it paid the sum of $2,000 for it only to sell it last week at a loss of $1,500.

ELATED OVER LABOR VICTORY

LONDON, Dec. 16.—(Crusader Service.) The colored population of this city, composed of Asiatics, and Negroes from Africa, America and the West Indies were overjoyed at the success of the Labor Party in the recent parliamentary elections. They are particularly elated over the election of Saklatvala, a Parsee from India, who has resided in England since 1903. Saklatvala is a Communist but accepted the nomination of Labor Party to contest the seat for Batterson. His election gives him an opportunity to use Parliament to give publicity to the wrongs of India and colored people of the British Empire generally.

Among many of the newly elected members of Parliament on the Labor ticket are many friends of the Negro race and it will now be possible for those sections of the Empire largely populated by colored people to exert pressure upon the Colonial office to improve their political condition. More than ever it is realized that an active, intelligent and radical organization is needed in England, the heart of the British Empire, to give voice to the needs and inspirations of Africa and the West Indies. Such an organization can serve a great end by keeping tab upon the Labor Party while criticising the policies of the Colonial office and the Bonar Law government.

It will be remembered that among the new M. P.'s is Sidney Webb, author of "The Aims of Labour" published in 1919. This book outlined, it will be recalled, a comparatively liberal, though undemocratic, policy toward Africa.

Greatest hope for the keeping of the Laborites to their word is expected from the criticisms of Newboldt and Saklatvala, Communists, and the Bolsheviks of the Third International. The latter organization has openly charged again and again that at heart the leaders of the Labor Party, especially MacDonald and Henderson, are jingoists and imperialists. However things develop, Negroes everywhere can rejoice that the future and Providence are working for them. The result of the elections is unquestionably fraught with much in which colored people cannot afford to be disinterested.

UNREST IN CENTRAL AMERICA

BELIZE, Br. Honduras, Dec. 16.—(Crusader Service) The large Negro population of this undeveloped British Crown Colony in Central America are dissatisfied with their present political status and the operations of the system of Crown Colony government.

Under present conditions the people who produce wealth, pay taxes and make the colony what it is have practically no voice in the management of their own affairs and are subject to the whims and wishes of appointees from Downing Street. That this condition shall not be suffered for ever is the determination of the younger generation who refuse to be bamboozled by propaganda about Africa when they know that they form a majority of the population of this large, fertile and immensely rich territory in the western world.

TELLS OF U. S. RUTHLESSNESS IN VIRGIN ISLANDS.

Member of Colonial Council Excoriates American Naval Misrule in West Indies.

NEW YORK, Dec. 16. (Crusader Service) Telling a story of poverty, broken promises on the part of the United States government and of the high handed actions of navel officers in his native island, Hon. Rothschild Francis, member of the Colonial Council, St. Thomas, V. I., editor of The Emancipator, addressed a mass meeting of his countrymen at St. Mark's Hall this afternoon.

Mr. Francis assured his hearers that Virgin Islanders although under the Stars and Stripes and subject to American citizenship are not citizens. Because of this fact operation of the Volstead Act had destroyed the principal industry of the islands—rum distilling and today the people are faced with utter ruin. A plea was made by the speaker and Mr. A. A. Berle, attorney of the islanders, for civil government to supersede the naval autocracy now crushing out the lives of the inhabitants.

The islanders propose, through their leaders, to memoralize congress to give them relief from naval and grant them all the privileges of American citizenship.

JAMAICA STIRRED BY KEEN ANALYSIS OF U. N. I. A.

KINGSTON, Jamaica, B. W. I.—Dec. 16. (Crusader Service) Considerable discussion has taken place in this colony over a letter written by a resident of New York City above the nom-de-plume of "Proletariat" in the "Gleaner". The letter which occupied two columns of the editorial page was a searching analysis and narration of the program and negative achievements of the Universal Negro Improvement Association. Thousands of our people who had "invested" money in the Black Star Line and other Garvey enterprises learned for the first time of the failure of the former and are all wrought up over the affair.

A practical consequence of this affair is the enmity of the people to "The Negro World" which they are now referring to as "that lying Garvey paper from New York." It is alleged that in addition to the misstatements contained in the columns of the organ of the U. N. I. A. many persons had been sent private communications which assured the recipients that their money was earning huge dividends.

MEXICO PROTESTS U. S. LAWLESSNESS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16—(Crusader Service) While this government is hypocritically prating about the necessity of maintainng United States forces in Haiti for the purpose of upholding 'law and order', the Mexican government has found it necessary to make representations to the State Department against the lynching of a Mexican, Elias Vukareal Zarate at Weslaco, Texas, last Saturday, and to demand guarantees for the Mexican consul in Hidalgo, Texas, whose life is said to have been threatened, and for other Mexicans. According to the embassy's advices, Zarate was jailed after a fight with a gringo and then was taken out and lynched. The authorities afterwards refusing the Mexican consul's request for an investigation.

Secretary of State Hughes has sent a sharp demand to the Texas authorities for the protection of all citizens of Mexico within their jurisdiction, but the fact remains that the United States forces at present encumbering the soil and crushing the liberties of the Haitian people could, with better advantage to 'law and order' be used to good effect in Texas.

U. S. WOULD [illegible] LAWS OF MEXICO

Alleged Meddling Concerns Petroleum Legislation Affecting Americans' Interests.

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 16—(Crusader Service) President Obregon's message, sent through the Department of the Interior, to the Chamber of Deputies last night created an uproar among the deputies and, in fact, throughout Mexico.

President Obregon stated in his message that Mexico resents outside interference in the making of the basic law interpreting article 27 of the Constitution. This was interpreted to mean that the United States government had been trying to bring pressure to bear against the Mexican government in the matter of the new laws governing the petroleum industry, and seeking exemption from their operation for her capitalist oil-grabbers. In an outburst of anti-United States oratory the motion was made and carried that all sister Latin-American countries be informed of the alleged meddling of the Washington State Department in the framing of the Mexican laws, especially those affecting American interests. A joint protest of all these countries against American imperialism is planned. Mexico intends to take no chances with the capitalist-imperialist cutthroats of the North. The experience of Haiti has taught her a lesson.

FEMALE KU KLUXERS PARADE ATLANTA STREETS

ATLANTA, Dec. 16.—(Crusader Service Female Kluxers have made their appearance in public here, strutting down the streets of Atlanta as fully sheeted and masked as the male Ku Kluxers. The paraders call themselves the Dixie Womans' League, a "patriotic Society." Somehow or other, the women looked more natural in their white sheetings than do men Ku Kluxers.

CHURCH AND KLAN GOING HAND HAND

Ku Kluxism Invading White Christian Pulpit—Donations Win Ministerial Support. "Fiery Cross" Leads way. Protentants Rallying to Klan's Slogan of "White Supremacy."

NEW YORK, Dec. 16.—(Crusader Service) The Ku Klux Klan is conducting an intensive membership drive in this city and so far has enlisted the services of several ministers, among them the Rev. William Burd, Methodist minister at St. Mark's Church in Princess Bay, S. I. This minister of white Christianity and traitor to Christ admitted to reporters in the Staten Island edifice that he had preached Klanism in Bible classes.

In his talk to the Bible classes the Christian minister pronounced the Klan a patriotic organization imbued with noble principles, and stated that one of its cardinal principles was the unswerving conviction that the white race should be forever supreme in America.

This portion of the Klan Kreed, he explained, was to meet conditions in some parts of the South where the colored race is in the majority. Concurring with the teachings of the Klan, he declared this to be the white man's land, and for the best interests of civilization (syphilization?) and society white supremacy should prevail.

At another church in New York Klan circulars were distributed following collection at the morning service. At this church, however, the minister denied knowledge of the Klan circulars and was apparently angry over the incident.

At the Calvary Baptist Church, of which the Rev. John Roach Stratton, a vaudevillian reactionary is pastor, dodgers were given out with the church calendars. These dodgers carried invitations to become Klan members, with the advice to write at once to N. C. T., Box 797, Tenafly, New Jersey. (No Postals)".

Those who wrote received a reply that read:

"An invitation is extended to you herewith to attend an open meeting, where full particulars and an opportunity to join will be given, at Mead's No. 1912 Madison Avenue on Nov. 17 at 8:30 P. M. sharp. Bring an eligible friend with you. Present this slip at door and inquire for Brown."

Oliver, Plaintiff, vs: Josephine C. Oliver, Defendant. The plaintiff was represented by Attorney W. O. Tyler, and the defendant was represented by Attorney Paul M. Nash.

FORMER 24TH INF. MAN IS PAROLED

FORMER 24TH INFANTRYMAN PAROLED FROM LEAVENWORTH PRISON NOW IN LOS ANGELES.

Thefollowing clipping from a Kansas paper tells the story of the freedom of Warsaw Lindsey, who was one of the number from the famous 24TH Infantry who was sentenced to a long term at Leavenworth and is the first one to be released.

"FREE A HOUSTON RIOTER"

Warsaw Lindsey, Negro Soldier, To Be Released. Will Be First of Sixty-Five Confined in Federal Penitentiary for Part in Texas Disorders to Be Granted Parole.

Leavenworth, Kas., Dec. 1.—The first release, either by pardon or parole, of any of the sixty-five negro soldiers confined in the federal penitentiary for participation in the Houston race riot four year ago, will be made Sunday, when Warsaw Lindsey, under 10-year sentence, will be admitted to parole. A telegram from the department of justince was received tonight by Warden W. I. Biddle. The announcement of the parole is said to have caused great satisfaction among the other convicted rioters, as it is taken as an indication that they may expect clemency in the future.

According to Lindsey's story, he was visiting his "lady friend" on the night of the riot, and had not taken his gun from his rack in the barracks, but, because he was missing at roll call he was arrested with the other negro soldiers and forced to stand trial. Through a mistake in names, Lindsey's name was read in the list of soldiers sentenced to be shot at sunrise the morning after the trial. The mistake was discovered two hours after th verdict was read.

Lindsey will be given a ticket to Los Angeles, Cal., where he has a job awaiting him, obtained by a prison welfare society. He has been an outside trusty for some time here, acting as a houseman in the warden's residence."

Concerned For His Companions.

Mr. Lindsey will endeavor to interest friends of the other imprisoned soldiers to send them greetings and cheer for Christmas and any token entrusted to him will he sent to them in time for Christmas. The people are asked not to forget them and through Mr. Lindsey any Christmas offering will reach them.

DEVELOPING TALENT FOR MUSIC

BY: WENDELL P. GLADDEN, JR.

ACCOMPLISHING MORE GOOD WITH YOUNG PEOPLE. DEVELOPING TALENT FOR MUSIC.

IV.

It is not necessary to go into details regarding the development of talent for music among our young. Children are naturally imaginative. They have a taste for the beautiful. Music makes a strong appeal to them. Young people should be taught to play some musical instrument to their liking. Perhaps vocal training will be advantageous. Music in the home will make it brighter and happier.

When they have become proficient they should be encouraged in original composition. Samuel Coleridge-Taylor, H. T. Burleigh, Nathaniel Dett, and many other composers, are examples of what can be done in this work. Roland Hay[illegible] Brown, and [illegible] has proved to be international fame. They have set remarkable paces in the musical world for our young people to follow. But our local talent is preparing for any competion and will achieve the same.

Urging Religious Activity.

More than twenty-five churches, together with the young Men's and Women's Christian Associations, as religious agencies need the support of the mature as well as the young.

Without these in the community what would our society be? Those who are not members of the church would do well to join or become associated. Taking active parts and contributing whenever possible will aid in the spiritual welfare of the city. Go to church with the boy or girl occasionally, and insist on their attendance at least once each Sunday. Encourage them to take an active part throughout the year as well as during the Christmas and Easter seasons.

Every young man and woman who is not deprived because of physical ilness should be a member of the Y. W. or Y. M. C. A. In some sections fo the country where the buildings are temporary it is true that the sphere, of activity is limited to a great extent, and the demand for larger service is not met entirely. Nevertheless, these two institutions are for the people. It is up to them to co operate with these at the head of these organizations; to see to it that hey are furnished with modern equipment. The responsibility rests upon heir shoulders alap to make the Y. W. and Y. M. C. A. the community centers, because they are inter-linked with the various institutions contributing to the public good. This is the task of the people of Los Angeles. If the representative citizens can build beautiful homes, erect business buildings and schools, and churches, they can lay the corner-stones, through united effort, for the enlargement of these two monuments of service and humanity.

For those whose sons and daughters are being benefitted by their meetings and contact with good associates and friends, nothing could be better than to pay them a visit and see how they conduct themselves; and the enthusiasm they put into their work and play.

In order to develop the mind, body, and soul, one must get into the game get the most out of the agencies of society. The four-fold development; mental, spiritual, physical, and social—offered in the Y. M. and Y. W. C. A. can hardly be duplicated elsewhere. Modern problems demand modern equipment. The serious problem of the boy and girl, the young man and woman is before us. Let us solve it intelligently.

GIVING ATTENTION TO ATHELETICS—RECREATION

A thorough knowledge of the sporting world in general will keep the boy posted on latest athletic events. The national interest in football, baseball, track, boxing, tennis, and golf is increasing each year. It is not enough to be familiar with one game, but a knowledge of other sports and players and records. Much fo this detail work is done by Walter Camp and assistants; A. G. Spaulding's year book in athletics, beside what can be learned from newspapers and other publications, will be beneficial.

The achievements of athletes of the race is especially of interest to our young people. Many of them are well aware of recent activities and great athletes. They have seen what our boys have done in California in the past. The names of Drew, Dismond, Butler, Slater, Pollard, Gourdin, Hubbard, Wills, and Gans, together with other great or near great in the sporting world, should be referred to when athletes are mentioned. Only recently a Senegalese fighter won worldwide fame by grabbing titles by a single victory over Georges Carpentier. Several articles about him were written; and doubtless all lovers of sport read them with interest.

Rube Foster is one of the outstanding figures in baseball. He has successfully managed teams for years. He was very instrumental in organizing the Negro National Baseball League. Some of the world's best players are found with these teams. Wherever the activities of our teams and results of games can be obtained attention should be directed there. Five or ten years more may find our great players in the big leagues.

Every boy who shows promise in some form of athletics ought to be assisted in purchasing supplies. There may be a "world-beater" within our doors. It would be well that they note the conduct, the true sportsmanship of he-men in competition and afterwards. If the boy can learn to win over great odds and difficulties in contests he can later tackle life's problems with enthusiasm and tenacity until they are overcome.

Our athletes are making great strides in tennis too. The real skillful players in the future must come from our boys and girls. Most of the great players began in childhood. Tennis is a scientific game. Constant practice is necessary. More young people must learn to play this great [illegible] game which is played [illegible] has proved to be Rare opportunities are afforded everybody in California to enjoy natural beauty. People need to get back to nature even more than they do. When the winter season is over, they need to get into closer contact with Mother nature. Young people especially, need to forsake the hustling, bustling city life and live a while. Frequent hikes and camps will give new inspiration, together with numerous snap-shots taken.

People ought to go out in the great open stretches; the mountains and valleys are calling ever. Tall, husky, aged trees are bending and swaying —they put on their dress for each season, but the color always blends, whether orchard, or apple blossoms in spring, or yellow and brown leaves in autum, the effect is harmonious. And the air is cool and clean. Changing blue skies, snow-white clouds; and at evening sunset-tinted skies, and then twilight—shadows, thrill the lover of nature, whose thousand voices, amid placid lakes and busy streams, sing.

One finds himself, knows himself, when alone on a mountain-top at night. He realizes his littleness, and the ruggedness of nature, the bigness of the universe and the meaning of life. There, far from men one looks upon the friendly stars, is amazed, is drunk with sleep, trying to devour the beauty and magnificance of it all, while God protects still. "Nature is the source."

A TALE OF OLD JAPAN

Perhaps the most weird and tragic work of Coleridge-Taylor declares itself in his symphonic poem—"A TALE OF OLD JAPAN." While Hiawatha is held by many critics to be one of the chief artistic productions of human genius, it would seem that these authorities have missed the achievements of Coleridgt-Taylor in the masterly treatment of this poetic gem written by Mr. Alfred Noyes, and set to music by Taylor. In point of art it may not rank as high, as that masterpiece, Hiawatha, but it must be reckoned second of Coleridge's musical masterpieces.

Remembering that art is the means an author uses to bring to his readers the inspiration and vision of his own mind, we shall find it easy to identify the important feats and strokes in A TALE OF OLD JAPAN. Because of the nature of the people, their peculiar situation in the great scheme of races and nations, their etimological and physiological, their cultural differences, COLERIDGE-TAYLOR was obliged to resort to art at the very outset. The hero, SAWARA, is of a supposed and inferior and degraded race—a Japanese. None but abortive results would have attended his efforts to raise such a character in the estimation of an audience that neither appreciates nor understands the little yellow people who live away in yon Orient. It would have been presumption to assume the interest of an audience in such a personage, for the thing has been tried unsuccessfully in literature and oratory many times before. Longfellow experimented with Hiawatha as a hero, presenting him precisely as if he were of Anglo Saxon blood and name; though the poem is immortal, and though the character is in reality as great as any one hero known to and worshipped by a nation, the world finds it almost impossible to take the hero seriously.

Aside from the richness of the poem, the singular formation of vowel sounds found in the names of the characters which adorn the poem, we wonder what else could have attracted the intelligence of that great master of Counterpoint. Well, Japan has tradition. The history of music in Japan is an old one. It dates as far back as her legendary age. She has her IZANAMI, which corresponds to our Adam, and her EVE, IZANAMI. These dieties are supposed to have come down from heaven. While we boast of our Cain and Able, Japan claims her three children, descendants of her Adem and Eve, Goddess of the Sun, God of the Moon, and God of the Seas. They did not hang their harps upon the willow trees by the River of Babylon, but they did hang a mirror on the tree of wisdom (this no doubt corresponds to the biblical apple tree) and performed some sort of ceremony with music and dance. During the reign of the FIJIWARA family much interest was manifested in the pursuit of literature, science and art. During this time Japan developed along musical lines and gave encouragement to forms that flooded with impressive dignity and solemnity. Opra, at its best in Japan, is a crystallization of fantastic and humorous elements which are ever full of the essence of Budhism and Confucianism.

Thus the attention of Coleridge-Taylor was attracted to the little yellow man who was not the leading exponent of contrapuntal and polyphonic musical productions, but who had made use of the material at hand and who sought to infuse the national spirits of his own country into motives and meters which were the nerve, bone and sinew of Japan's traditions.

Mrs. Aphra Bean wrote a novel in which she used a West Indian Negro for the hero. Needless to say the book never became famous nor popular; for she met the same [illegible] that attended Longfellow's Hiawatha. Wendell Phillips was more successful with his creation, TOUSSAINT L'OVERTURE.

There is a race prejudice in such cases that authors cannot, with impunity, ignore. Shakespeare knew before hand just about what the audience would think of OTHELLO; Longfellow knew the same was true of Hiawatha; even our own genius, Coleride-Taylor, by his own tact, foresaw how the world would naturally regard his musical settings of an unpopular American poem and later the almost operatic treatment of another unfavorable classic, A Tale of Old Japan, though he found a way to present the characters so as to make them really fascinating.

Many authors, notably historians, have succeeded in branding an entire race or a whole nation ungenerous, unjust, and, too, living within our circle or our sight. These Tribunes have stirred our prejudices against races and have kept from us the truer, more characteristic things.

The sensation had its little hour. Then somebody murdered somebody in a particularly atrocious manner, or somebody sued somebody for divorce, or somebody was elected to high office—and the American girl and her Japanese husband were forgotten.

They are called to our attention again—after 14 years—they and their children. Half-breeds? Of course. Mongrels?

The department of psychology of Stanford University announces that four of the five little Aokis—the fifth is a baby—have been tested by the examining board, that they show a level of intellect high above the standard for their ages—13, 11, 10 and 8 years—AND THAT THEY HAVE BEEN PLACED IN THE "GENIUS" CLASS.

Test Made By Best Science

Don't blame me. I didn't put the little Aokkis there. It hurts me as much as it does you to have a preconceived notion destroyed.

THE PASSING OF MME. AZALIA HACKLEY

The announcement of the death of Madam Azalia Hackley at Detroit, December 13th, removes from our midst one of our most active race women and one of the best known characters of the music-loving world.

Madam Hackley in her youthful days was employed as a teacher in the public schools of her home town, Detroit, but possessing a fine voice entered the musical conservatory at Denver shortly after her marriage to Edwin H. Hackley, a race attorney of Denver, Colo. Madam Hackley graduated from the musical conservatory of Denver with light honors and entered upon her musical career. Her work among the race was highly successful but desiring a higher standard along the lines of rudimentary instruction Madam Hackley departed for Europe to complete her musical training. After a number of years in the old country at the feet of the greatest masters of the art, she returned to America and resumed the work of her chosen vocation. Her work among the various branches of race endeavor has been highly successful and greatly appreciated by the music loving public. The Negro Spirituals were given special attention by Madam Hackley in her instructions and entertainments, and were elevated to a degree of appreciation heretofore unknown.

The funeral occurred Saturday from the residence of Mrs. Marietta Johnson, her sister, with whom she spent her last hours.

MIXED MARRIAGES KEY TO GENIUS

It hurts when you suddenly discover that what you have always believed was true, and wanted to believe was true, isn't true at all.

When Kipling wrote "East is East and West is West," I said, "That's true," and probably you did, too.

When Professor Lothrop Stoddard of Harvard wrote "The Rising Tide of Color," building his whole argument on the premise that white, brown, red and black blood won't mix, I wanted to believe that the professor had the straight of it. Nevertheless, I worried about it.

Stoddard doesn't think much of "mongrels." Being white, he admits a white man is a better man than a brown, red or black one. But he is emphatic in saying that a man who is all white, all brown; all red or all black is a better man than he who has mixed blood in his veins. Is this premise false? I am shocking most white people by simply asking the question.

Yet have we been fair to the "mongrel?" What is a "mongrel"?

Flea-bitten, mangy, ill-nourished canines carry on loose love affairs in alleys, and the results are flea-bitten, mangy, ill-nourished "mongrel" puppies. Such results are to be expected.

By the same token, in 99 cases out of 100, where whites and negroes, whites and Indians or whites and orientals marry, the contracting parties are of the lowest strata, mentally deficient, physically imperfect and socially shameless. From unions we get "mongrels."

But what of the airedale? He is the result of a wise crossing of good strains. And he is everything that a good dog ought to be—physically strong, mentally alert, courageous and loyal to his master.

....Will a similar wise crossing of good strains do as much for the human as it has done for the dog?

Fourteen years ago Helen Frances Emery, daughter of Archdeacon and Mrs. John A. Emery of the Episcopal church, San Francisco and Gunjiro Aoki, a Japanese, were married.

There was a storm of protest when the engagement was announced that spread up and down the coast and all over America. The news was on the front page of every newspaper.

Fled Before
Public Gaze

To escape public criticism and possibly mob violence, the bride and her mother fled to Portland, where they were to meet Aoki and where the wedding [illegible]

Cross a healthy, educated, cultured American strain with a healthy, educated, cultured Japanese strain, and what do you get—a mongrel—or an Airdale?

The test by which the little Aokis made their record-breaking averages is the Terman-Binet test, a modification of the basic Binet-Simon intelligence test, worked out by Professor Lewis M. Terman, educational psychologist of Standford.

The "mongrel's" test isn't proved by one test, of course. We must have dozens and hundreds of tests. But this one test should cause us to ponder soberly.

The world is a hodge-podge of races. Racial pride is strong and intolerant. It causes wars. Yet, where races touch, there is bound to be inter-marriage, and the mixed blood, starting at the edge, creeps toward the center.

If we lift the man on mixed marriages, what then? Would we not draw into our veins, not the worst blood, but perhaps the best, from the vein of neighboring peoples?

Would There
Be Airedales?

Perhaps we are too finely bred. Maybe we are inbred. The bird dog is the huntsman's assistant, but he can't fight for cold beans.

The bulldog is a fighter perexcellence, but he can't point a bird.

The draft horse can't win races and the race horse can't draw loads.

The Airdale is an all-round dog and Dobbin is strong enough and fast enough for all our purposes.

If we lifted the ban on mixed marriages, would we—all the people of the world—become "geiuses," two-legged Airedales, physically strong, mentally alert?

I do not state it is a fact. I simply ask the question.

BARSTOW DUNCAN AND MARSHALL FLOYD IN RECITAL

The Missionary Society of the A. M. E. Church of Pasadena presented the music lovers of that city with a most unique program Thursday evening when Mr. Bartow Duncan, Violinist and Mr. Marshall Floyd, Lyric Tenor appeared in recital.

The recital with pretty Miss Helen Duncan at the piano was most artistically arranged and very successfully carried out.

Mr. Duncan who is recently of New York City, easily proved that he was at home with the Violin, as his nimble fingers plyed the stringe of that sweet toned instrument, one was easily convinced that he is no sorry genius with the Violin.

Mr. Cloyd has not only a pleasing personality but a sweet lyric tenor voice that thrills as it rings [illegible]

Charles Stewart, A. M., D. D., of Chicago, Ill., General Missionary of the National Baptist Convention, reached the city Friday morning from the session of the National Baptist Convention and to a representative for the Eagle declared that the 42nd annual session of the convention was one of the greatest in its history.

"There wsa indeed a large delegation," declared Mr. Stewart, "and all seemed interested. There was practically no business transacted until after the election of a president. The aspirants for the position of president were: Revs. M. W. D. Norman, of Washington, D. C.; W. H. Moses, New York; W. G. Parks, of Philadelphia; P. James Bryant, of Atlanta, Ga. and L. K. Williams, of Chicago. It was a case of the field against L. K. Williams, except Dr. Norman, who withdrew in favor of the son of Texas, while the others drew threw their strength to Parks. The votes were 808 for Williams and 769 for Parks.

"It was decided to hold the next session in Los Angeles, because the strike prevented the meeting from being held here last September. It promisces to be a very large session, as many of the members of the convention have returned and increased the delegation.

"The convention spoke out on racial matters. They condemned the republic senate for not passing the Dyer Anti-Lynching Bill, branding them as cowards for permitting the democratic minority to defeat it. Lynching, mob violence and the like were in like manner condemned. The K. K. K. was denounced as un-American, and a danger line to the American institution.

"The other officers elected were: Revs. W. M. Taylor, of Louisiana, vice president at large; R. B. Hudson, Alabama, chief secretary; E. Arlington, Wilson, Texas; J. N. Nabritt, Georgia; E. H. McDonald, Nebraska, T. O. Fuller, Tennessee, assistant secretaries; J. Stokes, Alabama, treasurer; C. H. Parris, Kentucky, statistician; Charles Stewart, Chicago, general missionary and E. D. Pierson, Texas, auditor.

"We hope that California will be ready to receive us, and let us all pray that there will be nothing to prevent our coming. It will be helpful to our people."

Dr. Stewart will return to Chicago, Monday morning. While in the city he is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Elijah Cooper, 1411 E. Washington street.

Dear Sir:

William H. Pinchback was arrested in this city some time in June of 19291 and charged with violating the Corporation Securities Act.

He has mdae a practice for several years of going from city to city and interesting people of the Negro Race in a purported valuable motor invention on which he claims to have Letters Patent. He has never, however, exhibited the actual Letters Patent to anyone.

He fleeced the good colored people of San Francisco out of hundreds of Dollars and even after hi sarrest continued his nefarious practices until the field was played out and he was short of room rent.

We advise all people of Los Angeles County and other places to beware of this gentleman and his high-sounding ideas. He has no permit to sell securities in the State of California nor has the Pinchback Motor Manufacturing Company.

Yours very truly,

TELEGRAM

Another conspicuous figure in the Baptist Church has passed to the Great Beyond.

A telegram addressed to Rev. L. B. Brown of the Tabernacle Baptist Church reached the city Thursday, announcing the death of Rev. W. J. Parks of Philadelphia, Pa..

Dr. Parks was an active figure in the National Convention at St. Louis, Mo., Dec. 6th.

IN THE MUSIC WORLD

By John A. Gray.

New York musicians are very much concerned at present with the licensing of music teachers. As we have defeated that measure in this state, it is interesting to read of the efforts put forth in that state to defeat the measure.

All earnest, conscientious musicians agree that it is impossible to fix a standard that will cover all forms of music teaching in a fair and impartial manner. Although the teaching of piano and violin has, today, been reduced to an almost exact science from the mechanical side, the teaching of the voice is still an inexact procedure. It has been said that there are more fakers in the voice profession than if all the other professions combined. This is largely true. When one reads of a teacher who puts a silver spoon in a pupils mouth, or catches hold of his tongue with a pair of pincers, or makes him vocalize lying flat of his back, or puts pebbles in his mouth and many other ridiculous things he is apt to believe that singing is a mysterious process that only the select few ever acquire. If singing is so intricate, how is it then, that the untrained singer right from the woods, so to speak, can produce a better, clearer and purer tone than the student of several years training under a famous singing teacher. No, the fact is, singing is natural, just as natural as speaking, yet public speaking is taught in Colleges and Universities. What the teacher really does, is principally concerned with matter of helping the student to find the possibilities of his voice, to control the emission of tone, and to understand certain laws that will enable him to control that tone under all circumstances. Proper pronunciation of words, which differs some according to pitch, etc, is not unlike that required in public speaking. Interpretation, style, stage deportment, languages, history and other subjects come later and in many cases are learned from other teachers. The foundation teacher, or the singing teacher must work first with the plain voice, and after some control of that orgun is acquired, then the other subjects may be added.

Dudley Buck, the well-known singing teacher, says, "When you find the pupils of a given teacher who sing with comparative freedom of throat, you may be sure htat that teacher's system is based upon a true fundamental principle, that his knowledge of anatomics is correct, and that he has the necessary analytical mind to produce the same results in most cases.

"Voice production can only be acquired through two channels, namely Sounds and Sensations. It is how it sounds in your ears and how it feels in your head, mouth and chest cavities, that finally decides, for you, the question of a well produced tone and no one can teach another with authority, who does not know the sensation himself and the physical laws which govern its control.

The laws of nature are the fundamental principles upon which all teachers must rely, for in them, one finds the known scientific truths, without which successful teaching is impossible. Nature and Common Sense are the two greatest teachers in the world, for the nearer one comes to nature, the nearer one is to perfection, and common sense, naturally, must govern all wor."

All vocal methods then should be natural, that is, simple and without a lot of ridiculous mannerisms. And since these methods are varied and since singing is an art and not a science, how can one set a standard of vocal training. The only thing that can be done, is the setting of a standard of general education, which might prevent the ignorant teacher from operating. But the public, and especially the student, must read, and learn to discriminate for himself. As a class, the singing student is very seldom a student of music.

CAST THY BREAD UPON THE WATERS

Nor was he the man to judge a fellow being by his color for Race Hatred could not find a more deadly enemy than himself.

His wisdom and experience had made him one of the most fit for business and for the leader of men, and one morning as the bright sun rose over the blue tipped mountains of the Pacific coast he slipped off of the train into the fairest little city his eyes had ever beheld. He was tired of travel. He was wearied with adventure. Fate bade him rest by the wayside and there he dwelt and toiled and prospered. To his side as a life companion came one of the fairest daughters of an old early Spanish family who boasted of the blood of kings in her veins, and though her own beautiful features were chissied from olive marbble, yet she bore the most extreme apathy towards any person whose skin was less white than snow. And when the golden curls began to blossom over her beloved little son's fair head she was the happiest of all earthly mothers for her great fear, from the time she began to make the little dresses for the expected stranger, was that its little skin might follow her own strain of blood.

In peaceful reverie besat him one evening, this soldier of fortune, in his luxuriously furnished parlor, enjoying an occasional "puff" of his favorite Habana happy in the satisfaction that he was able to assist any one whom appealed to him or who might come to his door.

To a man of his calibre nothing could have been more objectionable or repulsive than to have been obliged to dwell in the midst of wealth and luxury with the kknowledge that any one about him was in distress, were he not at liberty to assist them. By his side sat his young wife who was wont to read to him of an evening from her favorite books, and this evening in particular as her gentle and well cultivated voice soothed his tired brain the story which she read recalled to his memory certain adventures of his own so closely, that he was wrapped in deep, silent attention.

It was a book, written by an adventuerer who related his experiences, many reader, after he had landed penniless and destitute in a remote district of Japan, having been set afloat upon the open sea as a mutineer of a ship's crew on which he had sailed. The treatment accorded him, after being discovered by a people who knew nothing of his race nor language, was neither cruel nor severe, but to one inexperienced in adventure, or a timid young girl, the narative fairly teemed with thrills of horror!

As she finished the chapter and laid the book on the corner of the table, she gave a perceptibble shudder and glancing down into the little crib at her side she gazed long and fondly upon her heart's affection and then, with a gentle sigh, she leaned back against her husband's shoulder and gave vent to her feelings of fear in expressing the hopes that her beloved offspring might never traverse the land of which she had just been reading which had been so hideously portrayed to her mind by the author.

A strong comforting arm encircled her lithe shoulders, holding her gently to his breast as he related to her his own personal knowledge and experience of that part of the world and its people of which she had just been reading. He pointed out to her the many long years that had elapsed since the author's experience and the then present day and the wonderful stride which the dreaded country has taken towards Christianity and civilization, as we see it.

He pointed out to her their laws, their government, and their constitution.

He told her of their arts and scholars. He told her fo the wonderful work which the missionaries have accomplished and their willingness to accept Christianity.

He told her of the loyalty and love of the parents for their children and the obedience of their offspring and their respect for old age. He told her of their faith in their friends and those whom they trust, of their charity towards strangers, and of their honesty, sobriety and industriousness. He told her the difference between true Christian principles and hypocricy camouflaged by the cloak of the church which makes a mockery of Christianity. He told her of their thriftiness and how they have to toil for a living in their over populated country.

He told her of the wonderous beauty of the fair country of which so few Americans have ever seen.

Its mountains and great pine forests and the lakes and the wonderful inland sea with its hundreds of little islands.

The beauty of the parks and mountains in the spring, when they are covered with cherry and plum blossoms, and the wonderful pergolas all covered with festoons of wistaria.

And, oh! how the Maple trees, in all their glorious Autumnal splendor reminded him of his old boy hood days, back East!

He related to her his experience, when, one time, years before he had ever met her, when penniless and destitute, a stranger in distress among strangers, after his own race had denied him assistance, one of those very self same people had come to his assistance and gave him the helping hand which had saved his life able to him any time than to allow a falsehood to escape his lips.

The book which she had been reading slipped slowly from her lap, where she had allowed it to settle and fell gently to the softly carpeted floor. She glanced up into her husband's face and with a sigh of contentment she allowed her head to settle heavily upon his breast. Accustomed to obey his conscience and uphold his principle of manliness, Sunday morning invariably found him paying his due respects to his Diety whom he held above all in all. And as he sat in the family pew one morning, lost in deep meditation, the parson announced from the pulpit: "I have chosen for my text this morning the eleventh chapter and the first verse of Eccl." "Cast thy bread upon the waters for after many days it shall return to you." "Our collection this morning is for the needy in the famine stricken district of Japan." "I hop that we shall have a liberal offering for they are in sore need of assistance from the outside world."

When he had made this announcement an elderly deacon approached the pulpit and was handed a small basket in which to take up the collection. The parson then besat him in his usual chair by the rostrum, turning over the leaves of his text book, while the choir sang the sweet old, old, hymn so dear to the hearts of all civilization who has ever heard the chimes of the church bells:

"From Greenland's icy mountains
To India's coral strands
They call us to deliver
Their land from error's chains."

The quiet foot steps of the good old deacon who was taking up the collection failed to arrest the attention of the wealthy banker, or to arouse him from his meditation as he passed his pew, but his dutiful young wife had something to tell him which would not keep till after church and she quqietly nudged him after the deacon had passed and inquqired of him "if he had not forgotten something?" As his awkward wits quickly informed him of his whereabouts he started to reach for his check book to make amends for his tardiness, but his wife detained the movement, laying her hand upon his arm. "I contributed for both of us dear," she informed him, "but oh dear, do you know what baby did?"

He was playing with my locket and some way or other, he got it loose from the chain, and before I noticed what he was doing, he reached over the back ofthe pew, after the deacon had passed, and dropped it into the contribution." "And the poor old deacon must have thought that it was more money for he smiled and said: 'The Lord loveth a cheerful giver.' 'How shall I get it back?"

Her husband, who had been listening to her in a mood almost as serious as a judge, now rendered his decision: "Well dear, let it go now, anyway." "Who knows what may become of it, something or other?" And he reached his arm around his little son who sat beside him in the pew and drew him closer to him as he faintly smiled and patted his golden curls.

While the whispered conversation had been going on between husband and wife, the faithful old deacon had finished his round with the contribution basket and returned to the pulpit wit hit where he placed it on a small stand beside the pastor, who now arose and gazing into the well filled basket announced as the choir finished the hymn: "We return thanks for a liberal contribution," and then bending over the basket, as he espied something unusual therein, he picked up the little locket and gazed musingly upon it, and then replacing it in the basket, with the rest of the contribution, he added to his previous announcement: "In lieu of cash some one of my parishioners has contributed a very valuable little trinket which I shall forward just as it is." "It may not appease the appitite of those who are distressed with hunger, but, nevertheless, it will serve to let them know that there is some one on this side of the world who loves them and who sympathizes with them in their distress."

Far into the late hours of the pleasant Summer evening, Dick Belden and his wife sat that night building air castles and planning the future tor the little idol of all their earthly happiness. But, such is fate, air castles are not always completed, and long ere the little locket had reached its destination a sad toll had been exacted from the quiet little village by the Grim Reaper, as one beautiful morning, soon after, just such a lovely morn as when his eyes had first beheld this most beautiful garedn of all his earthly explorations, the still morning atmosphere was broken by the sad tolling of the Old Mission bells. But their sad peals could not awaken from his slumber nor cause his sealed eyes to again behold the beauties of the quiet little valley which this soldier of travel and adventure had chosen for his home and last resting place.

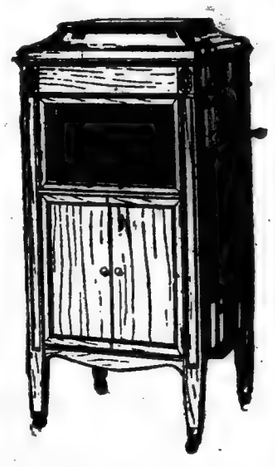
Dick Belden had ascended the gang plank of the Master Ship from which he would never return to this world, but his good deeds towards all mankind had made his life worth living.

His upright and honest principle had caused him to fear nothing on earth and he did not fear to meet his Creator. According to his oft expressed desire, his body was laid away, without pomp or ceremony, on the quiet hill side, just across the narrow valley, from his home.

Fro mthe first hour of bereavement it was well known by all of the little family's friends that the sad blow was too much

Time has long since caused to fall and decay, the pitiable pine stakkes which marked the two graves on the mountain side till a more befitting monument which alas never came, should be erected, and the graves which were allowed to sink to a level have long ago been lost and covered with the bramble and buskhorn which covers the mountain side. Fod a brief time the beautiful mansion on the hill side was silent. The shutters on the windows were closed and the great doors were barred.

No lights were seen in the window of an evening and the drooping flowers and the overgrown grass of the beautiful lawn bore mute testimony to the fact that the house was without a master. But decay and neglect were not destined to claim such a beautiful home.



Soon the lights reappeared of an evening, servants were seen busily engaged about the house and grounds, and throngs of automobiles were going to and fro. Guests who were never seen on the premises before were observed to be apparently making themselves quite at home and when the near friends of those, whose home it had formerly been, learned that it was the wayward young cousin of the fair yonug wife and mother who was to have control of the estate, until the little son could manage his own affairs, they all shook their heads in doubt for too often had they Don of the wine cup and women. And heard of the caprices of the young the brilliant lights which shown from the [illegible] and verandas all night a dancing master and a private tutor, for the qquiet little games that assist in entertaining the "elite" of so called "society" and "Varsnda Pink Teas," supplanted the place of the pedagogue who should have given him the tutoring which would have assisted him in making his own way in the world and thereby have made a useful citizen of him. But it is best, sometimes, for others, that those who can not manage their own affairs nor handle their own estate, should not be too well educated nor given a too far insight into their own affairs, especially when an overly zealous guardian is holding blood which coursed through his veins an instinct another person, the spirit, which habitually warned him that he was not pursuing the course that a man of principle should follow. And Tnme, judge it "cruelty" as some did or a blessing as it was conceded by others, did not suffer him any longer than the day when he attained his majority to prove to him the insincerety of his fickle life into which he had been dragged to indulge so freely. Of course nothing could be more befitting a young man of his position than a grand celebration in honor of his twenty-first anniversary and the wide berald announcement that the young heir had come into his own. So it [illegible]oned, that the morning following [illegible]morable all night fiesta and [illegible]rtainment, when he was [illegible]is fevered

THE INTERNATIONAL LEAGUE NEWS

Vol. 1. LOS ANGELES, CAL., DEC. 16, 1922 No. 1

THE INTERNATIONAL COMMUNITY WELFARE LEAGUE SWEEPING THE IMPERIAL VALLEY

On last Sunday afternoon in the C. M. E. Church, at El Centro, Calif., Rev. Carter, Pastor and the Pastors of all the City Churches present, the local organization of the International Community Welfare League was launched in the Imperial Valley. Unlimited praise is due Hon. Frank B. Alexandra, of El Centro for making possible the record breaking crowd which greeted General Counsel Hugh E. Macbeth of Los Angeles, as he arose to address the citizens of the Valley. For one hour and a half, Counselor Macbeth kept his hearers spell bound as he shot fact after fact before their minds. At the conclusion of the address, the unanimous decision was for the organization of The International Community Welfare League in the Valley.

The Slogan of the league in the Imperial Valley is to spread the membership of the League from Niland to the Gulf of California, and to improve the conditions for the members of the League.

The meeting was attended by people of all walks of life, from school teachers to farmers. On all sides the sentiment is expressed that the entrance of the League into the Imperial Valley means the strengthening of the splendid Colored and Mexican families and leaders in the Valley, and the increase of their numbers. The cause of better working conditions and relationship between all races in the Valley is also greatly increased.

Mr. M. C. Combs, one of the new members of the El Centro local, was so enthused over the idea of the International Community Welfare League, that he decided to take the train for Oklahoma City, Okla., where he will spend two months in organization work for the League in that City.

IN THE FIELD

Dr. H. B. Gantt, International Interdenominational Evangelist and Organizer of the Intrenational Community Welfare League arrived in Okmulgee, Okla., from Los Angeles, Calif., a few weeks ago and began his state wide campign of evangelization. Dr. Gantt's subjects treat of God's powers of Redemption and Regeneration for the Negro in earthly life as well as in heavenly life. Critics who have heard Dr. Gantt say that his efforts in this direction are the strongest of any in the American pulpit to-day.

Negroes own the famous Santa Clara warm Sulphur Springs in Lower California, Mexico. An offer of $50,000 was recently made the owners by a group of white American physicians, but was refused.

In San Diego, California Charles Harris, a young Negro chemist has developed a successful method of fighting the germs of tuberculosis.

KNOCKINK PROHIBITED

No person is permitted to say anything uncomplimentary, or unkind of any member of The International Welfare League, or any institution, business or effort with which any member of The International Community Welfare League is associated, either in a meeting of the League or otherwise. If any member of the League or any institution represented by a member of the League is suspected of any uncomplimentary conduct or attitude, the person so suspecting may make in writing an open question covering his or her suspicions and deliver secretly said written question to the Secretary of the Local League, whose duty it shall be to communicate said question to the member, members, or institution involved, and if possible secure their reply thereto within ten days after said communication. And the secretary shall read said written question and reply at the next meeting of the League. If there is no answer to said question, the Secretary shall at the appointed time, read said question and state that no reply has been received.

Upon the written request of the inquirer, and upon the inquirer's furnishing the cost of notarization, the reply to said question may be sworn to, if the party replying so cares to do. Otherwise the Secretary will take to the League the request for a sworn reply and the refusal to furnish same.

This proceedure shall be involved in all cases calling for destructive critism of any member or institution haying a member who is a member of The International Community League.

THE RIGHT ORGANIZATION FOR THE NEGRO

In a recent issue of one of the leading Negro weeklies, the Editor brings to the attention of the public the evils of "multiplicity of organizations." It is an established fact that organization is the most effective method for productivity whether for good or for evil. But, the multiplicity of organizations is a detriment to the political and economic life of the average American Negro. In view of this stand taken by the Negro press, why not pool our abilities nad efforts into one "Big" organization, The International Community Welfare League, that has for its program the welfare and all that is good morally, financially and spiritually for all peoples of Negro, Indian and Latin—American blood. The banding together of all these peoples into one organization which seeks to improve, at all times, conditions in the local community, and which puts the best grains in control of all efforts, is the strongest guarantee of success for each people.

A multiplicity of organizations can be clearly defined as organizations purely for monetary gains of the "would-be-leaders," political organizations lead by "job-seekers," factions organized to split the mother organization, for the benefit of the few, and a score of others, too numerous for citation. However these constitute the great bulk of organizations that have almost caused our people to label organized efforts "as the Bunk."

An organization like the International Community Welfare League is purely Democratic, having ten fndamentals for its achievement—(1) a force. (2) of opinion. (3) and of feeling, (4) operating within the people, (5) enabling the majority of them (6) to get what they want whenever they want it (7) by means of peaceful organization (8) and to make these gains secure by laws, (9) for it is only by its own way regardless of mistakes that an organization or people can (10) achieve its destiny, which is to grow better each day and improve their welfare.

Dr. S. S. Turner, who suffered a relapse after her recent illness is again able to be at her office and to care for the needs of her patients.

The International Community Welfare League has opened up new positions for five hundred Negro farm hands in Imperial Valley, California.

The Negro settlers in Mexico have requested the Mexican Government to permit them to have as many Mexicans as Negroes in each colony. This is looked on with decided favor by the Mexican Authorities.

Mr. Eugene Roberts of Santa Clara, Mexico, was a business visitor in the city this week.

The California Eagle does not take part in church fights; the only interest we have is to exploit the things worth while which they do. In this situation all churches have an equal break at our hands. If perchance occasion arises we may also speak of conditions general in such way as it may apply to the progress of the race. Above all things we are at all times wholly impersonal. If somebody is hit and hollers we can't help it—that's all.

With the advent of Christmas times it is well that the spirit of good will toward all men should now as never before be made manifest.

As the principal of Tuskegee has fiinished his harmonizing tour around the circle in the Southland, let us hope that the same will bear fruit and that the axeman will spare his axe from the neck of the man fartherest down.

NEWLY ELECTED HEAD OF NATIONAL BAPTISTS.

It is to be hoped that the election of Dr. L. K. Williams as the head of the Baptist hosts of this country will mark a new era for the future progress of this great denomination. Let us hope that under Dr. Williams' masterful leadership, great things will come to pass. His eminent divine has by practical demonstration proven his worth and that as an organizer he has no peer, therefore, it is possible that a mighty union of forces of the great Baptist denomination will result. He is said to be a broad-gauged man and in harmony with real progress. This being so the people will look for a genuine effort to bring about peace, prosperity and a union of the Baptist forces.

HAS A HORSE-WHIPPING COMING.

The Editor of the Gary Sun threatens to horsewhip the editor of the Gary Dispatch for attacks personally made upon the editor of the Sun, who happens to be a woman. From this distance we can hardly conceive of a big burly man attacking a woman who is game enough to get out such a creditable sheet as the Gary Sun, and we cannot help but believe that the editor of the Dispatch has a horsewhipping coming.

We had all just as well forget the Dyer Bill and charge it to profit and loss, and take another tact for the New Year.

The new Constitution of Illinois was defeated by more than 7000,000 votes, thereby demonstrating that the people are not in favor of any new thing for the body politic.

The reports from St. Louis to the effect that the Baptist convention was guarded by police to keep off the gamblers who had threatened to break up the theater in which the convention was being held. The brethren had better met somewhere in Los Angeles where the only danger would have been from within and not from without.

These are strenuous times in and about the city hall, especially so when they haul up an unsophisticated Negro indirectly accused of graft. To us this is only a by play. The commission has heard this same tale before and failed to act and on this time to smoke some of the big guns up. This is the way we

We note the great send-off accorded to Bishop Sampson Brooks, who is rendering real service in Africa. Just one year's work by this man of God is worth more to humanity than all the vaporings of Marcus Garvey in a hundred years.

M. Clemenceau, the Tiger, in delivering his message from France, has at no time been backward in giving praise for the black soldiers who came over to Flanders fields and rendreed such good account of themselves, and we are all appreciation for these words from the grand old man of France.

WHAT WILL GOVERNOR RICHARDSON DO?

It will be interesting to know just what will be the attitude of Governor Friend Richardson when he assumes office toward giving recognition to all the forces in this great commonwealth. His predecessor, Governor William D. Stephens utterly failed to give to the colored people any recognition worth while and at the primaries, taking this fact in account they lined up solidly against him and it was this vote which was the balancing power that made Governor-elect Richardson's nomination sure. We have an abiding faith in the fairness of our Governor-elect and will be really disappointed if he should fail in giving to all elements a just and fair recognition and in keeping with this thought we will anxiously watch and wait for these things to come to pass.

BAPTIST CONVENTION HERE IN 1923.

The great National Baptist Convention has decided to hold its next annual session in this city in September 1923. This decision was of course the only logical one to make, after the disappointment which was ours the past September, caused by the moving of the convention to Saint Louis. We appreciat the fact that the railroad strike was the cause of the same.

Any time a great body representing as many people as this body represents decides to meet at a given plac it pays that particular place a high compliment, and now all that this city has to do is to live up to the measure by which you have been gauged.

The experience gained from the supposed coming of the convention last September will stand as guiding posts and the mistakes can be rectified and order brought out of chaos. This convention is such a big affair that in so far as its entertainment is concerned denominational lines should be forgotten and a strong committee of citizens should be put at the helm with but one purpose in view and let that purpose be to give this convention the grandest welcome which it has ever been their lot to receive.

Los Angeles from afar stands like a beacon light beckoning all mankind to come this way and gaze upon her splendor and beauty. Our best people from all parts of our country aspire to look in upon us and to have first sight of the opportunities offered on these Western shores. We have thousands who are real producers, from not only the soil of the earth but along all the various lines of effort and this convention will give many of them an excuse as well as an opportunity to come and see for themselves. When they come to look at our virgin soil, our business opportunities, they will carry back home the message and then we shall attract to this baliwick, those who are worth while, the producers from the soil, the merchant princes, the mechanic, the artisan and skill workers, and then when in this section where production is the key-word business will grow and thrive and we shall truly take our proper places in the mighty procession of progress. Then and not until then will we be able to ever trail the Japanese, Chinese and other alien race as factors in the commercial and business activities of this great Western Country.

CHIPS FROM WARD CHAPEL

There were good Services at the Ward Chapel A. M. E. Church last Sunday, morning and evening.

In the morning(the Pastor spoke from the text, "Thou shall love thy neighbor is thyself," and in the evening, Brother Williams spoke from the text, "Unto you is born this day in the City of David, a Saviour which is Christ the Lord."

Notwithstanding the seemingly inclement weather, the attendance was good at both services and a number of visitors at each service. The Pastor's Aid Club has committees arranged for different Fair Booths and the date for the fair will be announced later.

We had a lovely Prayer and Class meeting last Wednesday night, at the close of which, Mrs. Ransom with aid of friends presented the Pastor with a New Seth Thomas 8 day clock for the Church. The Church gave a rising vote of thanks for the same. The Stewards are urging a dollar rally for Pastor's support and asking every member and friend to give one dollar each, or more for said purpose on Sunday, December 17th.

CALEXICO ITEMS

The Baptist Church is making a progress in work. The A. M. E. is getting along nicely.

Little Luther Wilson has been very sick with double pneumonie and is better.

SANTA BARBARA, Dec. 14, 1922.—There were three services scheduled for Mt. Olive Baptist Church next Sunday, the 17th, with the children's program for the afternoon, but owing to the inclemency of the weather and sickness it has been postponed indefinitely. The services of last Sabbath were very helpful indeed. The pastor preached at the 11 o'clock hour—"The Word of God is liken unto a Transforming Power," Text, Jer. 23:29, while the evening subject: "A Family invitation," Text, Gen. 7:1, was equally full of inspiration and truth. There was a splendid audience in attendance; several visitors were present. The Sunday School has done a wonderful work this year, the lessons are beautifully taught and everyone seems to be inspired thereby.

Both churches—the St. Paul A. M. E., Rev. C. A. Harris, Pastor and Mt. Olive Baptist, Rev. H. B. Thomas, Pastor, have been busy preparing their programs for the Christmas exercise and tree; each is striving to make this the merriest of the merry Christmas ever experienced in Santa Barbara.

There are still remaining a number of sick among us. Those reported on the sick list are Mrs. Eliza Dunkin; Mrs. Chas. D. Marshall; Mrs. Nettie Jones and her little son, Teddy, who is slowly but steadily improving.

We are pleased to note the presence of Mr. Richard Swanson, a bright young man from Los Angeles New Hope Baptist Church who has come in with us to make himself useful in the cause of Christ. We pray that nothing will turn this young man aside from the brave start he has made on his advent from home, as there are several erroneous reports rumord around concernnig the discharge of the men of our Race so suddenly1 who were to have served as cooks and waiters at the "American Cafe" in this city on the main street of the city —namely State street. We feel it our duty having inside information as to the facts in the case to let them be known, and shift the blame where it rightly belongs. A few days ago the proprietor of the above named cafe had a misunderstanding with the white help in his employ and requested a certain gentleman of our Race to get him enough men, also of our Race, to supply the vacancy that was being made by the discharge of his white help. After a little effort put forth by both the man of our Race and the proprietor, the change was made. But his trouble had just begun for a number of his patrons met and signd a pledge to boycott said cafe if he, the proprietor, continued to employ white help, and he in turn reported that he had sold out and the new owner would furnish his own help after three days' service of the men of our Race. While we feel that it was unjust we are living in the present—laying up treasures or preparing for the future, and the colored American stands in the same position as every other race in this country and should be treated the same.

Mrs. Phillips on Arland Avenue will leave for New Orleans, Louisana, Dec. 16, to spend the winter.

Mr. J. W. Williams is meeting with success in his Waxen Floss and furnishing everything to do the work.

Grandma Green, on Manhattan St., had to give up her grandson, whom she had nursed through so many hard spells, for this time he could only bid her good bye, and ask her to meet him around the Throne. He was buried December 7th, after trying to recover for four years.

We are proud to have with us Mr. J. McClellen on Alabama Street. His niece, Miss O. Smith, from Texas whose path we hope will be each moment strewn with flowers, while friends will make hr more welcome each day.

Hazel Hogans, one of our high school, who has been on the sick list, lives in Thaxter Street.

Mrs. Susie Halvay of 539 Ramsuer Avenue, and family, are rejoicing over the arrival of her sister-inl-aw, Mrs. B. A. Taylor, of St. Paul, Minnesota, who will spend the winter with kindred and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Bundick have moved into their new home on 553 Thaxter Street. They have a beautiful home, built in the latest style, and it is a model for every young couple; so work together and your home will tell the rest.

Mr. Homer Jones of L will be a property owner, if he continues in prosperity.

Mrs. Louese Cook and husband will be citizens on Alta Street, having moved to their new home on the 11th.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard will move into the beautiful house on South Compton.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Rhodes of Los Angeles, were here, and spent the day with Rev. J. W. Price on Thaxter St.

Mrs. Parker, from the Furlong Track were down to attend a special meeting of the Christian Endeavor to be held at the A. M. E. Church on Compton Av., Dec. 10th.

L. Copney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Copney, on Manhattan Street, died December 8th after lingering for three months, and although everything was done to restore her health—it was all in vain. The funeral services were held at the Baptist Church by Reverend Fleming and Reverend J. W. Price, December 11th.

She only looked as though she were waiting for the Gate to be opened so she could go in. Weep not, dear ones, death is only the gate to endless joy.

Why should we dread to enter there. We too, will soon enter the Pearly Gates, to join her in singing around the Throne.

WHO IS "BOSS" OF YOUR DOLLARS?

A good many men let the other fellow spend the money they earn—the other fellow just has to suggest something to sell them and—the money is GONE.

Some men are strong enough to control their own money. Every time they get money, they put some of it in a Savings Account—first—BEFORE the fellow who wants to sell you something gets a chance.

It takes a MAN, and a SAVINGS ACCOUNT, in a GOOD BANK, and a STRONG WILL to build up a fund of money in bank which you can use for things that are really worth while.

Why not make a good strong resolution, open an account, and SAVE?

Where to Attend Church

FIRST A. M. E. ZION CHURCH
Cor. Pico and Paloma
Rev. W. E. Shaw, Pastor
Res. 1217 Paloma St.

Just as the blessed rain on last Sabbath proved to earth a benediction, the sermon delivered by Rev. Shaw proved a double benediction as it poured into the hearts of his hearers. Despite the threatening weather many were anxious to hear God's Word.

Rev. Shaw preached from Matt. 6:31—"Therefore take no thought, saying, what shall we eat? or, what shall we drink? or, where withal shall we be clothed?" The theme was—"Cure." A great sermon indeed.

The Bible class and Endeavor both held interesting sessions. A short program is one of the features of the Endeavor Society. Next Sunday evening at that hour Mr. Chas White will render a vocal solo.

Rev. J. H. Miller delivered the evening message using as his text the last part of the 35th verse of the 11th Chapter of Judges. "For I have opened my mouth and I cannot go back." The Financial Committee was successful in lifting $92.00

Rev. E. M. Clark, P. E. will preach next Sunday night, Dec. 17th. Rev. Shaw will occupy his pulpit at the morning service.

A Christmas Cantata will be rendered by our Choir, Sunday, Dec. 24th under the direction of Prof. William Bynum.

The lecture on Africa and African articles and curios shown by Rev. Shaw last Friday evening were of great value and interest. Don't miss these lectures when you have the opportunity.

Don't forget to have your Christmas shopping include some of the lovely needle work and linen wear from the Auxiliaries' Bazaar going on at this church, 14-19 inclusively.

A cordial welcome awaits you at this church in all her services.

A Sabbath well spent brings a week of content.

BIRCH ST. CHRISTIAN CHURCH
14th and Birch Sts.
F. C. Cothran, Minister

Despite the inclement weather, attendance upon each service of this church last Lord's Day was fair. Had a new addition to Bible School. At 11 o'clock A. M. our minister preached a practical sermon, from the words "For if these things be in you and abound, they make you that ye shall neither be barren nor unfruitful in the knowledge of our Lord Jesus Christ. 2 Peter 1:8. He declared that the things —Faith, Virtue, Knowledge, Temperance, Patience, Godliness, Brotherly Kindness and Charity, were the Christian's passport, into the everlasting Kingdom of our Lord Jesus Christ. At 8:00 o'clock P. M. Elder I. J. Williams brought us a burning message from the words, Greater Love hath no Man than this, that a Man lay down his Life for his Friend, John 15:13.

Mrs. A. C. Richardson, President of the Social Hour Club of our Church, presents Madam Patti Brown in Sacred Concert, Sunday, Dec. 16th, 3:00 o'clock P. Rev. F. O. Brown the able Evangelist who has been carrying on a Gospel meeting for us took suddenly ill and had to return to his home in San Diego. We were grieved to learn that on his arrival there he found his dear wife confined to her bed. We pray for both a speedy recovery. On account of the illness of Dr. Brown the Gospel Meeting was discontnined until January, 1923.

The effects of the Revival was felt Sunday evening when after a strong reflectual sermon by our Pastor, Mr. Jesse Toney, a young sinner accepted Christ. Baptist will be Sunday, A. Dec. 17th.

Rev. R. N. Holt, D. D.

The St. Paul Choral Class under the direction of their most efficient director, Mr. C. V. Pitts, is making rapid progress. The choir is preparing a splendid musical program for Christmas.

Mr. Pitts who has a wonderful record as a constructive worker is demonstrating his ability by the splendid achievements made by some of the choir members.

Rev. L. B. Bently known as Zion's Gospel short-stop, spoke to an appreciative audience in the morning.

In the evening Rev. Banks another gospel Pulpiteer and Pioneer in the ministry preached a wonderful sermon. Many entered the firing line that they too may help in winning this battle for the King. Yet there is room.

Visit us at St. Paul.

LINCOLN MEMORIAL CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH—
34th Street and Central Avenue.
Rev. EE. E. Lightner, A. B. B. D., Pastor.

In spite of the constant downpour of rain splendid services were held at this church the past Sunday. Although there are always those whose church attendance is governed by the weather, it is an inspiring fact that there is an increasing number to whom a little rain is no barrier. The Pastor filled the pulpit at the morning hour and spoke on: "The glory of the Cross." The evening hour was given over to a memorial service honoring the late Dr. Edwin C. Silsby, who died at his post of duty, Talladega College, Alabama, Nov. 26th last. Many were the splendid tributes paid this fine man, by those who were old acquaintances of his.

All the regular services of the church the coming Sunday. You are cordially invited to worship with us at all time.

THE FIRST A. M. E. CHURCH—
Eighth Street and Towne Avenue.
Rev. A. Milton Ward, Minister.

Mme. Anita Patti Browne will appear in sacred concert Sunday at 7:30 o'clock p. m. and the minister in charge will preach at 11:00 a. m. in historic Eighth and Towne Avenue Church. The choir under direction of Prof. Elmer C. Bartlett will intersperse the program of both services with good Gospel singing.

Interesting services were held last Sunday with Pastor Ward as preacher rain our faithful choir members, like at both services. Notwithstanding the the faithful officers and members of the church were at their post of duty on time. We have the joy of reporting one addition to the membership this week. Good singing by the choir wsa a feature of each service.

The Sunday School was interesting The banner for collection was awarded Adult Bible Class No. 1., of which Mr. S. W. Brumfield is teacher. For several Sundays, Senior Class No. 2, composed of young men, Mr. C. W. Smith teacher, held the banner; but on Missionary Sunday, Dec. 3, Senior Class No. 1, Lydia Smith Ward, teacher, was the happy winner.

Great preparations are being made for the Christmas tide services in historic Old Eighth and Towne Avenue A. M. E. Church, as follows:

THE PEOPLES INDEPENDENT CHURCH OF CHRIST—
Corner of 18th and Paloma Streets.
Rev. N. P. Greggs, Pastor.

The people who attended church last Sunday at independent entered into a spirit of worship that was greatly inspirational. Rev. Greggs presented a stirring message taken from Rom. 13: 11-13 at the morning service. Brother Irving preached Sunday evening. Three persons joined church.

Just thirteen days from today the Chorus of seventy-five voices under the direction of Prof. Johnson, Church Choister will present the cantata "Ruth the Moabites." The leading roles in this cantata will be sung by Miss Louise Beavers, Miss Nelly Johnson, Miss Faustina Scott, Mr. Geo. Johnson, and Mr. George Beavers, Jr.

Rev. Greggs preached the funeral of Mrs. Hattie Bruce, a former member of the church, which was held at the Smith and Williams undertaking parlor.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH—
Eighth and Wall Streets.
Rev. M. Frederick Mitchell, Pastor.

Dr. C. R. Hudson, Superintendent of the Southern California Missionary Society was present with us Sunday, and delivered a great sermon upon the subject, "Stewardship." The Doctor's vivsit meant a source of encouragement to our work, the results of which will be made public in the near future. He was greatly impressed with the music the choir furnished. The C. E. Society under the leadership of Mrs. McNear, had a rousing meeting. The pastor filled his post Sunday evening. Subject "The Power of Christianity" Special services next Sunday. The Pastor will fill the pulpit at both services. The chorus has two engagements the month of January to sing in two large churches (white).

SECOND BAPTIST CHURCH—
Maple between 7th and 8th Streets.
Dr. T. L. Griffith, Pastor.

Sunday-school was well attended and an interesting review of the lesson conducted by Dr. Carter. Under the capable direction of Miss Griffith the singing of the school has taken on new inspiration and shows marked improvement. The children are deeply interested in the preparation of their Christmas exercises and the cooperation of the parents is asked in getting the children to practice on time.

Although the inclement weather interferred to some extent with the attendance, a good sized congregation enjoyed the excellent sermon by Dr. J. Madison Young in the morning service. Dr. Young chose his text from Luke 19:10. "For the Son of Man came to Seek and Find that which was Lost."

Dr. Carter preached a short but interesting sermon from the Beatitudes at the evening service. The Senior and Junior Choir furnished alternate numbers to the pleasure of the congregation. One new member was received during the day.

THE REAL NATIONAL WEALTH—LABOR. By M. Wall.

The last five years have seen us foregoing the pleasure of giving gold pieces at Christmas time to our loved ones. The exigencies of war and rate of exchange forced our Uncle Samuel to withhold this pleasure. They were as scarce as the proverbial hen's teeth. Our treasury is bulging with the yellow metal this year. You can get them for the asking. We are the richest nation in the world.

We note in President Harding's recent speech that he advocates a law to tax the billions of tax free corporation certificates. Corporations that are capitalized at figures that the average mind is unable to conceive. Corporations whose tenacles are so far reaching that they intervene international politics. So valuable that they breed wars. So powerful that they control governments. Truly, we are rich in this world's goods.

We have built and operate in modern style 40 per cent of the world's railroads. Land that cantains untold wealth lies untouched. So rich, so vast that we could live within ourselves.

This overfiflowing stream of precious metal that has found its way into our nation's coffers were produced by labor. These corporations are kept at the peak of production by labor. Henry Ford says: "Produce, Fill More Needs." That demands labor. When J. J. Hill planned a transcontintal railroad labor opened the rich and golden West.

The law of supply and demand controls labor as it does any commodity. The railroads are short of labor, consequently with higher wages the lure the steel workers. The steel workers send agents to the southland to fill their vacancies. Just recently two were killed and three wounded when an agent from Mississippi attempted to take five Lousiana families to work a plantation. Labor seems to be more precious than gold.

Owing to the scarcity of unskilled labor the Secretary of Immigration has petitioned the government to amend the present stringent laws to alleviate the situation.

The destiny of the nation does not lie in amount of gold bullion, but in its power to produce. The capitalist with his millions amounts to nothing except when labor makes them produce.

Mr. Dough has so impressed on Mr. Dubb's mind that he is the power behind the throne, until Mr. Dubb has become hypnotized into believing that he does not amount to anything in this corner of the universe.

Labor is the Real Wealth of the Nation.

We are a potent factor in each and every undertaking. Whether skilled or unskilled if at the zenith of our ability to produce we can demand our rights, without favyor in the course of progress and upbuilding of our country.

Don't be a day dreamer. Throw off your lethargy. Never pass an opportunity to let the money interests know that you are as indispensible to them as they are to you.

Labor has never received its full share of the glory. It has never received a fractional part of the surplus it produces. Time will smooth them eventually to the satisfaction of both capital and labor. Don't be soothed by the lullaby of wealth: Labor is the back-bone of the nation.

Editor of the Eagle:

Will you kkindly permit me to thank my many friends who came out to Duarte, California the first Sunday in December to assist us in our ground breaking for the new church. We had three great services. At 11:00 a. m. the pastor had charge and served communion. At 3:00 p. m. the popular pastor at Watts, Rev. Price preached for us a great sermon. A large number of friends from Long Beach, Watts, Monrovia and Pasadena were present. Music was furnished by the choir of Second Baptist Church at Monrovia, Rev. Davis' church. At night the services were turned to the attention. Mrs. Dr. Phelps had charge A fine program was prepared by Mrs. Castle. We want to thank all that helped to make our first effort the great success it was, especially Brs. and Sister Williams. Sister Annie Greene and Sister Steward, Sister Hanford and Sister Fisher for the big barbecue on Thanksgiving. COMMITTEE ON INDUSTRIAL RESEARCH AT WORK
By E. J. Moore

The Committee on Industrial Research recently appointed by the Forum to formulate plans for invading the fields of industry heretofore closed to colored people is still at work. It will require much time and work to accomplish its activities. There has been much criticism of such a procedure by the Forum by some who contend that the Negroes should make places of his own for employment of his people. Of course this is alright as far as it goes, everyone knows that it will be many years before the Negro business men will be prepared to take care of the thousands of men and women who are prepared to fill almost any place now occupied by the whites. Must they sit down and wait till the Negro has built rail roads, street car railways, gas plants, electric lighting plants, big department stores, etc., before they aspire to seek employment in these places? There are several thousand Pulman porters and other trainmen in the employ of rail road companies, yet I have seen no record of a Negro owning a railroad. The fact is we are spending thousands of dollars annually on the railroads, street cars, in department stores, and there can be no reason advanced why capable Negroes should not be employed in these places. It is the best way to mold plans and ideas for conducting successful businesses of our own, for this is the best training school for future usefulness.

It might be well to mention the fact here and now that some of those who are loudest in opposing the plans of the Committee on Industrial Research in its quest for seeking better employment for our group, would be among the first to rush in and take advantage of any opening this committee might succeed in making. Let me also add that this work should not be confined to the Forum alone. The local branch of the N. A. A. C. P. should be deeply interested in just such work as this, and in fact, every civic body in this city should lend a hand in battering down the door that is closed against the skilled Negro worker.

NOTICE

Los Angeles, Dec. 4, 1922.

There is no doubt in my mind that those present at the meeting of the Junior Missionary Society Sunday, November 26th at 1546 W. 36th Place enjoyed a real treat.

The lecture by Dr. W. H. Cockerell on care of the teeth was timely and accorded with a hearty welcome.

So much so that the Dr. was asked to finish his lecture at our next meeting.

Words of Commendation to the program committee in their efforts to continually keep something of interest before the public.

The Carson sisters spared no pains in their efforts to entertain the body.

The Society is making ready for its regular Christmas work of Charity.

With the wonderful growth of the year we should be able to put over a big program this year. All friends are asked to help.

Come and hear Dr. Cockrell in his instructive lecture on the care of the teeth. Also Mrs. Alice Harvey sing. At the home of Misses Clotel and Inez Benett, 203 Benton Street, Sunday, December 10.

NOTICE

There will be a meeting of the Alabama State club Tuesday evening, December 19th at the Lincoln Memorial Congregational Church 34th St., and Central Avenue. All Alabamians are requested to be present. Business of great importance.

The Automobile Conditions Continue Improving

BUSINESS HEADED TO NORMALCY

(Special to the Eagle)

DETROIT, Dec. 23.—With the close of the present year at hand and business about to be temporarily suspended after a hard year's labor for Christmas Festivities, the thought uppermost in one's mind is what of the automobile outlook for 1923 from a commercial standpoint. Here in this great automobile manufacturing center where one's eyes constantly look upon thousands of new cars being completed and shipped daily to all four points of the globe, the conclusion would be reached by the untrained mind, an over-production was at hand and all plants should discontinue entirely or curtail their output. However, one has but to look at the back orders on file and the conclusion will be reached that the outlook for 1923 holds the most promising prospects for a successful year the business has ever hoped to enjoy.

The large number of cars sold during the present year shows that prices are stabelizing themselves and the public is again in a buying mood. It visualizes the efforts of the manufacturing concerns to make 1923 a year just as big if not bigger than any preceeding ones. Let the automobile public draw the curtain over 1922 and forget that which has been unpleasant in the trade's attempt to be square shooting with them and both can anticipate a better and brighter future.

HEAD OF CONCERN GENIUS

The Western Auto Supply Company whose ad appears elsewhere in the columns of this paper was started in Kansas City in 1909 by Mr. George Pepperdine, who to day holds the position of President. Mr. Pepperdine has proven himself to be a genius through the fact that this concern has through his guidance established and has in operation the largest chain of accessory houses, sixty-two in number, in the country.

This great number of stores, of which Los Angeles claims seven, covers the entire West. Their prices speak for themselves and an obliging, courteous force of clerks is constantly on the go waiting on thousands of patrons who daily throng their stores.

AUTOMOBILE ASSOCIATION

ANTOMOBILE ASSOCIATION OF SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA ACCOMPLISHES MUCH.

The Automobile Association of Southern California has done much to prevent accidents, relieving congestion and assisting the traveling automobile public to reach their various destinations with dispatch by instituting throughout the great Southwest a system of sign information. Twice since its origin which had its birth at Eighth and Olive has it been forced to seek new quarters so great has its volume of business become. Aside from its efforts above mentioned it maintains and operates a tremendous insurance business handling thousands of policies daily, practically at cost to the public. Then,too, it maintains a theft bureau which is doing much to discourage and make unprofitable the theft of Automobiles, a thing in itself commendable. Statistics gathered from this department alone show that hundreds of cars are stolen weekly despite their efforts to prevent same by the public leaving their cars unlocked.

A legal department is constantly on the job ironing out differences and smoothing conditions brought about by misunderstandings and accidents. The courts through the skill and efficiency of this department alone is robbed annually of trying hundreds of cases. It also maintains for the benefit of its members towing cars that are kept constantly on the go administering to those having accidents. For a small fee you are towed home and spared the embarrassment of spending the night in the country with the prowling wild animal brigade or professional highwaymen about the city streets.

New Quarters

An elegant new building but recently completed, located at Adams and Figueroa, thoroughly modern in every respect and large enough to take care of all business for years to come awaits this splendid organization. And when domiciled in their new quarters after the First of the Year, Los Angeles can truly boast of having housed in its confines an auto association that has and is accomplishing more than any similar body in the world. All told it gives employment directly and indirectly to several hundred employees.

CADILLAC HEADED FOR NEW HOME

The Cadillac car whose destiny reposes comfortably in hands of Don Lee, if all reports are true, is to have, as a reward for faithful service rendered the public, a brand new home on 7th Street near Bixel. The building is to be seven stories high, entirely concrete. Mr. Gummey, one of the department heads is looking forward toward a crowded house on the opening night scheduled for March 1, 1923.

In the mean time the used car department is offering at very low prices some of the best bargains in Cadillacs to be had any where in the city, and to take it from one who knows our friend Troy who is a big factor in seeing that all patrons get service says "Don't overlook this one big opportunity to surprise your friends by showing up on the scene on Christmas in a Cad.

OPEN FOR BUSINESS

Proprietors of the new service station in operation at Eighth and Chicago Avenue have spared no pains to make this one of the most up-to-date in the city. The building itself is constructed of steel throughout and the patrons re supplied with gas and oil through high pressure automatic pumps conveniently installed. They also carry a supply of tires and accessories. They solicit the patronage of all in their vicinity.

LOS ANGELES LEADS IN MANY AVENUES

Los Angeles leads in many avenues. Included below are a few figures pertaining to accidents, automobiles and population. They are extracts from the Traffic Commission's reports. Clearly scan them over and see if you can't help place our city in a better light by doing your part to help improve such conditions by living up to traffic rules.

"In 1919 there were 62,600 automobiles registered in the city of Los Angeles. On the 1st inst., the city's automobile registration was in excess of 765,000.

"In 1900 the government census ranked Los Angeles thirty-fifth in population among the cities of the United States. The government census of 1920 ranked Los Angeles the tenth largest city in population.

Accident Figures.

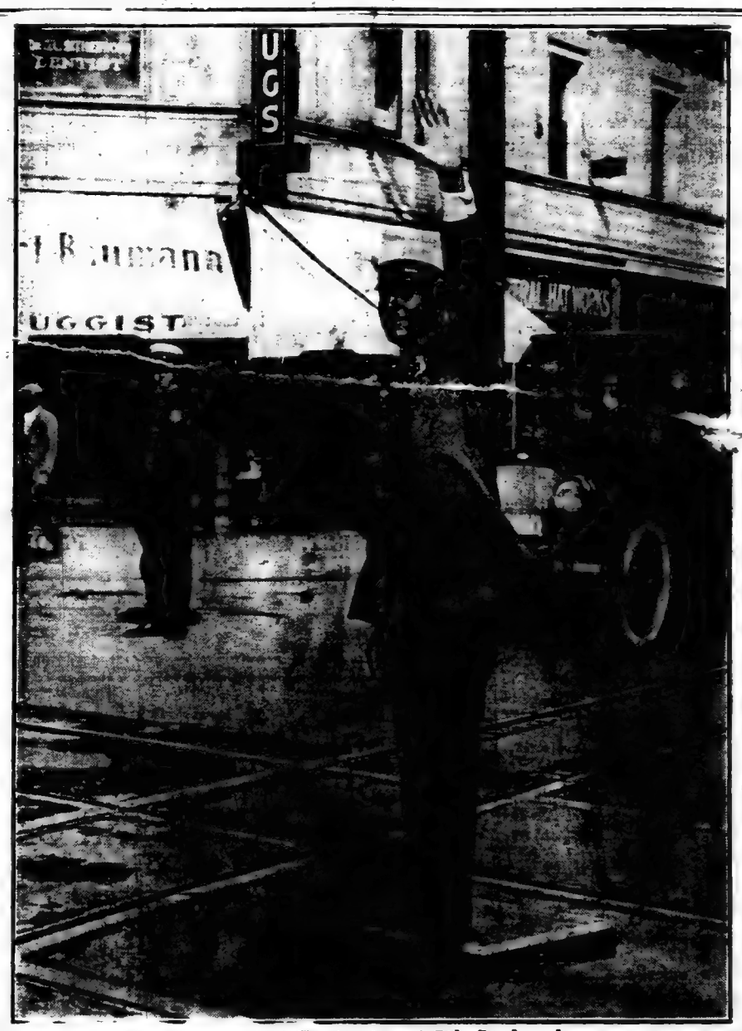
"During October, 1922, a total of 4079 traffic accidents in Los Angeles were recorded by the Police Department, as against 2047 in October, 1920.

"In 1921 the death rate from automobile accidents in Los Angeles per 100,000 population was 17.9, as against

For the whole United States	11.5
Average for all large cities	15.0
Manhattan	13.8
Chicago	10.3

"Based on recent checks the following volumes of traffic are handled daily between the hours of 5 and 6 p. m. at Seventh and Broadway:

Pedestrians	18,000 to 20,000
Automobiles	1,2000 to1,400
Street cars	320 to 350



Busiest Hours

"The intersection of Seventh and Broadway handles the largest volume of automobile traffic in the downtown district. From 7 a. m. to 6 p. m. a recent check showed a total of 13,493 passing automobiles at this intersection.

"Fifth and Broadway is the busiest intersection in point of pedestrian traffic, checks shawing a maximum of approximately 252,000 pedestrians per hour, as against a maximum of 23,000 at Seventh and Broadway.

"The Los Angeles Railway operates in the congested district 8404 car movements daily, the Pacific Electric more than 4000 daily.

"To Western and Wilshire avenues goes the distinction of handling the largest volume of automobile traffic of any intersection in the city. More than 34,000 automobiles crossed this intersection in a recent check of eighteen hours."

Oh Yes, we have em. Traffic at Central and 9th St. has become so congested as to require the services of an officer. Officer Sheffield (Center) is here shown directing traffic assisted by Officer Corley.

THE AUTOMOBILE

By Jennie Van Allen.
Contributing Editor to the Times

"I am the Automobile, ruler of the road and the friend of Man.

"But best of all I am the Liberator of the Horse.

"The Race Horse lives and he will as long as men love to see the sparks fly from his steel-shod hoofs; as long as men love the racing spirit imprisoned in flesh and blood and as long as men bet on training speed and endurance.

"I came to save horses whose mouths are bloody with the grip of the Spanish bit, whose bodies are crusted with festering sores and whose shoulders are galled by their load.

"I came to save horses who fall on slippery roads and who are lashed and kicked until they struggle to their feet and stand quivering with the nervous shock and the hideous pain of strained muscles and aching joints.

"I come to save horses who are starved until their bones pierce their hides; horses who suffer thirst until the white foam drips from their lips; horses who look at their inhuman masters with bloodshot eyes, as they are beaten over the head and prodded with sticks when they are stalled on the road.

"Oh God, how horses suffered before I came to liberate them!

"The long, long years that multiplied into centuries while I lay in the brain of man like a butterfly in a chrysalis. And the horse bore his burden in sunshine and storm—in summer's blistering heat and winter's numbing cold.

"And then I was born.

"I was crude and unlovely but I could go faster than the fastest horse. But I wouldn't go if my joints were stiff. I couldn't turn a wheel if I was without gas, oil and water. I was so proud of my speed that I smoked and puffed as I flew over the long, long miles. And I was so glad to be useful, even if I was unbeautiful.

But now I am king of the traffic. I have evolved from the ugly catapillar into the winged creature that shines with fine enamel, burnished silver and glittering glass. Within I am a mass of exquisite mechanism and the place where my lady rides is as lovely as a boudoir.

"I am groomed like a race horse and no one dares to kick and beat me because my wheels are broken or my engine dead. They feed me and water me and oil me. They treat me well. They handle me with skill. They don't goad me at top speed over icy roads or wet pavements, for if they take any liberties with me, I know how to punish them.

"I know how to skid! I know how to smash their costly car into kindling wood. I know how to maim people and how to take life. And when I'm not treated decently, I do it. Oh how I laugh and call on the spirits of tortured horses to rejoice with me when I have evened their score.

"But if the drivers are real men and not speed maniacs; if they have nerves that are well controlled; if they know when to stop and when [illegible] am more tractable than a [illegible] obey them when they give me gas and I go slow when their foot is on the brake. As a motor truck I carry tons and tons to the uttermost parts of the land as an eagle carries a feather in his wing.

"I am glad I am strong and beautiful. I am glad that men love me and pour out their gold that they may own me. I am glad they respect me and that while I am only wood and metal, yet they dare not abuse me as they have abused the flesh of the horse.

"As Abraham Lincoln stands in the eyes of the world as the Emancipator of a race, so I, the Automobile, stand as the Liberator of man's best friend—the Horse.

PASADENA PREPARES TO ENTERTAIN THOUSANDS NEW YEAR'S

ROSE TOURNAMENT PASADENA MAKES READY TO BE HOSTESS TO THOUSANDS NEW YEARS DAY.

The Annual Rose Tournament held in Pasadena every new year's day gives promise this year of being the largest and best ever held. For a period covering many years back thousands have gathered annually in the above neighboring city to witness the different features of the day included amongst which are the great floral parade with its hundreds of gaily floral bedecked automobiles, the annual East against the West football classic. Every year congestion on the highways joining the two cities is so great many are caught in the jam denied the opportunity of witnessing the parade. Those in charge of the tournament advise that an early start be made so that one may allow themselves ample time to reach the parking districts adjacent to the line of march and secure a desirable location. There is room for all if every one did not wait till the last minute.

Several times the colored citizenry of the Crown City have entered floats and carried prizes and it is to be hoped they shall not let their ambitions to capture one this year trail in the dust.

INTRODUCE NEW LINE

Gausti, House and Guilli take this means of announcing the addition of Hood Truck Tires and Samson Cords to their other lines of tires.

Mr. Dodson, manager of the East-side branch, located at 8th and Merchant advances the information that high quality of production maintained by the standard manufacturing concerns throughout the country has done more to stablize unsettled conditions and chase the gyps out of business than any one thing else. Aside from this piece of information he speaks of nothing but the highest terms of appreciation for the manner in which every one both customer and employee has done their part to make the nam Gausti, House Guilli, what it is, a mouth piece.

ANNOUNCEMENT

We take great pleasure in announcing to our readers the issueing of this classified automotive section in this Christmas edition. To our knowledge this is the first edition of its kind ever undertaken by a negro paper. The Eagle congratulates itself in having solicited and secured the services of Mr. E. L. Dorsey to edit this section. Mr. Dorsey has had 15 years active service in the automotive field and the successful editing of this section is largely due to his personal supervision.

MGR. EDITOR.

ATTENTION

The one object, two fold in its purpose, that we have in mind above every thing else in issuing this automotive section, is first to give each auto owner of our group, some twenty-five hundred in number, an accurate surface idea of amount of cash that is being spent annualy just for upkeep to say nothing of purchase price of cars in question and to bring each owner in direct contact with those concerns that not only guarantee you your money's worth but in a general way show our group that they desire their patronage by soliciting same in the most direct way available. through the columns of our colored papers and those of the California Eagle in particular, which unquestionably has the largest bona fide circulation of any negro journal in the West.

$200,000.

Over two hundred thousand dollars is spent annually by the automotive public of this group. This being a fact, the question naturally arises then are you to just simply dole out such an amount promiscuously or shall we study trade conditions and environments and concentrate as near as possible our efforts to directing this amount in avenues of business where it is solicited rather than where it is not wanted.

Facts and Figures

One retail automobile concern alone has according to their books written up over $20,000 in negro business.

Several wholesale concerns that know where of they speak have done from three to five thousand dollars each in business with this group.

For the month of November alone one wholesale concern received an order for over one thousand seven hundred dollars. These are just a few of the many concerns that are waxing fat on business given them by the group.

The Eagle has gone to some expense and time in collecting facts and data that will appear in its columns from time to time under this section, substantiating its contention htat it is time to call a halt and find out who's who before the parad proceeds down the avenu of Expenditure.

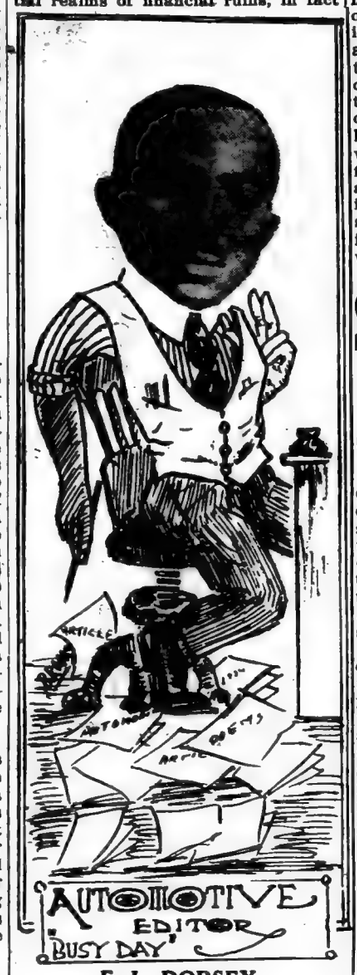
WHO ARE THEY?

The auto dealers, and accessory concerns whose ads appear in the advertisement columns of this edition have been carefully solicited. They are well established and successful business concerns, whose annual balance sheets include profitable returns from business done with our group.

They are worthy of and take this means of soliciting your patronage directly if retailers and indirectly if wholesale through the medium of the retailers named in their ads.

COMMENTS

Subsequent to and following America's entry into the great world war, the automobile industry became much disturbed. A well balanced, nicely oiled and highly efficient and systemitized business became just the reverse. Many concerns quit manufacturing autos all together, others were taken over by the Government and turned in the munitions plants, some such as the great Ford and Chevrolet plants managed to maintain a semblance of normalcy by conducting business on a fifty-fifty basis, that was fifty per cent government and fifty per cent public. The creating of new business actually ceased; in fact the bottom fell out of everything over night, so to speak.



Immediately following armistice the thermometer of production started to rise. No one waited for actual signing of peace, and well they didn't for the then incumbent administration was so dominated by individualism that it took nearly two years, in fact a change in political faith to turn the trick and a suffering and much abused automobile industry, to say nothing of an anxious waiting automobile public would have even in event that it didn't perish become so weak that foreign capital scouting for new business and business adventures would have had a considerable toe hold by now.

Never in the history of the auto game, which stretches over a period of some twenty-five years, has there been such a condition created by such an acute situation as that which has at last begun to clarify itself. These conditions bespeak for the tire and accessory business as well as that of the automobile.

New and unheard of manufacturing and retail concerns began to crop up on every side in competition with well established business. All entertaining the well-grounded idea that peace, as it did, must come, and a war burdened and troubled world, and America in general and this great State of California in particular with its registration in cars headed toward the million mark and incidentally our own growing city, Los Angeles, would need mobile asistance to help swing business from a war footing basis back to the phase of peace and the resumption of manufacturing in general which is one of the chief assets of this nation. where prices are the same.

Prices Decline.

Prices which at the start of the war began rapidly rising continued to soar upward and onward toward the celestial realms of financial ruins, in fact old man profiteering ws openly accused of having had a hand in the pie.

In the summer of 1920 Henry Ford of Automobile fame cracked the whip which in a large measure regulates prices and an immediate resumption followed. Dropsand cuts have continued in this self same direction until low prices antedate those of 1914 and quality of production has never been higher.

Prosperity in Sight

As a result of that which has and is happening prosperity must and will ultimately come to all. Consumer as well as producer. Chaotic conditions in so far as the automobile business is concerned is passed. Profiteering ceases to be profitable, and [illegible] tomobile industry throughout [illegible] country has a better opportunity for success, progress and development, which in itself means much more to the public, than it has ever had before.

Colored EMPLOYEES

Automobile Industry in City of Los Angeles Employs Large Colored Force.

The automobile industry in this city employs a large, competent and efficient colored force. The positions held span a large variety of vocations, including heads of departments, clerks, salesmen, demonstraters, auto mechanics, delivery men, garage service men and custodians. Many filling some of the best places started pushing the broom and cleaning cuspidors, one of the few jobs generally left open to the colored employe seeking a livelihood, to the exclusion of other races. In many such instances highly educated and efficiently trained men have been discovered, and in such cases where one's ability, rather than his or her complexion, is taken in consideration by such firms employing them that individual is today enjoying "equality of opportunity." A thing in itself that all should be granted irrespective of race or creed.

Here in a city of over 700,000 population, nearly 50,000 of which are colored Americans, a large fast growing city under whose canopy every nation and race of the world is represented, the fact that over 2000 of the race earn their daily livelihood in competition with the rest bespeaks in highest terms the fairness of the employer, generally speaking, to secure competent help from what ever source it may come. The pay roll itself is in excess of $180,000 per month.

On the other hand there are no few concerns that have not learned that in order to secure a share of the large melon that is annually being distributed by twenty-five hundred auto owners of the race amounting in dollars and cents terms to over $2000,000 annually, they must, especially where prices are the same, indulge in reciprocity to some extent.

The present system of government is balanced by the accumulation and distribution of wealth and a race, nation or individual that does not possess some portion of same or make an effort to secure some is not going to be considered in the shuffle. Hence, the races' declaration—Reciprocity

AUTO BUSINESS FOSTERED BY RACE

Many individuals, members of the group realizing the future possibilities that the automobile business held out for one desiring to enter the field, have within the past year or two entered same and are doing well. The average garage, tire concern or oil station conducted by them is well patronized by the citizenry of Los Angeles in general.

In most instances his business compares favorably with that of his Caucasin friend, if one is inclined to consider such a criterian.

Location, equipment, and service have been carefully planned and layed out. Several of them belong to various automobile trade associations and are showing in every way visible their desire to conduct business according to Ford the Hoyle of the automobile game. One of the largest concerns doing business has a monthly pay roll of over $3,500. Others vary from $1000 to $2000 and many firms $500 to $1000. These figures alone tend to show that even though in its infancy the future holds forth a successful business career for those inclined to suffer a few hardships while making the grade.

SERVICE OF MERIT REWARDED

LONG SERVICE COUPLED WITH ABILITY MERITS REWARD

Down in the receiving department of Weinstock and Nichols, wholesale dealers in auto equipment and accessories, just as one enters, passes to the left and halts at the desk they come in contact with an individual, the subject of this sktch, Mr. H. Patterson, known to every one in and around the building, and upon the street as just plain Harry.

Harry started at the bottom rung of employment with this concern when it first opened its doors some 10 years or more ago, and by constant attention to duty, his caney ability to absorb information, and his every desire to help give the company a greater name soon attracted the superintendent and another colored employee was in addition added to the force to take up the vacancy created by his promotion.

Today he stands guard over the receiving department, responsible for the correct checking in of every article that this large concern purchases daily from all quarters of the globe, amounting to thousands of dollars. Aside from this he spends his leisure moments rounding up business for the firm instead.

Incidentally Harry wears the same size hat he didnten years or so ago, when he and the broom were close associates. The broom has sworn to give the pencil which robbed it of its association with Harry a good beating, so Harry never turns it loose for fear of the broom carrying out its threat. So far as is known they are the only two that are at outs with each other over Harry's rise. From the head of the firm on down to the cat employed to catch mice, Harry has one chain of friends.

Colored Chauffeurs Once More Form Organization

Los Angeles boasts of something in excess of two hundred and fifty four colored chauffeurs. Previous to the war they maintained jointly with colored hotel employees well equipped quarters at 8th and San Julian Sts.

The war made such inroads into the ranks of their membership that they were forced to suspend business in the early part of 1918 and since that time until recently have been drifting upon the sea of disorganization.

Recently there was a round up of old and new blood and the result is that a splendid organization, the California Chauffeurs' Club is again being formed.

WARREN SERVICE STATION

A gneral discussion took place the other day over at Warren's Service Station on Central Avenue, dispensers of Richfield Gas, about traffic congestion and what should be done to relieve the situation.

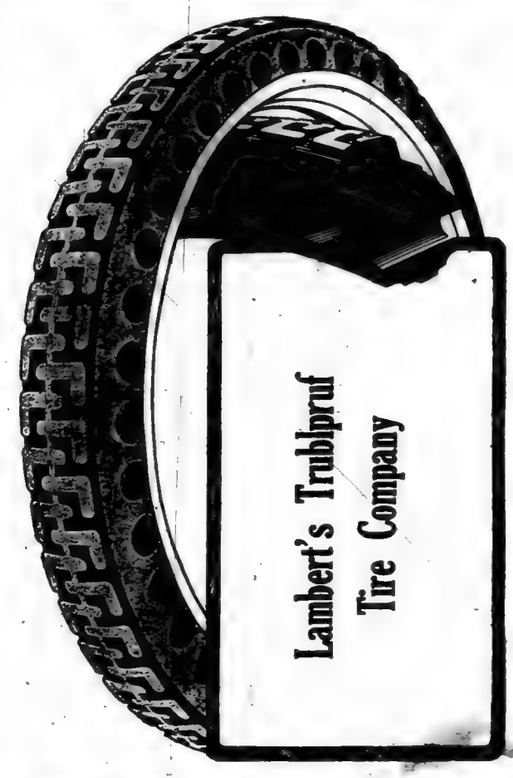
Many solutions were advanced. Some were for elevating the street car system. Many suggested widening the streets, others said regulate parking, nad cut out the use of automobiles. Finally one customer who had little or nothing to say up to this time suggested that if every body used Richfield, there would be no traffic problems to solve and he gave four reasons why

(1.) The high grade of gas turned out by their refineries would permit every driver to dispense with the shifting of gears when slowing down.

((2.) Starting in high from a standing stop would be possible in many instances.

(3.) Owing to the great mileage one gets using Richfield fewer would blockk traffic by running out of gas.

(4.) Climatic and atmospheric changes would have no efffect and concluding he rmarked that if it was'nt for Richfield there would be no joy racing and the use of Automobiles would become obselete.



Richfifield won and the Warren boys who conduct one of the largest stations in the city felt compilmented that they had used descretion and picked a winner.

NEWS FROM EVERYWHERE

BOSTON, Dec. 20.—(Crusader Service) Within two years, owing to the Near East situation, there is likely to be another great war, Senator William E. Borah of Idaho said in an address tonight in Symphony Hall. His subject was "the recognition of Russia" and he advocated that step by the United States as a means of averting European conflagration.

Calling for "unqualified" recognition of the present Government of Russia, Senator Borah told the huge crowd that filled Symphony Hall that the recognition of a Government did not necessarily carry approval of that country's institutions.

Many Governments in the past would not have received recognition had the United States haggled over their internal regulations, he said.

In defense of the present-day Russian institutions Senator Borah declared "Life is as safe under the Soviet Government tonight s it is in Boston."

And, he might have added, much safer than in the Southern states of these United States, since Soviet Russia has not, and never will, adopt one of this country's most infmous institutions—lynching!

KLANSMEN ON SCREEN CHEERED BY N. Y. AUDIENCE!

Klan Orators to Defy Mayor Hylan—Promise 'Educational' Drive Soon.

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—(Crusder sader Service) Revival of "The Clansman" in this city was received with yells, cheers, stamping and whistling at the Selwyn Theatre last night.

Last night's audience seemed to be composed largely of modern Klansmen, to judge by the cheers every time a Clansman appeared on the screen. A few bold enough to hiss the picture were answered by such crys as::

"Throw the dirty snakes out—kick 'em out."

The demonstration has caused deep concern among thoughtful Negroes here, indicating as it does that the Klan boasts of an immense membership in New York was not all empty talk.

It is said that the revival of the picture was at the instance of Ku Klux Klan organizzers in this city.

Deep interest is also felt in the promise of the Klan officials to ahswer Mayor Hylan's challenge by sending a number of leading Klansmen to New York to make public addresses. So far as known only three of the national lecturers of the Klan have been working recently in New York City, but these have confined their speeches to secret or to semi-secret meetings, admission to which could be had by invitation only.

That several of these meetings have been held at the home of Edward A. Wuppermann, banker of 57 West 75th Street, became known yesterday when Wuppermann, issued a statement explaining how these meetings came to be held at his home, and espousing the cause of Klanism at these meetings several judges and many lawyers were present.

KLAN TO BOYCOTT NEW YORK CITY

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Dec. 20.—(Crusader Service) Promising retaliation for Mayor Hylan's attack on the Klan, the Rev. Roger C. Fife, one of the numerous Christian ministers who are members of the Klan, bitterly assailed the city of New York's mayor and police force for their threats against Klan organizers who may attempt to operate in New York and declared that as a result of Mayor Hylan's opposition to the Klan "ten thousand Middle Western merchants will refuse this Spring to go to New York to buy goods."

The reverened Christian gentleman spoke before 800 fellow Christians at the Temple Christian Church, Kansas City, Kan. The church was too small to hold the numerous Christian people trying to hear their Klansman leader.

ANOTHER N. Y. MINISTER CHAMPIONS KU KLUXISM

The Rev. Dr. Hillis Espouses Cause of Klan Americanism.

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—(Crusader Service) Another New York minister of the Gospel has come out for the Klan in the person of the Rev. Dr. Newell Dwight Hillis, pastor of Plymouth Congregational Church, Brooklyn. Dr. Hillis speaking last night on the Klan attacked the enemies of the organization and declared that the principles for which the Klan stood should be defended by every white American who is not under hte domination of the Church of Rome. He declared that the Klan had not been convicted of the many crimes charged against it, and ignored the difficulty of fastening upon a secret organization whose membership is not known responsibility for crimes committed under the cover of night and behind the shield of a mask nad sheet.

"Multitudes of criminal charges have been brought against the Ku Klux Klan, but [illegible] far our newspapers in running down these charges have not found anywhere south of Mason and Dixon's line any conclusive proofs of these alleged crimes, nor apparently has there been one crime by the Ku Klux established before a court of law."

The crimes committed by the Ku Klux south of the Mason and Dixon line apparently had no interest for this latest addition of the Christian clergy to the Ku Klux Klan

N. Y. POLICE GIVE DISTRICT ATTORNEY LIST OF 800 IN KLAN

Drive Against Ku Klux Now Centers in District Attorney, With Mayor's Aid.

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—(Crusader Service) The first sign of police activity against the Ku Klux Klan since Mayor Hylan issued his instructions to Police Commissioner Enright to run the Klan out of the city, came yesterday, when all the evidence against and information concerning the Klan in the possession of the Police Department was turned over to the District Attorney.

According to acting District Attorney Ferdinand Pecora, the most important material received from the Police Department was a list of approximately 800 alleged Klansmen, with their addresses. The greater number of these are residents of New York City and of native American stock, but among the names are many living in the metropolitan section of New Jersey.

Although Mr. Pecora did not say so, the list is believed to be several months old and one obtained from a former Grand Goblin of the Klan.

Tucson, Ariz., Dec. 14, 1922.

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Bass::

Just a line to let you know we arrived "OK". Had a very successful trip. The weather was fine all the way down. Had no car trouble. Stopped over in Phoenix a few hours. Left L. A. Monday Dec. 4ht. Arrived here in Tucson Friday 8th. Found everything in fine shape. Will write you more in detail and give you some news from mines in my next letter. Some news for you to publish in this week's paper. W. T. Allen and party braved the Desert of Arizona to Comabobi Mountains once more to complete the work on the Missouri group of selling claims. This being Mr. Allen's second trip to the mines in two months time to which both trips were made very successmully. He further states that the property is making a very rich showing. I am more than pleased with this great showing of rich property. Watch the Eagle for further news from the mines.

Mr. and Mrs. W. I. Allen's Headquarter's are in Tucson, P. O. Box 776. They have rented their home at 1163 E. 38th Street furnished and wish to inform their many friends. Those that accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Allen on his trip to the mines were Mrs. Allen, his wife; Mr. E. B. Patterson (who has braved the desert trails several times before, and has successfully piloted each time his party) Mr. H. Hogan, who also has made the trip before.

Mr. G. W. Miller, President and founder was very jubilent on their arrival, and met them at the house he had prepared for them.

TWO GRAND JURIES TO SIFT KLAN DRIVE; INDICTMENTS ASKED

Judge Mancuso Says Invasion is Aimed at All Races, Colors and Creeds.

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.— (Crusader Service) An investigation of the activities of the Ku Klux Klan in New York County by the two Grand Juries now sitting was directed yesterday by Judge Francis X. Mancuso of the Court of General Sessions. Judge Mancuso ,speaking from the bench, declared that the invasion of New York City was aimed not only at the Negroes, Jews and Catholics, but at all who did not accept the Klan's principles. He directed the members of the two Grand Juries to conduct a thorough investigation and to return indictments if the evidence should warrant such action.

In his charge to the regular Grand Jury, Judge Mancuso said, in part:

"I have been informed that several meetings of the Klan were held in this city, at which the full regalia was used, consisting of a gown and mask. It is your duty, gentlemen, to make an investigation of this matter and all other matters referred to by me with a view to ascertaining whether any of the acts committed by the Klan come within the purview of the penal statutes of this State. For that reason I invite your attention to Section 710 of the penal law, which provides as follows:

"An assemblage in public houses or other places of three or more persons disguised by having their faces painted, discolored or concealed is unlawful, and every individual so disguised, present thereat, is guilty of a misdemeanor."

SEES PLOT OF KU KLUX AGAINST GOVERNOR

ADA, Okla., Dec. 20.—(Crusader Service) Judge J. W. Boien of the Pontotoc County District Court, in which is docketed the bribery case against Governor Robertson of Oklahoma, issued a statement tonight, declaring that his observations convinced him that the Ku Klux Klan was organizing a jury to try the Governor and bring in a verdict of guilty no matter what the evidence.

This is only one of many instances in which the Ku Klux Klan is plainly seen driving at the State power of various states. It is one of the rare cases in which a judge or other public official has had the courage to oppos the wishes of the Klan.

LIGHTFOOT GETS KLAN WARNING

Atlantic City Attorney, Opposing School Segregation, Sent Threatening Letter.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Dec. 20.—(Crusader Service) Indications pointing to the formation of an Atlantic County Chapter of the Ku Klux Klan were seen here today, when it became known that James A. Lightfoot, one of the chief opponents of the Board of Education's plan for the segregation of colored school children, received a warning from the Klan.

"Segregation is right," the letter received by Attorney Lightfoot said, and it was on the engraved letterhed of the K. K. K., bearing an address in Atlanta, Ga. The envelope was postmarked Atlantic City.

"We do not and will not seek any trouble," said Attorney Lightfoot, in the only answer he has deigned to give the Klan letter, "but we are willing to meet the Ku Klux Klan on Artic, Baltic or any other avenue in this city any day man for man, and if we lose we will accept the hardships of the vanquished. We trust there is nothing to it; that there will be no harm done to any Negro citizen day or night, because we know it will bring about a situation that will be long remembered here."

In the meantime, prominent Negroes here think that Attorney Lightfoot has given coinage to a sentence that should be impressed in letters of fire upon every Negro brain; in order that the race may cease its suicidal dreaming and rouse itself to the struggle and the implictions of Ku Klux conquest of political power in this country: "IF WE LOSE WE MUST ACCEPT THE HARDSHIPS OF THE VANQUISHED."

RICHFIELD? GREAT GUNS!

When Jimmie Murphy, popular Los Angeles driver flashed under the line a winner of the big annual racing classic held at Beverly Hills Speedway recently it wasn't gasoline alone that assisted him so much as it was Richfield Gasoline.

Thousands who went to the Speedway in the hope that there would be some excitement got their reward by being witness to one of the prettiest races ever held on the course Richfield not only piloted Murphy and his Durant to victory but also Cooper and Hartz, who also drove Durants and had their tanks filled with Richfield gas and Richlube Oil. Records were smashed right and left. All three broke the 111.2 mile an hour average made a year ago. Murphy set up a new world's record of 114.6 miles an hour.

Gas Not Special.

The highgrade used by this trio was the same as that to be obtained at any Richfield service station.

Manager Speaks

The Manager of the Richfield Oil Company, Mr. Fuller is highly elated at the showing made by this L. A. product handled by them, and predicts even greater achievements will follow in the wake of what has already happened. Richfield possesses a world of power, and insures one of a quick pick-up and is capable of furnishing long milage. All motorists, whether driving a truck, touring car or racer, insist on these three things and Richfield supplies the answer.

HAPPINESS AND ACHIEVEMENT

The Deathless Expedition of the Ages.

Down the sea of the centuries man sails the ship of his dreams seeking the harbor of happiness and achievement.

This is the deathless expedition of the ages. Centuries slip into eternity, philosophies flourish and fall, truths live their hour, and are truths no longer, but the quest for happiness goes on forever. The discovery of continents, the making of nations, the conquest of earth's forces—these are incidents of the Great Adventure. In pursuit of happiness man enlisted art, which is of the spirit; science, which is of the mind; industry, which is of the fiflesh. Pasteur and Michelangelo, in the yearning of their own hearts for happiness, helped others towards happiness; the one with his art, the other with his great humane discoveries.

HAMILTON M. E. CHURCH—

E. 18th Street and Naomi Avenue. Rev. S. M. Beane, Pastor.

Despite threatening skies, services were well attended at this church on last Sunday. The Pastor preached at the morning hour from the subject, "The Gift of The Holy Spirit." This was a forceful presentation of the much abused idea of this gift. It was enjoyed by all. At night he preached from the subject, "The Church at Philadelphia."

Epworth League was well attended, and the Sunday School continues to hold its place in the development of our church life.

Christmas exercises will be held on Sunday night. The presentation will be a cantata entitled "Lord of All." The treat for the children will follow. You are cordially invited to be pesent and bring your children.

The one and only Charles Stewart delivered a great lectur on Friday December the 15th. He changed his subject to "Civilization Wants a Man." It was great and thoroughly enjoyed by the large number of persons present. We were indeed pleased to have him present with us.

You are cordially invited to attend any and all of our services. This church is the "Stranger's Home, where you will always find a cordial welcome and a hearty handshake. Come and see.

TABERNACLE BAPTIST CHURCH—

12th and Hemlock Streets.

Last Sunday was a great day in Tabernacle. The wether was fair and quite a crowd was out to greet the pastor on his return from the National Baptist Convention.

The services were of a high spiritual order throughout the day. The pastor spoke at 11:00 . m. on "Proofs and Products of Love. John 15:13. Greater love hath no man than this that a man lay down his life for his friend.

Dr. Charles Stewart, of Chicago poke at 8:00 p. m. to a large audience.

Dr. A. M. Ward and wife ran in to services on their way home from services at their church. We are always glad ot have our brother pastors drop in to see us. The pulpit was graced with quite a large number of Divines. Among them was Dr. J. Madison Young of our Theological School.

The pastor preaches at both services Sunday. The B. Y. P. U., the Junior Missionary Society and the Sunday School were out in large numbers to hear the pastors talk on the trip to the National Convention.

Our friends are always welcome at Tabernacle.

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN RESUMES ACTIVITIES. PUT ON STELLAR CARD.

Those who took a chance and meandered out to Madison Square Gardens on last Wednesday night were well repaid for their effort, for on this occasion Matchmaker Toles put on one of the best programs of the season. Six rattling bouts were staged and each one was for blood and the best man won or made a draw on hsi merit.

The Main Event —

Sunny Jim the San Diego fighting deamon was pitted against vicious Victor Alexander. Victor is right in the heavyweight class, while Sunny Jim is only a light-heavyweight, but Sunny by his craftiness and ring generalship won all the way from Victor and earned the decision. The principal reason that Vic could not win was the fact that he could not hit Sunny Jim, and Sunny Jim did hit Vic almost at will. Of course if Vic could have connected with his mighty wallop a different story of the main event might be written.

The Semi Wind Up.

Eddie Morton of Bakersfifield and Blackie Rice were pitted against each other at catch weights. Now just remember that this bout was a humdinger from start to finish. Blackie Rice was the winner all the way. He jabbed, ducked, got away and then would come back with that mighty wallop and was too much for Eddie at this time. Eddie Morton let it be said to his credit, never backed up an inch and displayed a gameness seldom equalled in the fistic arena.

He is a coming boy and with experience will no doubt make his mark. Blackie Rice is one of the cleverest boxers in these parts and it will always take a top notcher to hold him today.

The Other Bouts—

Kid Blondie vs: Hobo Alexander fought fast and furious for four rounds with the Hobo on the long end of the money. Kid Blondie had one bad round when the Hobo knocked him down, except for this the bout would have been a draw. Blondie wants a return match.

Kid Sickum vs: :Kid Cicero fought four rounds to a draw. Cicero stood up almost out, but Sickum failed to finish his man and it was a draw.

Sailor Price vs: Young Burton slacked up in a rattling go. Price was there all of the time, but Burton was too fast for him and got the decision.

Zulu Kid vs: Young Ford fought four rounds to a draw.

Next Wednesday night Mack House and Kid Mexico will go for the Main Event. This should draw a packed house.

TENNIS CHATTER

Where Will Second Annual Pacific Coast Championship Be Decided July 3 and 4. Big Question.

By William Mells Watson.
1555 Court Street.

Just where The Western Federation of Tennis Clubs will stage its second annual Pacific Coast rumpus is not yet known, but this important bit of intelligence will probably be extracted from the bill of fare at the Fed's next gathering Wednesday night, January 3rd.

Oakland, Frisco, Pasadena or L. A.?

It is generally conceded that the Racquette Tennis Club of Oakland will perform the duties of host upon this momentous occasion very capably headed by their recently elected president, Miss Victoria Grace Shorey, but as the Northerners have not yet made the request for the July plum and all clubs are accorded equal rights the battle ground is still a secret. Do we hear an answer?

The Questionaire

....(NOTE—All communications must bear writer's name and address.)

Q. How many of the clubs are still unfinancial with the Fed? G. S. C.

A. We are prowd to state that all six clubs have paid in full to June 30, 1923.

Q. Why have we no clubs in San Diego or Pasadena? W. J.

A. The Young Men's Alliance Club, later the Ajax Tennis Club of Pasadena at one time was one of the most promising clubs in the Fed. but died in 1920 for reasons unknown to the writer. In 1919 San Diego organized a splendid group of young athletes both ladies and gents but Dan Cupid is said to have gotten his arrows imbedded in so many of their hearts that he "busted up the party."

ABOUT NOTHING MUCH TO DO

Now that everyone, saint and sinner, has ceased throwing bricks and bouquets at Mr. Siki and the young man, who only a few days back was made a hero over night, now lies prostrated before the throne of public opinion.

On venture, all evidence being in hands, to make a few brief com-

Georges Carpentier attempted to measure arms with young Siki and was promptly disarmed.

Commnts and more comments followed. Sermons were preached. K. K. K. took advantage of the opportunity to spread some propaganda and Jack Dempsey was confined to his bed for several days with an attack of Wills fever. Street-sweepers as well as bank presidents, and even the peace conference found time to investigate whether white supremacy was in danger of being crushed by the rising tide of color.

Even the editors of some of the world's greatest daily papers ceased writing about world affairs to comment, and in no small way, upon the victory of this black Senegalese over a supposed to be, as is usually the case, impregnable pugilistic champion, in this instance, Georges Carpentier; and in a general way as to the effect it would have upon the races.

Siki strange to say has been temporrily suspended from fighting. His desire to be constantly in action and according to reports his further desire to not only fight champions in the 12 foot pugilistic tennis arenas, particularly and choose a second now and then on the outside is largely responsible for his premature nemises as a pugilistic and his Arbucle condition.

However be that as it may common sensed folks should not and will not allow themselves to be camouflaged into believing that Siki's victory, legetimate or illegitimate, has any connection whatever with world's affairs.

Such contrasts and comparisons have no place in public discussions.

The world seeks peace, so let us wor kfor it and have it.

Siki is an individual and should be treated as such. Negroes are not any more responsible for his action than he is for theirs.

Here in many parts of the U. S. A. and particularly in the State of New York and CCalifornia, mixed bouts are of weekly occurance and houses are crowded with an orderly, amiable and good natured crowd whose only purpose is to enjoy a few hours recreation. So lets stop throwing monkey wrenches in the machinery and get busy on a campaign that will educate the mind truthfully over the head of propagandist payed to spread the propaganda and make people believe that one race is better than nother.

SIKI WAS TO HAVE "LOST"

Race Pride, However, Prevented and Senegalese Mussed Up French Idol. Victory Made Enemies. These Determined to Get Him and, Backed By Diplomts Finally Succeeded.

PARIS, Dec. 26.—(Crusader Service. The Siki incident refuses to die out. Sensational disclosure has followed sensational disclosure. On one day the public learn how the British and French Governments stooped to take a part in the work of destroying this rugged African who had shattered white prestige in a dosen prize rings and finally sent down for the count the idol of all France and the lightweight champion of the world, Georges Carpentier, who was also heavyweight champion of Europe.

To-day Battling Siki declared in the presence of Deputy Diagne and two witnesses that his fight with Carpentier for the light heavyweight world's championship had been "framed," but that during the fight he had determined to be the winner.

Siki said that, once he was in the ring in front of a crowd of 50,000 and conscious of his own strength, he had a revulsion of feeling, despite reminders from his corner, during his minute's rest after the third round, and had decided to go in and win.

Deputy Diagne, listening to this story from the deposed champion, recently bereft of his title by the French Boxing Federation, as it was told to newspaper men, said it was exactly what Siki had relted to him as the story Siki said he would tell in court and of which Diagne said he had proof. This was the only reason, the Deputy stated, for his agreeing to fight the case of the Senegalese.

That the Siki-Carpentier battle was won by Siki and not "lost" to Carpentier was due to the pride of the Negro fighter.

"I could not lie down before 50,000 people acclaiming me," he said. "Never before had I ben on my knees to any man."

Several times when hard hit in the third in his efforts to live up to the villainous agreement and waiting for the delivery of a blow that would be hard enough to warrant his dropping for the count, Siki was spurred on by his race pride, as the crowd howled "He's beaten; the Negro is finished" and jeered what they thought to be a defeated fighter who never had had a chance at all with the chmpion of Europe.

Siki made up his mind to fight. He knew he could win, and soon he was going after Carpentier hammer and tongs, with such effect as to make it necessary to convert Carpentier's home into a privte hospital for several weeks following the famous fight in which the African won the European title.

Siki's statement that the bout was framed and he was to have "lost" to Carpentier is backed up by a statement in the Matin for Dec. 7, attributed to M. Henri Bernstein, who refeered the bout. Bernstein, according to the Matin, was puzzled by certain words he overheard during the fight. "I heard Siki say to Carpentier, "Don't hit so hard. What is the use to hit so hard when it is all settled." During the fourth round I heard Carpentier say "Will you lie down? Get down."

Siki has never been knocked out in his life and has lost only two of seven fights. The two were lost on points.

WHAT IS AN AUTOMOBILE?

For the benefit of any one who may chance to run across this edition and not be acquainted with the word automobile the Eagle offers the following definition.

An automobile is a thing created by the ingenuity of man. An instrument of pain, torture and death or pleasure, joy and health. Runs on four wheels ordinarily, sometimes six. Controlled by man when sane and Providence when insane. Built to abolish horse slavery and make mules free. A mechanical animal that exonorates its master and receives and expects all blame in case of accident. A riding conveyance totally deaf, dumb and blind, controlled by mental telepathy of man. Subsists on gasoline and oil instead of hay and oats, but depends on water the same as a horse to moisten its throat. Gives a policeman a job and a pedestrian a scare. Is covered with paint instead of hair. Anything seen perambulating up or down the street, day or night that resembles this description is considered and so designated by the editor a Car, a Machine, an Automobile.

CLIPPINGER-KINCAID GIVING SERVICE

Mr. G. H. Schryver, sales manager of Clippinger-Kincaid, who are the largest Chevrolet dealers in the city, declared himself in an interview with an Eagle reporter as being highly pleased with the 1923 outlook for the auto business in general and the sales of Chevrolets in particular. "We are determined to make the incoming year the greatest in our history. Our prices represent the most for one's money, twenty-four hour service the year round is unequalled, and our sales record for the past year speaks for itself.

VESTA BATTERY WINS HOME

The battery service station of Brown and Leroy located at 751 S. Central is to be highly commended for the quality of work it does. The Vesta Battery which is carried by them is considered by many, especially those who have installed them in cars, to be the last word in battery English. It's performance has won for it a permanent home in L. A.

This concern also carries a line of new tires and a thoroughly equipped tire shop. Give them a trial.

MICHELAN NEVER BETTER

"Old man Michelan," respectfully speaking, is one of the most consistant Tire Manufacturing and wholesale distributers today enjoying the confidence of the buying public.

We quote the above term "old" because tire, tube, and disk wheel history in fact the history of the automobile, matters not what type, or make, can never be written without mentioning or consulting him. He ranks amongst the very oldest in the business. The fact that he enjoys perfect health today, at an age when most folks die, but substantiates the facts that his tire business is constructed on a rock foundation. Too busy when approached for an interview he simply remarked, "Tell the world that I'm too busy catching up with back orders on file to give them a message. Michelan wares speak for themselves. I wish all a merry Christmas and a H....l of a New Year.

We wish our many customers a "Merry Christmas nad a Happy New Year."

HAS THE USED CAR VALUE?

Value received for service rendered is an axiom often heard in the trade exchange. The dealers used car department has become an asset as related to his main business that of selling new cars, says Mr. A. L. Johnston of the Paige sales forces.

Yesterday when the automobile was passing through its experimental stage one acquainted with conditions as they then existed can recall to their mind many instances where the skeleton instead of the automobile was passed in exchange for a healthy cash consideration, to the unfortunate purchasr. The used car situation became so acute through deals of [illegible] nature that sales practically ceased and an overstocked market was the direct result. Delers who realized that something must be done to stabelize conditions finally after much discussion and many suggestions decided to conduct a used car department. Whenever it is that a customer desires a new car and wishes to sell his old one it is immdiately tried out by one of the force.

ARE PRICES TO SOAR?
By William Frambo.

This much mooted question is constantly asked and information continually sought by the buying public in every avenue, especially the auto game. Will Tires be higher to-morrow and will automobiles cost us more Mr. Dealer, if so how much and when and where is it to commence. This price soaring gossip is ever before all.

In reference to this I wish to state prices have never been so low as they are today. Moreover past periods of low prices involved tires much inferior in quality to those of the present.

Prices must of necessity advance to meet the increased price of crude rubber which product is controlled by foreign market.

However the price of tires will never again rech the high water mark of four or five years ago.

Newly formed organizations at one time numbered more than eight hundred. These companies never will make tires and are dead for ever if the companies now operating will continue their present standard of higher quality product at lowest possible prices.

What It Means and How To Get It. ....Eight Things That Makke a Garage Efficient.

There probably never will be built an automobile that won't wear out. As long as automobiles wear their owners will want them fixed. The man who fixes thm and keeps them running right renders a service to the car owner.

There are thousands of automobiles on the road today that ought to be fixed. The man who finds out what ails them and suggests that they be fixed renders a service to their owners and autos. This would make thousands upon thousands of better automobiles than we have today.

If these cars were made better and kept better they would give more satisfactory service to their owners, their trade-in value would be very much more and the good will of the owner toward the dealer who sold him would be greater. THERE WOULD BE GREATER SATISFACTION IN CAR BUYING ON THE PART OF THE PUBLIC who pays for better service and the entire automotive industry with the public would enjoy a more profitable and satisfactory business than ever before in history of the most wonderful industry in the world.

What Must A First Class Shop Have To Give This Full Service And How Are They Used And To What Advantage.

EQUIPMENT
(Vise.)

Would you leave your car to be repaired in a shop without a vise?

A vise should be available for every man in the shop. Without a vise many jobs cannot be done at the time saving; cannot well be measured; Filing, and many other kinds of bench work demand a good vise.

(Portable Electric Drill.)

This tool will cut the time of hand work to a fraction. Many of the time savings seem unbelievable. It will drill holes in difficult positions underneath of cars, through frames and in places where hand drilling is practically impossible.

IT CUTS THE TIME THAT TO SO MANY OF THE CAR OWNERS CANNOT BE UNDERSTOOD OR APPREGIATED WHEN THEY GET THEIR BILL FOR WORK DONE BY HAND.

Arbor Press.

This device will push a shaft from a transmission gear in about one minute. By hand the job may take 20 minutes to 60 minutes and when the work is done by hand there is the possibility of serious damage to the gear or shaft; it will handle a great variety of similar jobs where pressure is required. The shock of a hammer blow is detrimental to car parts.

Drill Press

This tool will put a hole through an inch piece of steel in about one tenth the time the job could be done with a breast drill and with comparatively no fatigue to the workman. The work is also more accurate and there is less liability of damage because of the greater stability of the drill press the machine can be used in countless ways. It will lap in cylinders clean valves and will every day develop for itself constant uses.

Taps and Dies.

Every shop should have a set of taps and dies of S. A. E. nad U. S. threads.

Pullers.

These tools pull wheels from axle shafts, gears from shafts and do similar other work that by hand may take hours to do and in some cases could not be done at all. There is much less liability to damage where puller is used.

Valve Refacers

This tool will do a refacing job in at least the time it takes to do one valve by hand this tool allows a longer valve life. Valve work is one of the most frequent jobs on the engine and there the most time can be saved with this tool. A valve properly faced can be ground in a few minutes.

Creeper.

This permits work in difficult positions under the car that can be done only at a great inconvenience and a sacrifice of time.

The Independent Rubber Company which celebrated its fourth birthday on the 18th inst. by doing more business than ever ranks among the leading concerns of its kind in the city.

Four years ago vacant space was the one thing it possessed aside from one man who stood in the doorway hoping, inviting, and anticipating that business would come his way. Nor was he discouraged by the slow progress made during several months that followed. One by one they came and the next time upon calling, each being satisfied, brought a new customer. The repair department began to do a rushing business. New equipment such as molds, an air compressor, buffing outit, and such shops artillery as is generally needed to handle business in volumn was installed piece by piece until today its repair department has few equals and no superiors. In addition to this a large quantity of fresh new tires and tubes is kept, in stock also accessories are handled. In place of one man several are now employed and kept constantly on the go attending to the wants of its many patrons. The concern is operated by E. L. Dorsey and William Fambro.

Christopher Columbus Didn't Do It

Down on 18th and Essex, on the Northeast corner to be exact, there is located a house. Nothing strange about that to be sure, fro the city of Los Angeles sometimes appears to contain more houses than popls, even though it has absorbed some several hundred thousands of the latter in recent years.

However that is neither here or there. The house and particularly its contents is what attracted the writer and furnishes the substance of this little story, entitled Doing His Stuff. (One Act.)

Act. 1. Scene 1.— Door is opened following a ring, by an intelligent looking yet modest appearing lady whose gray hair intermingling here and there amongst the black makes her appear such an outstanding character that one almost forgets their mission and is content to just remain in vocal contact with her. However she asks your business and you speak of wishing to see one, Mr. Brooks. Oh! My brother is whom you inquire for. Just a minute please, step into (Scene II.) the parlor and in a few moments the villian himself appears, and the following conversation takes place.

CALLER: Mr. Brooks I presume. (Voice modest and even.)

BROOKS: Yes, I'm Hank Brooks. (In Rocky Mountain Tones.)

C. Ahum. Er. Mr. Brooks I was reading the California Eagle the other day and my attention was attracted by a cartoon which appeared in its columns. Did you pen that picture?

B. Yes, I did. Why what of it? (More stormy weather)

Don't you like it? Did you come up here to give me or rather try to give me a thrashing about it?

C. Oh no Mr. Brooks not I. I assure you when I decide to tackle a bear I'll go to the mountains where they appera less ferocious than you.

Speaking of the cartoon Mr. Brooks I tell you I thought it one of the classiest pictures of its nature I ever layed my naked eyes on and believe me, Mr. Brooks, they have been [illegible] ing as observers for me for some [illegible]

B. Thanks for your complimentary remarks and since you, a stranger to me, seem to desire peace, I can [illegible] offer you at least a chair that you might rest your weary bones after a hard pilgrimage to my shrine.

C. I thank you kindly sir, and I assure you I shall do nothing to betray the confidence you impose in me as to being at least friendly inclined toward, you, during my short stay. My mission sir is a gentle one. I come in hope that you will grant me the pleasure of seeing more of your work. Art is one of my chief weaknessess. I love it.

B. Such being the case come with me.

C. And I followed him (Scene III.) walls of which were literally covered into first one room then another, the with drawings of all descriptions. Posters, etchings, government maps drawn by the young man when he served in the intelligence dpartment of the U. S. A. during the war.

Political and campaign cartoons that actually made one burst their sides a laughing, and some too along other lines that made one want to cry when you think of all the prejudice that exists beneath the sky.

Then when it looked as if you had seen all, you are ushered into another (Scene IV.) room, most sacred to him, the room where he does his stuff, and more surprises follow. Finally to kind of make up for having handled you so roughly at the outset he offers cigars as if in atonement upon entering his den and as the smoke from those highgrade Havanas saturate the surrounding atmosphere the phonograph recalls to your subconscious mind such entertaining celebrities, past and present, as Bert Williams, Roland Hays, Harry T. Burley, S. Coleridge Taylor, Marion Cook and a host of others.

Following this feature of the visit I suddenly recalled to my mind that my real mission was to secure at all hazards the services of this wizard of art, this genius that makes pictures talk and walk as if human, to help put over the Automotive Section of the California Eagle. How well we succeeded in having him do his stuff, one has but to look it over. And now the hour of departure arrived and as we parted he happened to recall he had not asked my name. He inquired in a mild, well-tempered voice—Your name please and may I have a card?

The tone of voice assured me beyond all doubts that I had simply met a humble lamb like myself only he was disguised in the skin of a lion. A big hearted, affable young fellow, whose only desire was to acquire friends. And as we shook hands and parted he said I hope you'll do me the honor to call again and when you do just ask for Hank. I assured him I would and hoped the impression I was leaving was favorable enough to warrant him calling me Ed in the future even if I did bear the title of Editor of the Automotive Section of the California Eagle, and he assured me he would gladly grant my desire. Here we parted. I to the office to relate my experiences and tell the Managing Editor of my new discoveries and Hank back to his Studio to take up doing his stuff where he left off when he was so rudely disturbed by the newspaper scout sent out by the Aagle to land him dead or alive if he had the goods.

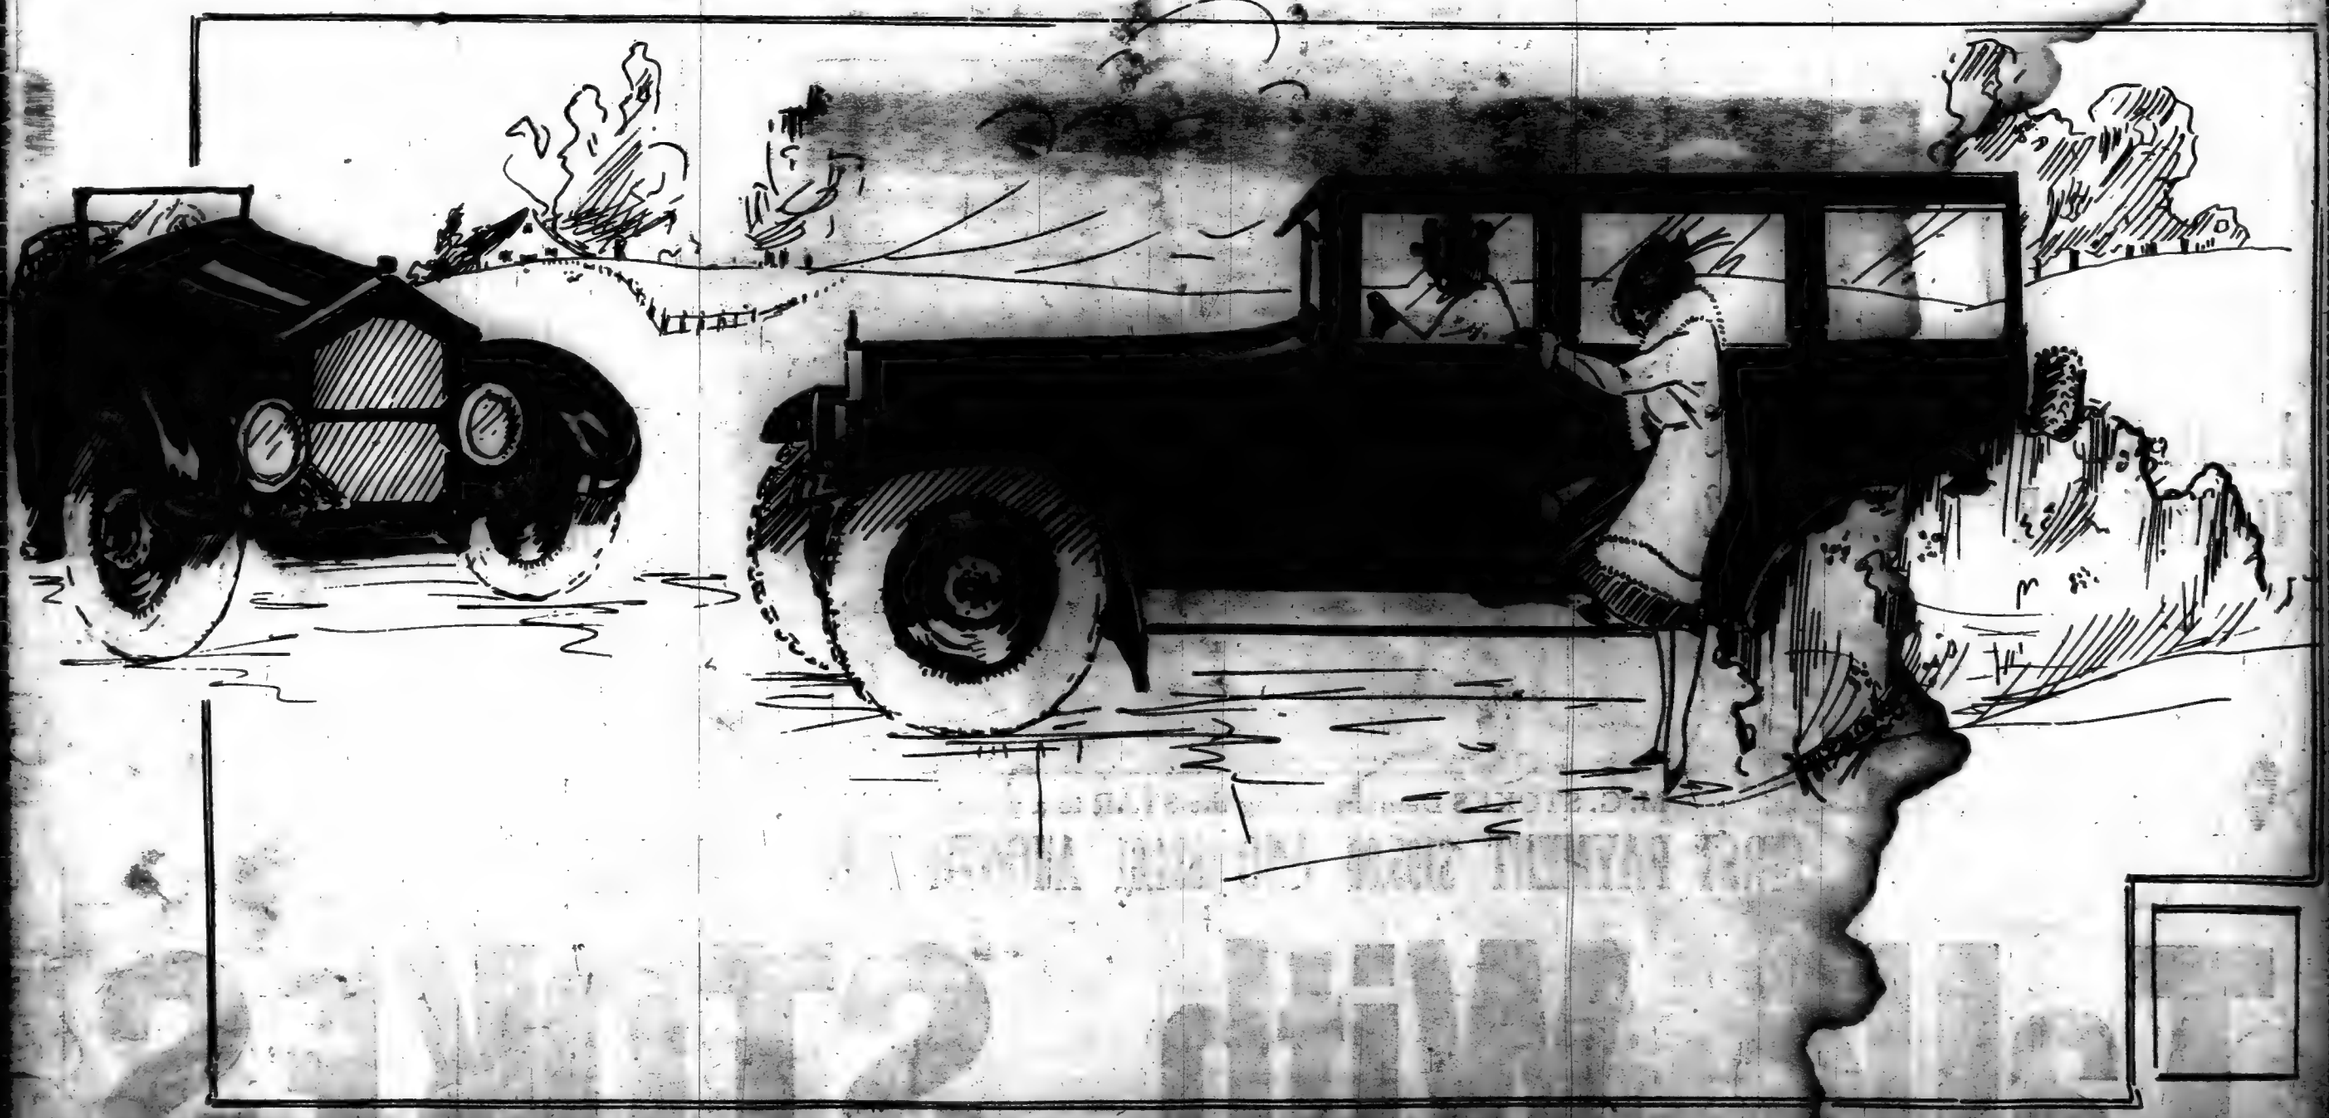
The saving on good Used Cars relative to the purchase of New Cars at the same price.



Every year near the holidays, one thinks of buying, buying, buying. But few of us think of buying the things that are most useful. Thus you find everything going up that is the least use to us in future, but few have come to realize how necessary the Automobile is in ordinary life and how inexpensive if purchased with care, or how expensive if purchased through unscrupulous channels. It is not a luxury nay more but is more necessary than a piano. Also there are particular cars for particular parts of the country, due to road or climatic conditions.—Closed cars are the coming cars for California as all nights are cool, the used car is also the most serviceable and most economical car, due to road conditions, facilities for service, ever increasing population, which enables one to always be able to dispose of one automobile. There has been a tremendous loss in the organization of the automobile world, due to the overbuying of an abnormal public. Only those who think economically will be able to share in this benefit of the Used Car market.

WRECKS

Then there are those unscrupulous salesmen who will sell you an automobile unguaranteed and sell your paper or ring up your cash and bid you good bye at the door. This buying in New or Used cars is a sad mistake on the part of the purchaser after which you live in the shop or hospital.

Investigation of accidents after 500 arrests for speeding disclose the fact that 60 per cent of the accidents were due to unreliable automobiles. To this person we suggest before buying to see some reliable dealer or friend who knows the dealer, for it is very unpleasant to have a wheel drop off at 7th and Broadway or on the S. P. tracks. We are glad to say that out of $100,000 of automobiles that we have been able to guarantee every one 17 per cent only of which were new cars.

LUXURY VIA SAVINGS—But remember this too, that since you must have an automobile and do not wish to spend a fortune, you may buy a used Used Cars, in their first or second year, when its loss to the first purchaser is the greatest and its usefulness is at its heighth that the difference between your purchasing price and its real worth, may operate same for two years or more. For instance—A car that cost $3000 last year may be purchased now for $1900, should sell for $2400 giving you a margin of 6 or 7 hundred dollars to have all repairing, gas, tires and service for 1 year, still having your car worth $1900. This week we have traded a car for $600 which cost $2000 second-handed two years ago, whose new price today is $1935 giving those who wish to profit from these suggestions a chance to save money. Our service is 51% of any purchase. We are glad to give any information or advice or appraisal on any make, kind or year of automobile to anyone at any time free of charge, if we haven't anything in stock that may suit a particular prospect.

WHITE PROPAGANDA ROBS NEGRO PUGILIST OF HEAVY WEIGHT CHAMPIONSHIP OF ALL EUROPEAN COUNTRIES

PARIS, Dec. 20.—(Crusader Service) Now it turns out that even the offense which served the French Boxing Commission and its Governmental string-pullers as an excuse for depriving Siki of his title and his livelihood was never committed by Siki, according to the referee whom Siki was alleged to have assaulted.

Deputy Ybarnegaray, who hs become interested in the affair, visited Ferdinand Cuny, the boxing promoter whom Siki was alleged to have assaulted after the Balzac Prunier fight. "Were you struck by Siki?" the Deputy asked. Cuny replied in the negative, whereupon M. Ybarnegaray asked the promoter whether he had made a complaint against Siki. M. Cuny gain replied in the negative.

REPUBLICANS ABANDON DYER BILL

JAMES WELDON JOHNSON TELLS OF REPUBLICAN ABANDONMENT OF DYER ANTI-LYNCHING BILL.

James Weldon Johnson, Secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored Peoples, on his return to New York from Washington, made the following statement on the abandonment of the Dyer Bill by the Republican party:

The fight for the enactment of the Dyer Anti-Lynching Bill was abandoned by the Republican majority on Monday, December 4, in the last hours of the extra session of Congress. The Bill had been called up for consideration on Tuesday, November 28. It immediately became the object of a filibuster on the part of Southern Democrats, which was the most naked and brutal exhibition of its kind ever made in the Senate. A filibuster is generally carried on under some sort of disguise, but Senator Underwood, of Alabama, the Democratic leader, stated plainly and bluntly that the purpose of the filibuster was to prevent any consideration whatsoever of the Dyer Anti Lynching Bill, and that the Democratic side would not allow any government business whatever to be carried on until the Republicans agreed to abandon the Bill not only during the extra session but even during the short session.

The filibuster was carried on from Tuesday through Saturday, December 2, during which time the Southern Democrats would not even allow the adoption of the record of the Senate's proceedings. Finally, on Saturday night a caucus of Republican Senators was held which was largely attended and the question of the abandonment of the Bill was discussed hotly for more than two hours. The attendance at the caucus dwindled until there were some twenty-two or twenty-three Senators left. A vote was then taken and the majority agreed to abandon the Bill. There were nine Senators who voted to keep up the fight until the 4th of March, if necessary. Among these was Senator Shortridge who has charge of the Bill and who led the fight on the floor.

Before the Republican caucus, the Secretary conferred with Senators Lodge, Curtis and Watson, the three men holding the fate of the Bill in their hands, urging them not to surrender on the terms laid down by the Democratic filibusterers. Those terms were that the Bill be not only dropped in the Special Session but dropped as well for the entire term of the Sixty-seventh Congress.

Immediately after publication in the newspapers of the outcome of the caucus, the Secretary telegraphed to these three Senators inquiring if he had not received their promise that the Bill would not be abandoned on Senator Underwood's terms. Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, who was elected by the colored voters of his State on the sole issue of the Dyer Anti-Lynching Bill, denied by letter ever having made such a promise to the Secretary. It was Senator Lodge who announced in the Senate, on the morning of December 4, the Republican Party's abject surrender.

The colored people will not be deceived by appearances. They can see and they know the actual fight was made by the Southern Democrats against the Bill rather than by the Republicans in its behalf. The Southern Democrats roared like a lion and the Republicans lay down like a scared possum. The efforts of Senator Shortridge were sincere and earnest, but outside of the support he received from Senator Willis, Senators New and Edge, not a Republican senator opened his mouth in actual support. A few senators, including Senators Pepper nad Reed of Pennsylvania, McNary, Capper and Gooding, expressed their willingness to keeq up the fight until the 44th of March if necessary, but the mass of Republican Senators displayed no particular interest in the Bill. It is this attitude that the colored people will especially resent, perhaps even more than the failure of the Bill to be passed. If the Republican senatorial leaders think the Negro will be satisfied merely because they allowed the Southern Democrats to "put themselves on record" they are mistaken. The Republicans should also have put themselves on record. This they failed to do.

The unsuccessful fight to have the Dyer Bill enacted into law at this time is not, however, without its fruits.

First of all, lynching as a national shame and the facts about lynching have been put before the American people. In fact, lynching has been made not only a national but an international issue and such a question cannot die until it is rightly settled once for all.

Second, the Dyer Anti-Lynching Bill became the center of concerted mass action by colored people such as has never before taken place in the United States. Colored voters defeated, on this issue alone, three men who voted against it in the House of Representatives, one in Delaware, one in New Jersey, and one in Wisconsin. So doing, colored people have become conscious of their political power.

Third, colored voters have gone a great step toward political emncipation from allegiance on historical grounds to any one party. The fate of the Dyer Bill, coming as a culmination of a series of disappointments under the present administration, completely rids the Negro of the old idea that he must now, henceforth and forevermore vote the Republican ticket merely for historic reasons.

In conclusion, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People has no intention of lessening its efforts to abolish lynching in the United States of America. Indeed, we have just begun to fight.

(Signed) JAMES WELDON JOHNSON.

HARLEM NIGHT RAID NETS 83 WHITES.

Population Changes Color With Setting of the Sun.

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—(Crusader Service) That Negro Harlem's night population is totally different from the daylight population has long been evident to careful observers, but was publicly revealed yesterday when 83 white men and women were arrested in a raid on "Shuffles Inn" and were held in $500 bail each for examination by Magistrate McQuade in the Washington Heights Court. The usual custom in such cases is to discharge the prisoners with a reprimand, but Magistrate McQuade injected the race question into a moral question and told the prisoners there were sufficient white cabarets for white folk to visit without going to places maintained by Negroes. He remanded them all and they were led downstairs to wait the appearance of friends with the necessary bail bonds.

The prisoners consisted of twenty-nine women between the ages of 18 and 22 and fifty-four men. Inspector Sweeney, who conducted the raid, told the Magistrate that the raid was the result of numerous complaints from parents that their daughters were visiting the cabaret, and that when the place was raided, some of the prisoners were indulging in improper dances, others were sitting on men's laps and loud and improper language was being used.

SECRET U. S. REPORT HIT FRENCH IN SYRIA

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—(Crusader Service) The suppressed Crane-King report on Near Eastern mandates has been published, and reveals that the American Commission strongly advised against giving France a mandate for Syria.

"The feeling of the Arabs is particularly strong against the French," the report said, "and there is grave reason to believe the attempt to enforce a French mandate would precipitate war between the Arabs and the French."

The confidential appendix tells how officials of the occupying government interfered with the commission's work. It also details the arguments for all sides given the commission by the delegation of natives and others it interviewed. The confidential report puts even more strongly the commission's feeling that France should get the mandate for Syria.

But lest the above be taken as evidence of America's altruistic attitude let it be noted that the commission wanted the mandate for America itself!

NEGRO FRANCHISE URGED ON HARDING

NEGRO FRANCHISE URGED ON HARDING.

Republican Administration Reminded It Has Power To Protest Negro Voting Right.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—(Crusader Service) Representative George H. Tinkham of Massachusetts in a letter to President Harding, written yesterday, has suggested that the failure to enforce the second section of the Fourteenth Amendment to the Constitution was just as flagrant as the current failure to enforce the Eighteenth Amendment. He suggested that the President should not overlook the failure to enforce the Fourteenth Amendment, which guarantees the Negro the right to vote, if he should comment upon the failures to enforce prohibition in his address to the next session of Congress. Representative Tinkham's letter to the President follows:

Hon Warren G. Harding,
The White House,
Washington, D. C.

My dear Mr. President: It has been stated that in your address to be made at the opening of the Fourth session of the Sixty-seventh Congress it is your intention to refer to the widespread disrespect for law as exemplified by the unparalleled defiance of the Federal Statutes to enforce the Eighteenth Amendment to the Constitution and its anarchistic and revolutionary consequences. There can be no descent from its necessity.

You will agree that all parts of the Constitution should be enforced equally and impartially and in no part nullified.

With the greatest respect may I draw your attention to the fact that whereas the Eighteenth Amendment to the Constitution is permissive in its authorization of Congress to pass legislation to enforce it the second section of the Fourteenth Amendment to the Constitution, which commands Congress to reduce representation in proportion to disfranchisement, is mandatory and prescriptive and is now scandalously and completely unenforced and nullified.

With the greatest respect may I also draw your attention to the fact that with the flagrant and widespread disfranchisement established by a mass of indisputable evidence now before Congress and by a common knowledge and the second section of the Fourteenth Amendment to the Constitution unenforced, the very tenure of office you hold and the representation of the lower House of Congress is tainted with unconstitutionality.

Unconstitutional tenure of office and illegal elections strike at the very heart of the moral sanctions behind laws and executive acts. Public authority, before demanding obedience, must itself obey. There can be no degree in faithlessness to the Constitution and its requirements, but if there were, surely the moral turpitude of violation of a constitutional mandate which involves the purity of elections and constitutional organization of Government is as great as the violation of the Federal Statutes concerning the consumption of alcoholic beverages.

May I, with the greatest respect and sincere hope that I transgress no propriety, suggest that in your address to the Congress you draw its attention to its present unconstitutional composition and its own legal and constitutional obligations.

I have the honor to be, my dear Mr. President,

Your obedient servant,
GEORGE HOLDEN TIKHAM.

SEES CIVILIZATION RUINED WITHOUT EQUITY TO LABOR

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—(Crusader Service) A new type of industrial leadership is needed if the present thing that passes for civilization is to endure, said Dean Dexter S. Kimball of Cornell University in an address at the annual meeting of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers last night.

"Unless we can change our industrial system more nearly to attain universal well-being and distribute the fruits of industry more equitably, we have no reason for believing our civilization shall endure," Dean Kimball, Engineers, he said, are rapidly being forced into the role of industrial managers.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Mr. Thompson is on the editorial staff of the Los Angeles Evening Express, oldest daily paper on the Pacific coast. Many of Mr. Thompson's articles on the activities of his people, have been reprinted in this paper and other foreign language papers. During the World war, Mr. Thompson served the United States government as a Four minute speaker. His honorable discharge, at the end of the war, was accompanied with a letter of commendation from President Woodrow Wilson. As the result of Mr. Thompson's persistence in keeping the record of the progress of his people before the public, the owners of The Express have recently adopted the policy of using the capital "N" when referring to the Negro in its items. The same paper has also tabooed the use of such words as coon, nigger, shine and darkey when referring to a member of the group of American citizens to which Thompson belongs. Before coming to Los Angeles, eleven years ago, Mr. Thompson was associated with the great Negro Educator, Booker T. THE NEGRO AND WHAT THE JAPANESE SHOULD KNOW ABOUT HIM

By Noah D. Thompson.

Two books, just off the press, should be in the hands of every Japanese, interested in American history and the part played therein by the group of American citizens designated as the Negro.

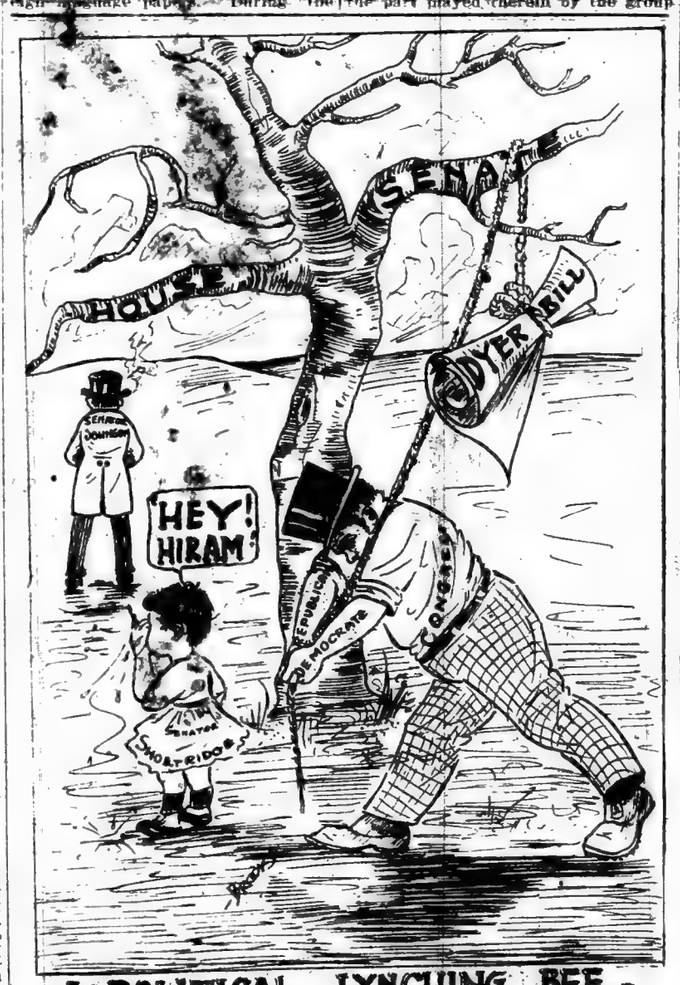
The first and more important of the two volumes is the NEGRO YEAR BOOK, 1921-22 edition, an Encyclopedia of the Negro by Monroe N. Work, director of the department of Records and Research of Tuskegee Normal and Industrial Institute, the school that was founded thirty-two years ago by the world famous educator, Booker T. Washington.

Mr. Work is a member of the American Sociological Society, the Southern Sociological Congress, National Council, the National Economic League and every other organization that makes a serious study of sociology. The University of Chicago gave him the A.M. and Ph. D. degrees in 1902-3. Since taking charge of the records and research work in 1908 at Tuskegee, Mr. Work has contributed many valuable articles on Negro educational work to most, if not all, of the standard periodicals published in America.

The 1921-22 Negro Year Book is the sixth edition, published, annually, by the Negro Year Book Company, at Tuskegee Institute, Alabama, where all data relative to the Negro is collected, carefully edited, compiled and published for the benefit of all who are interested in America's so-called Negro problem. Special reference to lynchings, race riots migrations, The Negro in Politics, Race-relations and Inter-racial Co-operation is made by the editor whose researches have been both thorough and unrelenting for more than twenty years. Considerable space is devoted also to the African and what he wants at his home in Africa, together with maps and charts showing the territorial changes and distributions ascording to existing mandates. This subject is discussed in a way that all who consult the book will conclude that the Negro now realizes that he belongs to an important group factor in America and other countries, that must be reconciled in the, yet to be settled, World peace plans.

Never before has a more extensive, down-to-the-minute bibliography on the Negro been published and the book is so arranged and indexed as to make it indispensible to all who would mark the wonderful progress of America's former slaves and their decendents who, within the past sixty years, have acquired 22,000,000 acres of good land; 600,000 good substantial homes and 45,000 churches. Besides the American Negroes operate 78 banks, 100 insurance companies and 70,000 other business enterprises with a capital amounting to $150,000,000. Meanwhile his illiteracy, through school and college attendance, has been reduced to less than 27 per cent.

According to the United States Bureau of Census, the center of Negro population, numbering about 12,000,000 in 1920, was located in Dade county situated in the north-eastern part of the state of Georgia. But one should study "THE NEGRO IN CHICAGO," a book setting forth the Negroes' trials, tribulations and ambitions in order to feel the "pulse" of this group of loyal citizens of America which is scattered to all parts of the United States.



The "Race riot" in Chicago, July 1919, was of importance, grave enough to cause Governor Frank O. Lowden to create a special commission on "Race Relations" for the purpose of studying the cause and effect of the riot and to make recommendations that would, in a measure, better conditions and enable the two groups, Negroes and whites, to live and work together amicably. The Commission, composed of six Negroes and six whites, representing the highest type of manhood, required three years of careful investigation to complete its task. The result of the commission's findings together with its recommendations have been printed in book form with the title of "The Negro in Chicago," published by the University of Chicago Press, Chicago, Illinois.

Containing 650 pages of well edited material on the race problem in general and the Chicago Negro problem in particular, the book makes revelations and suggestions for avoidance of future conflicts that will undoubtedly prove of great interest and help to all who wish to study America's race problem earnestly and help adjust mtters satisfactorily. Photographs of the riot scenes, charts and maps are used liberally by the publishers who, with the commission members, feel that to solve the race problem in Chicago, means, in a large measure, to solve the problem in all other parts of the United Sttes. A foreword by Gov. Lowden, who appointed the commission, declares first that "There is no domestic problem in America which has given thotful men more concern than the problem of the relations between the white and Negro races." "In earlier days" says the Governor, "the colonization of the Negroes in Liberia, was put forward as a solution. That idea was abandoned long ago. It is now recognized generally that the two races are here in America to stay." Recommending that a permanent Commission on Race-Relations be created, the Governor further avers that "as soon as the commission was appointed, conditions between the races began to improve."

To the Japanese in America and Japan, perhaps the best known member of the commission is Julius N. Rosenwald, Jewish merchant and philanthropist who has contributed $325,000 toward Young Men's Christian Association buildings for Negroes in thirteen cities and more than $1,000,000 toward rural schools for Negroes in fourteen southern states. Mr. Rosenwald learned to appreciate the good qualities of the Negro and his economic value through his close association with Booker T. Washington as a member o fthe board of Trustees of Tuskegee Institute. He is also a member of the boards of trustees for the University of Chicago and the Rockerfeller Foundation.

The Negro members on the Commission are: Robert S. Abbott, owner and Editor of the Chicago Defender, a weekly paper with over a million readers, George Cleveland Hall, nationally known physician and surgeon, George H. Jackson, capitalist and former member of the Ohio state legislature, Edward H. Morris, internationally known lawyer and member of the Illinois State Constitutional Convention, Adelbert H. Roberts, noted orator and member of Illinois General Assembly, and Lacey K. Williams, head of the largest Negro protestant organization in America.

These Negroes commnd the highest respect of every white man with whom they come in contact and Negroes everywhere will feel assured that their interests have been well cared for in the Commission's report and recommendations. Every thoiful Negro will use his efforts to have copies of "The Negro Year Book" and "The Negro in Chicago" placed in every public, private and school library for the edification of present and future statesmen who now and will, in a short period of time, guide the destinies of this and other countries.

A POLITICAL LYNCHING BEE.

Cast Thy Bread Upon The Waters

By: JAS. LLOYD.

"The foxes have holes, and the birds of the air have the trees but the son of man hath not where to lay his head." Even so it was with Dick Benden. He did not envy the little sparrows which twitted and chirped as they hopped about on the cobblestones and in the parks, though he knew full well that they were infinitely more worthy of the free air than himself, for he realized that hard work must be his compensation for the indolent life in which he had been so artfully persuaded to indulge in so freely, and as his inexperience in manual training befitted him for only the poor paid and menial positions of a common laborer he soon found himself seeking the positions which others refused and was obliged to seek the lowly quarters of the city, where he had wandered to, for a residence, which consequently threw him in contact with a class of people with whom he had never associated before, his fellow working men, and from these newly made friends and acquaintances he soon learned that he had nothing to regret in absolving himself from association with the loathsome leeches who had formerly claimed him as their victim. Freed from the wine cup and dissipation, none of his former associates would have been able to recognize the former weakling a few months later, who was now developing into a robust man!

Foot loose and fancy free, happy go lucky chap, he soon realized that his early life, as well as his fortune of which he could have made such good use, had virtually been thrown to the winds a nhas daflue winds as a handful of chaff and regarding it as such, he thoroughly determined to close the book, which constituted that chapter of his life, and open a new book.

Lost in deep meditation he stood, one early Autumn morning with his meger savings in his pocket, upon the dock in San Francisco, where he had been working all night, helping to load one of the great liners bound for the Orient. He recalled to mind how only the previous evening, as he passed along Broadway on his way home with his working clothes on, how icily he was informed that he had "made a mistake" when he extended his hand to a certain Miss Beachley as she sat in her beautiful limousine by the curb, and the evening when it snowed so hard, last winter, how comfortable! how beautiful and stunning, Miss Geltfinder looked as she passed into the theatre on the other fellow's arm, her fair neck encircled with the beautiful furs which had only been a trifle in the way of a small present a few weeks before from one who was now an honest workman and earned his daily bread by the sweat of his brow. It would be hard to say that she had the remotest intention of recognizing him as a former acquaintance and associate from the indignant manner in which she tilted her nose up at him as she thought she caught the faintest suspicion of an intention on his part to speak to her, as he lifted his hat to her as he passed by with his lunch basket under his arm, without any overcoat to protect his body from the chill wintry breeze.

"The very audacity of some of those uncouth working men!"

He seemed to be in a World all by himself. A World which fairly trembled beneath him and bade him shake its dust from off his feet.

A community from which he would only be too happy to free himself at any moment.

As he stood thus meditating with clenched fists and steel-set jaw, the hissing of steam from the giant liner's great winches and the rumbling of chains, the groaning of hawse

LOEW'S STATE THEATRE TO SHOW "QUINCEY ADAMS SAWYER."

One of the most widely heralded of this seasons's photoplays is announced as coming Sunday, December 17ht to Loew's State Theatre. It is "Quincy Adams Sawyer," a Metro-SL picture based on the famous story of New England life which was a phenomenal "best seller" when it appeared a decade or so ago. So great was the popularity of the printed narrative by Charles Felton Pidgin that it was dramatised, and in this form it won more favor. The elaborate photo-play version is even more interesting than the book or the play.

Everybody knows the story of "Quincy Adams Sawyer." Everybody knows and loves its quaint and rustic characters. The story of the young lawyer from Boston, Quincy Adams Sawyer; his coming to the small town of Mason's Corner; his experiences in running down a dishonorable scoundrel; his great love affair—all of this is part of the attractive novel which is now a screen play. The delightful rural characters are fun provoking to the extreme, and the fresh, clean, humor will appeal to all lovers of better photoplays.

A lavish production has been given this famous story. To enact the roles in the picture, the entire motion picture industry was searched for its best material. As a result, one of the highest-priced assemblies of talent is seen, and in the list are players who have been starred in their own right. Among the more important are Blanch Sweet, Lon Chaney, Barbara LaMarr, John Bowers, Elmo Lincoln, Louise Fazenda, June Elvidbe, Hank Mann, Zazu Pitts and many others.

Rex Ingram's production for Metro "Trifling Women" is now playing a second week at the popular Seventh and Broadway playhouse. The presentation of this director's latest offering is greatly enhanced by Ernest Bicher's "Ballet Batik."

THAT BAKING COMPANY

That our baking institutions are due a complete revolution was graphically depicted by Prof. Short, an expert in baking technology, in an illustrated lecture at the Bake-Rite headquarters in the Washington building last Saturday afternoon. This progressive corporation has entered the commercial field with other motives than those of material gain or sinister purposes; it is out to promote the health and happiness of the race and to insure longevity of human life.

The Bake-Rite products as explainedby Prof. Short consists of some twenty-three blends of scientifically prepared flour, mixed with all the ingredients and ready for use. These various blends of flour comprise Graham muffins, Bran muffins, gold cake, pound cake, pan cake flour, and all kinds of flour products, used by the up-to-date housewife.

The lecture was replete with illustrations which very plainly demonstrated the superiority of the new or Bake-Rite method of milling and making flour into every kind of bread and pastry, over the old and antiquated methods. The whole discourse of Prof Short from beginning to end revealed the speaker to be a man eminently equipped for the task at hand and left no doubts in the minds of his hearers of the complete and wonderful revolution to be wrought in the baking business.

One of the most interesting features of the 3. lecture was the portion which illustrated the operations of the automatic doughnut machine. This wonderful instrument can be operated by a single individual and produces as many doughnuts per day as five bakers. Another feature of the Bake-Rite products is the preparation of the doughnut dough, which is put in tins fully prepared for cooking and has been kept in a perfect state for a period of fourteen months. Pie crust is also prepared in the same manner. In fact every variety of bread, muffins, cereals and pastery is produced by the Bake-Rite corporation with their new and up-to-date methods. The most noticable feature of the Bake-Rite method as depicted by the illustrations and portrayed by the speaker was the cleanliness and care with which the blends bread and pastry were prepared. In short the Bake-Rite method relieves all cooking from the dirt of the ally and dampness of the cellar and places everything on the main floor in full view in the wholsomeness of the light of day. To say the least the lecture was a rich treat and revealed some of the wonders which modern science has accomplished in the interest of pure and healthful breads and cereals. With the illustrations of Saturday still fresh in our minds we can easily see a decided triumph of Bake-Rite methods over those of yearge ago.

NEW YORK BANKER BACKING REACTIONAY KLAN.

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—(Crusader Service) That one of the capitalist backers of that Reactionary champion of conservatism and 100 per cent Americanism, the infamous Ku Klux Klan, is a New York banker is the startling revelation made here by the New York World, which in its issue of Dec. 10, presents photographic evidence that J. W. Wupperman, banker and vice president and secretary of the J. W. Wupperman Angostura Bitters Agency, Inc., guarnteed payment for insertions of a Klan advertisements in the "Country Editor" in Rockville Center. Wupperman is shown to have written the editor guaranteeing payment for the insertion of advertisement and for any printing bills contracted by one Teasdale Randolph, whose name was signed to the advertisement calling for members for the Ku Klux Klan.

Several Klan meetings in New York have been held at Wuppermann's home who, until now, has maintained that he is not a member of the hooded organization.

NEGRO CORRESPONDENT ON RED ARMY PARADE

C. Valentine for the Crusader Service.

MOSCOW, Dec. 20.—I landed in Petrograd on the 20 of October and on the 5th of November we had a big celebration, as the opening of the Fourth Congress of the Third Internationale, was celebrated in this city. I was cordially received and generously entertained by officials and citizens. On the 6th I witnessed the march of the delegates to the graves of the Heroes of the Revolution, and also saw the review of the Red Army. There were two Negroes in the Grand Stand to whom every conceivable kind of honor and attention was given as evidence of the friendship of Soviet Russia toward our oppressed race! That is some army!. The Red Army!

In the evening I left on the "Trotzkky Train" for Moscow with the delegates to the Congress. I was the only Press Correspondent so honoured. The "Trotzky Trein" is the best train I hvae seen in all Europe. Well equipped with library and radio. On the 7th we arrived at Moscow and marched immediately to the Red Sq. in front of the Kremlin, where the parade took place, and Trotzky spoke. This was one of the grandest events I have seen. The Red Army and Navy are well-equipped and drive terror into the hearts of all enemies of Soviet Russia. But the celebration and parade also consist of the workers and children. The parade started at eleven A. M. and was not over until seven P. M. The spirit and enthusiasm of the masses is noticeable.

I am leaving for Constantinople tonight and will send full report there as the cable rates are too high to go into details here.

GLIMPSES

By George Duncan

Migrating
Another Lynching
Marcus Garvey
A Worthy Deed

The latest reports from the Southern belts inform us that the Negroes are leaving there by the thousands due to the fact of the failure of the much needed Dyer Bill and the constant increasing of the masked mobs namely the "Ku Klux Klan."

This expedition by the oppressed Southern Negro is a very wise move. After the Negro has left the South, the white employer will realize his valuable assistant and will do every thing in his power to conciliate with the Negro and give him his rights and privileges.

Now that the Anti-Lynching Dyer Bill has failed to pass, the Tyrants of Florida has again lynched another American citizen. Charles Wright the victim was charged by the mob as being implicated with the murder of a young white school teacher. He was placed under fire and burnt to a stake. Over three thousand people witnessed this affair and no one aided to free him.

After affairs of this kind shall we continue to call America a civilized country with high ideals and permit her citizens to be tortured in this fashion?

Marcus Gravey, "self styled President of Africa" will face the Government investigation in January on a charge of using the mails to defraud. The Black Star line will be the chief discussion during the trial.

Without a doubt this man will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law and be ruled out of the country.

One of the recent acts which shows the manliness and pride of this generation of young Negroes is that of Leon Whitacker. There appeared an old newspaper published in slavery times on the window of one of the downtown banks. Among other advertisements was one asking for a Negro wench.

Leon Whitacker, after reading the advertisement went directly to the president of the institution to petition him to have the article removed. As a result of Whitacker's effort the paper was taken from the window. This act only shows what can be done to reincarnate race feeling.

CONDITIONS IN THE CAPITAL

By Wilyan O. Stovall.

Washington, D. C. has a Negro population of approximately 100,000. They engage in every line of business from bootblacking to banking. The existing prejudice conditions make it necessary for our people to co-operate in undertaking business enterprises. There is discrimination to be encountered on every hand. They have separate schools and segregation in most public places. Washington, to the foreign minister is representative of the whole of the United States. Isn't that an unpleasant impression for a visitor to take back to his own land.

Europeans may carry back the story of the capital's discrimination, and thus transplant American prejudice into European thought, where it will grow as the Negro population increases. Although the capital is on the border line between what was formerly slave and free territory, the southern principles seem to have become predominant.

The fact that there are three banks owned and operated by Negroes shows that there is no small amount of business transacted.

The books of one large co-operative grocery store enables us to plainly see how much progress can ge made by co-operaton. Co-operation is one essential requirment for bigger business. The Negroes of Washington, like those of New York, ... to realise the good of putting ... money into a paying business which will net them considerabe profit. Here in Los Angeles we have not a large corporation of any kind. If we did, would it be patronized by our people enough to support it and enable it to grow.

When visitors come to Washington from all parts of the East nd South to witness the annual Lincoln-Howard football classic, ready accomodations are to be found at the White-Law Hotel. This place has a large, dining hall and every modern convenience.

Washington has several large insurance companies that are doing a creditable business. From time to time health lectures and discussions are held for their policy holders in their well equipped offices.
